MR. MARTINE WILL GO TO THE CONVENTION

A Fight Made Against Him by Essex County, But He Was Able to Win.

HIS MAJORITY WAS 219.

EXCITING TIME OVER PLATFORM THAT WAS ADOPTED.

Delegates Go Unpledged to Kansas City—South Jersey Men Unable to Carry Their Point for Instructions.

James E. Martine is to be one of the "Big Four" among the New Jersey delegates to the Democratic National convention in Kansas City. That fact was determined by the State convention held yesterday in Trenton.

Although a stiff fight was made against Mr. Martine at the last moment before the convention by the Essex county delegation—170 strong—the "Farmer Orator" finished the race with 219 votes to spare. The Essex county delegates made their contest in favor of Former Senator Michael T. Barrett, of Newark, who, though he got into the fight at a late hour after Judge Kruger had declined to stand, held a powerful leverage in the fact that the solid Essex county delegation was back of him. Before the convention it was understood that the Essex county delegates would make their fight against Robert Davis, of Hudson county, but at the final moment th turned in favor of the Hudson county leader and compelled Mr. Martine to stand the brunt of the battle. That the Plainfielder was successful against the opposition of Essex county was a great victory for him and his Union county friends, as well as many from other sections of the State, were correspondingly elated. After the vote on the delegates-at-large had been announced and it was realized that Mr. Martine had been victorious in a contest that interested every part of the State, he was warmly congratulated on all sides.

The heat in the convention hall was very oppresive yesterday, but during the proceedings the excitement was at such a pitch most of the time that the delegates forgot all about their own comfort in the desperate efforts to carry the points which they were working for. As the important business of the convention was drawing to a close, there was a sudden realization that the business of intense interest was about to end and there was a spontaneous effort to get out of the theatre as quickly as possible. By the time adjournment had been declared the delegations had thinned out wonderfully, and there was no opportunity for speeches.

After the recess, during which the committees had performed their functions, the first business brought up was the platform. As had been anticipated all along, the fight of the day was made over the question of whether or not the platform should not only endorse Col. Bryan but also instruct the delegates to vote for him in the National convention. For nearly an hour there was the hottest kind of a time, both literally and figuratively, in the convention over this question.

The platform had been prepared under the direction of State Chairman Gourley, Congressman Daly, Robert Davis and a few others who are among the leaders. It was submitted to the committee appointed by the convention, but did not meet with the approval of all. However, it was adopted by a majority of the committee and was presented to the convention as the majority report. The platform called for a strict enforcement of the present laws against monopolies; declared against imperialism; denounced as unconstitutional the tariff duties imposed on Porto Rico; expressed sympathy for the Boer republic; declared against a foreign alliance; favored the construction of the Nicaragua canal by the United States, and recognized "William Jennings Bryan as the popular tribune of the people, able, fearless and honest, and worthy to receive at their hands the highest political honor."

Albert S. Duling presented a minority report. It had been offered in committee, he said, and had been defeated by a vote of 14 to 7. The report began by declaring that the cardinal principles of the Democratic party as laid down by Thomas Jefferson were being enunciated by William Jennings Bryan. The remainder of the platform was practically the same as the minority report, except that it indorsed the Chicago platform and instructed the delegates from New Jersey to vote for Bryan for President.

Duling moved the acceptance of the minority report. Former Senator Edwards, of Hudson, offered a substitute motion that the majority report be accepted. Representative Daly at this point attempted to speak, but the convention broke into an uproar. Some of the Burlington men became very boisterous and Mr. Daly rebuked them.

Shouts of "Instruct the delegates," "Get men who will be pledged" and similar remarks kept the convention in an uproar. When the crowd grew too noisy, Mr. Daly shouted, "I appeal to men of reason, not to those who haven't any."

The chairman put the question amid an uproar. Fifty men were on their feet in all parts of the house, and the Burlington and Hunterdon delegates were shouting—demanding to be heard, and insisting on the instruction of the delegation.

John L. Crandall, of Camden, refused to sit down, and kept on talking in a din which prevented him being heard. Chairman Zulick kept his gavel going, but Mr. Crandall talked on.

The unit rule in force in many of the county delegations caused more trouble. At one time the whole Camden delegation was on its feet, but though it was almost impossible to hear anybody on account of the noise, the roll call was persisted in.

The call proceeded amid confusion. The vote was announced as 923 to 166. There was more disorder, and some of the Burlington men left the hall.

As soon as the platform had been adopted and the excitement and noise had lessened somewhat through the sheer exhaustion of the troublesome delegates, the convention proceeded to nominate delegates-at-large. Thos. M. Farrell, of Camden; M. T. Barrett, of Essex; Johnson Cornish, of Warren; James E. Martine, of Union, and Robert Davis, of Hudson, were named.

Lieut.-Col. D. F. Collins, of Elizabeth, chairman of the Union county delegation, made the speech nominating Mr. Martine. It was brief, but particularly applicable to the situation. He referred to the loyalty and energy of Mr. Martine for many years in the Democratic party, spoke of his personal friendship with Mr. Bryan and ended by saying that to name him would obviate the necessity of instructing the delegates, as everyone knew that he would vote for Col. Bryan. The Union county delegates were wildly enthusiastic over Mr. Martine's candidacy, and every few minutes would raise a din shouting for him.

The roll call of counties had not proceeded far when it was realized by all that Mr. Martine would be named by a liberal vote, despite the opposition and deals made by Essex. Essex, Atlantic, Passaic and one or two others were the only ones voting against him. At the conclusion of the voting and the announcement that Mr. Martine had won, there were enthusiastic cheers for Mr. Martine.

The announcement of the district delegates as follows was then made:

First District — Colonel George Pfeiffer, of Camden, and Samuel Iredell, of Cumberland.

Second District—Harry H. Postall, of Atlantic, and N. J. Harrison, of Ocean.

Third District—David Crater, of Monmouth, and S. O. B. Taylor, of Somerset.

Fourth District—Representative J. P. Salmon, of Morris, and W. Howard Lake, of Hunterdon.

Fifth District—State Chairman W. B. Gourley, of Passaic, and Addison Ely, of Bergen.

Sixth District — General E. P. Meaney, of Essex, and Frank McDermit, of Essex.

Seventh District—Mayor Edward Hoos, of Jersey City, and Representative W. D. Daly, of Hudson.

Eighth District—James J. Manning, of Union, and Michael Doyle, of Essex.

The convention adjourned immediately after the district delegates had been declared elected by Chairman Gulick.

The chosen delegates met after the convention to make arrangements for their transportation and accommodation. Senator Johnston Cornish, Congressman Daly and Col. Geo. Pfeiffer were appointed a committee on arrangements, with Pfeiffer as chairman. Thos. Purdy, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, offered inducements to the delegates to travel over that line, and it was decided that the delegates should go over the Pennsylvania to St. Louis, and from St. Louis to Kansas City via the Missouri Pacific line. The train will leave Jersey City Sunday night, July 1st, arriving in Kansas City the following Tuesday about noon. Further arrangements for the trip are to be made by the committee later on.

FINE MUSICAL TALENT.

Concert Given in German Reformed Church Under the Direction of Prof. Conde.

Last evening's heat had no effect on the musical enthusiasts who gathered in the German Reformed church, where a concert was given under the auspices of the ladies of the church.

Judging from the applause, one of the features of the evening was the violin solos by Miss Virginia Ketcham, a pupil of Professor Conde. Miss Ketcham was down on the programme for but one solo, but by special request two were given.

Lewis Schnepel scored a success with his fine baritone solos, and he was obliged to respond each time. His reading of the Scripture by touch was very interesting and appealed strongly to his listeners.

A duetto solo by Fermin [illegible] brought the first half of the programme to a close. In the second half Mr. Conde delighted his hearers with a well-rendered violin solo, a selection from "Il Trovatore," and was obliged to return twice by the applause. As for the orchestra itself, each selection showed that the different musicians were thoroughly familiar with their respective instruments.

The accompanists of the evening were Miss Florence Cahoone for the orchestra, Miss Bennett for Miss Ketcham's violin solos, and Miss Lillian A. Force for Prof. Conde, F. Ferrer, 'cello, and Prof. Schnepel, vocalist.

The concert was given under the direction of Prof. Conde and was a decided success.

After the concert the artists and their friends were served with refreshments in the Sunday-school room of the church.

TO VOTE MONEY.

Special School Meeting in Borough to Decide About Appropriation for Heating Apparatus.

The Borough Board of Education has decided to hold a special meeting for the citizens Monday evening, June 11th, at the Somerset street school, when the citizens will be asked to authorize the raising of $5,500 for the proper heating and ventilating of twelve rear rooms in the Somerset street school; also to authorize the introduction of manual training in the borough schools at an expense of $2,000, a portion of which amount will come from money appropriated by the State for such purpose.

To Regain His Health.

Manager Maze Edwards, of Music Hall, left the city yesterday, accompanied by Mrs. Edwards, en route to Lake Huron, via Detroit and Ann Arbor, Mich., where they will spend the summer in the hope of restoring Mr. Edwards' health, which has been very precarious for the past few months. Absolute rest and quiet is prescribed for him and it is to be hoped that by the time his business demands his presence here he will be fully restored to good health.

Ran Away on Watchung Avenue.

A team of horses, belonging to Michael Welsh, of West Third street, ran away yesterday morning for the second time in a week. They became frightened at the cars beneath the Watchung avenue bridge and dashed toward Front street. Mr. Welsh managed to retain his seat, but was unable to control them. At the corner of Front and Watchung, the horses ran on the sidewalk and one was thrown down cutting itself very badly. No other damage resulted.

BOY CHOIR WAS HEARD.

FESTIVAL SERVICE GIVEN IN HOLY CROSS CHURCH.

Assisted by a Number of Choristers From St. Agnes' Chapel in New York—Work of a High Order.

The Church of the Holy Cross was filled last night with an appreciative audience when the first choir festival service was given under the direction of G. Edward Stubbs, M. A., choirmaster, and Clarence D. Sears, organist. The regular boy choir was assisted by a number of choristers from St. Agnes' chapel, New York.

In the service that preceded the rendition of several anthems Rev. W. Montgomery Dewey, pastor of the church, was assisted by Rev. Mr. Phelps, of Bound Brook, who was invited to join in the service. After the opening part of the service the choir rendered two anthems by Mendelssohn, one by S. Coleridge Taylor and one by Royle. The work was of a high order and greatly enjoyed by all. The heavy solo work was given by Charles McLean Paine, tenor, from St. Agnes' chapel. His voice is very strong and possesses all of the essential qualifications for this kind of work. In the first anthem by Mendelssohn, Mr. Paine's singing was a strong feature.

The work of the choir showed a marked improvement and the various parts were given in a delightful manner. The men from St. Agnes' chapel are soloists and they assisted materially in the renditions. They were Robert Grant, Elmer R. Jacobs and Wm. H. Nash, basses; Arthur Yackel, alto; Charles McLean Paine and J. H. Rough, tenors. Mention should be made of the organ prelude, Movements I II, Sonata II, Mendelssohn, and the organ postlude, Movements III and IV, Sonata II, Mendelssohn; by Clarence D. Sears, organist, and the very excellent work during the service by Prof. Stubbs. Altogether the service was a pleasing one to the large number of persons present, who hope that they will be continued.

STOPPED WHEELMAN.

Patrolman McCarty and Robin Meeker Took a Tumble Together on South Avenue.

When Robin Meeker, of West Front street, was returning on his wheel from Boynton Beach Wednesday evening his lamp went out and refused to burn again. He was coming in on South avenue, just inside the city line, when Patrolman McCarty spied him and shouted to him to halt. Meeker was riding at such a clip that a halt was for time-being impossible. McCarty ran out and caught the passing wheelman by the arm, and policeman, wheel and rider were pretty well mixed-up in a heap. The officer suffered the worst, having his hand cut. Meeker and his wheel escaped injury.

Meeker had an interview with City Judge Runyon yesterday, and sentence was suspended on the charge of riding without a light.

Saturday Half Holiday.

Commencing with tomorrow the lumber and coal dealers about the city will close their places of business at 12 o'clock noon. This arrangement will continue during the summer months, according to former custom.

—Everything in the line of fresh vegetables will be on sale at Neuman Brothers grocery tomorrow morning.

PLEASING MUSICALE.

William E. MacClymont's Pupils Acquitted Themselves in a Creditable Manner.

One of the most pleasing musicales of the season was that of yesterday afternoon given by William E. MacClymont, assisted by his pupils. The affair was given in the Camera Club rooms, where an appreciative audience gathered to listen to the finely executed selections. In addition to the numbers given by Mr. MacClymont's pupils and the one selection by himself, there were vocal selections by Miss Etta Raybert and Miss Mabel Negley, pupils of Herman Hovermann, of New York. The programme was as follows: "La Fileuse," W. E. MacClymont; duet, "The Children's Dance," Miss Edith and Master Leonard Mantz; "Through the Woods," [illegible], Aria, Cavatina, "Carmen," "Magic Song," Miss Mabel Negley; intermezzo, "Alcazar," Miss Erma Green; "Edna Mazurka," Miss Grace Karr; "Lovely Month of May," Miss Alice Martin; Aria, Hear ye Israel, "Elijah," "Heart's Springtime," Miss Etta Raybert; "Dancing Spirits," Miss Adelaide Howard.

Part second follows: "Song from the Heart," Miss Josie Dealaman; "Murmuring Zephyrs," Miss Ida May Tallamy; "Lyric Poem," Miss Alice Louise Morgan; "Spinning Song," Miss Lillian Fancher; walz, "A flat, Op. 34, No. 1," Miss Beatrice Miner.

A Pickaninny Band.

The Jenkins Orphan Sensational Concert Company gave an interesting musical concert in Washington Hall last evening for the benefit of the Jenkins Orphan Asylum, of Charleston, S. C. The company for the most part is composed of a pickaninny band which furnishes the musical part of the programme. A competition drill was given by four girls and four boys, all of the asylum. The company is touring the United States and if they are successful will visit the Paris fair before it closes.

Further Street Improvements.

Franklin place is receiving the attention of the city street department now that the repairs to Putnam avenue have been completed. The steam roller has been at work on the latter thoroughfare for a week. A coat of fine crushed stone is being spread on Franklin place between Putnam and Watchung avenues and will be rolled in.

Arrivals at Park Avenue Hotel.

Among the recent arrivals at the Park Avenue Hotel are Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Martin, of Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Bainbridge Hinkley, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Currier, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Jones, of Newark; Mrs. Burgess, George Burgess, Joseph B. Yerkes and family of this city.

Improvements at Hotel.

A number of improvements are being made at the Park Avenue Hotel including the addition of fire escapes, and bath-rooms throughout the house. Work on the fire escapes will be started this week. Several bath-rooms have been put in and others will be added soon.

Crushed His Toe.

Charles Auten, of Somerset street, is obliged to walk around with a cane, on account of a large piece of iron falling on his toe, badly crushing it.

Preparatory Service.

This evening at 8 o'clock a preparatory service, in connection with Communion next Sunday morning will be held in Trinity Reformed church.

A FINE ARTIST.

Miss Grace LaRome is the Contralto Will Sing in "The Persian Garden" Monday Evening.

The contralto for the "Persian Garden" to be given at the Y. M. C. A. hall Monday evening is Miss Grace LaRome, of New York. Miss LaRome is gifted with an exceptional contralto voice. In quality it is much like the famous singer M'me Schalci in her prime. It is a voice of great purity, unusual breadth, splendid range and what singers call a "big voice" well placed.

Miss LaRome has studied under the best masters and has had a special advantage of a wide experience in opera, oratoria and concert, although a young singer.

The New York Telegram says: "Among the artists who sang at the Waldorf yesterday afternoon was Miss Grace LaRome. Her rendition of the Grand Aria from the 'Queen of Sheba' was superb."

The New York Musical Courier says: "Miss LaRome possesses a rare contralto voice of great scope and beauty."

Mr. Romani has been especially fortunate in securing Miss LaRome, as her engagements are many.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DUNHAM.

Eulogy of Her Life Delivered by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards.

The funeral services of the late Mrs. Jane Dunham, of East Sixth street, were held yesterday forenoon at 11:15 o'clock from the house, and were conducted by Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue church, where the deceased was a member. Dr. Richards spoke impressively concerning the beautiful life and character of Mrs. Dunham, and how faithful she was in her Christian duties and attendance at divine worship.

There were many floral tributes from relatives and friends that evidenced love and a high regard for the departed. The service was a short one, and the remains accompanied by the relatives were taken to Basking Ridge for interment. Three of the four pallbearers were sons of the departed.

Tells of Their Future.

Zingarra's Gypsy Co. is located on East Front street, next to VanEmburgh's dry goods store. Mme. Zingarre directs the telling of fortunes and she has always met with good success. It is claimed that she seldom if ever makes a miss in telling fortunes and those desing to know their future should call on her.

It [illegible]en estimated that the expense [illegible]ount to 15 cents for each living individual in the United States, and every one should do his part to the end that so vast a sum should not result in an unreliable census. In view of all these facts, Mayor Rockfellow says he commends very heartily to the people Supt. Tunis and the men who have been chosen to do the work in this city, and he will co-operate with the citizens in making for Plainfield the census full and accurate.

Under the census law any person who refuses to answer any or all of the questions will be liable to a fine of $100. All information, if correct, received by an enumerator or other officer connected with the taking of the approaching census is to be considered by the officer taking it as strictly confidential, and can in no way be made use of for the purpose of imprisoning anyone for taxation, military duties, as a basis for any criminal charge or for any suit for damages. Supervisors, enumerators or any other employes of the government are enjoined against communicating such information to any person not authorized to receive the same, under penalty of $500. All enumerators will be furnished with a badge or with written authority, and they are required to show the same to any person so requesting, when in the performance of their duty.

ELECTED SECRETARY.

Dr. H. K. Carroll an Officer of Methodist Missionary Society.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Westervelt avenue, who was elected secretary of the home and foreign missionary society of the M. E. church, at the general conference held in Chicago, has returned home. He will enter upon his duties at once. His office will be in New York in the building with the M. E. church book publishing house, and he will retain his position for the next four years. Dr. Carroll says that the conference was the most successful ever held, and the most harmonious.

San Juan Liquor Dealers Complain.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 1.—The want of bonded steamers practically prohibits the shipment of goods in bond from the United States to Porto Rico. The liquor dealers are dissatisfied. They point out that they are compelled to pay to the insular revenue to the extent, for instance, of $1.20 per barrel on beer, whereas revenue taxes have already been paid in the United States. What they overlook is the fact that the act lowers the duties 85 per cent. A dispatch has been received here announcing that Mr. William H. Elliott, former director of posts, will be appointed secretary of the interior in Porto Rico.

Explosion Kills Six.

MARIETTA, O., June 1.—Six men were killed and four fatally injured last night at Whipple, a short distance east of this city, by a premature explosion of 50 quarts of nitroglycerin which was being used in shooting an oil well on the Kelly farm. Among the killed are William Watson of Marietta, an extensive oil operator; Jim Speers and Tom Daniels, farmers. It is also reported that Charles Elston and John Loffand, two leading citizens, were killed.

KRUGER CAPTURED

His Flight Confirmed, but Nothing Further.

ROBERTS OCCUPIES JOHANNESBURG

French and Hamilton Have Had Continuous Fighting—Boers Said to Be Massing South of Pretoria For Desperate Stand.

LONDON, June 1.—Belated messages from Pretoria confirm the reports of the departure of President Kruger with his cabinet and staff officials Tuesday night and the selection at a meeting of citizens of a committee to administer the city provisionally.

The war office here knows nothing about the reported capture of President Kruger.

Since these telegrams left on Wednesday nothing apparently has reached Lourenco Marques by telegraph from Pretoria. Possibly the wires have been cut. Possibly the Boer censorship at some intermediate point intercepts telegrams.

Although the war office has not received a word about it, no one in London harbors the idea that the Boer capital is not already in the hands of the British, or about to be there. The possession of Johannesburg at all events, as Lord Roberts has telegraphed, is a fact. State Attorney Smuts did not depart with President Kruger, but remained in Pretoria.

The present seat of the Boer government, according to a dispatch from Lourenco Marques, dated yesterday, is Middleburg, but it will probably be shifted farther east.

The Boers lately confronting Lord Roberts appear to have gone eastward also toward the Lydenburg region. The defenders of Laingsnek, when their position becomes too perilous, will probably trek straight northward toward Lydenburg. When this concentration takes place, there will be possibly 20,000 men who may hold out for a time, with scattered bands of guerrillas elsewhere.

The press dispatches from the headquarters of Lord Roberts give no estimate as to the number of Boers who were fighting General French and General Ian Hamilton Monday and Tuesday, but they all agree that the Boers retired and that the British casualties were slight.

The following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Johannesburg, May 31, 2 p. m., has been received at the war office here:

"Her majesty's forces are now in possession of Johannesburg, and the British flag floats over the government buildings."

Mr. Bennet Burleigh, wiring to The Daily Telegraph from Elandsfontein Tuesday, says:

"Much rolling stock and seven engines have been captured by Lord Roberts' column. The principal losses in the fighting have been sustained by the mounted infantry, but the casualties are trifling. General French and General Hamilton were engaged to the west of Johannesburg.

"Since Sunday the western columns have been fighting; but, although guns were used, the actions were never serious. In fact, they were only big skirmishes. The Boers are retreating to Pretoria."

Mr. Prevost-Battersby, in a dispatch to The Morning Post from Germiston, dated May 30, says:

"The enemy fought a rear guard action, retiring from the south to the north of the town with their pompoms and artillery in the morning and withdrawing their riflemen through the town in the afternoon. We captured nine engines and over 100 wagons. Two trains are leaving tonight for the Vaal.

"We succeeded in cutting the line in three directions, and imprisoning all the rolling stock in Johannesburg. It was a splendid piece of work. The enemy were astounded at the rapidity of our advance."

Another correspondent, telegraphing from Germiston the same day, says:

"I learn that the Boers are massing six miles south of Pretoria for a new and desperate stand, with a front of 12 miles."

Other rumors in the camp of Lord Roberts are that President Kruger is ill at Lydenburg and that the ammunition of the Boers is running short. Mr. M. H. Donohe, a correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, was captured yesterday.

Some discussion is going on in London as to what will be done with President Kruger if he is captured. One idea is that he will be sent to St. Helena, another that he will be tried for treason. The Daily Express says:

"Mr. Kruger's London agent has invested £140,000 of the president's money in land and mines. This took place before the war broke out, and to this fact may be ascribed the failure of the Transvaal authorities to blow up the mines."

Kruger Gets the Message.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1. — The North American has received the following cable messages from Pretoria, dated May 29. The first is to the schoolboys of Philadelphia, care North American, from James Francis Smith, A. D. T. 1534, and says, "I have delivered your message." The second says:

"By stress of dire circumstance the message from the schoolboys of Philadelphia to President Kruger, delivered this day, has the tone of sympathy and sorrow at the final misfortune which is about to wipe the South African Republic from the roll of independent nations rather than of an encouragement to a people fighting for liberty, for the fight has been fought and lost. The message was delivered in the executive chamber at the capitol, through the windows of which came the rumble of ox carts and the general confusion attendant upon the evacuation of the city by the families of the Boers."

General Rundle's Victory.

CAPE TOWN, June 1.—General Rundle has defeated a Boer commando at Senekal. His casualties were 45 killed and many wounded.

Safe Works Sold.

CINCINNATI, June 1.—Under the order of the United States court the plant of the Herring-Hall-Marvin Safe works at Hamilton, O., was sold here yesterday to Walter F. Drummond of New York, representing the reorganization committee. The plant sold for the nominal amount of $100,000 cash, although it is worth over $1,000,000. The purchasers gave bond for meeting all liens and claims recognized by the court in addition to the cash paid yesterday.

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

A number of friends went to New York yesterday to see Miss Moss, formerly superintendent of Muhlenberg Hospital, sail on the Bremen, of the North-German Lloyd Line for Europe. All wished her bon-voyage and a safe return.

Filipino Independence.

Hon. Charles Denby has a vigorous answer, in the June Forum, to those who urge the granting of independence to the Filipinos. "Do we owe independence to the Filipinos?" he asks, and then proceeds to show from despatches and from the history of the Philippine campaign that no reasonable ground exists for supposing that Aguinaldo ever looked on the United States as an ally, and that therefore in conquering the islands from Spain Americans are in nowise pledged to obtain the consent of the Filipinos before asserting sovereignty over them. He reinforces the argument by historical parallels, and has made an exceedingly effective argument for expansion.

A CASE OF EXTRAVAGANCE.

YOU never cut off three-quarters of a new cake of soap and throw it away! Yet you pay twice the price of Ivory Soap for a cake of "tinted" toilet soap less than half as large. Your little cake of toilet soap costs you four times the price of Ivory, for it lasts only half as long and costs twice as much. No money can buy purer or better soap than Ivory. If it came in dainty paper, all scented and colored, you would pay fifteen cents for a very small cake of it.

ADVANCE ON PEKING.

Troops of Six Nations Start For Chinese Capital.

EQUIPPED WITH RAPID FIRE GUNS.

Americans, British, Italians, French, Russians and Japanese Land From Warships to Protect Foreign Legations From the Boxers.

TIEN-TSIN, June 1.—A special train started for Peking yesterday afternoon with the following forces: Americans, 7 officers and 56 men; British, 3 officers and 72 men; Italians, 3 officers and 39 men; French, 3 officers and 72 men; Russians, 4 officers and 71 men, and Japanese, 2 officers and 24 men. The foreign contingent also took with them five quick firing guns. It is rumored here that foreign troops will be opposed at the first gate of the Chinese capital outside the wall.

Opposition Withdrawn.

PEKING, June 1.—At 2:30 a. m. yesterday the foreign envoys received the reply of the tsung-li-yamen to their ultimatum of yesterday, calling upon the Chinese authorities to consent to the landing of a force of marines to come to Peking to guard the legations. The ultimatum fixed 6 a. m. today as the hour at or before which the reply must be forthcoming. The tsung-li-yamen agreed to withdraw opposition to the coming of the guards.

Word From Admiral Kempff.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The following cablegram has been received at the navy department from the senior squadron commander, Admiral Kempff, dated May 30:

"One hundred men landed and sent Tien-tsin yesterday. Fifty of these go to Peking this day. Other nations landed men."

Such advices as have reached here indicate that the situation in China has assumed a very critical phase and one calculated to tax the entire resources of the Chinese government. The state department has been in close communication with Mr. Conger, the minister at Peking, and the navy department is doing its share to protect American interests.

Free Dispensary Mobbed.

CHICAGO, June 1.—A free dispensary at 510 West Eighteenth street, said to be conducted in the interests of medical students, was attacked yesterday by a crowd of infuriated Bohemians and Lithuanians, and before the police arrived in response to a call the building was badly damaged. Stories of bodies being dissected in the dispensary had created terror among the Bohemians and Lithuanians, who gave the place a wide berth. Yesterday a boy disappeared. His boy companion at once reported that he had been waylaid and killed by the doctors. In a few moments a mob of several hundred people was at work demolishing the building. Clubs were used freely, and several arrests were made before the crowd was dispersed. Later the boy was found unharmed.

All Night In the Niagara Tower.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 1.—For nearly 18 hours Miss Florence Irene Leonard of Arlington, Ga., was a captive on top of the observation tower across from Prospect park, and all night long her cries for help were drowned by the awful roar of the cataract. She was over 300 feet above the earth, and now she lies at her boarding house suffering from the shock of the terrible experience. Miss Leonard is engaged in missionary work, but she is here on a visit. She went up in the tower at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon and did not notice when the elevator stopped running. She could not make herself heard, and it was 9 o'clock the following morning when she was rescued.

Banker William Brewster Dead.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The death is announced of William Cullen Brewster, the banker. His death was sudden, resulting from heart disease, and occurred at his home in this city. Mr. Brewster was born in McConnellsville, O., July 29, 1828. He was a descendant of Elder William Brewster, who came to this country in the Mayflower. Though he retired from active business in 1867, he was at the time of his death president of the Fifth Avenue Safe Deposit company and a director of the Second National bank and many other financial institutions of this city.

Gomez Returns.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 1.—General Maximo Gomez arrived yesterday from Santo Domingo and spent the day with the political leaders of the black party, who are jubilant over his return. He positively declined to be interviewed, would not talk on Cuban or Dominican politics and was altogether in a bad humor. The papers favoring the black party declare that the return of Gomez "means the failure of the conspiracy of the Americans, Spaniards and English to annex Cuba." General Gomez left in the evening for Havana.

A Mammoth Balloon.

BERLIN, June 1.—For the purpose of ascertaining how long a balloon will remain aloft the largest airship ever constructed is now being built here. It will contain 9,000 cubic centimeters and will carry 125 hundredweight. Five aeronauts, Herren Berson, Zekeli and Koering, Mr. Alexander, an Englishman, and one other, will ascend July 15, planning to remain aloft for weeks and to descend wherever finally carried. The balloon will be twice the size of Andree's.

The Hudson's Source Bought.

ALBANY, June 1.—The state forest preserve board has concluded negotiations for the purchase for the state of 8,000 acres of Adirondack forest land in township 50, Hamilton county, formerly owned by private individuals. The price ranged from $1 to $1.65 per acre. Included in this territory lies the beautiful Round pond, which is the source of the Hudson river. The board also decided to buy of the Norwood Lumber company a tract of 1,620 acres of Adirondack land in the townships of Hollywood and Kildare, St. Lawrence county. This tract will cost the state an average price of $3.50 per acre.

Miners Tired of the Strike.

CUMBERLAND, Md., June 1.—Meetings of striking miners of individual mines of the Georges Creek region have been held and resolutions almost unanimously adopted requesting the executive committee to call off the strike of the 4,500 miners of the region Friday at 6 o'clock. If the organization declines to do so officially, it is thought that the men will meet on Saturday and end it themselves by applying in a body for reinstatement at the various mines.

Training Ship's Long Cruise.

NORFOLK, June 1.—The United States training ship Hartford, Admiral Farragut's old flagship, has arrived in Hampton Roads from San Francisco, ending probably the longest voyage ever made by an American training ship. She has aboard 350 apprentice boys who were shipped at San Francisco as landsmen.

To Exhibit Hernandez.

A New Jersey Religious Monument

The Presbyterian church is about ready for one of the most interesting celebrations in its history in this country. On June 14th a monument will be dedicated on the site of the Old Scots meeting house at Freehold, N. J., where the first presbytery in the United States held its session. The monument in a sense is a memorial to John Boyd, one of the first Presbyterian clergymen in America, but it also commemorates the beginning of the Presbyterian church's history in this country. It recalls Francis Makemic, often called the father of the Presbyterian church in America; Jedediah Andrews, the first pastor of the first Presbyterian church in Philadelphia; John Hampton, whom Makemic brought from Ireland, and Elder Walter Kerr, who, in 1685, "for his adherence to the truth as professed by the Church of Scotland, was sent to this country under a sentence of perpetual banishment." The granite comes from Scotland, Ireland and New England.

Mr. Martine's Honor.

To the thousands of personal friends of James E. Martine in Union county, who know intimately of his devotion, loyalty and energy in the cause of Democracy for the past thirty years, the high honor of selecting him as a delegate-at-large to represent New Jersey at the National Democratic convention in Kansas City, is a recognition that is gratifying and appreciated.

It is the first time in many years that such a political honor has been given a Democrat of this section, and that Mr. Martine, after serving his party faithfully for over a quarter of a century, should have received it, is highly satisfactory to every partisan.

While Plainfield permitted the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company to establish exclusive underground conduits for its wires in this city with few restrictions, there promises to be lively opposition to the same plan of procedure in Elizabeth, where it is now proposed to carry out the improvement of putting telephone wires underground. An ordinance modeled very much like the Plainfield law in respect to this project has been introduced in the City Council of Elizabeth. Strong opposition has developed against the ordinance in its present form, and a meeting will be held under the auspices of the Board of Trade to see if measures cannot be devised to have all overhead wires in the city, except those of the trolley and telegraph companies, placed underground. It is claimed that the pending ordinance will, if passed in its present shape, give the New York and New Jersey Company a monopoly of the right of way through the principal streets.

If Elizabeth, as well as several other New Jersey cities, expect to be dealt with generously by Uncle Sam in the matter of public buildings, patience will have to be displayed. There is an understanding in Congress that no bills appropriating money for public buildings shall be passed at the present session, and the only thing for ambitious and expectant Elizabeth to do is keep up her courage and hope for the best when Congress meets again next winter. Perhaps the members may feel disposed to be more liberal then.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Whether Union county or Uncle Sam is the stronger is the question involved in the seizure of some property belonging to a bankrupt by the Sheriff of Union and demanded by United States Marshal Olcott. It is believed that the Sheriff will surrender before a demonstration is made by one of Uncle Sam's ironclads up the Kill von Kull.—New York Herald.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The entrance of the British into Johannesburg, was celebrated yesterday morning by Mrs. Robert Gough, of Manson place, who displayed a large English flag on her house. Mrs. Gough took this means of showing her appreciation of "Tommy Atkins'" victory.

* * * * * *

The Crescent Band, of Raritan, that furnished music for the Memorial Day celebration in this city, came to Plainfield with a vague idea as to what sort of music should be played on such an occasion. As they entered the Plainfield avenue cemetery preceding the G. A. R., the band played "Rally Around the Flag Boys!" This seemed so very much out of order that the leader of the band was questioned about it. He said that the band failed to bring along selections appropriate to the day. Their selections were of a more popular order. After the committee told the musicians what they wanted the right kind of music was played.

A BOSTON BLAZE.

Large Department Store Burned. Several Firemen Injured.

BOSTON, June 1.—What proved to be an unusually stubborn fire to handle and what at one time seemed certain to envelop several large buildings in flames practically ruined the stock of the large department store of the Pitts-Kimbal company, occupying the six story building at 607 to 615 Washington street last night, causing a loss which, with that on the building, will exceed probably $200,000. The adjoining buildings suffered considerable damage from water. These include the Park theater, which joins the Pitts-Kimball building on the south; the New England Piano company building on Washington street, separated from it by Fayette court, and the Tremont theater in the rear, separated from it by Haymarket place. The fire, however, did not reach these buildings. Several firemen, including Assistant Chief Mullen received slight injuries.

The fire started in the shoe department formerly the old engine room, in the new annex at the rear and shot up almost instantly to the fifth floor through an elevator well, so that the entire five floors of the annex was a mass of flames when the firemen began their fight.

Immense clouds of extremely dense and irritating smoke poured through the entire establishment, coming out of the front doors and windows on Washington street in such quantities that the firemen were greatly hampered thereby in their work.

ALDRIDGE ACCUSED.

The Rochester School Bill Forgery Laid at His Door.

ALBANY, June 1.—Charles H. Winchester, Jr., manager of the state printing plant, at the afternoon session of the special inquiry in progress before County Judge Clifford D. Gregory to ascertain the persons responsible for the Rochester school bill fraud, was recalled and stated that Edward Denniston, the index clerk of the assembly, who sent the bogus bill to the printer to be printed, told him that he was not responsible for what had been done; that he had been instructed to do it by George W. Aldridge and others. This statement was made in the presence of Mr. Aldridge and was much stronger than the statement on the same subject that was made by Winchester at the morning session.

Mr. Aldridge, who was passing through the city, heard of the testimony given by Winchester and presented himself at the investigation to refute what had been testified to. Mr. Aldridge said:

"I simply wish to say that I was in town and hearing that my name was mentioned in connection with this matter I want to deny any connection with it. I would be glad to have any questions asked me on this subject, which I will cheerfully answer."—

No questions were asked.

MISS JACKSON'S PUPILS.

GAVE ANNUAL RECEPTION AT THE CASINO LAST NIGHT.

Large Audience Enjoyed Programme Despite the Sultry Weather—The Programme Given.

The capacity of the Casino was taxed to it uttermost last evening to accommodate the great crowd of relatives and friends of the young people who participated in the reception given by Miss Addie Parker Jackson's classes in physical culture and rendering. Despite the fact that the evening was exceedingly warm and sultry and the programme a rather long one, the audience greatly enjoyed it and evinced its approval of the results of Miss Jackson's training by frequent and hearty applause.

The selections were well chosen. Miss Elsie Smith was particularly clever in "How the LaRue Stakes Were Lost. A funny little farce, "Misdirected," in two scenes, was also very commendable. The aesthetic drill that opened the programme was prettily arranged. Miss Mabel Maxson acted as accompanist.

In one of the intervals in the programme a handsome fernery and bouquet was presented to Miss Jackson by Lawrence Tweedy, one of the ushers, in behalf of Miss Jackson's pupils. There were many handsome bouquets for the young women who took part in the programme. In ushering Lawrence Tweedy was assisted by Mellick Tweedy and Ames Brooks.

The programme was as follows:

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Sämmtliche deutsche Universitäten haben kürzlich einheitliche Bedingungen für die Erlangung der medizinischen Doktorwürde adoptirt.— Der große Strike der Berliner Straßenbahn-Angestellten ist durch das Eingreifen des Oberbürgermeisters Kirschner, der die Vermittelung zwischen dem Direktorium der Gesellschaft und dem Strikekomite unternahm und einen Kompromiß zu Stande brachte, beendet worden. Während des Strikes wurden insgesammt 487 Verhaftungen vorgenommen; 15 Schutzleute wurden schwer verletzt.—Dieser Tage wurde der Direktor Gersin verhaftet. Derselbe stand einer Beamtensterbekasse vor, die in Hermsdorf Grundstücke besaß. Gersin hat schwindelhafte Grundstücksschiebungen vorgenommen. In diese Affäre ist auch der frühere Inspektor des Moabiter Untersuchungsgefängnisses, Gotschmann, verwickelt, der bei Gersin die Rolle eines ersten Sekretärs spielte.

Jüterbogk. Beim Scharfschießen auf dem Artillerieplatz wurde der Ortsvorsteher Tinte von Lammsdorf nebst seinen beiden Kindern durch eine Granate getödtet. Tinte verrichtete mit seinen Kindern Feldarbeiten und hatte sich dabei aus Versehen über die Demarkationslinie hinausbegeben.

Potsdam. Der Liederkomponist Graben-Hoffmann, der in letzter Zeit von der Unterstützung seiner Freunde lebte, ist im Alter von 80 Jahren gestorben. Er war der Verfasser von „Fünfmalhunderttausend Teufel," „Die singende Kinderwelt," „Frühlingsstimmen" u. s. w.

Helgoland.

Die Verhandlungen über den Bau eines neuen Leuchtthurmes auf Helgoland sind dieser Tage zu Ende gekommen. Der neue Leuchtthurm wird etwa 100 Meter nördlich vom alten erbaut. Das elektrische Blinkfeuer wird 15 Meter höher als die jetzige Laterne und viel lichtstärker sein, so daß es einige Seemeilen weiter leuchten wird; ferner wird auf Helgoland unter Aufsicht des preußischen Kultusministeriums ein Nordsee-Aquarium erbaut. Mit dem Aquarium wird eine biologische Station verbunden sein.

PROGRESSIVE CURE.

Mrs. Williams: "How is it, Doctor, that you who always object so strongly to patent medicines, make an exception of Ripans Tabules? Aren't you rather inconsistent?"

Doctor Brown: "Not in the least, Mrs. Williams. Every disease manifests itself in several different stages, one after another. When any one is suffering from digestive disorder he usually imagines it is a very simple matter, instead of a very complicated one, and makes the mistake of relying upon some single drug which only affects one stage of the complaint, leaving the others to take care of themselves or develop into something worse than the original trouble.

"An intelligent physician aims at a progresssive course of treatment to meet the different phases of a case, step by step, each with its appropriate remedy, and beats the disease at each successive point of attack, so that when the final symptoms are overcome, the disease is thoroughly routed. Physicians recommend Ripans Tabules because they are compounded upon this very principle of overcoming disease progressively.

"In nervous indigestion or costiveness the Tabules act successively upon the different organs involved and overcome each symptom in turn. Headache, sour stomach and nervous depression are relieved almost immediately. The bowels are affected more gradually but surely and thoroughly; and what is of more account, the relief and benefit to the entire system is permanent. That is what physicians call scientific cure. That is why I recommend Ripans Tabules."

WANTED—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. Some Attractive Costumes for the Young Misses

Some Very Pretty Things for the Late Spring and the Early Summer Wear

WHEN the springtime brings thoughts of new gowns to the mammas, the dresses for the daughters must not be entirely forgotten. The fact is, however, that there are but few daughters who are not sufficiently interested in the absorbing subject of seasonable styles to keep mothers well advised as to the needs of their wardrobes.

For the girls and young misses at all times simplicity is the rule for their dresses, and never more so than this season. The fads and furbelows of the gowns for the grown-ups are decidedly out of place on the dresses of the young misses. Youth is enough of a charm not to need all the little frills of the fashionable season, but fashion does decree that the girls should have the choicest of materials.

To get a good idea of what the dresses of our girls should be for the summer and late spring months I visited one of the large stores a few days ago and inspected the juvenile and misses' departments. There I saw everything that the young heart could desire for all ages from the wee baby to the miss of 16 or 17 summers.

The wee garments for king or queen baby were fascinating enough, and they reached a climax in the costly loveliness of a christening robe of soft rich silk, which was a positive marvel of silken embroidery, where marguerites twined in and out of a trelliswork design, and where, too, there were tucked frills of muslin as fine as a cobweb edged with real Valenciennes lace.

But then, as the little people grow in stature and importance, their clothes get prettier still, and I fell in love with a sweet little party frock for some lucky small damsel, its soft white silk sprigged over with tiny pink and blue flowers, divided by stripes formed of trailing bows of pink ribbon, this delightful fabric being made quite simply and just trimmed with a fichu of white chiffon edged with a ruche and a little fringe of crinkled white silk, this fichu being drawn round the shoulders and tied at the back with long sash ends.

A white muslin, too, was quite perfect, with a spotted design to form stripes, the plain muslin between arranged in tiny tucks, where lace insertions were cunningly introduced. It had a yoke of transparent lace with a tucked collar edged and inserted with lace to fall over the shoulders, and the finishing touch to its daintiness was given by a long sash of primrose-yellow satin mousseline.

But would it not be well before going further to give a short list of the materials of which the misses' dresses are being made. Of these there are many pretty silken and woolen mohairs, soft cashmeres and henriettas, French challies, and the plaid and checked cheviots, or light weight cloths. For the more dressy occasions there are veilings, organdies, point de sprit, crepe de chine and silk poplin, with many pretty new summer silks in cord stripes or the new printed designs. These are trimmed with quantities of ribbon, beading and laces.

And now for another charming costume that is destined to be worn by a girl of some ten or eleven years. This is a coat and skirt costume of pale fawn cloth, with the skirt encircled by plaits closely stitched until within a few inches of the hem. The sacque-backed coat is also strapped and stitched in the most approved mode of the moment, and for wear with it there is that hat of pure white fancy straw interwoven with string-colored straw, the crown tied in with a band and bow of broad blue moire ribbon, and the broad plaited brim caught up at the left side with one of the many loops of the bow.

Then to continue in the growth of years there is a beautiful coat of that pale shade of pinkish fawn, and this smartly cut garment is not only made notable by a very novel arrangement of stitched strappings fastened where they cross with little silken buttons, but by a collar and double revers of openwork embroidery and ivory white satin.

Another charming dress that I saw for a miss of about the same age is a street suit of silken and woolen mohair of light weight in a beautiful shade of brown. The skirt of this is made perfectly plain, with two box plaits in the back. It has a nobby little double-breasted jacket with strapped seams on each side of the front and on the sleeves. A wide collar, with fancy pointed revers bordered with a dark brown braid in a scroll design, and a fancy silken braid around the collar and revers.

For a girl some two years younger there is shown a dress for afternoon

wear of bright red silk poplin made with a tunic overskirt, with small scallops all around, piped with white velvet baby ribbon. The bodice of this is made with a pointed yoke of lovely all-over lace; a deep bertha of the lace falling over an under bertha of the goods, with narrow black velvet ribbon run through the lace at the shoulders. A narrow girdle of the silk poplin at the waist line, and plain sleeves finished at the wrist in scallops and piped with white baby ribbon.

Then there is still another for a girl of 16 or 17. It is a garden party dress of white foulard patterned with black and two shades of blue, the softly hanging skirt arranged in box plaits all round, and the pinafore bodice introducing some very pretty lace, and gatherings of satin baby ribbon as a trimming.

A girlish toilette for informal evening affairs that I thought pretty is of red crepe de chine, trimmed with silk embroidery. The skirt of this is made with a double box plait at the back, widening gradually towards the bottom. The silken embroidery is just above the hem. It has a round yoke bodice with a full white silk front edged on each side with the silken embroidery. A crushed girdle of red velvet, and small puffs of crepe de chine for sleeves.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 3, "How to Be a Good Neighbor"—Text, Luke x, 25-37.

"And when he saw him he had compassion." The vital question is not where shall I find my neighbors, but how shall I act toward them. It is difficult to reproduce in our time the impression which must have been made upon those who heard Jesus speak this parable.

The question had been asked, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" It was not asked in the spirit of earnest inquiry, with a desire for guidance, but for the purpose of controversy and to entrap Jesus into unguarded statements. The reply was one which could not be twisted by the lawyer, "Love God completely and your neighbor as yourself." There was the chance for discussion. The old proverb "Love your friends and hate your enemies" had grown up under the very shadow of this law of perfect love to God and man. "Who, then, is this neighbor whom I should love?" How easy it would have been for Jesus to have said "You should love every one," but how utterly useless it would also have been! So He tells a story. It was a common story, an everyday affair of the Jericho road—traveler, robbers, hurrying priest and heartless Levite, then a chance stranger with feelings of humanity. Reverse the case, and it would have been untrue to nature. Make the wounded man a Samaritan, and he would have died; for if priest and Levite would pass unheeded a suffering Jew quite likely no man of their nation would relieve a traditional enemy. How this must have cut to the quick—a half dead Jew, neglected by the most religious of men, passed with indifference if not impatience, but relieved by a hated, despised Samaritan, a godless alien, and that in the face of peril, at cost and much inconvenience!

There the picture stands to all ages, a masterpiece of drawing and color. How full of light, what shadows, what movement and depth, broad strokes and yet the most exquisite finish! Have you studied it?

Have you learned who is your neighbor? Better still, have you learned how to find neighbors? Best of all, do you yet know how to be a good neighbor? When you have failed to learn it from the robed and titled saint of traditional piety, you may catch it from some humble, unpretentious doer of kindnesses.

A Great University.

Methodism has always been an ardent patron of learning. Its first disciples were students in the renowned University of Oxford. Among the first enterprises of the new church in America was the founding of Cokesbury college. The latest and grandest enterprise is the establishment in Washington of the American university. Its plans are of the most comprehensive scope. It will fill a place which no university in the world has occupied. Its location at the capital of the nation, with unrivaled libraries, museums and scientific collections of government within reach, is strategic. The Epworth League is asked to build and endow the college of literature. This will be one of a number of colleges each devoted to a particular branch of learning which will be grouped in the university. All gifts to this League enterprise will be part of the twentieth century thank offering. It is a noble undertaking and should have all possible aid. Bishop J. H. Hurst, the chancellor, is having phenomenal success in enlisting the co-operation of liberal minded men in the university.

Imprudent Sympathy.

It was no more prudent for a lone Samaritan to help a robbed and wounded Jew than for the passing priest and Levite; hardly as prudent. In fact, it was hazardous and might be the means of getting him into trouble with the robbers. Perhaps also the wounded man might resent the help of such a person. How easy for him to let this case alone and expect some one else to care for it! It costs something to be neighborly. It takes boldness, time and tact as well as wine, oil and money. It is easy to find excuses if one has the priestly and Levitical spirit, but if one has the helpful determination he will risk all and sacrifice much—his own beast, his supplies, his bed, his sleep and credit, as well as cash, will all go where his sympathies go. His gifts are measured only by the other man's needs and his own possessions. Prudent or imprudent, who cares? What are goods and strength worth if not to share with those in need?

That Samaritan never made a better investment.

If in anything or at any time or place the presence of Jesus would be embarrassing or distasteful to you; if he should suddenly appear at your side, there is something wrong. Bring all your thinking, all your dreaming of pleasures and profit, all ambitions and resolution, all loves, all dislikes, all your seeking to the test of His presence and approval.

The vigor of our spiritual life will be in exact proportion to the place held by the word in our life and thoughts. I can solemnly state this from the experience of 54 years. The Holy Spirit is the instructor and the word the medium by which God teaches.—George Muller.

Proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County.

[OFFICIAL.]

Pursuant to the statute, the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., for the year commencing May 9th, 1900, met at the Court House in the city of Elizabeth, N. J., on said date at 11 o'clock a. m.

The oath of office was administered to the new members of the board by Hon. B. A. Vail, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas.

The board was called to order by S. Rusling Ryno, clerk of the last board

The roll was called by cities and townships, as follows, viz:

Clark Township, Benjamin King.
Cranford Township, E. K. Adams.
Elizabeth City, Frederick Miller, Jacob Brucklacher, Joseph McCandless, August Gerstung.
Fanwood Township, John Robison.
Linden Township, Henry Krouse.
New Providence Township, John F. Wahl.

Rahway City, Chr. Ehrlich, John Farrell.
Springfield Township, N. W. Bonnell.
Summit City, Wm. H. Swain, John N. Cady.
Union Township, Noah Woodruff.
Westfield Township, M.M. Scudder.

All members were present—18

The clerk stated that the first business would be the election of director, and called for nominations.

Freeholder Farrell, in a brief speech, nominated J. Frank Hubbard for director.

There were no other nominations.

The clerk requested Freeholders Robison and Scudder to act as tellers.

As there was but one nomination, Freeholder Robison moved that the clerk cast the ballot, which was so ordered.

The clerk cast the ballot for J. Frank Hubbard for director, and he was thereupon declared elected as director for the legal term.

Director Hubbard was escorted to the chair by the tellers, and briefly returned his thanks for the high honor which had again been conferred upon him.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That the salary of the clerk of the board be fixed at five hundred dollars per annum.

Freeholder Miller moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

Freeholder Farrell nominated S. Rusling Ryno for clerk. There were no other nominations.

As there was but one nomination, it was ordered, on motion of Freeholder Robison, that the director cast the ballot.

The director cast the ballot for S. Rusling Ryno for clerk, who was thereupon declared elected clerk of the board for the legal term.

The clerk thanked the board for his election, and was at once sworn in by the director.

By Freeholder Krouse:

Resolved, That the salary of the county collector be fixed at two thousand dollars per annum.

Freeholder Brucklacher moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

Freeholder Farrell nominated E. M. Wood for County Collector. There were no other nominations.

As there was but one nomination it was ordered, on motion of Freeholder King, that the clerk cast the ballot.

The clerk cast the ballot for E. M. Wood for County Collector, and he was thereupon declared elected as County Collector for the legal term.

Mr. Wood being called upon for a speech, briefly responded, referring to the pleasant associations formed and enjoyed during the eleven years he had served as Collector, and thanking the Board for again conferring the honor upon him.

By Freeholder Robison:

Resolved, That the salary of the county attorney be fixed at three hundred dollars per annum.

Freeholder Miller moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

Freeholder Farrell nominated W. R. Codington for county attorney. There were no other nominations.

There being but one nomination, it was ordered, on motion of Freeholder King, that the clerk cast the ballot.

The clerk cast the ballot for W. R. Codington for county attorney, who was thereupon declared elected as county attorney for the legal term.

Mr. Coddington thanked the board for his re-election, and assured the members that he appreciated thoroughly the honor again conferred upon him.

By Freeholder King:

Resolved, that the rules of order governing the last board be adopted as the rules of this board.

On motion of Freeholder Swain the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Wahl:

Resolved, that the regular meetings of this board be held on the first Thursday in each and every month.

Freeholder Farrell moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Scudder:

Resolved, That the county collector is hereby authorized to have his annual report printed in pamphlet form at a price not to exceed one hundred and twenty-five dollars.

Freeholder Robison moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Swain:

Resolved, That the proceedings of the Board of Chosen Freeholders be published in the following papers at the compensation of one hundred dollars each, viz:

City of Plainfield, Courier News and Daily Press.

City of Rahway, New Jersey Advocate and Union Democrat.

City of Summit, Summit Herald and Summit Record.

Westfield Township, Westfield Leader and Union County Standard.

City of Elizabeth, Elizabeth Daily Journal, Daily Leader and Freie Presse.

Cranford Township, Cranford Citizen.

New Providence Township, Passaic Valley News.

Freeholder Miller moved the adoption of the resolution, and on roll-call it was unanimously adopted.

By Freeholder Adams:

Resolved, That the director be and is hereby constituted a member of all committees.

Freeholder Swain moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was so ordered without dissent.

By Freeholder Miller:

Resolved, That when this Board adjourns it stands adjourned to meet Thursday, May 24th, 1900, at 2:30 p. m.

On motion of Freeholder King the resolution was adopted without dissent.

By Freeholder Farrell:

Resolved, That a committee of five (of whom the director shall be one) be appointed by the director to receive bids for the building and constructing of the following stone (macadam) roads, viz:

On Mountain avenue, beginning at the intersection of Park avenue with Mountain avenue, and extending southerly along the same to Green Brook; also the road in New Providence township known as Springfield avenue, beginning at the intersection of South street with Springfield avenue, and extending westerly to the Passaic river.

Freeholder King moved the adoption of the resolution, which was duly seconded.

County Attorney Coddington explained that this board, having authorized the construction of said roads, and the said roads having been approved by the State road commissioners, it was the duty of the director, under the law, to advertise for bids for the building of said roads.

The resolution was then adopted without dissent.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Robison, Wahl, McCandless and Bonnel.

By Freeholder Wahl:

Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed to meet a similar committee of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Morris county, to confer regarding the advisability of constructing an iron girder bridge over the Passaic river on South street, the dividing line between Union and Morris counties, and report the probable cost of the same.

Freeholder Swain moved the adoption of the resolution, and it was so ordered without dissent.

The director appointed as the said committee Freeholders Wahl, Cady, Krouse, Scudder and Brucklacher.

The director announced the appointment of the following committees:

Appropriations, Freeholders Farrell, Westphal, Krouse, Brucklacher and Woodruff.

Collector's Bond, Freeholders Westphal, Miller and McCandless.

Freeholder Miller moved to adjourn, which was carried, and the director declared the board adjourned until Thursday, May 24th, at 2:30 p. m.

S. Rusling Ryno, Clerk.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 3—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—How to be a good neighbor.—Luke x, 25-37.

THE PARABLE.

The parable of the good Samaritan was called forth by the question of a lawyer, not necessarily a malicious question, as to eternal life. Christ asked him the law. He replied, "Love God and thy neighbor as thyself." This was approved, and he was told to do it and he would have life. Trying to evade the personal application of the law, he asked, "And who is my neighbor?" The reply was this parable, in which the true spirit of neighborliness rather than the definition of a neighbor is set forth. Christ taught the lawyer what it was to be neighborly rather than who a neighbor was. A certain man, probably a Jew, fell among thieves on the dangerous road from Jerusalem to Jericho and was left half dead. This was not an unusual occurrence, and Christ may have related what actually occurred. A priest appears, sees the dying man and passes by on the other side. A Levite comes, looks upon the man, which aggravates his selfishness, and also passes by. Then a Samaritan appears upon the scene. He is of different nationality and religion from the injured man. He belongs to a race who have no dealings with the Jews and between whom there is mutual hatred. But he thinks not of this. He sees before him not a Jew, but a fellow being in need of his sympathy and his help, and "he has compassion on him." His compassion is practical. He provides for his present and future needs. In answer to Christ's question the lawyer acknowledged that the Samaritan was neighbor to him who fell among the thieves. "Then Jesus said unto him, Go and do thou likewise."

THE INTERPRETATION.

The explanation of this parable as applied to man is easily made. But many of the church fathers and reformers have been wont to see in the good Samaritan a higher than man, even Christ Himself, and not without reason. Man overcome by satan in the garden of Eden is well typified by the man who had been left half dead by the thieves. The priest and the Levite represent the law which could not save the half dead man. Then Christ comes along—the true Samaritan—has compassion upon fallen humanity, and at great sacrifice—the sacrifice of Himself—He rescues and saves him—a beautiful picture of Christ's neighborliness and one that should inspire the true spirit of compassion and benevolence in us. We should do unto others as Christ has done unto us.

THE APPLICATION.

This parable teaches us most forcibly "how to be a good neighbor." It does not define the word neighbor so much as it tells us how to be a true neighbor. It teaches us to see in every needy man whom we can help a neighbor. It utterly disregards caste, whether national, religious or social. It obliterates all idea of distance, color or position. If we see a man in need, in want, and we can help him, we are not to inquire, "Is he of my family, my church, my nation, my color, my society?" but we are to see in him a fellow human being in need and are to ask, "What can I do to relieve his need?" And if this is true of the physical wants of men how much more it should be true of their spiritual wants! Millions are still out of Christ and spiritually half dead and dying. Their very helplessness appeals to us. They are our neighbors, whether in China, Africa or America. Are we playing the part of a Samaritan toward them or the part of the priest and Levite?

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Let the leader explain the parable and then have an open voluntary discussion of the topic.

SPORTING.

GOLF

A challenge has been sent by the Park Golf Club to the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club for a four man team match on the Park Club course next Wednesday afternoon. The acceptance has not yet been received, but it undoubtedly will be forthcoming. The Park Golf Club four will be W. J. R. Thiers, Fred P. Taylor, W. de la R. Anderson and Morgan T. Townsend. The Hillside players are very confident, but the strange course may make victory more difficult than they expect.

The first challenge match for the green committee challenge trophy, at the Park Golf Club course, since it was originally won by William J. R. Thiers last week, will be held tomorrow afternoon. Fred P. Taylor is the first on the list of challengers and Morgan T. Townsend second. Taylor plays tomorrow. At the request of those interested, the green committee has decided to make the event match play instead of medal play as first announced. The match will take place in connection with the first play for the president's cup and two scores will have to be debt.

Play for the president's cub will begin on the links of the Park Golf Club tomorrow afternoon and continue every Saturday afternoon for the remainder of the season. The competition for the president's cup, which is offered by Charles W. McCutchen, will be similar to the one held last year for the McCutchen cup. It is a handicap event, eighteen holes, medal play. The players making the three lowest net scores will be credited respectively with three, two and one point. The player scoring the most number of points at the end of the season will hold the trophy for a year. The trophy has to be won two successive years to become the permanent property of a player.

Among the most important happenings in golfing circles of this State is the attempt to organize a State league of the most prominent clubs in Jersey. There now appears every reason to believe that the attempt will be successful. Among the leaders in the movement is the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, of this city. A meeting will be held at the Essex County Country Club at Orange tomorrow, when the permanent organization will be effected. The clubs in the league are the Morris County Golf Club, Baltusrol Golf Club, Lakewood Golf Club, Montclair Golf Club, North Jersey Golf Club, Yountakah Golf Club, Englewood Golf Club, Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, of Plainfield, and the Essex County Country Club. The first tournament of the league will be held during the fall tournament of the Essex County Country Club. The winner of the final will be the golf champion of New Jersey for 1900. The challenge trophy will be put up by the Essex County Country Club.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Last Saturday at the Gentlemen's Driving Park there were two or three races of considerable interest. The important race was won by Mayor N. B. Smalley, of the borough, in good time. The track was in fair condition and a gang of men has been employed to work it and put in far better shape for the summer months. A scheme is on foot to arrange a two days' meet for July 3d and 4th and the chances are that it will be successful. A meeting was held recently and several men present agreed to contribute liberally toward the enterprise. As soon as F. W. Williams, of the borough, returns from Pennsylvania, arrangements will be completed for the meet.

ON THE DIAMOND

A game has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon on the grounds of the Arion team of Hope chapel between that team and the Plainfield High School nine. The grounds are located on Plainfield and Sherman avenues.

ITEMS BRIEF AND BRIGHT

GATHERED ALL ABOUT THE TOWN BY ALERT PRESS REPORTERS.

News in Short Paragraphs That are Interesting to Read During the Spare Moments of Many Busy Plainfielders —For table use or canning, the Jersey strawberries, now to be found at Neuman Brothers grocery, Watchung avenue, are the best.

—Preparatory services will be held this evening at Warren chapel and the Lord's Supper will be observed next Sunday morning at the usual hour.

—The regular Christian Endeavor meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist church society will be held this evening in the chapel. It will be led by Miss Elmira Runyon. Topic: "Have Patience."

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The engagement of Miss Ella Kelly, of Park avenue, and John Owens, of South Second street, has been announced.

Miss Lillian B. Thorn, of East Third street, has been visiting her friend, Mrs. D. E. Linderman, of New York, for two weeks.

Editor F. W. Runyon and wife returned last evening from Old Point Comfort, where they witnessed the eclipse and enjoyed an outing of a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Demarest, of Craig place, have broken up housekeeping and stored their furniture, and intend soon to go to Chicago to visit their daughter, Mrs. Frazer.

To Make Up 125 Bouquets.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Park Avenue Baptist Christian Endeavor Society was held last evening at the home of the president, David M. Runyon, 1080 Arlington avenue. Reports were submitted by the various committees, which showed both senior and junior societies to be doing good work. The flower committee will send 125 bouquets to Mrs. Dessori, of the Italian department of Mariners Temple, New York, for her Children's Day exercises, Sunday, June 10th.

Exciting for a Few Minutes.

Lewis Darling, of Prospect avenue, was driving along Watchung avenue this morning, directly behind a road wagon driven by Charles Howard, Jr., when the former's horse became frightened at a car and jumping up, placed his front feet over the rear axle of Howard's wagon, between the wheel and body. In his efforts to free himself from his predicament, one of the wheels was smashed and a runaway was averted by the catching of the first horse.

Rewarded for His Honesty.

James Carter, the man in charge of the elevator at the Babcock building, saw a gentleman drop a $2 bill as he was entering the postoffice yesterday afternoon, and as the gentleman came out of the office he stepped up to him and offered him the money, explaining that he saw him drop it. The gentleman, who was former Mayor Fisk's son, very generously presented the finder with the money, remarking that he admired his honesty and that was his reward.

Training Carrier Pigeons.

A batch of nine carrier pigeons, belonging to Mr. DeCordova, of North Branch, was released at the North Avenue station this morning by the railroad employes. The pigeons were all young ones, which are being trained for service between Mr. DeCordova's residence at North Branch and his New York office. They are carried a little further along the railroad each day until they finally reach New York, and are then put into service.

To Be Interred at Harlem Bridge.

The remains of Robert Young, coachman for F. A. Barnaby, who died suddenly last Tuesday morning, were taken last evening by A. M. Runyon & Son., undertakers, to the home of relatives on Brook avenue, near Harlem Bridge, N. Y., from which place the funeral services will be held.

Killed a Black Snake.

As the stage bearing the Mantonomoh Lodge members was passing near Metuchen last evening, a large black snake crossed the road directly ahead of it. It was seen by several of the members who sprang out and killed it. The reptile measured over five feet in length.

Rumored Robbery.

A rumor spread about town this morning that Mrs. Charlotte Holland, of West Front street, had been robbed at the point of a pistol at her home about 2 a. m. There is no truth in the report as Mrs. Holland simply heard footsteps around the house, but no one was seen.

Funeral of Miss Mowrey.

The funeral services of the late Miss Lillie M. Mowrey will be held from 250 East Second street, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope Memorial chapel, will officiate. Interment will take place in North Plainfield cemetery.

AGUINALDO SLAIN?

Saddlebags Containing the Leader's Private Papers Found.

MANILA, June 1.—Major Peyton C March of the Thirty-third volunteer infantry, who has been pursuing Aguinaldo, has successfully crossed the mountains of northern Luzon and is now at Aparri. He reports coming up with the supposed bodyguard of Aguinaldo north of the Cagayan valley.

During the fight which followed it was seen that an insurgent officer was shot from his horse. He was rescued by his comrades, but his horse and saddlebags were captured.

The saddlebags contained Aguinaldo's personal papers. The next day an outpost of the Forty-ninth infantry (colored) reported that a raft containing a body with two soldiers guarding it had floated down the Cagayan river, but that the swift current prevented its capture. It is thought possible that the officer shot was Aguinaldo and that it was his body which the soldiers were guarding.

An insurgent lieutenant and 11 armed rebels surrendered to the Twelfth infantry yesterday.

Sixteen men of the Forty-eighth volunteer infantry yesterday captured the governor of Bangued. He is an influential rebel agitator and has been a fugitive for some time.

Benham Trial Progressing.

CANANDAIGUA, N. Y., June 1.—Yesterday was only the third day of the Benham trial, and it has progressed farther than the other trial did in two weeks. The twelfth juror was secured yesterday morning in the person of James Saxby, of East Bloomfield, a farmer. This makes eight farmers and four business men on the jury. The jury is representative of all parts of Ontario county. The opening address of District Attorney Randall consumed less than an hour and was a concise statement of the evidence the prosecution will bring forward. Several witnesses were examined.

WALLOPED BOY IN COURT

PAINFUL JUSTICE FOR A YOUTHFUL TILL TAPPER.

Colored Boy's Mother Whipped Him According to Orders of Justice Nash.

An old Jersey blue law was revived by Justice Nash this morning when he passed sentence upon William Willis, a colored lad, familiarly known as "Gee Wah." Willis was arrested yesterday on complaint of Tony Lusardi, the North avenue fruit dealer, for appropriating $1 41 from the cash drawer, during his temporary absence. He was placed in the lockup over night to meditate over his act and brought before Justice Nash this morning. On account of the extreme youth of the culprit, who is only thirteen years old, the Judge was inclined to be lenient and suspended sentenced on condition that his mother, Mrs. Lucy Willis, who was in court, should give him a sound thrashing. She readily assented to this and a switch was procured. Judging from the cries that issued from the room it was applied with no light hand.

There is no doubt but what the punishment was effective, and William will hereafter steer clear of Justice Nash and his whipping post.

EDWARD WHITE TRUSTEE.

Chosen by the Creditors of Rushmore & Company to Close Out the Property.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 1.—There was a meeting of the creditors of Rushmore & Co., of Plainfield, this morning in the office of Atwood L. DeCosta, referee in bankruptcy, at which time Edward White, of Plainfield, was chosen trustee. His duties shall be to sell the property of Rushmore & Co., and distribute the receipts equally among the creditors. The nominal liabilities are about $100,000 and the assests about $75,000. Among those represented at the meeting was Kelley & Co., of Chicago. Senator Reed, of the firm of Reed & Coddington, of Plainfield, represent this firm. Counsellor Craig A. Marsh, of Plainfield, also represented the creditors.

VICTIM OF A CAVE-IN.

Walter Jenkins Up to His Neck in Earth That Fell Over Him.

While working in a trench at the new residence of Otto Arens on Hillside avenue, a few days ago, Walter Jenkins, of West Third street, was buried by a cave-in up to his neck. His fellow-workmen sprang to his rescue, but it was fully an hour before he was released. He was almost unconscious when taken out and was unable to walk, as several large rocks struck him in the side and legs. He was taken home in a carriage and medical aid summoned. Although no bones were broken, he suffers a great deal of pain.

They Were Feeling Good.

Joseph Newman and George Barry, both residents of the borough, became too exuberant early yesterday morning on the Grove street bridge, and Special Marshal Wyckoff was obliged to lock the men up. They were given a hearing last evening by Mayor Smalley. Sentenced was suspended.

NEW HELLO COMPANY ACROSS THE BROOK.

Competitor of N. Y. and N. J. Co. Makes Application for Franchise in Borough.

STREET SPRINKLING COST.

COMMISSIONERS CONFIRMED FOR SOMERSET STREET WIDENING.

It is Announced That the Work Will Start in a Short Time—Board of Health Asks for More Power.

The weather was a little too warm for a long session of the Mayor and Borough Council last evening, and the regular June meeting was made as short as possible. Contrary to expectations all the members were present, though they were a trifle late in arriving.

The first matter to come before the Council was a communication from the State Telephone Company asking for a franchise to establish a telephone exchange in the borough in connection with the State telephone lines of the company. The communication was identically the same as the one presented to the Common Council a month ago. The company agrees to lease telephones, unlimited service, for residences for a price not to exceed $24 a year, and for business houses $36 a year. They anticipate that they will be able to get 500 subscribers at those prices in the borough and city. They also agree to give the borough five free telephones. The communication was referred to the committee on laws, ordinances and elections.

Wm. Mills, secretary of West End Hose Company, and Secretary J. J. Stahl, of Warren Engine Company, communicated to the Council the officers elected by each company at the regular May meeting, and asked that they be confirmed. This was done by resolution. These officers were published at the time of election.

The report of Collector Brown, including that of Clerk Rowley, is as follows: Taxes and interest, $529.33; Watchung avenue assessment, $20.58; Board of Health, $5.53; special school; $167.56; rent of property sold for taxes, $32; Clerk Rowley, from street railway, removing snow in March, $5.15; licenses, $50; fines, $38; sale of dirt, $8.30; registering dog and tax, $1.10; balance on hand May 1st, $4,201.02; total receipts, $5,058.57; disbursements, $2,845.40; borough account, $1,984 25; Watchung avenue account, $228 92.

In the reading of the monthly bills there appeared a memorandum for street sprinkling amounting to $81. This Mayor Smalley thought was pretty steep, but Mr. Clark, of the street committee, explained that that included employment of a man and the bill for water; $45 included two weeks in April, $15 and $30 for May. Counsel Reed thought it would be well to hold the bill up until Frank Bergen's return from Europe, when a reduction will probably be made. Mr. Clark thought it best to pay the bill and then trust to getting a donation when Mr. Bergen returns. It was decided to pay the bill.

Mr. Clark's monthly report for street work showed that the total amount expended was $945.12, which includes labor, street sprinkling and over 500 tons of stone. In connection with this Mr. Clark stated that the $500 subscribed for the opening of Duer street would be put in the fund for the street work and the improvement would be paid for out of that.

Mr. Rogers offered a resolution confirming the action of the light committee in locating two extra lights on Myrtle avenue, and the changing of another light on the same street for which George White had been paying. This portion of the street has only recently been accepted, and the lights were ordered there.

Mr. Lee, of the license and marshal committee, reported that the new uniforms for the marshals which have been delivered, cost $60, and the balance of the appropriation, $15, would be used to purchase caps for them. He also reported nine arrests during May.

Mr. Rogers offered a resolution appropriating $75 for the usual fire protection for the 3d, 4th and 5th of July, which is the usual custom. A resolution by Mr. Valiant provided for the borrowing of $1,000 for six months for borough purposes.

Mr. Swackhamer offered a resolution confirming the appointment of B. A. Hegeman, Jr., J. H. Cooley and W. C. Smith, as commissioner recently appointed to assess benefits and damages for the proposed widening of Somerset street. In connection with

THE COUNTRY SCHOOL.

LAUGHABLE ENTERTAINMENT IN GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

Given Under the Auspices of the Epworth League Last Night—Those Who Took Part.

The Epworth League of the Grace M. E. church departed a little from the ordinary entertainments last evening and gave a laughable portrayal of an old time country school, in which the different characters were admirably taken by the members of the League. The costumes were very quaint and created a great deal of laughter. Music by Ben LaVere and Herbert Harold opened the programme and was followed by a tennis drill, in which eight girls in tennis costume, went through a number of intricate figures.

More music followed and then school "let in." And what a school it was. The scholars were short and tall, young and old, and dressed in an endless variety of costumes. Everyone started in to have a good time before the teacher arrived. "Christopher Columbus Fritz" drew the schoolma'am's picture on the board while several of the girls held a game of "bean bag" which was interrupted by the arrival of the teacher.

Various incidents of school life, with a humorous turn to them were then gone through with.

The committeeman was then announced, and to the disgust of the scholars they had to show their knowledge before him. The obnoxious gentleman was finally gotten rid of by placing his high hat on a chair and letting him sit on it, much to his annoyance. The culprit was reprimanded after which school was dismissed and the scholars left for lunch. Those who took the principal parts were: The Misses Elizabeth Hoagland and Addie Carney and Dyckman Winckler. The scholars were as follows: Girls, Mrs. Layton, Mrs. Fairchild, Mrs. Winckler and the Misses Clark, Voehl, Huff, VanHorn, Pangborn, Vermeule, Woolston and Mary Hoagland; boys, Messrs. Young, Cutting, Fairchild, Wilson, Schuck, Bullman, Stevens, Woodland and Smalley.

New Safe Factory.

A copy of the plans and specifications for the proposed factory of the Hibbard-Rodman-Ely Safe Company near Clinton avenue, has been sent to Building Inspector T. O. Doane by Wilson J. Smith, of Wilkesbarre, the architect. Mr. Smith will visit Plainfield shortly and file his plans. Two large buildings and a coal pit will be erected.

Not on the Schedule.

Letter-carrier Robert Loughlin's horse became tired of his monotonous route yesterday afternoon, and decided to go off on one of his own. Accordingly he started down Park avenue on a brisk trot and was soon lost to view. He was found some time later in the yard of Campbell's road house none the worse for his little run.

Accident at Pond's.

A chain on one of the large traveling cranes used in the Pond Tool Works broke last evening, letting down four heavy lathe rests and badly damaging a large upright for a planer. Fortunately, no one was injured as the crane had just started to move and no men were under it.

BERGEN'S PECULIAR WILL.

Well-Known Horseman Wrote It on a Leaf Torn From an Account Book.

The will of the late J. Holmes Bergen, a well-known horseman, of New Brunswick, has been filed with Surrogate Furman in that city, and will be admitted to probate in a few days. The testament is typical of the man, as it is written on a leaf torn from an account book.

It is the first time in the history of the county that such an odd will has been offered for probate. It was written by Mr. Bergen in his pocket account book, and is dated Red Lion Tavern, March 11, 1896. It is properly signed by Boyd Baker and Carrie Higgins, and was acknowledged before Justice A. D. Wescott. The document is very brief, simply setting forth that it is the desire of the testator to leave all his property to his wife, Maria Bergen, and to make her the sole executrix of the will, without bonds.

Holmes Bergen for years conducted the Red Lion Tavern, a historic hotel on the road between Cranbury and New Brunswick. He built a racetrack near the inn, and scores of good horses were tested there by racing men before they were entered for big races.

FORGOT TO RETURN.

Edwin D. Files, Accused of Stealing a Camera, Traced to New York and Arrested.

Edwin D. Files borrowed a $100 camera from his employer, Maynard, the West Front street photographer, Decoration Day morning and has since forgotten to return. Such, at least, is the statement of his employer, Mr. Maynard. The matter was reported to Chief Grant.

Somebody saw Files board a train for New York and thither Chief Grant went Thursday. The case was brought to the attention of Chief of Detectives McCluskey who assigned a detective on the case. Files was located yesterday and arrested. He was committed by a police magistrate for thirty days, pending the arrival of requisitition papers from this State.

The stolen goods were found in a pawnshop, where they had been pawned for $10. Files is married and has one child.

Piano Recital.

A very interesting programme was rendered yesterday afternoon by pupils of Miss Minnie S. Marsh at her home on Madison avenue. The opening numbers were given by young pupils and were played with great clearness and expression. The remainder programme was given by advanced pupils and the audience was delighted by their perfect command of the key board, and musical rendering of difficult selections. The entire programme was played from memory.

Will Meet Sunday Mornings.

The quarterly business meeting of the Sunday-school of the Congregational church was held last evening at the home of George S. Raynolds, of Jackson avenue. There was a large attendance of officers and teachers. It was decided to change the hour of meeting from 2:45 o'clock in the afternoon to 9:30 o'clock in the morning, beginning with the third Sunday in June. The second Sunday in June will be observed as Children's Day.

Resigned His Position.

George H. Fairchild, of Grandview avenue, who, for the past seven years, has been an efficient and faithful employe of the Prudential Insurance Company, in this territory, resigned his position today. Mr. Fairchild has decided to make a change in his business, although he has not yet definitely settled the matter. His many friends will regret to learn that he has given up the position he held so long.

A Deserved Promotion.

Charles M. Woods, Jr., who for nearly two years past has been the local agent of the Prudential Insurance Company, has been promoted, and after Monday next he will assume the responsibilities of assistant superintendent in the Plainfield office. This is in recognition of faithful service well performed by Mr. Woods. He will still remain a resident of Bound Brook.—Bound Brook Chronicle.

A Budding Lawyer.

Edward O. Clark, son of Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., of Jackson and Watchung avenues, has just passed successfully his examinations in the law department of the New York University, and he will be graduated from that institution next week Wednesday evening.

Odd Fellows Service Postponed.

On account of the serious illness of Mrs. Richardson, Rev. Mr. Richardson finds it necessary to postpone for one week the special service for the Odd Fellows, which was appointed for Sunday, June 10th, in the Park Avenue Baptist church.

ROWDIES HAVE FULL SWAY ON THE TROLLEY

Disgraceful Conduct That is Seen on the Plainfield Street Railway Lines.

NO EFFORT TO CURB IT.

CONDUCTORS SEEM AFRAID TO ASSERT THEMSELVES.

A Fair Example of Disreputable Conduct Seen on Dunellen Line Decoration Day—A Few Arrests Need to Be Made.

Plainfield people used to pride themselves on their fine street cars and the pleasure they derived in taking a ride during a hot day or evening, but the fine cars are no more and those that remain are fast becoming synonyms for filth and dirt. And not only this, but it as much as a respectable person's life is worth to ride in them, especially Sundays and holidays, on account of the rowdies and drunken men who have a free reign on the cars.

Brawls and quarrels are frequent and a constant stream of profane language greets the ear of the passengers. Respectable men are afraid to take their wives or children for a ride and as a consequence are forced to stay home just on this account. The conductors and motormen in charge of the cars are powerless to stop the nuisance, but if the company would cause a few arrests and make an example of some of the worst cases, the public would appreciate it and the company would be benefitted. Complaint after complaint is made and still no action is taken so that it seems the trolley people are cultivating a dangerous patronage and preventing decent people from riding.

A Plainfield gentlemen and his wife, who were returning from New Brunswick Wednesday left Bound Brook about 8:25 on a car which contained a number of these rowdies.

The car had no sooner started than trouble began and a large window was smashed.

Fighting and quarreling continued until Dunellen was reached. The Plainfield car did not start fast enough and they kept jerking the bell cord and shouting for the motorman to start.

They became so abusive that women were forced to leave the car.

The most indecent language was used and a fight nearly took place at Clinton avenue; in fact a blow was struck and a fight was only averted by one of them leaving the car. The passengers were so terror stricken that they started to rush from the car. The ride was continued to Plainfield amid shouting and swearing and general disorder. This is only one instance and it is about time action was taken by somebody.

Hospital in Need of Funds.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 2.—There will be a special meeting held this evening by the board of managers of the Elizabeth General Hospital and the medical staff of that institution to try and devise some plans by which the expenses of the hospital can be reduced and its revenue increased so as to make both ends meet. The hospital has been gradually getting deeper into debt despite the efforts made to raise funds to maintain it, and its friends are greatly alarmed over the unfavorable outlook.

Given $1,400 for a Leg.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 2.—The suit which Anton Lezinki, of this city, brought against the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company for $20,000 damages for the loss of a leg, which was to have been tried at this term of the Union County Court, has been settled by Samuel Kalisch, of Newark, the plaintiff's lawyer, for $2,000, of which the plaintiff gets $1,400. Lezinski was in the employ of the defendant company on its wharves at Elizabethport.

Lightning's Damage at Bernardsville.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bernardsville, June 2.—Considerable havoc was created along the telephone wires of Bernardsville Thursday's thunder storm. A force of seventy-five men is engaged in repairing the breaks. During the storm the house of Kenneth MacKenzie was struck, tearing the telephone from the wall and throwing it across the room. A bolt of lightning also struck near St. Bernard's church, tearing a large hole in the lawn.

More Open Cars.

The first of the new second-hand open cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Railway were put in service yesterday. The are nearly the same as the Plainfield cars.

LEAGUE IS PROSPEROUS.

Annual Meeting of Epworth League Held at Vincent Chapel Last Night.

The annual business meeting of the Epworth League of the First M. E. church was held in Vincent chapel last evening. There was considerable routine work to be transacted and the meeting was a lengthy one.

The reports of the officers and committees were made, showing the League in excellent condition. The gain in membership was reported to be twenty-eight, while a comfortable balance still remained in the treasury.

The election of officers was held and resulted as follows: President, Harry Gee; first vice-president, Miss Jennie Davies; second vice-president, Miss Edna French; third vice-president, W. A. Edgar; fourth vice-president, Mrs. Stephen Tugwell; secretary B. S. Jones; treasurer, Wilson Derby.

A committee composed of A. B. Meredith, Miss Ida Angleman and Charles S. Sprague, reported a new constitution which was adopted after some discussion. Matters of a routine nature were also transacted.

A FAREWELL SURPRISE.

Pleasant Ending of a Visit of a Chicago Young Woman With Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McGee.

A most delightful surprise party was given last evening by Mr. and Mrs. William McGee, of Westervelt avenue, in honor of their niece, Miss Atilda Heaphy, of Chicago, previous to her departure for the Berkshire Hills. In order to gain time in which to make the decorations and get everything ready, Miss Heaphy was invited to attend the theatre in New York by her uncle. They left on the 4 o'clock train. After a sufficient time had elapsed Mr. McGee pleaded sickness and decided to return home.

The sickness was so well feigned that Miss Heaphy thought Mr. McGee was growing pale and became alarmed. Imagine her surprise when entering the house to break the news and found about thirty of her young friends waiting for her. She took the surprise good naturedly and joined in the fun. Dancing and games made the evening pass pleasantly and refreshments were served at midnight. The music for the dancing was furnished by Prof. Carpenter.

The parlor was prettily decorated with colored electric lights and banks of smilax and palms.

To Break up Crap Shooting.

Councilman Charles Lee, of the borough, says that a strong and determined effort will be made tomorrow to arrest all crap shooters and baseball players who indulge in these sports on the Sabbath day. He and the borough marshals have held a conference and a concerted plan of action has been decided upon. Mr. Lee says still further that if the marshals do not arrest these violators of the law, he will make an effort to do so himself.

General Synod of Reformed Church.

The general synod of the Reformed Church of America will meet in Asbury Park, June 6th. The synodical sermon will be preached by the retiring president, Rev. George S. Bishop, D. D., of Orange. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in the evening of Thursday, the second day of the session. Friday evening will be devoted to the educational work of the church.

Borough School Census.

Judge Brown, of the borough, has just completed the taking of the school census in the borough, and his report was forwarded to headquarters this week. It shows that there are 1,176 school children, and of this number there are two more girls than boys. Two years ago, when W. W. Rowley took this census, there were 1,093 school children.

Not Locked Up.

In justice to Joseph Newman and George Barry, of the borough, it should be stated that they were not locked up last Tuesday, as reported. The two men had some little differences which resulted in a quarrel. They were simply told to appear before Mayor Smalley, which they did, and sentence was suspended.

Death of William Westerfield.

William Westerfield, aged about 35 years, died at 5 o'clock this morning at the home of his brother, Charles Westerfield, after a long illness with consumption. He was engaged for years in the express business. He leaves a father, two brothers and a sister. The funeral will take place next Tuesday afternoon.

To Entertain Poor People.

The Sisters of St. John the Baptist are preparing cottages near Basking Ridge and Mendham in order to provide for 400 or more people who are already looking forward from the crowded tenement district in New York to days in the open country.

TO EXTEND STORM SEWER

IMPROVEMENT WILL BE TO RELIEVE WATCHUNG AVENUE.

City, Street Railway Company and Jersey Central Will Each Pay a Third of the Expense.

It has been decided to extend the storm sewer on Watchung avenue so that in heavy rains the surplus amount of water that always collects under the Watchung avenue railroad bridge may be carried off and thus travel may be made possible.

The Plainfield Street Railway Company, the Jersey Central Railroad and the city are each to pay a third of the expense, and as soon as the pipe arrives Patsy Christmas will commence the work. Fifty feet of 24 inch pipe will be laid and thirty-seven feet of 12 inch pipe. Two catch basins will be located on the avenue between the bridge and Fourth street, and one manhole will be located in that vicinity. The water is to be carried to Green Brook where it will be taken away.

This will be one of the most important improvements of recent years, as the surface water has always been a source of much annoyance and trouble whenever there has been heavy rains, and sometimes trolley cars have been unable to run on this account.

ENTERTAINED SENIOR CLASS.

Miss Susie Boss Gave the Graduates a Pleasant Time.

Miss Susie Glass, principal of the Borough Public High School, entertained the senior class at her home last evening. It was a very pleasant occasion and will long be remembered by both the graduating class and the teacher. During the evening there was vocal and instrumental music. A feature was the appearance of Frank O. Bristol, who gave phonograph selections and entertained with some of his best humorist selections. Before the happy affair terminated refreshments were served and the members of the class departed taking with them the best wishes of their teacher, and leaving their best wishes with their instructor.

To Reside in Plainfield.

Mrs. Gross, widow of the late lamented Eugene A. Gross, has rented her beautiful home on West Seventh street, to Albert Gerstendorfer and wife, of New York. Mr. Gerstendorfer is a wealthy gentleman in business at 43 Park place, New York, with his brother, as importers of bronze and colors for decorators in statuary work. Mr. and Mrs. Gerstendorfer have already taken up their residence in Plainfield and are delighted with the city. Mrs. Gross, at present, is visiting at the home of her friend, Mrs. Tweddle, 731 West Seventh street. She contemplates a voyage to Europe this summer.

Paid Purchase Price.

S. Scheuer & Sons, grocers, West Front street, who recently purchased from the Pruden estate the property now occupied by J. A. Smith & Bro., West Front street grocers, today paid to the estate the price, $25,000, which was agreed upon when the property was sold.

Death of Miss Dissa Lund.

Miss Dissa Lund, a Swedish girl, 22 years old, died at her home on Watchung avenue, this morning from consumption. She was formerly employed by Mrs. Tracy, of West Seventh street. The body will be taken care of relatives.

Ten Relieved From Quarantine.

Rev. Dr. W. E. Honeyman, of the Borough Board of Health, states today that ten scarlet fever patients have been relieved from quarantine, and that there are now three persons still quarantined with the disease.

Front Wheel Collapsed.

A colored cyclist came to grief on East Front street this morning by the sudden collapsing of his front wheel. He was thrown heavily to the ground, but managed to get himself and the wrecked wheel home.

Fire Department Business.

B. Frank Coriell and J. F. Buckle, from the fire committee of the Common Council, and Chief T. O. Doane, went to Trenton this afternoon to look after some business pertaining to the department.

Landed on Tin Cans.

James Fisher, of 941 West Third street, while jumping a fence near his home this morning landed on some tin cans. His wrist was cut quite badly. Proper treatment was given at the hospital.

The home of School Commissioner and Mrs. F. C. Lounsbury, of Plainfield avenue, has been brightened by the advent of a bright baby daughter. Both mother and daughter are doing well.

TROLLEY TRESTLE TO BE OPENED SUNDAY.

Cars of the Elizabeth-Plainfield Line Will Then Make the Entire Trip.

WORK WAS HURRIED UP.

ALLEGED NEW OPEN CARS ARE NOW READY AT ELIZABETH.

While the Bridge Over B. and O. Will Not be Entirely Completed Tomorrow, It is Expected That Cars Will be Run Over It.

The first trolley car to run direct from Plainfield to Elizabeth is expected to make that eventful trip tomorrow. The bridge that is to span the tracks of the B. and O. Railroad at East Cranford has reached that point that the cars will be able to pass over it inside of twenty-four hours unless something unexpected happens. The completion of the bridge opens up the through line. While the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company has been running its cars for some time, it has been necessary to transfer the passengers over the B. and O. tracks.

There have been so many so-called openings of the Elizabeth and Westfield Company's line that the completion of the bridge, which makes it possible to run a car from Plainfield to Elizabeth without change, will not be marked by any special function. The trolley company has been having all sorts of trouble with the B. & O. officials to arrange some satisfactory settlement. Since the work was started a few weeks ago, a large gang of men was put at work and the bridge has grown with great rapidity. While it will not be entirely completed tomorrow, it will be in condition to allow the trolley cars to pass over it.

The trolley officials have been very anxious to have the entire line open, as the present manner of running has considerably interfered with their plans. Ten single truck open cars, which are claimed to be brand new, were received at Elizabeth in time to be put on the part of the line from Elizabeth to the B. and O. crossing. These cars could not be used on this end of the line until the bridge was completed and they could be brought over it. They will probably be used on the Plainfield-Elizabeth service next week. With the open cars of the Plainfield company and the ten alleged new ones, it will be possible to retire many of the present closed cars.

Superintendent Adelmann says that the new double truck open cars will be here ready for use in the course of two weeks. When they are here Adelmann says that it will be possible to equip the local and the Plainfield-Elizabeth system entirely with open cars.

CROPS IN NEW JERSEY.

Nights Have Been Too Cool for the Growth of Tender Vine Truck.

During the past week the temperature has been slightly below the normal, about two degrees each day, and the rainfall much in excess, especially in the southern section. Although the nights have been too cool for the growth of the tender vine truck, yet wheat, rye, oats, timothy, clover, potatoes and corn have greatly improved. The recent heavy rains were general in all sections, and much needed in portions of the southern section, where some of the crops were beginning to suffer for the want of it. In this section early strawberries and peas are going to market.

In the extreme northern section, the outlook for all orchard fruits is reported to be most encouraging, and the planting of corn and potatoes nearing the finish.

Victory for Plainfield High School.

The baseball nine of the Fourth Class, Plainfield High School, put up a great game yesterday afternoon on Martine Common and had no trouble in defeating the second team of the North Plainfield High School by a score of 19 to 2. Several of the first team of the borough school played. Denton and Herman were the battery for the city school and Stevens, George and Woodland for the boroughites. Thirteen men were struck out by Denton and only four errors were recorded against the winning team.

Pottery Plant Sale Postponed.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 2—The sale by Sheriff Houston of the Beerbower pottery works was adjourned for the fifth time Thursday until next Wednesday, when it is announced the property will positively be disposed of. Sheriff Houston said yesterday he had one offer of $25,000 for the plant, and it will be sold for this sum if there are no higher bidders.

Lively Tilt Over the Armor Plate Question Between Hanna, Tillman and Allen—House Kills the Proposed Trust Amendment.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The senatorial debate yesterday was caustic and as warm as the weather outdoors. At times the exchanges between senators bordered on personalities. Much of the discussion was of a political nature, although in themselves the questions involved were not essentially political. Soon after the senate convened a memorial was presented from the people of California asking that the government provide some relief for the starving people of India. Mr. Hale of Maine, with this as a text, severely arraigned Great Britain for expending hundreds of millions of dollars in crushing liberty and freedom in South Africa instead of caring for the helpless and dying people of England's chief colony.

SENATOR HALE.

Mr. Aldrich of Rhode Island charged Mr. Hale with making political speeches on irrelevant matters, and a little later, when Mr. Hale reported a further disagreement on the naval appropriation bill, an exciting discussion arose over the armor plate question.

A sharp political twist was given to the debate by a speech which Mr. Hanna of Ohio delivered in favor of leaving the whole matter in the hands of the senate conferees and of conferring discretionary powers upon the secretary of the navy in accordance with the house proposition. He became involved in a controversy with Mr. Tillman of South Carolina and Mr. Allen of Nebraska over the government's ability to manufacture armor satisfactorily, in the course of which the sparks flew to the intense interest of the auditors.

Mr. Teller of Colorado, Mr. Allen and Mr. Pettigrew of South Dakota replied to Mr. Hanna, all speaking in a political vein. The bill finally was returned to conference.

Seventy-nine private pension bills were passed and also the Military academy appropriation bill. The Military academy bill carries amendments making General Miles and all future commanders of the army lieutenant generals and General Corbin a major general.

Consideration of the last of the appropriation bills, the general deficiency, was begun, but not completed.

The house of representatives, after a lively debate extending over two days, defeated the joint resolution proposing a constitutional amendment empowering congress to regulate trusts. It requires a two-thirds vote under the constitution to adopt an amendment to the constitution. The vote stood: Yeas, 134; nays, 131. The affirmative vote, therefore, was 38 short of the requisite two-thirds, 192. Five Democrats, Messrs. Campbell of Montana, Naphen of Massachusetts, Scudder of New York, Sibley of Pennsylvania and Thayer of Massachusetts, and one silverite, Mr. Newlands of Nevada, voted with the Republicans for the resolution and two Republicans, Mr. Loud of California and Mr. McCall of Massachusetts, with the Democrats against it. These were the only breaks from party lines. The Populists voted solidly against the resolution. The debate preceding the vote had a strong political flavor throughout and was at times very personal. The features were the closing speeches of Mr. DeArmond of Missouri and Mr. Littlefield of Maine for the respective sides and the short speech of Mr. McCall of Massachusetts against the resolution.

Made Brigadiers.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The president has appointed Colonel Luther H. Hare of the Thirty-third volunteer infantry (captain of Seventh cavalry) and Colonel J. H. Smith of the Seventeenth infantry to be brigadier generals of volunteers in recognition of their distinguished services in the campaign in the Philippines. This action fills the only vacancies in the volunteer brigade rank. They were kept open in order to permit the president to bestow the appointments upon specially deserving officers in the field.

Uprising In Algeria.

PARIS, June 2.—A dispatch to The Petit Journal from Oran of yesterday's date says that the latest information from South Algeria foreshadows grave events. Several thousand armed Moors are marching to attack the three chief French stations of occupation, including Igli. The French are re-enforcing all three points and strong outposts have been established.

To Try Cotton Growing.

BERLIN, June 2.—The National Colonial society met at Coblentz, Duke Regent Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg presiding. The membership of the society is now 36,000. Vice Admiral Valois was elected vice president. A resolution was adopted to devote 30,000 marks for an experiment in cotton raising in the German colonies, beginning with Togo.

Arizona Mine Sold.

PHENIX, A. T., June 2.—The Congress gold mine, 60 miles north of Phenix, has been sold for $1,500,000 to a New York syndicate reported to include Warner Miller and John Mackay. It has been regarded the principal gold producer of Arizona.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY.

Two Men Fatally Shot In St. Louis Strike Disturbance.

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—Albert Koenig, a union man, emptied the contents of a shotgun into the body of Police Officer Crane and was himself instantly killed by a bullet from the revolver of Officer Maher on Broadway near the Southern Electric power house yesterday.

It seems that Koenig was walking back and forth in front of the power house with a shotgun on his shoulder, declaring that he was a union man and defying the transit company and its nonunion employees.

Officer Crane approached him and asked him to take his shotgun home. Koenig replied in vehement terms that he would do nothing of the sort, and when the officer grappled with him in an effort to disarm him the man brought his weapon to his shoulder and, aiming it at Crane, pulled the trigger. The officer sank to the ground unconscious.

Maher was near by and, running up to Koenig, demanded his surrender. Koenig made a threatening movement, and Maher shot him, killing him instantly.

Crane is at the Alexian Brothers' hospital in a dying condition.

Summoning of citizens to make up the posse comitatus of 2,500 deputy sheriffs called for by the board of police commissioners to aid the police in preserving order in this city continued, and many more business and professional men were sworn in.

After being divided into squads of 20 the deputies were placed under command of a captain, who drilled his men in the use of the riot shotgun. Many never had a gun in their hands before, and it was a decided novelty. As soon as possible the squads were assigned for duty, being distributed over the different street car lines.

General Manager Baumhoff of the transit company says he is feeling encouraged at the outlook for resumption of car service. Cars are now running on 18 lines.

President Diaz of Mexico will send 100 picked men to act as a complimentary bodyguard to President McKinley at the Buffalo Pan-American exposition.

Emperor William, according to the Berlin correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, has sent a telegram to the queen congratulating her upon the success of Lord Roberts.

Insurance Law Changed.

BOSTON, June 2.—Governor Crane has signed the bill which changes the reserve basis for life insurance in this state from 4 per cent, actuaries' tables, to 3½ per cent, American experience table, and giving also the companies the right to assume a 3 per cent basis if they so elect. The law also establishes a new scale of surrender charges and goes into effect Jan. 1, 1901. By its enactment, it is stated in life insurance circles, practically the last vestige of the influence of the late Elisahur Wright has disappeared from the insurance laws of this commonwealth.

Confederate Veterans Adjourn.

LOUISVILLE, June 2.—The tenth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans adjourned sine die at 6 o'clock last night. The meeting of 1901 will be held in Memphis. Three cities were competitors for the honor of entertaining the veterans next year. The claims of Buffalo were presented by Z. L. Smith, who made an excelleent impression on the convention. A vote of thanks was extended for the kind invitation of Buffalo.

Mrs. Sutton Acquitted.

MORRISTOWN, N. J., June 2.—After deliberating 1 hour and 50 minutes the jury in the case of Emma K. Sutton, charged with the murder of her husband by poison, rendered a verdict acquitting the accused. The verdict was received with great applause by the audience. Mrs. Sutton heard the announcement unmoved.

Cavalry For the Philippines.

PRETORIA A PUZZLE.

Nothing to Confirm Supposed British Occupation.

ROBERTS MAY HAVE MET OPPOSITION

Advices From Kroonstadt, by Way of Cape Town, Tell of President Kruger's Serious Illness—Reports of His Death Discredited.

LONDON, June 2.—Lord Roberts continues silent regarding Pretoria, probably because he cannot wire of events from his own knowledge. Lourenco Marques, where all the news from the Boer side is rehandled, cables that communication with Pretoria is now suspended.

Some messages by courier have reached Lourenco Marques, but none of later date than Wednesday. These assert that the burghers are in a state of panic and that Pretoria is being controlled by a vigilance committee. Lourenco Marques again sends the report that President Kruger has been captured.

This news blank gives rise to a suspicion that the citizens' committee at Pretoria may not have been able to carry out their plan for securing the peaceful entry of Lord Roberts and sparing the city the horrors of a siege.

The peace party appeared to be in the ascendant, and as soon as President Kruger and his cabinet left Pretoria to organize a new capital the citizens' committee persuaded the commandants of the forts to withdraw some of the troops from the defenses, perhaps with the view of keeping order in the town. If messengers were sent to the British, or if the British, being two hours' march from Pretoria on Wednesday, entered it then or at any time prior to noon, Lord Roberts would certainly have telegraphed this fact. Hence it looks as though there was a Boer force between Pretoria and Johannesburg.

These soldiers, falling back toward Pretoria, some of them fresh from the fight with General Ian Hamilton, would have brought a new element into the situation and would probably overrule the peace committee, taking the direction of affairs out of their hands. If this has happened, the British may, as The Daily Chronicle says, see some "hard fighting before the British flag flies over Pretoria, for even if the Boers held only three forts standing together on the hills south of the town they would be in a position to stand a siege."

The Boers, according to a special dispatch from Lourenco Marques, have reentered the northeastern territory of the Free State and are engaged with the British near Ventersburg and Harrismith.

It is reported from Amsterdam that the best rooms at Het Haasje, one of the principal hotels there, have been engaged for President Kruger's occupancy from June 25.

General Buller is moving slowly against the Boer flanks.

A dispatch from Vryburg, dated May 30, says:

"During the occupation of this place by the Boers they flogged the natives for slight offenses. A whip and several cords knotted and salted were found at the police station. A boy who brought a letter to a woman received 25 lashes, and another who sympathized with him received 15."

Lady Georgiana Curzon has cabled £17,000 to provide comforts and luxuries at Mafeking.

The Times has the following from Lourenco Marques, dated June 1:

"Reports of the most conflicting character are current here, due to the activity of the Boer agents. While one section declares that President Kruger has returned to Pretoria for the purpose of arranging terms of surrender, another asserts that the Bitish have been repulsed outside of Pretoria. Nothing authentic is known here regarding Mr. Kruger's whereabouts or the situation in the Transvaal."

KRUGER VERY ILL.

Another Rumor, Unconfirmed, Says He Is Dead.

CAPE TOWN, June 2.—Rebel colonists at Douglas, in northwestern Cape Colony, surprised a body of British on Wednesday. They killed 16, including Colonel Spence, who was in command of the British force.

Information from Kroonstadt, dated Tuesday, May 29, reports that President Kruger is very ill at Middleburg and adds that the station master at Kroonstadt says the president is dead. But this was not credited.

A dispatch from Winburg, dated May 31, says:

"After considerable fighting the Boers, with two guns and several Maxim-Nordenfeldt guns, are making a plucky stand eight miles east of Senekal.

"General Rundle has succeeded in driving off the federals, thus permitting, unopposed, the reoccupation of Lindley."

Jumped Into a Cistern.

LEROY, N. Y., June 2.—Mrs. William Seeley, who lived two and a half miles north of this city, jumped into a cistern a few feet from her home. After hard work she was rescued by neighbors, but was so nearly drowned that she could not rally and died in a few hours.

RATHBONE CRITICISED.

His Brag and Bluster Regarded as Insolent—Reeves Arrested.

HAVANA, June 2.—The Post, replying editorially to the statement of La Lucha that Mr. Rathbone would not submit much longer to the slights being put upon him, says:

"This suggestion is as daring as it is insinuating. If the fact be that Mr. Rathbone has been extravagant to a reprehensible and even criminal degree and if he had authority from any quarter for so doing, it in no way lessens his responsibility to allege that he lent himself as a party to the wrong, nor will it excuse him in the least to add to that crime the offense of concealing another. If he knows anything discreditable, no matter how high it touches, he should make it public. The people are willing to believe Mr. Rathbone guiltless until the contrary has been proved, but let there be no games of bluff and no insinuations that whatever crime has been committed is to be condoned because authorized by those higher in office."

A warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of former Deputy Auditor W. H. Reeves, who was lodged in jail, his bail being fixed at $1,500. It is now believed that Reeves in his so called "confession" only gave half the truth. Indeed, the delay in placing him behind the bars was largely due to the desire of the officials to obtain the remainder of his information regarding Neely's evolutions. A very important feature relates to an allegation that Neely gave another man $15,000. This, if true, can only be established in the United States, and an inspector will leave Havana shortly to investigate. Reeves asserts that heavy mortgages were lifted from the property of the accused individual by funds that could not have been obtained in any other way than through Neely.

A BOER COLONY.

Plan to Transport the Defeated Burghers to Colorado.

DENVER, June 2.—Governor Thomas has given his indorsement to a gigantic proposition having for its object the bringing of the defeated Boers to the valley of the Platte in Colorado.

The Union Pacific Land company proposes to give 1,000,000 acres of land, to be taken up under the Carey land act, on the Julesburg and Wyoming divisions. There is to be no charge for the gift, and the company will undertake to transport the Boers to Colorado, being repaid on the installment plan after the communities are established and prosperous.

E. C. Wantland, agent of the Union Pacific, has left for the east, where he will meet the Boer envoys and explain in detail the proposition.

The Potsdam Parade.

BERLIN, June 2.—Yesterday's brilliant parade at Potsdam was witnessed by Empress Augusta Victoria from a window of the Schloss. Behind her were the crown princess of Greece, Prince George and the Duke and Duchess of Albany. Emperor William reviewed on horseback, wearing the uniform of the garde du corps, with a black cuirass and the orange ribbon of the Order of the Black Eagle. He led the garde du corps regiment past the empress. It was an amusing sight to watch the imperial princes, Eitel, Adalbert, August and Oscar, who marched with the giants of the first company of the First Guard regiment, stretching their little legs to the utmost to keep step. Crown Prince Frederick William commanded the second detachment of the second company of the First guards. When passing his mother's window, he gave a graceful salute with his sword.

Explosion In Kodak Works.

ROCHESTER, June 2.—At 1 o'clock yesterday a heavy explosion took place in the chemical room of the Eastman Kodak company's works on Charlotte boulevard. The explosion was heard for nearly a mile, and the ground for hundreds of feet away from Kodak park trembled as if by an earthquake. One man, Foreman George R. Tracy, aged 25, who was in the room at the time, was struck on the head, apparently by a piece of flying wood, and instantly killed. Another workman, Frank Maynard, was painfully injured about the hands, face and arms. Six or seven other men employed in the room at the time escaped with minor injuries. The cause of the explosion is unknown.

Taylor Will Stay In Indiana.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 2.—Governor Beckham has as yet made no requisition on Governor Mount of Indiana for the extradition of former Governor W. S. Taylor under the warrant issued recently in connection with the Goebel assassination. Taylor's friends say that he has no fear of extradition in passing through Ohio, West Virginia and Pennsylvania for the Philadelphia convention, but they think it best for him not to go east, although they were anxious for him to present the name of former Governor Bradley for the nomination for vice president.

Christian Scientists In Boston.

BOSTON, June 2.—Several hundred Christian Scientists are in Boston at present for the annual communion services and annual meeting of the First Church of Christ, Scientists, in this city. Two special cars came in yesterday attached to trains from Cincinnati and the middle west, and these brought in a number of Scientists from those sections, and today a large delegation came from Chicago.

Carload of Mormon Converts.

DENVER, June 2.—A carload of girls converted to Mormonism passed through Denver yesterday to join the Utah followers of Joseph Smith and Brigham Young. They were in charge of a deacon and the deacon's wife. Some were 18 and others 22 years of age, but there was none older than that. They came from Missouri, Iowa, Illinois and other valley states. All expect to marry rich Mormons.

Killed by Strawberries.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Agnes Miller, 18 years old, was taken to Bellevue hospital late on Thursday night, suffering from gastritis caused by eating six quarts of strawberries, and died at the hospital yesterday. An autopsy on her body made by Coroner's Physician O'Hanlon showed that death was due to vomiting and weakness caused by gastro-enteritis, due to overloading the stomach.

A Minister to United States.

LIMA, Peru, June 2.—The Peruvian cabinet is understood to have taken under serious consideration the immediate appointment of a minister to the United States.

To The Sick.

Indisputable Facts.

Disease, fermentation and decay are caused by microbes and germ life; when these organic pests are destroyed, there can be no sickness.

Antiseptics are so called because they destroy microbes; surgeons always use antiseptics in performing dangerous operations.

Radam's Microbe Killer, composed of GASES, is an antiseptic, perfectly harmless to the human body, but doubly powerful in destroying disease if faithfully applied. Physicians frequently use Microbe Killer in treating Cancers, and recommend it for Catarrh, Tuberculosis, etc., others know it to be invaluable in Bright's Disease and Bladder Troubles.

Fermentation of food in the stomach causes Dyspepsia, Sourness, etc.; Radam's Microbe Killer destroys the CAUSE and sweetens the stomach.

Impoverished blood is the home of germ life; when pure it is the fountain of life, the source of all health and vigor.

Radam's Microbe Killer is the only rational remedy for all diseases; its antiseptic power eradicates every disease from the human body.

BRIDGE WORK

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

Suburban Homes Made Attractive.

Out-of-town Homes may be made far more comfortable than they often are and wonderfully pretty by the expenditure of a few dollars in our Departments of Housefurnishings.

At this season we always have made a liberal cut in prices of such goods. This year we have surprising values in seasonable Summer Furnishings to offer. Limitation of newspaper space prevents itemized mention of even one out of every hundred rare bargains. If you live within 100 miles of New York City we will deliver your cash purchases free (except Sewing Machines and Bicycles) to the railroad depot nearest to you.

Lorraine's Oldest Resident Dead.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 2—Martha Codwise, said to be the oldest resident of Lorraine, died suddenly there of heart disease, late Wednesday afternoon, aged eighty-eight. She was born in New York City, but when the town of Lorraine was laid out, went there to live and was one of its pioneer inhabitants. She was a widow.

Incendiary Fire at Graceland.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, June 2.—The barns of John J. Wahl, at Graceland, were totally destroyed by fire Wednesday night. A large stock of grain, with tools and wagons, were destroyed. Loss, $2,000; partly covered by insurance. The fire was incendiary, for when discovered the barn was on fire in several places.

Life Saving Crews Off Duty.

From midnight last night until August 1st the crews of the New Jersey Life Saving Stations will be off duty. The captains of the stations remain on duty the year round.

—Tomorrow morning at the First Baptist church ten new members will receive the right-hand-of-fellowship at the communion service.

MAY FAILURES LARGE.

But Occurring In Brokerage Lines General Business Not Affected.

NEW YORK, June 2.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

While returns of failures in May by branches of business cannot be given until next week, it can be stated that not over six months in more than six years have shown as large defaulted liabilities as May will show, owing to the failure of a firm principally engaged in cotton brokerage. The reported liabilities of this one firm exceed those of all firms failing in every month but one last year and in every month but three in 1898.

The importance of the classification made by this journal only may be realized when it is considered that a failure of such magnitude in manufacturing or trading would have caused grave apprehension, if not serious results. But manufacturing failures in four weeks of May were only $2,486,543 and trading failures $4,720,301, while failures in brokerage and "other commercial" lines amounted to $13,928,822.

The most conspicuous feature of domestic news is the steady progress toward a lower level of prices for the chief materials of industry.

The decline in pig iron continues, gray forge reaching $18.50 at Pittsburg, No. 1 local coke $22 at Chicago, No. 1 anthracite and bessemer $22 at Philadelphia and Lehigh No. 1 $21 here.

Exports are heavy, at New York again exceeding last year's by about $9,100,000 in May, while imports are still a little smaller than last year. The April exports of manufactures were close to the largest ever known, and a part of the increase, according to treasury returns, comes already from enlarged shipments to the islands formerly possessed by Spain. The outward movement of breadstuffs continues well sustained. Atlantic exports of wheat in five weeks having amounted, including flour, to 12,893,592 bushels against 11,206,953 last year, Pacific exports to 3,275,607 bushels against 2,204,632 and corn exports to 17,341,065 bushels against 13,433,818 last year.

Failures for the week have been 160 in the United States against 145 last year and 21 in Canada against 14 last year.

RUSSIA'S PLAN FAILED.

The "Boxer" Disturbance Instigated to Gain Foothold In China.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—It is declared in diplomatic circles here that the sudden increase of activity on the part of the "Boxers" in China is nothing more than part of a well conceived plan by one of the great European powers to secure a permanent lodgment in Peking and to seize a position giving it full control of the great Pei-ho river, the approach to the Chinese capital.

The power in question, it is hinted, is Russia, but it is intimated that the plan has proved abortive owing to the alertness of the other European powers represented in Chinese waters, but particularly to the readiness of the United States minister, Mr. Conger, and the American rear admiral on board the Newark.

These two at once gave the movement an undesired international aspect and so tended to prevent the particular nation concerned from aggrandizing itself at the expense of the interests of the other nations. Therefore, it is assumed, the excitement will rapidly abate and the "Boxers" will disperse, temporarily at least.

Russian Troops Ready.

SHANGHAI, June 2.—Twenty-three warships are now at Taku, nine Russian, three British, three German, three French, two American, two Japanese and one Italian. In addition to their crews the Russians have on board their warships 1,000 troops from Port Arthur, with field equipment. Fourteen thousand Russian troops are held in readiness at Port Arthur.

Miller to Go to Prison.

NEW YORK, June 2.—Justice Gaynor of the supreme court denied the application for a certificate of reasonable doubt in the case of William F. Miller, convicted of grand larceny in the first degree and sentenced by Judge Hurd in the county court on April 30 to ten years at hard labor in Sing Sing prison. There were 21 indictments found against him, but he was tried upon the single one charging him with having misappropriated $1,000 belonging to Mrs. Catharine Moser. Miller was taken to Sing Sing this morning.

Month's Figures Show a Surplus.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The monthly statement of the receipts and expenditures of the United States shows that during May, 1900, the receipts aggregated $45,166,053 and the expenditures $40,351,525, leaving a surplus for the month of $4,814,528. The receipts from the several sources of revenue are given as follows: Customs $17,396,573, decrease as compared with May, 1899, $1,000,000; internal revenue $23,861,326, increase $140,000; miscellaneous $3,908,153, increase $1,200,000.

Prominent Editor Dead.

KINGSTON, N. Y., June 2.—Hon. Charles J. Ackert, editor and publisher of the New Paltz Times, is dead at his home in that village, aged 71 years. He was a stanch Democrat, had been president of the village several times, supervisor since 1896; was member of the assembly in 1898 and had been postmaster. Besides a wife he leaves one daughter.

VISITED BY M'KINLEY

Catholic University Warmly Welcomes the President.

LOYALTY TO GOD AND COUNTRY.

American Youth Without Excuse if They Fail to Fit Themselves For the Duties of Life, Says the Chief Magistrate.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The president, accompanied by Secretary Long and Mr. Cortelyou, secretary to the president, yesterday afternoon visited the Catholic university. They called at the residence of the rector, Mgr. Conaty, who, with Dr. Garrigan, the vice rector, escorted them to McMahon hall, where they met the professors and students, who greeted the appearance of the presidential party with applause. The rector made a speech of welcome to the president on his first visit to the halls of the university, expressing the honor the university felt at the visit. He explained the purposes and aims of the institution and said that it knew no race line and no color line and that while it was built upon the idea of a purely graduate university for Catholic priests and laymen, its doors are open to non-Catholics who may desire to receive instruction at its hands. He added: "Mr. President, the cross which surmounts our buildings is indicative of our religious faith and the flag which floats to the breeze beside it is indicative of our national spirit. We are Catholics, holding our authority as an institution from the pontifical constitution granted us by the holy father who founded this university, and we are American, obtaining our legal existence from the statutes of this District. Under this roof minds are taught to love the cross and reverence the flag. Catholic Americans we are taught, and we teach loyalty to God as the source of loyalty to the republic."

President McKinley in response said: "I cannot refrain from responding in a few words for the most gracious welcome given me on behalf of the university by the honored rector of this institution. I am pleased to meet both the faculties and pupils of this institution of learning. I have been glad to note building after building rising on these grounds in the last half dozen years, and I extend to you my cordial congratulations. It is most agreeable to me, with all the burdens of responsibility which rest upon me in the great office which was bestowed upon me by the people; it is most agreeable to me to take myself from my busy duties and receive the warm and hearty welcome of the professors and students of this university. This nation is in advance of every other nation of the world in the matter of educational advantages and opportunities. There is no excuse for any young man, no matter what his condition, no matter how narrow his surroundings and limited his resources, if he does not receive an education which will fit him for the cares and responsibilities of life. No nation in the world is in greater need of educated young men than the American nation. They are the pillars of strength to this republic, and we need them, it seems to me, never more than at this hour."

Secretary Long made a brief address, and then the professors and students were presented to the president and Secretary Long, the first to be presented being M. McMahon, the respected founder of McMahon hall.

After the presentation the president and party were escorted by Mgr. Conaty and Dr. Garrigan through the different buildings and were afterward entertained for some little time at the Pines, the rector's house. The president was well pleased with the visit.

Bishop Thoburn Ill.

CINCINNATI, June 2.—The Rev. W. W. Thoburn, Methodist Episcopal bishop of India, who attended the quadrennial conference of the church at Chicago, is now a patient at Christ hospital, Mount Auburn. His wife is also a patient at the same institution, suffering from nervous prostration. Bishop Thoburn is afflicted with exhaustion of the brain, due to his long work in India, and because of his illness has been compelled to retire from the ministry for one year at least. Bishop Thoburn has been the only bishop of the India district for the past 40 years. He and his wife have both been affected by the climate of the orient. When seen at the hospital, Bishop Thoburn spoke freely of his condition and said, "I have returned to this country a physical and almost a mental wreck."

Public Debt Statement.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt shows that at the close of business May 31, 1900, the debt, less cash in the treasury, amounted to $1,122,608,811, a decrease for the month of $2,193,274, which is accounted for by the redemption of bonds. The debt is recapitulated as follows: Interest bearing debt, $1,026,482,990; debt on which interest has ceased since maturity, $1,181,880; debt bearing no interest, $390,727,470; total, $1,418,392,340. This amount, however, does not include $729,584,179 in certificates and treasury notes outstanding which are offset by an equal amount of cash on hand, against which there are demand liabilities outstanding amounting to $808,478,296, which leaves a net cash balance in the treasury of $295,783,529.

Much Oleomargarine Found.

WATERBURY, Conn., June 2.—Nearly two tons of oleomargarine in tubs was found yesterday by Dairy Officers Noble and Eaton in the cellar of the undertaking establishment of Martin Bergen & Son here. The officers at once obtained a warrant for the arrest of Proprietor Farley of the Boston Butter House, which is located in the same building with the undertaking room and to whom the officers believe, the oleomargarine was consigned.

Hats Off In Church.

UTICA, N. Y., June 2.—At a meeting of the ladies of the Tabernacle Baptist church a resolution was passed that, commencing Sunday, they will remove their hats during every regular church service.

The Vote for Mr. Martine.

The tabulated vote of the Democratic State convention on the delegates-at-large shows that there were only four counties that voted solidly against Mr. Martine as one of the "Big Four." They were Atlantic, Essex, Passaic and Sussex. On the other hand eleven counties cast a solid vote for the Plainfielder, and in five of the delegations he received divided support with former Senator Barrett, the candidate supported by Essex.

This is an excellent showing for Mr. Martine, especially since it is realized that he made no active canvass for support. From the time that his name was first mentioned in connection with choice of the "Big Four" he allowed his candidacy to go no further than the mere statement by himself that in the event of his being selected for the position of delegate-at-large he should consider it a high honor and recognition and that he would be most happy to accept. That he resolutely carried out this idea of his candidacy was easily to be understood in the fact that he did not appear in Trenton until within a half hour of the time of calling the convention. While some of the other candidates and their friends were on hand the night before the convention making a vigorous and concerted effort to secure the honor, the various leaders and delegations were unsolicited on the part of Mr. Martine or any of his friends especially anxious to see him honored in the way the convention finally did distinguish him.

Mr. Martine's strength lay in the fact of the general recognition of his long, active and honorable identity with the Democratic party of New Jersey, and the appreciation that his years of work and self-sacrifice for the best interests of the party could not be too well repaid by the selection as one of delegates-at-large.

Westfielders feel sorely humiliated to think that while their lively little neighbor, Cranford, is enjoying free mail delivery, they have to still submit to the old-fashioned way of dealing with Uncle Sam by paying personal calls to the postoffice in order to send and receive letters. But Westfield has hopes of a change in the near future. As the fiscal year of the postoffice draws to an end, which is June 30th, there is a confidence that the receipts of the postoffice for the year will have reached the sum sufficient to obtain the advantages of free mail delivery in lieu of the required population for such facilities. The rules of the postoffice department require either 10,000 population or total receipts of $10,000 annually to ensure free delivery. Lacking the first requirement, Westfielders are making a desperate effort to reach the latter. We trust that their aspirations will be realized. Westfield is a fine town, and in the eternal fitness of things it seems out of place to see it deprived of advantages in postal service that Cranford, Summit, Somerville and Rahway—all towns in the same class—are enjoying.

New Brunswick has always had the reputation of being one of the towns of this section that has had free and easy municipal morals—that is to say, the barrooms have been permitted to keep open irrespective of the restrictions provided by the excise laws. The old Dutch city is one the eve of a great reform, however, if we are to believe the statement sent out from there yesterday. It is to the effect that many complaints have been made recently to the Board of Aldermen that the number of low resorts in that city is increasing, and that the keepers of some of them are becoming conspicuously brazen in conducting their saloons. So persistent have these complaints become and so flagrant are the excesses beyond the privileges which the licenses convey that a prominent city official has declared it to be his determination to oppose the granting of twenty-five or thirty licenses which are sure to be applied for within a few days. He is conducting a quiet investigation on his own account, and so far the suspected violators of the law have not detected his purpose.

The Philadelphia Record gives this bit of good advice to those who will be interviewed by the census taker: "The public should remember that the census enumerators who will begin to visit them today will ask no questions for the satisfaction of their own curiosity, but in obedience to the command of the Government, and that answers to questions of a personal nature will not be divulged to the public or to private individuals by the enumerators or by the Government. Every question asked should, therefore, be answered truthfully and without evasion of any kind; for if the answers shall be incorrect the work of the Census Bureau will be without practical value, and a large sum of the public money will have been wasted."

James Francis Smith, the American District Telegraph messenger boy who went to South Africa with a message of sympathy from the schoolboys of Philadelphia to President Kruger, sent a cable dispatch from Pretoria on May 29th, which was received at Philadelphia Thursday, saying that he had delivered the message. The message was handed to President Kruger just before he left the capital, and he expressed his thanks to the senders of the message and the American people for their sympathy. Secretary Reitz, who was present, quoted the "Morituri te salutamus" of the Roman gladiators, and added: "On this occasion the message is reversed. Cæsar greets those about to die."

In the decision to have trains stop there on Sundays, the officials of Asbury Park have taken a step forward that will not cause any more desecration of the Sabbath than the present system of running trains through the city at a rapid speed, making a thundering noise and raising clouds of dust. At the same time the change will be one that will be appreciated by the public that visits Asbury Park, and will add further to the conveniences of the resort without bringing about any ill effects from a moral standpoint. The attitude of those who would still maintain the old system is likened unto that of the man who "strains at a gnat and swallows a camel."

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Horsely Barker, of Grove street, had a lively experience last evening on the Grove street bridge near his home, when he met a 'possum. Mr. Barker's dog, Glenn, discovered the animal, and Mr. Barker had the pleasure of capturing the prize and taking it home. It is believed that there are several 'possums in the vicinity of the bridge, for others have been seen at various times.

A letter under date of May 26th, last, has just been received from Fred Bowden, who is with the Second Cavalry Band, located at Santa Clara, Cuba. He reports that he is very well, but that yellow fever has broken out among Uncle Sam's boys. He reports the death of Louis Piedfort, the drummer in the band, and Commissary Sergeant Edward Murphy of the regiment. He says that every precaution is being taken to prevent a spread of the disease, and if it gets any worse, the regiment will be transferred to the mountains. He states that the condition of the homes among the poorer class is something terrible and there is no wonder that disease breaks out in these places.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 2.—Dog poisoners have begun their nefarious work in the borough again, and as a result a number of families are mourning the loss of their pets. Among those who have lost dogs are John and Arthur Logan. There is no clue to the miscreants.

The Junior Christian Endeavor Society held a pleasant sociable in the chapel of the Presbyterian church last evening. The time was passed pleasantly in playing games and listening to musical selections, at the conclusion of which refreshments were served. The sociable committee was composed of Miss Edna Vail, Carrie Wynhusky, Alice Apgar, Arthur Bogardus and Jacob Ginder.

The house formerly occupied by Mr. Robbins, on Washington avenue, has been sold to George Law, of New York, through Eugene Runyon. Mr. Law will remove his family to the borough in a few days.

William Giles and William and Thomas Heller have established a camp on the shores of the New Market pond and are having a pleasant time fishing and hunting.

Scarlet fever has again made its appearance in the borough. The little son of Mr. Howell, of the Bound Brook road, was taken with it yesterday.

P. H. Thompson, of New Orleans, who is staying with his cousin, I. J. Stites, has taken a position at the Scott Press Works in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. James Clifford, of Jersey City, who have been spending a few days in the borough have returned home.

Jesse Ayres captured a 3¼ pound black bass at Bound Brook, Wednesday, which was the largest of a fine string.

George Hummer has completed the erection of his new house on the New Market road, and has decided to let it out.

Superintendent Meseroll entertained the members of the senior class of the Whittier school at his home last evening.

Miss Beidleman, the popular teacher at the Greenbrook school, is spending a few days with her parents at Trenton.

The Willing Workers were pleasantly entertained by Mrs. Vance, yesterday afternoon.

Miss Jessie and Miss Rosie Haines, have returned from a pleasant visit to New York.

Rev. C. E. Ketchem, of Westfield, will occupy the Presbyterian pulpit tomorrow.

Dan Gulick is able to be out after his recent attack of illness.

Miss Alvah Gray is entertaining company from Newark.

Miss Annie Floyd visited friends in New York yesterday.

William A. Terry visited his sister at Roselle Thursday.

Mrs. John Herbert spent Thursday in New York.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 2.—Rev. G. M. Shott will take for his subject for tomorrow morning's sermon "The Story of Naaman." In the evening his pulpit will be occupied by Rev. Mr. Greene, of Westfield.

Articles of incorporation of the National Association of Master Steam and Hot Water Fitters, the Master Steam and Hot Water Fitters' Association, of the State of New York, and the Master Steam and Hot Water Fitters' Association, of New York city, have been filed at Albany. Among the directors chosen is Henry L. Hall, of Fanwood.

The pipe organ and choir of the Baptist church, both of which have been discontinued for several months, will be resumed again beginning with tomorrow morning's service, Mrs. George Goodbrough having kindly agreed to play the ogran.

Miss Reignette Marsh, who has been taking a course of study at Luray College, Luray, Va., is spending her summer vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Marsh.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rogers and daughter, Miss Stella, of Brooklyn, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Rogers' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alva Ryno, of Front street.

Rev. C. C. Woodruff will lead the weekly prayer meeting in the Methodist church this evening.

Joseph Clark began his work of taking the census for Fanwood township and borough yesterday.

Township Committee met in their rooms last night. Routine business only was transacted.

Twilight Council held an interesting meeting in their rooms last evening.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, June 2—The election for a Board of Engineers of the fire department will be held at the engine house, on Maple street, this afternoon, from 5 until 7 o'clock. As there is only one ticket in the field there is not much excitement in the election. Robert D. Shaw is a candidate for chief, W. D. Quick for first assistant, and W. H. Howell for second assistant.

The Y. P. S. C. E. of the Second Reformed church will hold a measuring party in the chapel Thursday evening, June 7, at 8 o'clock. They will be assisted in their entertainment by Mrs. Ackinson, Miss Opdycke, Mr. and Mrs. Reusswig, William Naylor, of Trenton, and Mr. Cowen, after which refreshments will be served.

Miss Nancy Miller, the owner of "Pin Oaks," the summer boarding house on the mountain north of town, which recently burned down, will not rebuild at present. She intends, however, to establish a bottling plant at the famous springs there, and bottle the sparkling water.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 2—The striking trackmen of the Wyoming division of the Lehigh Valley Railroad have practically given up the strike which started Monday. Convinced that the company will not grant their demands, and seeing their places filled with new men, they are returning to work in large numbers. Over half of them are now back, and by Monday it is expected a full force will be at work.

The ladies of the Aid Society are busy making arrangements for the festival to be given June 6th.

Mr. Jones contemplates letting the water out of the pond soon. It will be dry about one week.

Quite a number from here are going to New Market next week to the school picnic.

McDonough Brothers added one more wagon to their ice business yesterday.

Strawberries are beginning to ripen nicely. The crop will be good.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, June 2.—The Westfield Board of Trade is making efforts to counteract the efforts of the merchants of Elizabeth and Plainfield to get the local trade. The Board issued a circular letter yesterday to the people of the town asking them to give their trade to local business men, and a call will be issued today for a special meeting of the Board to be held at the town room on the evening of June 4th. The Elizabeth business men have stolen a march on the Westfielders by contracting for all of the advertising space in the cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway. It was offered to the Westfield men first, but while they were considering it their rivals took it. The fight for business promises to be a lively one.

HOW ABOUT THIS MAYOR.

A Correspondent Puts Mr. Smalley in a Hole of His Own Making on Somerset Street.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Having occasion to use the Somerset street trolley I write to complain of the mud hole at the Johnston avenue end of the line, in front of the little waiting shed. The stone wagons from Smalley Bros' crusher, many of them, come down from the crusher and turn into Somerset street at that spot and the result is the roadbed is cut up and hollowed out by the heavy loads and trolley passengers get soiled shoes and sometimes wet feet. I would suggest to Mayor Smalley that he dump a load of fine stone or dust at the point mentioned and fill up the mud hole that his wagons cause. I believe that Mayor Smalley will act upon my suggestion when he investigates my statement; otherwise I ask Councilman Clark, chairman of the street committee, to have the nuisance abated.

A Commuter.

Has Been Serving Uncle Sam in Cuba.

William J. B. Hegeman, of Sycamore avenue, has been entertaining his nephew, Mr. Burt, who has been serving Uncle Sam in Cuba as a member of the Hospital Corps. Mr. Burt but recently returned home and his experiences in Cuba are a source of much interest to his relatives and friends.

—Queen of corsets at VanEmburgh's.

this Mayor Smalley stated that the improvement would be petitioned for and the commissioners would be needed.

Mayor Smalley stated that he had received a communication from the Board of Health in which that body asks that the Council adopt an ordinance compelling each and every milkman doing business in the borough to have his name placed on the outside of his wagon. In the opinion of Counsel Reed it was not quite clear at the time as to whether it would be necessary for the Council to do this. He thought the Board of Health might have the power; if so, it would be far better as the Board is dealing directly with the milkmen in these matters.

Mr. Clark asked the Mayor whether it was the intention of the Council to incorporate Somerset place in the new sidewalk ordinance, it having been discovered that that street was left out. It was decided to place it in the list. This raised the question as to whether Race street was an accepted street, and Counsel Reed informed the Council that all the streets opened prior to 1885 were accepted streets. At that time the borough was incorporated. It was decided that as Race street was opened at the time mentioned it is an accepted street. Mr. Clark was accordingly instructed to send notices to the property owners on the street asking them to lay sidewalks.

After Mr. Clark offered a motion that when the Council adjourn it be to meet Friday evening, June 15th, the Council adjourned.

Taxation

The matter of taxation is of such vital interest to all that it is rare to find a person indifferent to being overtaxed; yet how many there are who are overtaxing their eyes without being conscious of the dangers they are incurring. These dangers lie in the path of every busy man and woman, and just how imminent they are can only be ascertained by an optical test, which is free to all at Collier's, 103 Park avenue.

Change in Meeting Night.

Washington Camp, No. 30, P. O. S. of A., will hereafter meet on the first and third Mondays in each month. Every member is requested to be present at the meeting next Monday evening, when Frederick Pope, State president of the order, will be present and make an address.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Westpreussen.

Danzig. Der Schuhmacher Emil Dasselbach, der seiner Zeit falsches Geld auf Bahnhof Insterburg ausgab, ist durch zwei Beamte nach Danzig überführt worden.

Zoppot. Wegen Sachbeschädigung ist der Postdirektor Koch zu 70 Mark Geldstrafe verurtheilt worden. Er hatte elf in seinem Garten umherstreichende Katzen gefangen, sie ertränken lassen und sie dann behufs Abstreifens des Felles in seinem Keller aufgehängt.

Rheinprovinz.

Köln. Aus Anlaß des 50jährigen Bestehens des Kölner Konservatoriums fand letzthin im Gürzenichsaal ein großer Festakt statt. Freiherr v. Oppenheim überreichte Namens der Bürgerschaft eine Summe von über 90,000 Mark zur Gründung eines Lehrer-, Wittwen- und Waisenpensionsfonds.

Aachen. Als Kuriosum darf es wohl bezeichnet werden, daß die Vorlesungen in den Abtheilungen für Botanik und Meteorologie an der hiesigen Technischen Hochschule nur von einem Studirenden belegt sind.

Koblenz. Laut Beschlusses der Stadtverordneten wurde der plötzlich verstorbene verdienstvolle Oberbürgermeister Schüller auf Kosten der Stadt beerdigt. Auch beschlossen die Stadtverordneten die Errichtung eines Denkmals des Verblichenen.

Trier. Der als eine Sehenswürdigkeit Triers geltende bekannte Gasthof „Rothes Haus," welcher mit seinem Spitzbogenstil und der lateinischen Inschrift von der sagenhaften Gründung Triers dem Hauptmarkt sein charakteristisches Gepräge gibt, wird der Zukunft erhalten bleiben, da ihn die Stadt für 230,000 Mark angekauft hat.

Provinz Sachsen.

Erfurt. Anhier wurde die Gattin des nach Unterschlagung von 92,000 Mark nach Amerika entkommenen Eisenbahn-Sekretärs Timeier unter dem Verdacht der Mitschuld verhaftet.

Nordhausen. Rektor Scheer von der Volksknabenschule, der vor einiger Zeit wegen Unterschlagung von Schulsparkassengeldern verhaftet wurde, ist neulich zu vier Jahren Gefängniß und zur Aberkennung der bürgerlichen Ehrenrechte verurtheilt worden.

Provinz Schlesien.

Beuthen. Zur Errichtung eines israelitischen Altenheims hat die hiesige israelitische Gemeinde das dem Tischlermeister Koschany gehörige, an der Ecke der Kasernen- und Gräupnerstraße belegene Hausgrundstück für 44,000 Mark gekauft.

Grünberg. Der wegen Unterschlagung steckbrieflich verfolgte Handlungsgehilfe Fricke von hier ist in Chemnitz verhaftet und in das Glogauer Gerichtsgefängniß eingeliefert worden.

Militsch. Hier hat sich der Inspektor Galasch aus Aerger darüber, daß er eine ihm zugesicherte Stellung nicht erhielt, im Kreise seiner Familie getödtet.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Schleswig. Die Staatsregierung, die in der Nordmark bereits zahlreiche größere Grundbesitzungen gekauft, hat unlängst auch den 95 Hektar großen Hof Langmoos des deutschgesinnten Hofbesitzers Feddersen, über dessen Vermögen der Konkurs erklärt war, erworben. Die Regierung gab bei der Zwangsversteigerung das höchste Gebot ab.

Kiel. Die Abfahrt des neuen Kreuzers „Vineta" von Kiel nach Südamerika mußte verschoben werden, da der Kommandant des Schiffes, Fregatten-Kapitän von der Groeben, plötzlich einem Herzschlag erlag. Der Dahingeschiedene war einer der tüchtigsten Offiziere der deutschen Marine.

Provinz Westfalen.

Münster. Durch einen großen Brand wurde etwa sechs Kilometer nördlich von hier ein theilweise mit Wald bestandener Kompler von rund 2000 Morgen vollständig zerstört. Die Fläche gehört dem Terrain an, das die Stadt Münster behufs Anlegung von Rieselfeldern angekauft hatte. Der der Stadt durch den Brand erwachsene Schaden wird auf 100,000 Mark geschätzt. Wie man annimmt, ist das Feuer durch Burschen, welche nach Nestern suchten, ausgekommen. Die auf der Fläche gelegenen arg gefährdeten Bauernhäuser wurden durch fünf Feuerwehren mit Erfolg geschützt.

Siegen. Die Eisenglasgesellschaft in Siegen hat jüngsthin 500 Tonnen Eisenglas zu 110 Mark per Tonne an Amerikaner verkauft. Dies ist der erste derartige Verkauf nach Amerika seit 1898.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Hier kam es wiederum zu anti-englischen Demonstrationen, und wiederum war es die englische Kirche, die zum Gegenstand dieser Ausschreitungen herhalten mußte. Abermals hatte man die Thüren und Außenwände der Kirche grün angemalt und Plakate mit den Aufschriften „Räuber," „Mörder," „Nieder mit England," „Hoch die Buren" angeklebt. Die Polizei beseitigte die Plakate und recherchirte nach den Thätern.—Der Abschluß der hiesigen Marineausstellung, die seiner Zeit im städtischen Ausstellungspalaste stattfand, hat einen Ueberschuß von 3403 Mark ergeben.

MRS. GEORGE FOSTER. Doctor, what can I do for belching of wind?

DOCTOR H. Belching of wind is due to fermentation of the food in the stomach. This is usually caused by the inability of the stomach to digest the foods containing starch. Avoid all intoxicants, fresh bread, rolls, rice, oatmeal, potatoes, peas, beans, corn, cake, pastry, pie, pork, sausage and rich foods. After meals take a Ripans Tabule. One will give you prompt relief, and their continued use for a week or two will cure the trouble if you abandon the foods that principally cause it.

DAY OF THE FLOUNCE.

It Is Said to Be at Hand—New Fashions In Flowers.

Just now we cannot bear to think of the warm stuffs that we are asked to take note of as the newest things for early fall because it is decidedly too hot to do so, and the thoughts dwell with pleasure on the sheer and thin cottons and other things calculated to rob the summer of its horrors. And they are so very delicate and dainty! No fairy could ask a more diaphanous robe than some of the new stuffs are.

In the very windows where these are exhibited they have to put white muslin behind them to show up the delicate design, and these are most exquisite and, above all, artistic. There is not a single one of these fine lawns and batistes where the figure is not as perfect as a picture of the same blossom on paper would be. Then these fine and delicate lawns are made up in such a way that they gain an added beauty. The amount of lace that can be put on one of these summer gowns is almost incredible. The present fancy is to have the lace put on in the form of a bolero or a figaro. One exquisite lawn had a design of moss rose buds on a ground of pearl gray.

This reminds me to mention something that has often struck my mind that there is a fashion in flowers as well as in furniture and wall paper, to say nothing about the shape of our houses. Just now the rich, red tulips are much in evidence, and the old fashioned stock gilly in its creamy white and its dull crimson compels our attention by the refreshing, spicy odor so familiar in the days of our youth, and we buy great bunches of it and walk on, seeing something more than the flowers. The moss rose had been relegated to oblivion for many years, but now it is seen in the windows of the swellest florists, and, indeed, a moss rose is more beautiful than any other. The pink ones are seen rather oftener than the white ones, but nothing touches my heart like a white one, for my only sister lay in her little coffin almost covered with them. Since then they have been precious to me. Mignonette is also a fashionable flower, and a large bunch of them often takes the place once held sacred to American Beauty roses. And they are such grateful flowers! A little fresh water from time to time will keep them fresh for several days. And their fragrance is so refreshing.

Just now the fashion in the decoration of walls is to have them papered in panels with a pretty pattern of chintz. Mrs. Robert Osborne, whose taste has made her independent again after financial disaster, has fitted up her parlors in panels of a dainty pattern of chintz, where the figures are in a delicate shade of pink and browns, and these are all bordered with a narrow line of gilt molding. The curtains and all the furniture are covered with the chintz, not as slips, but made with the chintz instead of plush or satin. The furniture is all shaped after the old Revolutionary style, and the woodwork is enameled white, picked out with gold, and a more elegant parlor it would be impossible to find.

We will not go into a dissertation on architecture just now, for there are too many other things in the way of summer attire to speak of, and so the cottons for warm days are just like those worn by our ancestors in 1830, with perhaps a trifling difference in the design. There are some pretty basket weaves in khaki colored cotton.

There is no use trying to deny it, for flounces are certainly coming in fashion rapidly. And, after all, why not? They are graceful, and the flounced dress was always a pretty one, except when the shoulders were cut away down over the arm and the waist was nothing to speak of.

I saw a new dress which will soon be seen at Newport, and surely no one could object to that. It is intended for an evening dress, but there is a guimpe furnished with it, and that transforms it into a suitable gown for afternoon functions, as there are long lace sleeves to the guimpe. It is of dotted swiss and has three flounces, each edged with lace, and there are bows at the bottom and on the waist, held by fancy strass buttons.

The skirt is lined with pastel blue taffeta, and the waist is trimmed with the same from the side seams. When it is to be worn as an evening dress, a small gauze scarf is thrown over the shoulders, and when as an afternoon gown the guimpe is worn, and the flowers may be omitted. But flounces there are and will be all this season, and in winter we may be completely smothered in them.

HENRIETTE ROUSSEAU.

How a Playtime Is Secured by the Poor People in CHICAGO

It is not alone the elite of Chicago that sigh for the pleasures of the country these warm days of the early summer. It is not alone the very best people who can appreciate the beauties of a rural community, who delight in the glory of a country sunrise at four in the morning, whose souls yearn for the broad spreading trees, the green lawns and green fields, or the gentle murmur of the babbling brook.

Vacation the City Boy Wants.

The barefoot boy of the poor man enjoys quite as well as the patent-leather shod son of the millionaire the pleasures of a shady pool where the black bass, the pickerel, the pike or the trout lie in wait for the angler's bait.

It may have seemed to some who have longed in vain for these pleasures that the rich have a monopoly on the realities, but no society trust will ever be formed that can have a monopoly on the desires for these pleasures of the summer season.

I have often wondered if the seasons did not do much to breed anarchy, and if such is the case why should not the warm days of summer be the most productive. When the poor man sees his rich employer and his family starting on a trip to the cool retreats of Europe, or the fashionable seaside and mountain resorts of our own land, while his own family must remain cooped up in the small rooms of a tenement building, it is hardly to be wondered at that he rebels against society, even though his condition may be of his own making. He and his family may be in need of a summer's outing quite as much as the rich man and his, but though he would be content with one on a less elaborate scale, it is denied by the fates or his own lack of ability or foresight, though the latter is seldom admitted by himself.

The Country Boy of To-Day.

Quite as much as the poor of the city sigh for the summer pleasures of the rich do the poor of the country sigh for that which the poor of the city would willingly cast aside for a time.

Vacation the Country Boy Wants.

When Whittier wrote "The Barefoot Boy" he may have depicted the country boy of that time, but,

"Let the million-dollared ride!
Barefoot, trudging at his side,
Thou hast more than he can buy
In the reach of ear and eye—
Outward sunshine, inward joy;
Blessings on thee, barefoot boy!"

will never convince the country boy of to-day, to whom has come the city visitor, the newspaper, the magazine, all painting the mysteries and delights of the city, that his is an envied lot.

When his city cousin is longing for the "cheek of tan," he is wishing for sights and scenes far away from the plow and the harvest field. He counts not riches

". . . . in flowers and trees,
Humming birds and honey bees."

No, the country boy, and girl, too, for that matter, does not, as a rule, appreciate as their ancestors probably did the pleasures of a wholly rural life, and would willingly exchange places with their city cousins for a few weeks during the summer season. They would not want, nor would they see, the misery of the tenement dwellers, but they do want the delights of the artificiality of the city parks; they sigh for the evening retreats; they would exchange their horse and buggy for a time for the privilege of a street car ride. For these things they would willingly give the

"Sleep that wakes in laughing day,
Health that mocks the doctor's rules,
Knowledge never learned at school."

Solution of a Difficult Problem.

Blessings on the Chicago genius whose solution of a complex problem gives to the poor of the city the pleasures of a summer's outing, and at the same time makes possible many a city vacation trip for the people of the country.

For the Rent He Cannot Pay.

When the summer comes with its days of terrible heat that brings burning misery to the tenement dwellers the man of millions shuts up his house and departs for more congenial scenes with no thought of the expense that will be incurred during his absence. He worries not over the rent the landlord will demand from an empty purse when he and his family returns. But the poor man must think of these things, for the winter swiftly follows. He must find a means to provide for the rent that he cannot pay during his summer playtime, and he has found that with a little ingenuity on his part his country cousin will pay the rent and glad of the opportunity.

One thing that has kept the country people away from Chicago during the summer season has been expensive hotel rates, or unpleasant boarding houses. The first many cannot pay for, and the second but few can stand during the heated term.

But when the man in the city who wished for a vacation amidst the green fields of the country offered his home and its furnishings to anyone willing to pay the rent for a few weeks it solved the problem for both classes, and now Chicago has each year hundreds of visitors from the farms and small communities who come to the city for their vacation and occupy comfortable furnished homes while the owners of the homes, or at least the furnishings, are rusticating in the country. By this means the burdensome rent question is solved by the man in the city and the expensive hotels and the unpleasant boarding houses evaded by the man from the country.

A Good Thing All Around.

Up to the first of May the renting agencies of Chicago are kept busy with the renting of flats and houses to those desiring to move about once a year. But once the first of May has passed there is a scramble between the various agencies for the privilege of listing desirable furnished flats and houses for the summer season.

The Solution of the Problem.

The head of one of these agencies told me that during the month of May and early June last year his concern had rented more than 75 of these furnished flats and houses for from one to four months, and in more than half the cases the people to whom they were rented were from the country, who desired to spend the season in the city.

This was probably an unusually large business for one agency, but it is safe to say that there are several thousand of these furnished flats and houses rented every year now. The number of agencies engaged in the business will run well into the hundreds, and each of them finds it more or less profitable.

This influx of country visitors for the summer season is a good thing for the city in addition to its affording many families a means of securing a summer's outing they would not get if there were not some one to pay the rent. Hundreds of flats and houses are rented each year by people who would leave the city even though the rent were not paid for them during their absence, and if these homes were locked up for the season it would mean a heavy loss to the market men, the grocers, the tradesmen of every class, to say nothing of the fact that the gas meters would stop clicking in the interest of a great corporation.

Caught in the Act.

Around the city and county buildings are many who enjoy the pleasures of a summer's outing, and among them all none more so than Mayor Harrison. He is an inveterate angler, who, though he knows every lake and river within a day's ride of the city, has never had the good fortune to get large catches. But a few days ago he was felicitating one of his fellow city officials upon his good luck in catching a large muskelonge on an early fishing expedition.

Wished for by Mayor Harrison.

"I would almost give up my position as mayor to land such a 'musky,'" said Mr. Harrison, as he glanced at the photograph of two men holding a monster muskelonge on a pole resting on their shoulders.

"Yes, he weighed 32½ pounds and was 49 inches long," explained the official.

"But this is not your picture," remarked the mayor. "One man is Joseph Downey and the other is a guide. How did Downey come to get photographed with your fish?"

"Oh, I loaned the 'musky' to him. He had no luck, you know," was the reply. And the official turned his face to hide a laugh.

"Well, that is a pretty thing for a member of the board of education to do," retorted the mayor. "Downey need not think that I am green. When he calls to talk board matters with me I'll accuse him of trying to deceive the sportsmen."

The official became apprehensive that Mayor Harrison was in earnest, and in a moment acknowledged that Downey was the captor, but that no less than 15 friends of the contractor had used the photograph to support their personal tales of angling.

WRIGHT A. PATTERSON.

MANLY YOUNG FELLOW.

Crown Prince of Germany and Prussia Is a Modest Boy and Devoted to His Parents.

The crown prince of Germany, Frederick William, whose majority was celebrated May 6, is in every sense of the word the kaiser's boy, and the two are devoted to one another. For the last few years Emperor William has given every spare moment he could snatch from his multifarious occupations to the task of instilling his ideas and views into the crown prince, now a personage of the utmost importance, second only in rank to the emperor himself.

Yet, with all this, the crown prince is not a prig, nor is he forward. True,

CROWN PRINCE OF GERMANY.
(His Eighteenth Birthday Was Celebrated Recently with Eclat.)

he has a keen sense of his own dignity, but it takes the form of extreme simplicity and an absolute lack of affectation, since he is intelligent enough to realize that his rank and position are sufficiently assured to render it unnecessary that he should call attention thereto by his manner and speech. He is modest, too, very frank, particularly courteous to old people, boyishly chivalrous to women, and firmly convinced that there is no member of the fair sex in the entire world who is so ideally perfect in appearance, as well as in character, as his mother. Devoted to every form of sport, a splendid gymnast, a clever oarsman, a splendid driver and a bold rider, an excellent shot, he is in every sense of the word a manly young fellow who, however, has been kept free from all contact with the darker sides of life, and who still retains, therefore, mingled with the experience of an older man, much of the innocence and freshness of the mind of a mere boy. Fair haired, blue eyed, with the down of a blond mustache upon his upper lip, the young prince is a typical Hohenzollern, and gives promise of resembling in personal appearance his grandfather, Emperor Frederick, rather than his father.

EMPRESS FREDERICK.

Her Health Undermined by Rumors That She Had Contracted a Clandestine Marriage.

From private and most trustworthy sources the information is obtained that the Dowager Empress Frederick is in such a bad state of health as to occasion serious alarm to her relatives and in German and British court circles. It is stated, on the quiet, that the illness of the empress is due to the persistency with which rumors have been circulated that she had recently contracted a clandestine marriage with the count of Saeckendorf, one of the trusted officers of her household and a member of one of the oldest families of Germany.

THE EMPRESS FREDERICK.
(Mother of Emperor William and Princess Royal of England.)

Empress Frederick, princess royal of Great Britain, was born in 1840, and was married to the crown prince of Prussia in 1858. Her husband became king of Prussia and German emperor in March, 1888, and died in June of the same year. She is the mother of eight children, and has always been loyally devoted to her interesting family.

The report of her secret marriage is not credited in well-informed circles, but has obtained credence among the people of Germany, who have never been particularly devoted to the empress.

Knew He Had No Brains.

There is a lineman in the service of the Michigan Telephone company who doesn't like to wear a hat on hot days. A kind-hearted old lady saw him digging a post hole, and got him one of her husband's old hats. Not wishing to offend her, the man put it on, and when the job was completed he went to the door and returned the hat with thanks. "But you must keep it," she urged. "You will injure your brains if you don't wear something on your head this hot weather." "No, I won't," said the eccentric fellow. "I haven't got any brains. If I had I wouldn't be digging post holes."

Satisfied with Small Pay.

Women employed on Japanese tea farms work 12 hours and are paid 15 cents a day.

THE HOUSE WAS HAUNTED.

Rendered Unrentable by a Merry Spirit of Ill-Timed Merriment.

A well-known local real estate man lately told of what he termed "a nervy display of humor." He rented a house in Diamond street, near the park, to a woman and her small family, the woman having declared that she was an artist. The real estate man, says the Philadelphia Record, had displayed the sign "For sale or rent" on the outside, and his preference was for the former. However, he consented to lease the house for a year, and in a jiffy had it fixed up with new appointments of the latest improved styles, including heater, bathtub, range and handsome chandeliers. The family moved in, and everything went along smoothly until two months later, when he received a letter inclosing the door key. The woman wrote that she had moved out because she could not keep up the rent. No previous announcement was made on account of the lease. Again the sign was put on the house. Two women soon asked to see the house, and were given the key. They returned to the real estate man, and laughingly said they did not care to rent the house. Others looked it over, and also laughed as they returned the key. One day later the real estate dealer decided to see what was so funny, and made a trip to the house. He soon found out. On dark brown cardboard signs that hung on the many improvements he had put in the house he found reading, in white paint letters, that was far from pleasing. On the bathtub the sign read: "Enamel peels off." Hanging from the parlor chandelier was the following information: "Lovers' delight—no gas pressure." The cellar heater was labeled: "I require two tons of coal a week all winter," while on the range oven door the announcement was "Cold as charity;" and on the boiler "A pint of water to a ton of coal." The electric lighters attached to the gas burners were "Never known to work," according to the sign. All over the house were found similar evidences of the woman artist's work.

A Witness of Waterloo.

Lady Medway has brought to the notice of the queen of England the facts connected with the life of Mrs. Barbara Moon, of Rolvenden, Kent, the only woman alive who was present at the battle of Waterloo, says the London Chronicle. Mrs. Moon, who is 90 years of age, was the daughter of a color sergeant in the Third battalion rifle brigade, who fought in the battles of Badajos, Salamanca and Waterloo. In the last named he received his death wound. Mrs. Moon was then four years of age. She remembers leaving the field of Waterloo with her mother in a baggage wagon. At the age of 70 she could neither read nor write, but she learned to accomplish both these tasks at the village Sunday school. Her majesty has accepted Mrs. Moon's photograph, and has sent her a contribution "to assist in making her comfortable during this somewhat trying season of the year."

End of Secrecy.

"Why was it," they asked, "that you went back on your determination to be married by a woman preacher?"

The bride whose clandestine marriage had just been announced looked surprised.

"Dear me!" she exclaimed, "wasn't it an elopement, and didn't we want our wedding to be a secret?"—Chicago Post.

PROPOSALS FOR COAL.

OFFICE OF THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.
PLAINFIELD, N. J., MAY 9th, 1900.

Pursuant to a resolution adopted by the Board of Education of the City of Plainfield, N. J., at a meeting held May 7th, 1900, notice is hereby given that the Board of Education will meet on Monday evening, June 4th, next at 8:30 o'clock, at the Board room in the Stillman School, corner of West Fifth street and Arlington avenue, in the City of Plainfield, at which time and place said Board of Education will receive sealed proposals for furnishing five hundred tons, more or less, of the best coal suitable for steam and hot air heating, in pea, No. 1 Chestnut, stove and egg sizes, all coal to be thoroughly screened, trimmed, and placed in the bins within the public school buildings without any extra expense to the Board for such handling, and to be delivered during the month of July next, or at such time as the Board may direct. Bids to specify the quality of coal, and whether long or short tons. Payment for all coal contracted for to be made after September 1st next. All proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for coal." The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Upon receipt of the bids or proposals, the Board will immediately proceed to unseal the same and publicly announce the contents in the presence of the parties bidding or their agents, provided such parties or agents choose to be then and there present and also to make proper record of the prices and terms upon the minutes of the Board.

By order of the Board of Education.

AN AGED PENSIONER.

Hiram Cronk, the Only Man Survivor of the American War with England in 1812.

While many thousands of those who participated in the civil war still live and draw pensions, only one survivor of the war of 1812 exists. He is Hiram Cronk and is 100 years old. He lives at Dunn Brook, Oneida county, N. Y., and is the only pensioner of that war. He was born in Frankfort, Herkimer county, N. Y., of sturdy Holland Dutch stock, of the family which has become famous through its litigation to regain the Cronk estates in the fatherland.

While Hiram was still a beardless youth, his spirit was aroused over the issues of the war and he, with his father and two brothers, John and Jeptha, enlisted in the United States army and went to Sackett's Harbor, where he served for about 100 days. Hiram was so young and of such slight built that the other soldiers tried to joke with him, saying that if need be his father could pick him up and carry him into a place of safety. Such an act was, however, unnecessary, for in a skirmish with the British the youthful soldier carried himself so well and with such a military bearing that Capt. Davis, who had command of the troops, said that if he had a regiment of such soldiers he could go into Canada and fight the enemy on their own grounds. For his services Mr. Cronk receives a pension of eight dollars per month.

Mr. Cronk cast his first vote for Andrew Jackson and has continued to vote for the democratic ticket on down through the years, his last vote being for Cleveland. He is a devout Methodist, and often, while in conversation, will start out in a fairly clear voice on some old familiar hymn. It gives him special pleasure to have anyone listen to his story of his conversion and it is one well worth the time. A family reunion was held on his hundredth anniversary.

TO BE MADE KING.

Swedes Desire to Retire the Venerable Oscar and Elevate Gustaf to the Throne.

Prince Gustaf of Sweden and Norway, in whose favor it is proposed to retire King Oscar, is the heir apparent to the throne and represents a political party diametrically opposed to that which rallies around the aged monarch. His majesty's recent expression of sympathy for Britain has roused popular feeling in Sweden, where the masses are all for the Boers. It is reported that the cabinet will request the king to abdicate on June 16, which is the birth anniversary of the crown prince. Gustaf is the most unpopular member of the royal family. If the election of a king were left to the people the choice would undoubtedly fall on Prince Karl, the third son of Oscar II. Gustaf is very radical in his conceptions of the correct policy toward Norway, and it is known that he is bitterly opposed to the late action of the king in recalling Swedish officers from the sister country at the request of the Norwegians.

This Clock Is a Wonder.

Joseph Jenson, a clockmaker, of Richfield, Utah, has just completed an interesting clock, which, besides striking the hours, halves and quarters and showing the phases of the moon, tells what time it is in every city in the world. This is done by means of a globe which revolves within a transparent globular glass. On this glass is marked a line representing 12 o'clock noon, and as the globe revolves this line is always directly over that part of the world where it is noon at that time. There are other lines representing the different hours, and in this way it is a very simple matter to get the exact time at any given place.

Progress in Dawson City.

Dawson City has two steam fire engines, 14 patent fire extinguishers, one hook-and-ladder truck, two hose carts and 6,000 feet of hose and has a paid fire department of 20 men.

SPORTING.

GOLF

Next week Saturday the Elizabeth Golf Club team will come to Plainfield and contest for honors with the Hillside team in the East Jersey Golf Association series of games.

Several delightful dinner parties have been given this week at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Clubhouse, where the breezes are always to be found even in the warmest weather.

A few persons have gained the impression that Willard Wadsworth at present holds the Chapman cup, which is being played for at the Hillside course. This is not true. W. L. Glenney holds the cup, having won it last year for the first. The cup has to be won three times to become personal property. Today Mr. Wadsworth and Mr. Glenney will contest in the finals for the cup.

The New Jersey State Golf Association was formally organized at a meeting at the Essex County Country Club last evening. The clubs in the association are the Baltusrol Golf Club, the Morris County Golf Club, the Montclair Golf Club, the North Jersey Golf Club of Paterson, the Yountakah Golf Club of Nutley, the Englewood Golf Club, the Lakewood Golf Club, the Hillside Golf Club of Plainfield and the Essex County Country Club. Fifteen delegates from these clubs were present at the meeting and were entertained at dinner at the country club after which the formal organization was effected. The league was formed at the suggestion of the Essex County Country Club which appointed a committee consisting of L. St. Clair Colby, H.B. Billings, Howard A. Colby, Edward P. Slevin and Clifford A. Gould to further the project. The association will put up a cup as a trophy, the cup to become the property of the person winning it twice in succession. The first tournament will be held this fall on the Essex County Country Club course, and all the expenses, exclusive of the cup, will be borne by that club. The play will consist of a preliminary round of eighteen holes, match play, the first sixteen to qualify and play off at match play. The finals will be at thirty-six holes and the winner will be the golf champion of New Jersey for 1900 and will have his name on the trophy, which will remain in his possession until next year, when he must be prepared to defend his title at whatever club the championship shall be held. The annual championship will be held at the various clubs in the league in rotation. At the meeting last night L. H. Graham, of the Baltusrol Golf Club, was elected president of the association and L. St. Clair Colby, of the Essex County Country Club was chosen secretary and treasurer. A committee will be appointed by the President to take charge of the details of the tournament.

ROD AND GUN.

Local fishermen should get their tackle ready, as the continued warm weather will start weak fish running at Sewaren and Amboy. They are already running freely in Jamaica Bay, especially in Goose Creek, where big catches are being made.

Plainfield fishermen report fine bass fishing in New Market pond and the Raritan and Passaic rivers. Perch are also being caught in large numbers in the Raritan, near Bound Brook. Shrimp is said by experts to be the best bait for the latter.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Local sportsmen have arranged for a grand meet at the Gentlemen's Driving Park for July 4th, when a large card will be presented. Those in charge have received assurances that "Robert Jay," with a record of 2:01, will appear and trot against time. This horse is owned by Robert Towksbury, of New York.

ON THE DIAMOND

Warren McLaughlin, of this city, pitched for the Senecas against the Dreadnaughts, both of New York, at an exhibition game held at Stamford, Conn., Wednesday. The former team won by a score of 8 to 5. A number of Plainfielders witnessed the game.

VARICUS SPORTS.

Herman Koerner, of the Garwood Athletic Club, will wrestle with Wm. Hauck, of the German-American Athletic Club, of Elizabeth, for the welter weight championship of the State at Vorwaerts Turn Hall, Elizabeth, Saturday evening, June 9th.

STILL ANOTHER EXPLOSIVE.

Marsite Said to Be the Safest and One of the Most Powerful Yet Known.

Safety in use, so far as the user is concerned, and hideous devastation to the foe are the ideals in war explosives at which the world's war bureaus are aiming. Marsite, the invention of Mr. Hathaway, of Wellsboro, Pa., is said to be the safest of the high explosives yet known. The ordnance bureau of the United States navy is investigating the material, and the preliminary tests are said to be highly favorable, says the London Times.

Marsite is known to be a nitrate compound, although its composition is the secret of its inventor. In appearance it resembles dark-colored clay, and it is said to be as safe as clay to handle. You may with impunity pound it with a hammer or rasp it with a file. You cannot explode it by concussion, and if you set fire to it it merely sizzles for a moment and then goes out.

But a percussion arrangement—failing that, an electric current—will do all that the most exacting military man could ask. A quantity of marsite in a four-inch shell was put in an excavation in the ground. Over the hole was placed a screen of steel an inch thick, about which a wooden structure was built. When the electric current was turned on a terrific explosion occurred, which tore a hole in the steel screen and burst the shell into thousands of fragments. Placed between cakes of ice to demonstrate that the explosive is not affected by cold, the explosion tore the ice to pieces and cast fragments high in the air.

It is claimed that the shell may be safely fired from a gun with the initial velocity of 2,000 feet a second.

Dates of Easter.

The New York World almanac contains a table giving the date of Easter Sunday in each year of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. It seems the date falls within the limits between March 22 and April 25. In 1818 it was March 22. In 1845 and again in 1856 it was March 23. In 1886 the date fell on April 25—the limit—and in 1943 it will occur again. In the year 2000 (as it was in 1848) the date falls on April 23—the date of Shakespeare's birth and death.—Hartford Times.

SHOWER INTERFERED WITH GOLF CONTEST

Seven Competitors Finished at Park Golf Club Despite the Heavy Downpour.

FOR THE PRESIDENT'S CUP.

OPENING COMPETITION FOR PRESIDENT'S AND HOOLEY TROPHIES.

Fred P. Taylor Won Challenge Trophy From W. J. R. Thiers One Up in Eighteen Holes—M. T. Townsend Low Man.

The thunder shower of Saturday afternoon caught the golfers of the Park Golf Club in the midst of the opening competiton for the president's and Holley cups. Some few stuck to the game and played on despite the rain. A few more sought shelter during the worst of it and then finished their eighteen holes at the conclusion of the storm. Many of the players, however, hurried to the clubhouse and watched the arrival of the less fortunate ones who happened to be some distance away when the downpour began.

The event of the afternoon, which went on despite the rain, was the match for the green committee challenge trophy. William J. R. Thiers won the trophy at the start a week ago, and Fred P. Taylor was the first challenger. It was a scratch competition, match play, eighteen holes.

The first round showed Thiers one up, although neither player was at his best. On the third hole of the second round it began to rain, and continued to do so steadily for the remander of the match. The teeing grounds were so muddy that they found it necessary to drive from one side, but both did really creditable work in spite of the downpour. Taylor braced up and played par golf on the fifth, sixth, eighth and ninth holes, winning out one up.

The score of the match was as follows:

Taylor, out	5	6	6	5	6	6	6	8	6	—54
Thiers	4	8	6	5	5	6	6	4	7	—51
Taylor, in	4	8	9	4	5	5	8	4	5	—52—106
Thiers	6	6	6	6	5	6	6	5	8	—54—105

Thiers promptly sent in another challenge. The order of the challengers now stands: Morgan T. Townsend, Edgar I. Serrell, Gifford W. Cooley and W. J. R. Thiers.

The opening competition for the president's cup, offered by Charles W. McCutchen, had some twenty entries. It will be continued every Saturday afternoon this season, the three lowest net scores counting three, two and one point respectively for the cup. The rain prevented a number from finishing, but the following cards were turned in:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Morgan T. Townsend	100	0	100
George T. Rogers	120	19	101
Charles A. Reed	121	20	101
Wm. J. R. Thiers	105	0	105
Edgar I. Serrell	126	15	105
Fred P. Taylor	106	0	106
S. St. J. McCutchen	144	22	122

Points for the president's cup now stand as follows:

	Points.
Morgan T. Townsend	3
Charles A. Reed	1½

The opening competition for the Hooley cup, a handicap competition for the ladies' similar to the one for the President's cup, only nine holes, was held. There was a small entry list, and only two cards were turned in, the shower interferring with the others. The scores were:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Miss Saidee Mae Howell	73	0	73
Miss Daisy Elsberg	93	13	80

The points for the Hooley cup are as follows:

	Points.
Miss Daisy Elsberg	2

There was only one event at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course Saturday afternoon, final play for the Chapman cup, 18 holes, stroke play. The fact that two of the best players in the club, W. L. Glenney and Willard Wadsworth, were to contest for honors, was sufficient to attract great interest in the event. Up to Saturday Mr. Glenney held the cup, but he lost it by a close score, 3 up and 1 to go. From start to finish the play was exciting and the two players kept very near to each other. Mr. Wadsworth finally won by making the course in 82 strokes. His opponent came in a very close second with 85 strokes to his credit.

The two contestants are very evenly matched and it was nip and tuck as to who would win out. Eash had his friends, however, who were more or less confident of success. Still, one has not much advantage over the other, and whenever these players meet the scores are sure to be low. This cup will be played for again next November, and the person winning it three times becomes the per-

WILL MINE BE WORKED?

SUGGESTIVE ACTIVITY OBSERVED AT GLENSIDE LATELY.

Investigations Being Made Around Old Copper Mine—It May be Worked Again.

The residents of Glenside, formerly called Feltville, and vicinity have lately had their attention called to the actions of four strange men who have been making mysterious trips in the direction of the old copper mine, which has been one of the attractions of this beautiful spot for years. No amount of questioning meets with any satisfaction, and the residents are again asking the question: "Is the old mine to be reopened?" The same question has been asked before a number of times when strangers have been found in the vicinity of the old place, for it is said that there is a paying deposit of ore hidden away among the rocks and earth, but the place has been far removed from any transportation point and the work of extracting the ore from the earth was so expensive that no one has been willing to invest the capital to reopen the mine.

Recent improvement in machinery and a scarcity of copper has removed a great deal of this, and it is now thought that the mine could be worked at a profit. Those living in the vicinity have heard several blasts go off lately, and one of the more inquisitive ones investigated the matter and found the men gathered about the mouth of the mine examining and experimenting with the deposit taken from the opening in the hills.

The mine is on the property owned by the Warren Ackerman estate, who bought the place a number of years ago and converted the deserted village from a mass of ruins into a beautiful spot, where each year a colony of the members of the exclusive set of Newark society come to spend the summer months. It is thought the men are conducting their investigation in the interest of some capitalist who would probably make an offer for the place if their investigations and experiments prove that the mine could be worked at a profit once more.

A RISKY BLAZE.

Dense volumes of smoke and cries of fire told the late pedestrians on Park avenue Saturday night that VanNess' restaurant on that street was afire. An alarm was sent in from Box 13, but the gong gave but one blast. The tappers in the houses worked correctly, however, and the appartus was soon on the scene.

From the clouds of smoke which issued from the door of the restaurant, it looked at first as if the whole row of frame buildings was doomed, but after a stream from the chemical engine had been turned on it was discovered that only the ceiling in the kitchen of the restaurant was burning. It had caught fire from a large Rochester lamp and spread over the entire room in a few minutes. The fire was soon extinguished, but the damage will amount to nearly $50, covered by insurance.

The failure of the gong to work is thought to be due to numerous grounds caused by Saturday's storm and by the crossing with the new trolley wires on Arlington avenue, one of which is said to have been tied to the gong circuit.

INJUNCTION SERVED.

National Cash Register Company Stops Bound Brook Enterprise.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 4.—The Ideal Cash Register Company, whose plant is located in the building owned by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, at East Bound Brook, and who is at the head of the firm, was forced to suspend operations Saturday by an injunction served against them by the National Cash Register people, who claim the local company is infringing on their patents. The Ideal Company has been running for the past year and has turned out a large number of machines. Twenty-three skilled machinists have been thrown out of work on account of the shut down, a number of whom belong to Plainfield.

A representative of The Press interviewed an official of the company this morning. He claimed that the factory had not been closed, but was being run with a reduced force on account of the discharging of a number of unskilled men who were employed as assemblers.

IN FAVOR OF MISSIONS.

Missionary Sermon Listened to by the Members of Trinity Reformed Church Last Night.

Rev. Harmon V. S. Peeke, for many years a missionary in Southern Japan, and who, together with his family, have been a vacation in his native land, occupied the pulpit at Trinity Reformed church last evening prior to his departure for his field in Japan this week. This was the second time that Mr. Peeke has preached at Trinity Reformed church, and those who attended the service last evening were well repaid, for they heard a strong and impressive discourse filled with arguments in favor of foreign missions.

By way of comparison he said that it was not necessary to have a steeple on a church, but the doors are essential; a congregation can worship without a choir, but it must have a consistory, elders and the proper officers. He said that while there might be difference as to certain forms in doctrine, such as the last days, etc., the main doctrine, that of the atonement, could not be set aside. It is the fundamental principle and in the Reformed church the name of Christian is withheld from those who do not believe in this.

Mr. Peeke then went on and told of some of the discouragements experienced by missionaries, and how they are led to remain at their posts of duty because they are filled with the love of Christ and want to see souls saved. In conclusion Mr. Peeke presented strong arguments why the Christians who remain at home should contribute largely toward the support of those who labor faithfully in foreign fields.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

Special Exercises for the Little People in the First Baptist Church Sunday-school.

Appropriate Children's Day exercises were held at the First Baptist church Sunday-school yesterday afternoon, and the attendance was increased by the presence of the Sunday-school from the Mt. Olive Baptist church. Superintendent G. H. Batchelor was in charge. A feature was the teaching of the lesson and a short talk by L. H. Biglow, Jr.

The programme included a recitation by Maude Green, a vocal duet by Maude and Mattie Green and a recitation by Frank Brown, of the Mt. Olive Baptist church Sunday-school, which were well given. An interesting part of the programme was a character recitation by Russell Miller, Helen Smalley, Randolph Chandler, Beulah VanWinkle and a pleasing song by Alice Drake, Evelyn and Herbert Hillman, Bessie Carman and Adele French.

A feature of the occasion was the gift of handsome flowers by the scholars. Half of the collection will be distributed among the poor and sick people of the church and Sunday-school, and the other half will go to the Italian mission in New York, to be distributed among the people who attend there.

A BAD MIX-UP.

Andrew Vanderbeek, Riding a Bicycle, Collided With Motor Cycle.

A motor cycle, a bicycle and Andrew Vanderbeek, of West Front street, came together in a confused heap at North and Park avenues, yesterday afternoon, and the bicycle got decidedly the worst of it. The motor cycle, in which were two men from Elizabeth, in company with another machine, was turning the corner of Park into North avenue, as Mr. Vanderbeek started to cross the street on his wheel. He sought to avoid one machine when he was struck by the other, throwing him to the ground and smashing the wheel. Although Mr. Vanderbeek received a bad fall, he escaped injury. The owner of the machine settled for the damage.

NEW MEMBERS RECEIVED.

Several Churches Increased Their Forces at Yesterday's Services.

At the communion service at Trinity Reformed church yesterday morning the hearts of the people and the pastor were made glad by the reception of seven persons to membership. Five were by letter and two on confesson of faith.

The Lord's Supper was observed at Warren chapel yesterday morning at which time six persons were received into membership. Five on confession and one by letter.

Wouldn't Go Home.

Howard Thatcher, a young man employed by Brown, the slater, of the borough, was disorderly Saturday evening, and when told to go home by Special Marshal Baglin, refused to do so. The officer arrested the young man. He was released yesterday to appear later for trial.

POSTAL SUB-STATION FOR THE BOROUGH

The Improvement Has Been Promised by the Department at Washington.

TO BE ESTABLISHED SOON.

SECURED THROUGH INFLUENCE OF CONGRESSMAN HOWELL.

Will Probably be Located in One of the Stores on Somerset Street, But Who the Sub-Agent Will Be is Not Yet Decided.

After two years of agitation and waiting North Plainfield is at last to have a postal sub-station within its confines. This announcement was received Saturday when it was stated that through the influence of Senator Kean and Congressman Howell the Postoffice Department had consented to establish the station as a branch of the postoffice located in this city.

The station will be established just as soon as the necessary arrangements can be completed, and will be located in one of the stores on Somerset street. The proprietor of whichever store is selected will be appointed sub-agent. The emoluments of the office in the matter of salary will probably be insignificant, but the people who will visit it each day will doubtless increase the patronage of the store considerably, thus bringing a material benefit.

The establishment of the sub-station will not interfere in anyway with the present excellent delivery facilities which the borough now secures through the main office on the city side of the brook.

In its geographical lines the local office presents a peculiar state of affairs. While post-offices and their patronage are regarded as valuable political perquisites of Congressmen, the people of North Plainfield found themselves put at somewhat of disadvantage in appealing to their representative at Washington, Congressman Howell, of the Third district. As everyone knows, the Plainfield postoffice is a political perquiste of Congressman Fowler, of the Eighth district, although it serves a very important part of the Third district.

In the natural order of things, the boroughites would appeal to the Third district Representative for improvements of a government nature in their locality. But in asking for a postal sub station they encountered a snag. It is an unwritten law of Congressional etiquette that one Congressman of the same political fealty shall not meddle with the affairs of another Representative's district. As the sub-station was to be located in the Third district, and the office of which it was to be a branch was in the Eighth district, a rather complicated state of affairs was confronted. Both Congressman Howell and Fowler were interested, and both had political interests which must be safely guarded.

The most practical thing to do under these circumstances then was to have a conference of the two Congressmen. This was arranged and Mr. Fowler graciously waived his political rights and agreed to leave the arrangement of the matter to Mr. Howell. Since that time Mr. Howell has been working to secure the order establishing the sub-station.

Whether or not there will be a clash of political interests between the city and borough over the appointment of the sub-agent remains to be seen, but it is not regarded as likely.

DEATH OF H. F. F. RANDOLPH.

Occurred in New York—To be Interred in Evergreen Cemetery.

The many friends in this city of Harry F. F. Randolph, son of the late Peter Randolph, of Randolphville, will be surprised to learn of his death which occurred Saturday evening at his late residence, 122 West Ninety-fourth street, New York, of pneumonia. The deceased was bookkeeper for Smith, Gray & Company, clothiers, of Broadway and Thirty-first street, for a number of years. He leaves a wife and one child. The funeral services will be held at the residence, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery, this city, Wednesday, on the arrival on the 10 o'clock a. m. train from New York.

Bridge Finished Today.

The trolley bridge over the B. and O. tracks at East Cranford was not ready for use yesterday as was expected. It was completed today, however, and the first car will be run over the bridge early this afternoon.

FAIR ON A LAWN.

Successful Event Carried Out for the Profit of Westfield Fresh Air Camp.

Ethel Lorton, Ada Westphal, Alice Sharkey and Edith Glaentzer, four bright and ambitious young girls, with hearts full of thankfulness for what they have and a desire to help those who have not so much, held a fair on the lawn at 203 Watchung avenue, Saturday afternoon, for the benefit of the Westfield Fresh Air Camp fund. The girls arranged a very pleasant place under some old cherry trees which was prettily decorated with American flags and bunting, and Japanese lanterns. Toward the latter part of the afternoon the storm compelled them to seek the porch at the home adjoining the lawn, and here they continued the sale with gratifying success.

There was a fancy table where lots of pretty things, both useful and ornamental, were sold. This was in charge of Ethel Lorton. The cake table laden with delicious home-made cakes was in charge of Alice Sharkey, while Ada Westphal looked after the candy table The soft drinks, lemon ade and soda water, was in charge of Edith Glaentzer.

During the afternoon and early part of the evening the girls did a good business and most everything was disposed of at fair prices. Many persons desiring to encourage the ambitious workers and to help the work of the fresh air camp stopped and made purchases. Those who arranged the affair are delighted with the success attained and are glad to do their share in helping others to enjoy the summer months in the conntry.

BIG DAY FOR GERMANS.

Independent Turning Sections of New York and New Jersey Visited the Borough Yesterday.

Yesterday was a big day for the Independent Turning Sections that visited the section of the Gesang and Turn Verein in the borough. There were nearly one hundred visiting turners from the following societies: "Norwegisch," "Guerner," Brooklyn; "National," Newark; "Arbeiter," "Gutheil," "Hebrew," and "Riverside," Paterson; "Arbeiter," West Hoboken; Passaic and Passaic Falls were also represented.

In the morning there was exhibitions of turning at the hall on Somerset street under the direction of Prof. John Metzger, of the home section, assisted by Prof. Hilbert, of Brooklyn. Fine work was done by the various sections, after which a bountiful dinner was served. In the afternoon the assemblage went to Keller's Grove, where a pleasant time was had. There was singing by the singing section, bowling, pitching quoits, and genuine socibility. There was plenty to eat and drink and everyone thoroughly enjoyed himself. The visitors departed for home about 7 o'clock last evening well pleased with the day's program.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT ALL SOULS.

Whitsunday Observed in a Fitting Manner by Unitarians.

Whitsunday was observed yesterday at the Unitarian church as Children's Day. The pastor preached an appropriate sermon on "The Breath of Life." Seven little children were baptized "in the name of Our Father in heaven and in the faith of Jesus Christ." The children were: Two sons, Thomas James and Warren Huidekoper, and one daughter, Elizabeth Warren, of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Mumford, 639 Belvidere avenue; a daughter, Mary Provost, of Mr. and Mrs. Louis P Gaston, of Somerville; a son, Arthur Warren, of Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Travell, of Bloomfield, and two daughters, Margaret and Lucile, of Mr. and Mrs. Ewart, of Fairview avenue. The decorations were under the care of the Misses Tolles, daughters of Councilman Tolles. A full congregation attended the services.

Hard Luck of Bicycle Rider.

Riding a bicycle has proved rather dangerous sport for Alfred Marsh, and as a result he will be forced to walk for some time, besides being unable to use his right hand. Saturday night a gas lamp exploded in his hands, badly burning them Yesterday he was riding the wheel, steering with one hand when the handle-bars turned, and he was thrown to the ground. His clothes were badly torn and he received bad cuts and bruises especially on his knees.

Closing of Parochial School.

The closing exercises of St. Mary's Parochial School will take place in the school hall, corner of Sixth and Liberty streets, Thursday evening, June 28th, at 8 o'clock. Reserved seat tickets can be purchased from those in charge. The proceeds will be for the benefit of the school.

WON THEIR LAST GAME.

LEAL'S SCHOOL TEAM CLOSES A SUCCESSFUL SPRING SEASON.

Won Thirteen Out of Sixteen Games Played, The Final Being at West New Brighton.

After winning thirteen times and losing but thrice, the Leal's School baseball nine brought its spring season to a close Saturday afternoon with a game at West New Brighton against the St. Austin's Military Academy. Rain prevented the finishing of the game, but in the two innings played the Leal's School boys clearly demonstrated that they were easily superior to their opponents.

Only two innings were played and then a brisk shower appeared and the game was called. At the conclusion of the second inning the Plainfielders led by a score of 8 to 1. The score by innings was as follows.

Leal's	6	2	—8
St. Austin's	0	1	—1

Rain also ended the game between the Plainfield High School and the Arion A. C. of Hope chapel, played on the Plainfield avenue grounds, Saturday afternoon, before the necessary five innings could be played. When time was called, the High school led 4 to 3 and the Arions were at bat. It promised to be a good game for the teams were playing evenly and neither side had yet shown a tendency to go up into the air.

Townsend Mason pitched for the High School again and made a first-class showing. Cubberley took his place at second. Only two errors were scored against the High School but they were expensive ones and each accountable for a run. Bunched hits and a few errors netted the High School team's runs. The work of the High School outfield was particularly commendable.

The teams went to bat as follows:

P. H. S.	ARION A. C.
F. Mason, lf.	Reynolds, ss.
M. Moynihan, 3b.	Evans, 1b.
T. Mason, p.	Gordon, 3b.

SCORE BY INNINGS:

High School	2	2	0	0—4
Arion A. C.	1	1	1	x—3

One of the best games of the year marked the end of the season for the North Plainfield High School baseball team Saturday afternoon. The boroughites went to Westfield and succeeded in defeating the Lincoln High School of that place by a score of 3 to 2

Crite was back in the box for the North Plainfield team and struck out thirteen men against Hegeman's five. The home team made two hits off Crite and the visitors seven off Hegeman. There were very few errors by either team. The teams batted as follows:

N. P. H. S.	L. H. S.
George, c.	Howe, 2b.

CONDUCTOR AFRAID TO MAINTAIN ORDER.

Another Instance of the Rank Conduct That is Allowed on the Street Railway.

DISORDERLY DRUNKEN MEN

THEY MADE LIFE MISERABLE FOR OTHER PASSENGERS.

Conductor Finally Forced to Assert His Rights, But Then He Had the Nerve to Call Down the Man Who Had Made Complaint.

Another complaint of the rowdyism and language which is allowed upon the cars of the Westfield and Elizabeth line was given Saturday evening. The car which left the North avenue terminus at 6:30 had on board a number of passengers, among whom were several ladies. Among the passengers were two drunken men who soon began to make their presence unberable by their oaths and foul language, which was audible to all in the car. The conductor made no effort to curb their tongue or to protect the ladies from this talk which would be out of place in the lowest resort on the Bowery. Among the passengers was a resident of Scotch Plains, Charles Haberle, who saw the conductor intended to make no effort to stop the nuisance. So he told him that he objected to such language, especially in the presence of women and he desired him to do something for the protection of the passengers. Another man seconded his objection and then the conductor confided to them the fact that he did not know what to do as he was afraid of the rowdies.

Mr. Haberle's objection had brought down the wrath of the two rowdies upon his head and they called him all sorts of names. Still the conductor made no effort to put them off the car. One of the passengers insisted upon having something done and braced up the nerve of the second man with the suggestion that if he would make an effort to preserve order he would back him up in it and help put the men off the car. This put a little couage into the conductor and he braved the storm and proceeded to the front of his car and informed the rowdies, as well as Mr. Haberle, who had been taking their abuse, that if the language was not stapped he would put the three of them off the car. The passengers supposed Mr. Haberle was to be put off because he had dared to make any obections as to how the company's employes run their cars. The threat had the desired effect upon the drunks and the nuisance was stopped.

MUST MAYOR VAN WYCK GO?

Citizens of New York Ask Governor to Remove Him.

NEW YORK, June 4.—A formal request in the form of an affidavit for the removal from office of Mayor Robert A. Van Wyck has been presented to Governor Roosevelt by B. F. Einstein, representing the firm of Einstein & Townsend, on behalf of W. R. Hearst, proprietor of the New York Journal, one of the stockholders in the American Ice company.

Mr. Einstein, accompanied by representatives of Mr. Hearst, went to Oyster Bay and had a long talk with the governor. They told the governor that they asked for the removal of the mayor on the ground that he had under the provisions of the charter of the city forfeited his right to his office because he owned stock in the American Ice company, which had made contracts to supply city departments with ice. Mr. Einstein quoted the section of the charter which declares that any city official who is interested in any company having a contract with the city shall be regarded as guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall forfeit his office. Mr. Einstein presented affidavits to Governor Roosevelt declaring that Mayor Van Wyck is a stockholder in the American Ice company.

The governor listened to the arguments presented by Mr. Einstein and accepted the affidavits, promising to consult with Attorney General Davies and render a decision soon.

THE WORLD'S TRADE.

United States Stands Third Among the Nations.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Of the $18,000,000,000 worth of commerce done by all the nations of the world England's share is 18.3 per cent, Germany's 10.8 per cent, and 9.7 per cent falls to the lot of the United States. So states United States Consul Winter at Annaberg in a report to the state department comparing the relative positions of three leading countries in the trade markets of the globe.

"Germany," he says, "has built up her foreign commerce at England's expense, and the United States, just entering the field, is building up a great foreign trade at the expense of both England and Germany. In Australia, in Africa, in South America and in China the commercial representatives of each nation are fencing for vantage ground upon which to build safe markets for home industries."

The Colombian Rebellion.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 4.—The British steamer Orinoco, which has arrived here from Colombia, reports that on May 31 the rebels were within six miles of Panama. The government troops had prepared for action, the British consul and others had left with their families for Tabago for safety, all the Colombian soldiers had left Colon to strengthen the Panama garrison, and 280 soldiers brought from Savanilla by a French steamer on May 28 had gone to Panama. The United States warship Machias was at Colon when the Orinoco left, under orders to land marines if the city were threatened by the rebels. The authorities of Colon had been impressing into the military service large numbers of native youths.

Largest Wheat Crop Ever Known.

TOPEKA, June 4.—The farmers of Kansas will begin next week to harvest the largest wheat crop in the history of the state. Secretary Coburn of the state board of agriculture says: "The crop this year will be the heaviest ever known. In 1892 Kansas had 3,800,000 acres of wheat and raised 70,000,000 bushels, an average of 18 bushels to the acre. This year the winter wheat acreage is 4,685,819, as estimated by the growers, and the average yield will be larger than that of 1892. If the yield per acre is the same as in 1892, the aggregate yield will be 85,000,000 bushels. The crop in general was never in better condition."

Soldiers Quell French Strike.

CHALONS-SUR-SAONE, France, June 4.—The strike here has reached a critical stage, and the city resembles one besieged, so thickly is it studded with soldiers. The trouble began during the afternoon, the strikers throwing sticks and stones at the gendarmery. When night came, the street lamps were extinguished, and missiles of all sorts were thrown at the cavalry and gendarmery, who fired, killing one of the rioters and wounding 20, some of them seriously. Fifteen gendarmes and two cavalrymen were injured. Re-enforcements quelled the disorders, but the trouble is not yet considered ended.

Meeting Held While Police Slept.

NEWMARKET, Ireland, June 4.—Two hundred police were sent here to suppress a prohibited United Irish league meeting. While the police were asleep yesterday morning about 7 o'clock Messrs. James Christopher Flynn, Nationalist member of parliament for North Cork, and E. Crean, member for the Ossory division of Queen's county, slipped in unobserved, addressed a meeting of 200, in the town and burned the proclamation prohibiting the meeting. The meeting dispersed amid cheers as the police appeared upon the scene.

Early Mackerel.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., June 4.—The schooner Richard Wainwright has arrived from the Cape shore with 260 barrels of salt mackerel and the schooner Agnes E. Downes from No Man's Land with 75 barrels. These arrivals are the first of the season and early in comparison with former years. The prospects of a good catch of mackerel are better than they have been for over ten years. Mackerel are the king fish to New England, and large catches mean prosperity to every fishing hamlet on the coast.

Christian Scientists Guilty.

MILWAUKEE, June 4.—Two Christian Scientists have been found guilty of practicing medicine in violation of the state medical law. In giving his decision Judge Neelen cited the decision of the United States supreme court in the Mormon case, holding that a man's religion is subordinate to the laws of the land and that he cannot go contrary to the laws of the state. An appeal was taken.

Bundy's Shortage.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 4.—The expert accountants who have for several weeks been at work on the books of former City Chamberlain Frank E. Bundy, now serving a term in Auburn prison for grand larceny, announce that Bundy's shortage in the city accounts is a little over $77,000.

INDIA'S AFFLICTION.

A New Yorker Relates the Terrible Conditions He Witnessed.

BOMBAY, June 4.—Mr. Louis Klopsch of New York, publisher of The Christian Herald, who arrived here May 14 and started at once on a tour of the famine stricken districts, has returned after traveling through the most sorely smitten portions of the Bombay presidency, including Gujerat and Baroda. He makes the following statement regarding his observations:

"Everywhere I met the most shocking and revolting scenes. The famine camps have been swept by cholera and small pox. Fugitives, scattering in all directions and stricken in flight, were found dying in the fields and roadside ditches. The numbers at one relief station were increasing at the rate of 10,000 per day.

"At Godhra there were 3,000 deaths from cholera within four days and at Dohad 2,500 in the same period. The hospital death rate at Godhra and Dohad was 90 per cent.

"The condition of the stricken simply beggars description. Air and water were impregnated with an intolerable stench of corpses. At Ahmedabad the death rate in the poorhouse was 10 per cent. Every day I saw new patients placed face to face with corpses. In every fourth cot there was a corpse.

"The thermometer read 115 in the shade. Millions of flies hovered around the uncleansed dysentery patients.

"I visited the smallpox and cholera wards at Viragam. All the patients were lying on the ground, there being no cots. Otherwise their condition was fair.

"I can fully verify the reports that vultures, dogs and jackals are devouring the dead. Dogs have been seen running about with children's limbs in their jaws.

"The government is doing its best, but the native officials are hopelessly and heartlessly inefficient. Between the famine, the plague and the cholera, the condition of Bombay presidency is now worse than it has been at any previous period in the nineteenth century. Whole families have been blotted out. The spirit of the people is broken, and there may be something still worse to come when the monsoon breaks."

Davis' Birthday Celebrated.

LOUISVILLE, June 4.—The last exercises connected with the tenth annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans occurred yesterday, when the ninety-second anniversary of the birth of Jefferson Davis was observed at Reunion hall with services in memory of Mr. Davis, Winnie Davis, the daughter of the Confederacy, and the Confederate dead. Although thousands of the Confederate reunion visitors had left the city, 5,000 persons attended the exercises. They were largely of a religious character, but nevertheless there was applause at times from the audience. Mrs. Hayes, the daughter of Jefferson Davis, and her daughter, Miss Varina Hayes, were on the platform.

Cruiser Satisfactory.

PHILADELPHIA, June 4.—The Russian cruiser Variag, which left Cramps' shipyard last Tuesday for her builders' trial trip, has returned to this city after having been given a satisfactory test. The big warship was tried out in every conceivable way and not one weak spot was found in the construction of the vessel or in the engines and boilers. On her speed trial, which took place between the Southwest and the Northeast Five Fathoms Bank lightships, about 20 miles off the Delaware capes, the cruiser developed a speed of 22 knots an hour under natural draft and with one of her boilers out of use.

Refugees Reach Tien-tsin.

TIEN-TSIN, June 4.—Six men and two ladies, French and Belgian refugees from Pao-Ting-Fu, have arrived here. Nine are still missing. A body of mounted Cossacks has gone in search of the missing and to take food to Yan-Liu-Ching for the relief of the party there. It is reported from Peking that Mr. Stevenson of the Church of England mission at Yem-Ching has been murdered and that Mr. Norman of the same mission is missing.

Liquor Men Ask Compensation.

WINNIPEG, June 4.—In view of the contemplated prohibition law the liquor men are asking the government to provide for compensation. The total amount is fixed at $2,000,000, and it is improbable that there will be any attempt to compensate. While McDonald's following will support the prohibition bill in the local house, many of them do not approve it. Just what course the opposition will take is not clear.

Minister Merry's Letters Stolen.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—Startling news comes from Costa Rica. The correspondent of a New Orleans paper, writing from Port Limon under date of May 25, sends news which may result in an international episode. On the night of May 24 the postoffice box of United States Minister Merry in the postoffice at San Jose was broken open and the letters therein were stolen.

Chappelle to Be a Cardinal.

NEW ORLEANS, June 4.—A special to The Picayune from Washington says: "Archbishop Chappelle, who is in the Philippines as papal delegate from the United States, will be made a cardinal. This information has just reached Washington from Rome. It is stated that he will retain his see at New Orleans and be made the titular pastor of one of the churches of Rome."

Five Killed In Railroad Wreck.

HAMILTON, O., June 4.—The engine of a fast freight on the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Indianapolis railroad jumped the track west of this city yesterday. Eleven cars loaded with stock were wrecked. Timothy Mahoney, David Starkey and Ambrose Smith, trainmen, and two unknown boys who were stealing a ride were killed. The loss will be about $5,000.

Livers and Tongues Wanted.

BERLIN, June 4.—The Berlin butchers' guild has presented a petition to the bundesrath in connection with the meat inspection bill, claiming that hogs' livers and tongues are necessary in the manufacture of sausages, that inspection in such cases is practicable and that their importation should be continued.

Soldiers Sail For Nome.

SEATTLE, Wash., June 4.—The United States transport Rosecrans has sailed for Nome with two military companies and the first season's shipment of war department supplies. The companies are A and K of the Seventh infantry.

DOINGS OF CONGRESS

Work of a Busy Session Carefully Reviewed.

MANY IMPORTANT MEASURES PASSED

Financial Act Regarded as the Chief Achievement—Action on Important Treaties Postponed—Territorial Legislation Consumed Time.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The record of the first session of the Fifty-sixth congress is now practically closed, and it is possible to survey the important work it has accomplished during the last six months. It has been a busy congress—the busiest, according to veteran officials, in many years.

Our new territorial possessions have received much attention, and, while there has been no definite action as to the Philippines or Cuba, a form of government and a means of raising revenue have been provided for Porto Rico and a comprehensive territorial form of government has been given to Hawaii. The financial act has made important changes in the laws relating to the parity of the metals, the bonded indebtedness, national banks and the security of the treasury by a gold reserve. The Nicaraguan canal bill has passed the house and is on the calendar of the senate ready for attention when congress reconvenes. The antitrust bill is similarly advanced. The antitrust constitutional amendment has a defeat recorded against it.

The Pacific cable measure has passed the senate and is awaiting final action in the house. The exclusion of Brigham H. Roberts from a seat in the house because of his polygamous status, the refusal of the senate to admit Mr. Quay on the appointment of the governor of Pennsylvania and the sensational charges, investigation and developments in the senate in the case of Mr. Clark of Montana have added some exciting personal phases to the session.

The total of appropriations cannot yet be stated with exactness, as five bills are pending, but it is approximately $700,000,000 for the session.

The senate in executive session has been occupied to a considerable extent with important treaties. Of these the treaties with Great Britain and Germany closing the tripartite government in Samoa and awarding to the United States the island of Tutuila, with its valuable harbor of Pango-Pango, has been ratified, while the commercial reciprocity treaties with France and the British West Indian islands and the Hay-Pauncefote treaty concerning the interoceanic canal go over without action.

Of the legislation actually accomplished and now on the statute books the financial act is regarded as the chief achievement of the year. The noteworthy feature of the debate on this measure in the house was that party lines were broken to some extent, a number of Democratic members from the eastern and New England states joining with the majority in passing it. In the senate also party lines were not entirely regarded, Senators Lindsay and Caffery voting for the measure and Mr. Chandler against it. As it became a law by the president's signature on March 14 it makes specific the declaration of the gold standard, provides a treasury reserve of $150,000,000, establishes a division of issue and redemption of the treasury, provides for the redemption and reissue of interest bearing bonds of the United States and makes new regulations as to national banks.

Porto Rico legislation has been the most fruitful theme of controversy in and out of congress during the session. The discussion first turned on the revenue bill levying a duty of 15 per cent of the Dingley rates on Porto Rico goods. The majority of the ways and means committee urged the constitutionality and necessity of this course, while the minority, re-enforced by Mr. McCall of Massachusetts, a member of the majority, maintained that the constitution of the United States extended to Porto Rico and that congress was inaugurating a new and dangerous precedent by giving the island another law than that of the rest of the country. Excitement ran high under the spur of widespread public attention. The debate in the house was signalized by the division of the majority, which for a time made the result doubtful, but the bill ultimately passed. The contest in the senate was animated, but less acute, the senate changing the entire scope of the matter by adding a complete form of civil government. In this form raising revenue and establishing an island government the measure became a law. Subsequently it was amended so as to limit corporate franchises, and on the president's recommendation an act was passed appropriating for the use of Porto Rico the $2,095,455 collected from island sources since its acquisition.

Next in importance in the accomplished work of the session is the act "to provide a government for the territory of Hawaii." The debate on it in the senate and house aroused little division save on matters of detail. The act provides a system of government much like that of territories, with a governor appointed by the president, a legislature of two houses, franchise rights practically the same as those of voters in the United States, with the additional qualification that a voter shall be "able to speak, read and write the English or Hawaiian language." Administrative and judicial officers are provided, and the island is given a delegate to the house of representatives of the United States, chosen by the people, with a right to debate in the house, but not a right to vote.

The general pension laws have been materially changed by the present congress, largely as a result of the efforts of the Grand Army of the Republic, which secured the passage of a bill amending the law of June 27, 1890, so as to permit the "aggregating" of disabilities and changing the provision as to widows so that a widow may receive pension when she is "without means of support other than her daily labor and has an actual net income not exceeding $250," etc.

The "free homes" act has at last become law.

Considerable general legislation is carried on appropriation bills. These provisions include the amendment to the Military academy bill, making the commanding general of the army a lieutenant general and the adjutant general of the army a major general; also the amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $5,000,000 for the St. Louis exposition.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; fresh northerly winds.

WAS HE AGUINALDO?

Supposed Chief Shot at Lagat by March's Men.

DIARY AND PRIVATE PAPERS FOUND

All Circumstances Lead the Americans to Believe That the Officer Seen to Fall From His Horse Was the Filipino Leader.

VIGAN, Luzon, via Manila, June 4.—Major March, with his detachment of the Thirty-third regiment, overtook what is believed to have been Aguinaldo's party on May 19 at Lagat, about 100 miles northeast of Vigan. The Americans killed or wounded an officer, supposed to be Aguinaldo, whose body was removed by his followers.

Aguinaldo had 100 men, Major March 125. The American commander reached Laboagan, where Aguinaldo had made his headquarters since May 6 or May 7. Aguinaldo had fled seven hours before leaving all the beaten trails and traveling through the forest along the beds of streams. Toward evening on May 19 Major March struck Aguinaldo's outpost about a mile outside of Lagat, killing four Filipinos and capturing two. From the latter he learned that Aguinaldo had camped there for the night.

Although exhausted and half starved Major March's men entered Lagat on the run. They saw the insurgents scattering into the bushes or over the plateau. A thousand yards beyond the town, on the mountain side, the figures of 25 Filipinos dressed in white, with their leader on a gray horse, were silhouetted against the sunset. The Americans fired a volley and saw the officer drop from his horse. His followers fled, carrying the body.

The Americans, on reaching the spot, caught the horse, which was richly saddled. Blood from a badly wounded man was on the animal and on the ground. The saddlebags contained Aguinaldo's diary and some private papers, including proclamations. One of these was addressed "to the civilized nations." It protested against the American occupation of the Philippines. There were also found copies of Senator Beveridge's speech translated into Spanish and entitled "The Deathknell of the Filipino People."

Major March, believing that the Filipinos had taken to a river which is a tributary to the Chico, followed it for two days, reaching Tiao, where he learned that a party of Filipinos had descended the river May 20 on a raft, with the body of a dead or wounded man upon a litter, covered with palm leaves.

There Major March reviewed his command, shoeless and exhausted, and picked out 24 of the freshest men, with whom he beat the surrounding country for six days longer, but without finding any trace of the insurgents. The Americans pushed on and arrived at Aparri May 29.

The officer shot was either Aguinaldo or his adjutant, and as the horse was richly caparisoned it is a fair presumption that it was Aguinaldo.

COMMISSION AT MANILA.

Judge Taft Outlines the Policy to Be Pursued.

MANILA, June 4.—The United States transport Hancock, from San Francisco April 17, has arrived here with the members of the Philippine commission. The members of General MacArthur's staff welcomed the commissioners on board the Hancock. At noon the commissioners landed and drove to the palace, escorted by General MacArthur's staff, a band and two companies of the Twenty-sixth infantry, with artillery.

At the palace the commissioners were welcomed by General MacArther in a short and forceful address. After Judge William H. Taft, president of the commission, had replied the commissioners returned to the Hancock, where they will remain until they have selected suitable dwellings on land.

Judge Taft, speaking regarding the powers and future work of the commission, said:

"We have full instructions and extensive powers. The latter we shall not exercise until we have had ample time to acquire sufficient knowledge of the situation to enable us to proceed to enact legislative changes and reforms preliminary to the establishment of a stable civil government. Until we assume authority General MacArthur will continue to perform the duties and exercise the powers formerly performed and exercised by General Otis, and even after we take active and full part in the government General MacArthur will continue as the executive head until, upon our recommendation to President McKinley, it shall seem to the president that the time has arrived for the appointment of a civil executive and for making the military forces merely auxiliary in carrying on the civil government, to be available only in cases of emergency for the suppression of lawless violence too formidable to be overcome by the regularly organized local police.

"We are aware that there are several issues of deep interest to the Filipinos upon which it is our duty to take action. Some of these involve judicial investigation and decisions upon legal rights. Others call for the careful exercise of political power in order to secure equitable adjustments. Upon the latter class of issues we cannot now speak.

"Representing the sovereignty of the United States in the Philippines, which it is the purpose of our government to maintain, we are here to do justice to the Filipinos and to secure for them the best government in our power and such a measure of popular control as is consistent with the stability and security of law, order and property. We are civil officers, men of peace. The field of our work is necessarily confined to regions where the armed enemy has ceased his operations. We cannot deal with armed men. General MacArthur and the army will do that.

"When those now in arms shall have laid them down, relying as they certainly can upon the justice, generosity and clemency of the United States, we shall give them all a full hearing upon the policy to be pursued and the reforms to be initiated. We purpose to inaugurate as comprehensive a school system throughout the islands as circumstances will allow. I am surprised that Manila has not received news regarding the Spooner bill, a measure calculated to help us greatly in our work here."

It should be understood that the foregoing declaration of Judge Taft is in no sense intended as a proclamation.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. CHARTER MEMBERS INVITED.

Founders of the Republican Party Asked to the Coming Convention.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The suggestion adopted by the committee in charge of the Republican national convention that the survivors of the first national gathering of Republicans held at Pittsburg on Feb. 22, 1856, and later at the convention held in Philadelphia on June 18 of the same year be specially honored with invitations to this year's convention came from William Paul Weyand of Pittsburg. The idea met the approval of Senator Hanna, who has sent an invitatino to each of the surviving delegates.

So far as known there are only 14 surviving delegates. Their names are John Howard Bryant, born 1807, lives at Princeton, Ills.; W. Penn Clark, born 1817, lives at Washington; Sidney Edgerton, born 1818, lives at Akron, O.; Allen A. Craig, born 1820, lives at Corry, Pa.; Charles G. Davis, born 1820, lives at Plymouth, Ills.; S. P. McCalmont, born 1823, lives at Franklin, Pa.; George H. Frey, born 1825, lives at Springfield, O.; Rush R. Sloan, born 1828, lives at Sandusky, O.; Raeliff Brinkerhoff, born 1828, lives at Mansfield, O.; Jacob Weyand, Beaver, Pa.; William A. Cook, Washington; William S. Lane, Philadelphia; William H. Upson, Akron, O., and R. M. Stimpson, Marietta, O.

Twenty-seven states and territories were represented at the mass convention and at the national convention June 18, 1856, held in Philadelphia.

Old Lafayette hall in Pittsburg, where the mass convention was formed, is now demolished, its site being occupied by the Tradesmen's National bank. The convention was informal, the delegates showing no credentials. Horace Greeley, editor of the New York Tribune, made one of his famous speeches, urging moderation and that a convention be held later to nominate candidates for president and vice president. His advice was followed, and the first Republican convention met in Philadelphia on June 18, 1856. This year's Republican convention will be held in the same city just 44 years later.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The capitol police force at Washington have new regulation uniforms.

Burglars blew to pieces the vault of the Bank of New Lisbon, Wis., and escaped with several thousand dollars in cash.

The New York Central railroad was reported to be seeking control of the Central New England road.

The Chicago India famine relief committee has cabled $5,000 to Lady Curzon.

Three departments of the Illinois Steel company's mills at South Chicago were closed down for an indefinite period throwing over 3,000 men out of employment.

Milliners of New York have agreed not to use the plumage of song birds for decorating hats.

Riots Continue In St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 4.—A riot of small proportions, during the progress of which a boy was fatally shot, and a dynamite explosion marred what would have otherwise been an uneventful Sabbath. As a car on the Tower Grove line of the transit company was passing the corner of Twelfth and Calhoun streets a crowd of strike sympathizers began throwing stones at it. An unknown man leaned from a window of the car and fired a revolver shot toward the crowd. The bullet sped over the heads of the mob and lodged in the breast of Peter Frank, aged 16, who was sitting in the doorway of his father's house. A detachment of police dispersed the rioters and carried young Frank to the City hospital, where it is said the wound will prove fatal. Late in the afternoon an explosion of dynamite shattered the cable conduit and switches in the Olive street line at the intersection of Maryland and Boyle avenues.

Charles Higbee Dead.

EL PASO, Tex., June 4.—United States Consul Kindrick of Ciudad de Juarez is in receipt of a letter from Consul General Hanna, at Monterey, and a telegram from the department at Washington relative to the whereabouts of Rev. Charles Higbee of New Rochelle, N. Y., who went to Mexico for a hunting and fishing trip last January and has not since been heard from. The last word of him was at Laredo, Tex., Jan. 21. Information received here last night from the City of Mexico is that a man answering the description of Charles Higbee was found dead in his room in a hotel in that city on the morning of Jan. 27 last. The cause of death was not ascertained. The man registered as Charles Higbee.

Destructive Fire In Tampa.

TAMPA, Fla., June 4.—A disastrous fire that will involve a loss of at least $200,000 broke out in the building on Franklin street occupied by the dry goods house of Cohen, Friedman & Co. In a short time the block and the Jackson block adjoining were in ruins. The latter block was occupied by Vatterlin & Co., dealers in shoes, and Mason & Co., dry goods, whose stocks are practically ruined. Cohen, Friedman & Co.'s stock was valued at $125,000; insurance 50 per cent. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Stricken In the Choir.

ANSONIA, Conn., June 4.—William W. Joy, a prominent resident and choirmaster at the Ansonia Congregational church for the past 20 years, died suddenly from a ruptured blood vessel in the brain while assisting in the services yesterday morning. He had just concluded an anthem before the pastor was to begin his sermon when he was stricken. He died within an hour without recovering consciousness.

A New Rubber Factory.

AKRON, O., June 4.—The Consolidated Rubber company of New York city, with a capital of $20,000,000, has purchased a site in East Akron and will erect mammoth shops. This company has never before manufactured any of its own products, and the Akron rubber factories have done almost all of its work. Five hundred persons will be employed.

Electricity Kills Bacteria.

BERLIN, June 4.—An important discovery has been made at the hygienic institute of the University of Wurzburg where it has been found that bacteria can be destroyed with electric currents.

Mrs. Gladstone Failing.

LONDON, June 4.—It is announced that Mrs. Gladstone is in a semiconscious condition and that her strength is declining steadily.

Lone Robber Still at Large.

RAYMOND, Cal., June 4.—The lone highwayman who Saturday held up the three Yosemite stages and two wagons and two United States cavalrymen is still at large. Additional details reveal that the number of people held up numbered 32, 27 men and five women. Major Rucker and Captain Wilcox, U. S. A., with 68 men of Troop F, who were on the way to Yosemite, reached the scene just as the robber was about to open the express box. Seeing the troopers, he disappeared in the brush.

Election In Oregon.

PORTLAND, Or., June 4.—The campaign in Oregon closed Saturday night, and the party managers have been busy in perfecting arrangements for the election which occurs today. There will be elected one justice of the supreme court, a state dairy and food commissioner, two congressmen, members of the legislature who will choose a successor to George W. McBride in the United States senate and various district and county officers. No unusual interest has been developed in the campaign.

Call For Democrats.

NEW YORK, June 4.—Thomas W. Cantwell of Albany, chairman of the executive committee of the Chicago platform Democrats of the state of New York, has called a conference of that committee to meet in this city today to take such action as the occasion may require toward securing an instructed delegation from this state for William J Bryan.

Will Not Stay Conquered.

BERLIN, June 4.—Dr. Reitz, the Transvaal state secretary, says in the Cologne Gazette that England will require a permanent garrison of 50,000 soldiers in the Transvaal and that "rebellions may be expected for centuries." He believes that many Boers will trek to German South Africa.

An Army of Census Takers.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—The exact number of census enumerators now at work is 52,631. Pennsylvania leads the list with 4,676. New York comes next with 4,492. Alaska has only two and Nevada 53.

HALT IN WAR NEWS.

Nothing From Pretoria Since Thursday.

CITY THEN PREPARING TO SURRENDER

Peaceful Occupation of Johannesburg Causes Relief—Annexation of the Orange Free State Proclaimed at Bloemfontein.

LONDON, June 4.—There is no direct news from Pretoria of later date than Thursday evening. General French's cavalry were then at Irene, eight miles south of Pretoria, and firing was heard there. Lord Roberts' messages about secondary operations elsewhere and the situation at Johannesburg, dated at Orange Grove, a farm four miles northeast of Johannesburg, show that on Saturday at 9:10 p. m. he was 25 miles from Pretoria.

The correspondents with Lord Roberts have not got through a line about the operations after the occupation of Johannesburg. Official messages continue to come through, but press telegrams are held up, probably to avoid their giving even a hint as to what may be the pending operations. From the other side there filters through Lourenco Marques a mass of statements, some contradictory, others obviously improbable, but the following purporting to be facts:

"Passengers arriving at Lourenco Marques Saturday direct from Pretoria say that the capital was preparing to surrender when they left Thursday. The forts were dismantled. The Boer guard at Komatipoort searched all trains and turned back most of the fugitives, among them deserting foreigners who were striving to reach neutral soil.

"Immense Boer convoys of provisions are between Pretoria and Middleburg. Fifteen trains are sent daily to Machadasdoran with supplies for Lydenburg. Pretoria is pictured by the refugees as in a state of indescribable confusion and chaos. The populace are dismayed, and the British are expected hourly."

Lord Lansdowne, secretary of state for war, has received the following from Lord Roberts, dated Orange Grove, June 2:

"Johannesburg is quiet. The people are surrendering arms and ponies. Only three Boer guns were left in the fort.

"The Queenlanders captured May 30 a Creusot, with 11 wagons of stores and ammunition.

"Commandant Botha of Zoutpansberg, his field cornet and 100 prisoners were taken in the fighting round Johannesburg, some belonging to the foreign contingents and the Irish brigade.

"The Thirteenth yeomanry were attacked May 29 between Kroonstadt and Lindley. There were some casualties."

The war office has received the following additional advices from Lord Roberts, dated Orange Grove, June 2:

"Owing to the interruption of the telegraph lines I only today received a report from Colonel Sprigg that his battalion of imperial yeomanry was attacked between Kroonstadt and Lindley May 29. Casualties to follow.

"The shops in Johannesburg are being opened, and there seems to be a general feeling of relief at the peaceful occupation of the town.

"The proclamation announcing the annexation of the Orange Free State was made known at Bloemfontein May 26 by General Prettyman, military governor. The troops under General Kelly-Kenny formed a square, the royal standard was hoisted, the troops saluted, a royal salute was fired, and the queen was cheered. The name 'Orange River Colony' was well received.

"Received a report yesterday that four prisoners had escaped from Pretoria."

Firemen In Explosion.

NEW YORK, June 4.—While a number of passengers were in the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad station at Baychester a kerosene lamp in the ticket office exploded. The flames extended to the woodwork, and, despite the efforts of the firemen, the building was destroyed. All the passengers escaped in safety, but Edward Whitehead, a telegraph operator, was severely burned. While the firemen were at work two barrels of naphtha in the baggage room exploded with terrific force, throwing the burning roof into the air and the flaming walls almost on the firemen. Some of them were severely burned.

Senator Chosen by Plurality Vote.

The Philadelphia Telegraph notes that the scheme to make a plurality of a Legislature sufficient to elect a Senator is not a novelty. A third of a century ago it was tried in New Jersey, but failed to work. The late John P. Stockton actually took his seat in the Senate in 1865 on the strength of an election by a plurality of the members of the Legislature of that State, the joint convention having endeavored to break a deadlock by passing a resolution changing the rules governing its action.

At that time there was no general law of Congress regulating the election of Senators, and each Legislature was virtually a law unto itself. But when Mr. Stockton had been duly sworn in as a member of the Senate by virtue of his rump election, a protest against his being permitted to continue to misrepresent the State of New Jersey was presented to the Senate, and he was finally ousted from the seat to which he had not been fairly elected, although he attempted to hold on to the place by deliberately voting in his own favor. Such a protracted deadlock followed the rejection of Mr. Stockton's claim to a seat that Congress was led to pass the law fixing a definite time and method of procedure for the election of Senators, which is still in force.

Wharton Barker, in a letter accepting the nomination of the Middle of the Road Populists for President of the United States, says he favors direct legislation, the initiative and referendum; condemns the concentration of wealth in the hands of the few; declares for paper money; says trusts are the growth of the natural conditions and may be obviated by the National government controlling all monopolies; advocates the election of the President and United States Senators by a direct popular vote; denounces the administration's policy in the Philippines; opposes an alliance with England and any other foreign power; favors the extension of the Monroe doctrine to the Philippines, and favors free trade for Porto Rico.

A committee of the State Bar Association has prepared a draft of proposed constitutional changes affecting the judiciary, to be submitted to the association at its annual meeting in Atlantic City June 15th. It is proposed to have the Court of Pardons consist of the Governor, Chancellor and Attorney-General; the Court of Errors to consist of a chief judge and four associates and to be independent of any other court; the Vice-Chancellors constitutional officers so they may act in the absence of the Chancellor.

The Brooklyn Eagle invited its readers to send in nominations for the Hall of Fame. In the 750 lists of names submitted Lincoln and Franklin tied for first place; Washington was third, Grant fourth, and Robert Fulton fifth. Others among the leading 50 were Greeley, Longfellow, Emerson, John Quincy and Samuel Adams, Jefferson, Farragut, Sheridan, Daniel and Noah Webster, Clay, Nathan Hale, George Clinton, Monroe and Seward.

The recent census of Cuba shows that the total number of males of voting age on the island is 417,293, or 26 per cent of the whole population. The proportion of males of voting age in Cuba is therefore nearly as great as in the United States in 1890.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

As The Tribune said some time ago, there will be no opposition to the renomination of Congressman Howell in the IIId New Jersey District if he will consent to be a candidate for a fourth term. The efforts of some Middlesex County Republicans to sidetrack Mr. Howell because he has not been wholly subservient to their orders in appointments to office have had their legitimate effect in the indorsement by the IIId District convention of Mr. Howell.—New York Tribune.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A great deal of amusement was created Saturday evening in the vicinity of the City Hotel by two rival fakirs, who had set up their stands on opposite sides of Second street and Park avenue and were loudly explaining the merits of their respective wares to the bystanders. One was selling cuff buttons and the other was disposing of a patent chemical light. The excitement was running high when it was discovered that the former had no license and the police compelled him to retire, to the satisfaction and increase of business to the remaining man.

THEATRICAL.

With the closing of the legitimate theatres for the summer months, theatre-goers naturally have to look to the continuous performance theatres for their amusements. With this fact in view, the Proctor vaudeville houses in New York city present an even stronger performance than during the height of the theatrical season. At the three Proctor theatres, Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre and Proctor's Palace, unusually strong and attractive programs are arranged week after week and when it is taken into consideration that the auditoriums are constantly keep cool by artificial means patrons have no fear of complaining of the heat. The prices at Proctor's, it should be remembered, are remarkably low; 50 cents for the orchestra and 25 cents for the balconies. At Proctor's Palace a special matinee price prevails for the ladies and children of 25 cents for the best orchestra seats.

CHINESE DELICACIES.

Peanut Buds and Ginger Jelly Combined Makes a Semi-Confection.

"The Chinese have a strange idea of table delicacies," said a gentleman of this city who has taken much interest in local mission work, relates the New Orleans Times-Democrat. "A few days ago I received a small jar filled with a peculiar brownish paste, which was sent me as a present by a young Chinaman who used to have a laundry here, but is now living in San Francisco. A letter which accompanied the gift explained that the paste was a combination of peanut buds and ginger jelly. That sounds like a joke, but it isn't. If you will break open a peanut you will find at the base a little cone-shaped formation usually surmounted by two microscopic leaves. It is the life germ of the nut, and if planted will develop into a vine.

"As my friend Wong explained to me the nuts are first roasted and then these minute growths are carefully extracted. They are so small that it takes many thousands of them to fill a teacup, but when a sufficient number are collected, they are put in a mortar and ground into a fine flour, which is subsequently mixed with the ginger jelly and rubbed down to a smooth paste. That sent me was about the consistency of cream cheese, and it had a peculiar aromatic taste that was rather pleasant.

"It is one of the queer semi-confections that the Chinese like to nibble at between courses, and as it costs ten dollars an ounce, it is literally worth almost its weight in gold. I have eaten a little of the preparation, but I don't think I'm apt to acquire a taste for it."

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it, and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 4.—John Peters, Jr., had a narrow escape from serious injury Friday night as he was riding his wheel on North avenue opposite the depot. He was run into by another cyclist going at full speed and the force of the collision threw both riders off, demolishing Mr. Peters front wheel. The stranger gave his name as W. B. Townley, of Plainfield, and said he would pay for the cost of repairing the wheel as he was in the wrong.

For the past week or so the borough people have been missing various articles from their yards, which have been left lying around and it has become evident that petty thieves are at work. It is supposed that several rag pickers who have been in town have appropriated them while in the yards on pretext of picking rags. W. S. Stevens has lost several articles including an axe and saw.

Watson Emery has purchased a plot of land 100 feet front by 676 feet deep, from the Mrs. Annie Sisty property, opposite Dewey Park, next to his present property. The papers were signed Saturday.

John Stevens, of Plainfield, who has been employed by W. G. Runyon for some time past, resigned his position Saturday.

James Mullen, a professional decorator from New York, has been staying at the Park Hotel for the past week.

Aleck Harris took a fishing trip to Five Mile lock Saturday night and returned with an unusually large catch.

The Banjo Club was entertained by Mrs. Wilson Fredericks Friday night, and by Miss Fulper Saturday night.

Charles Vail, Fred Wilcox and Ernest Peters enjoyed a pleasant trip to Mauch Chunk yesterday.

Miss Elizabeth Gray, of Califon, is being entertained by her brother, Alvah Gray.

J. S. LaRue has taken a position with an electric contracting firm in New York.

Mrs. Henry Wiedenhampt has returned from a pleasant visit to Elizabeth.

Mrs. Lytle, of Newark, is spending a few days with Mrs. David Runyon.

Mrs. A. F. Sampson is entertaining Miss Louise Holmes, of Plainfield.

Miss Ester Townley, of Elizabeth, is the guest of William H. Terry.

Miss Eva Tilton is confined to the house with an attack of measles.

Lewis Vroom has taken a position as apprentice with Lud Frazee.

Mrs. Catherine Maier has returned from a visit to Reaville.

George Blair spent Saturday with his mother at Stelton.

RAHWAY.

Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Rahway, June 4—Henry Stacy, of Campbell street, Rahway, who went to Hong Kong for his health several months ago, has returned to the United States, but will go back to Hong Kong at once, without visiting his home.

Rev. Father Bogan, of St. Mary's Catholic church at Rahway, has just completed a fifteen years' pastorate at that charge, and a pleasant surprise was tendered him by his church and people.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 4—The strike of the Lehigh Valley track men, which was inaugurated several days age, is nearing an end, and the men are gradually returning to work at the old rate of pay. Nine sections of the main line on the Wyoming division are reported to have a full complement of men at work, as have eleven sections on the branches of this division, while five sections of the main line have about one-half of the usual summer force at work. On the remaining eight sections of the division the greater portion of the men are still out. Several of the strikers have been arrested for threatening the life of a night trackwalker and extinguishing several of the Hall signal lights

School will close in two weeks. The School Board want to hustle in order to lose no time in starting work on the new house in order to have it completed in time for the fall term.

There will be no prayer meeting at the Baptist church tomorrow evening, as some of the members intend going to Newark to attend the Baptist Association that day.

A dog belonging to Al. Soper bit one of Mr. Weaver's little girls Saturday evening, but not seriously.

Dan Laing made a business trip to Mariners Harbor Saturday.

sonal owner of it.

Aside from the above event there was little to attract golfers to the course on Saturday. The prospect of a storm and its subsequent appearance later in the afternoon kept a great many away from the links. A few ventured out, however, and enjoyed the sport until the rain arrived. Some experienced a good soaking, but that matters little when one is a golf enthusiast for one soon becomes accustomed to that sort of thing. Next Saturday the event will be first play for the Schoonmaker cup at 10 o'clock in the morning. In the afternoon there will be a team match between Hillside and Elizabeth on the Hillside course

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Victor Lorton, of East Third street, is seriously ill at his home.

Sam Ryder, of this city, spent yesterday in Staten Island with a friend.

Mrs. R. B. VanArsdale and son Howard, of 426 Orchard place, left for Washington, D. C., today, where they will spend several weeks.

The engagement is announced of Miss Gypsy Earl, of Dunellen, to John Goff, Jr., of West Fourth street. The wedding will take place June 20th.

John Motley, of West Fourth street, has resumed his position as night messenger at the North Avenue station, after an absence of several weeks.

Henry Corless, of Prescott place, sailed Saturday for his old home in England, where he will remain for some time. He expects to return late in the summer.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will give a strawberry festival and entertainment in the chapel this evening. An unusually fine programme has been arranged.

HOUSEHOLD LORE.

Items of Information Which May Be of Value to the Busy Housewife.

"Linen underwear for all seasons of the year" is a slogan which is bringing a host of followers to the standards of Father Kneipp and his other advocates of hygienic dress. Among the chief objections urged against the wearing of woolen next to the skin is the fact that woolen cannot be easily sterilized. Linen or cotton can be boiled. Not so wool. Woolen underwear can only be sterilized by washing in naphtha or strong disinfectants, which is never done save by doctors who have been attending infectious disease. A woolen garment will absorb germs much more readily than linen or cotton as it hangs on the line in the process of drying. Wool next to the body is apt to be irritating to the skin, as it is relaxing to the blood vessels. While it is true that wool is absorbent, it is also a matter of fact that wool containing some oily substance has not the absorbent qualities of linen or cotton. A person who wears wool next to his skin cannot have as clean a skin as a person who wears linen or cotton, says the Washington Star.

Aspic, which forms such a pretty garnish for cold meats and fowl, is now quite as popular as a jelly for little molds of salad. It is very inexpensive and can be readily made even by the inexperienced cook. Soak half a box of gelatine in half a cupful of cold water for 30 minutes. Simmer gently together for the same length of time a pint of stock or consomme (or, if you lack the stock, half a teaspoonful of beef extract to pint of water), a teaspoonful onion juice, a bay leaf and a stalk of celery. Add the gelatine, strain, season with salt and pepper and set away to cool. When stiff cut into blocks and use for garnishing. Tongue, boned turkey or chicken, birds or fish may be molded in aspic, pouring the liquid jelly little by little about the article to be molded, and allowing each layer to harden. Keep the mold in a cold place until ready to serve. To remove it, dip the mold quickly in warm (not hot) water, set the platter over it, and invert the dish and mold together. Lettuce or parsley make a pretty foundation for the dish.

A baked bean sandwich is the latest addition to the long and growing list of vegetable sandwiches. Brown bread, it is hardly necessary to say, furnishes the foundation for this delicacy, the filling consisting of baked beans mashed slightly and moistened with their own liquor. A few thin slices of raw onion is thought by many to add additional zest to the tidbit.

Other sandwiches which have recently bounded into favor in Gotham are still more suggestive of a plebeian origin. Molasses sandwiches have a liberal filling of that sticky sweet beloved of childhood, while brown sugar sandwiches have this sweet stuff thickly plastered in, the bread in both cases having an amount of butter on it. Anything savoring of bohemianism is quite sure to be a success among the "smart" set, and molasses and brown sugar have carried the day by acclamation.

Speaking of molasses, it is of interest to note that "Venice treacle," or molasses, formed an important part of the dietary of Old Parr, who lived to be 152 years old. The other comestibles to which he clung quite as faithfully were garlic and butter.

Arthur Krom, of Madison avenue, has returned from a southern trip for pleasure and business combined.

STITCHED GOWNS.

Tailor Made Fashions In Cloth and Silk.

A multiplicity of lines of stitching continues to be used. Skirts have often from 10 to 20 rows of stitching around the foot, usually of a contrasting tone, and sleeves are seen which are covered with lines of stitching from the shoulder to the waist. The heavy straws of which many summer hats are made are also stitched with silk of a contrasting color.

Tailor made gowns of thin cloth, thick silk, peau de soie and satin are greatly worn. They are chiefly in shades beginning with gray, passing through browns, blues and green to black. The last named especially is used because it is becoming and useful and gives the figure greater elegance.

There is a general doubt arising as to the long continuance of plaited costumes in favor, and when such a doubt arises it is generally well founded. All extreme fashions are short lived. Those which endure for any length of time are usually more or less practical and offer some good excuse for their existence.

The costume illustrated is of mastic voile. The skirt is plaited and stitched at the hips and mounted in a watteau plait at the back. It opens in front over a tablier of sky blue plaited silk, with two bands of guipure at each side. The close bodice is trimmed to match, having a plastron of plaited blue silk with two bands of guipure. The top of the voile sleeves is of blue silk and has two guipure bands and a band at the waist. The fringed cravat is of white crepe de chine, the belt of white kid, with gold and turquoise ornaments. The hat of yellow straw is trimmed with a drapery of sky blue tulle and blue quills.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION'S FANCIES.

Short Skirts For Fashionable Walking Gowns.

For walking gowns the train is not worn by the most elegant Parisian women. Before pedestrian exercise and athletics became fashionable the trailing gown was faithfully maintained, but now ladies of the best society become restive under its restraint, since they no longer confine themselves to carriage progress. Cloth, cashmere and fine wools are used for the street, and tailor made styles are preferred.

Foulards and thin silks appear in the usual combinations of white designs on a deep blue or other colored ground. Clover leaves, ferns, etc., are much seen as motifs. There are other kinds of foulard, in which on a pale or white ground there are large flowers in very delicate tints. Embroidered dots embellish muslins, pique and canvas. Printed muslins in designs like those of the painted varieties are also seen and are very pretty.

A picture is given of a dinner gown of white crepe de chine. The skirt has applications of yellow guipure embroidered with silver spangles, and the narrow tablier is outlined by lines of silver galloon. The bodice has applications of guipure in corselet form, and around the neck, which is half low, there is a ruche of mousseline de soie. The sleeves, which are of elbow length, are plaited at the top and trimmed with guipure applications, while around the edge is a ruche of mousseline. The belt is of white satin, and a trail of Marechal Niel roses is worn on the left shoulder.

Hungary's Fine Pavilion at the Paris Exposition

It Stands Beside America's National Building and Is a Masterpiece of Architectural Art

USUALLY we Americans associate the name of Hungary with the gypsy camps that prove a menace to the tranquillity of any locality which attracts them. We class them as fortune tellers, as horse traders, as loafers and the lowest class of nomads. That anything good could come out of Hungary seems almost impossible when we compare the country with the people from it that we know best, and yet Hungary is making a fine show at the Paris exposition.

This exhibit of Hungary is of peculiar interest to the American visitors because the national pavilion of that strange country adjoins our own on the quay d'Orsay and the river Seine. It is a remarkable building in many ways, for it embodies many historical reconstructions and reproductions of Hungarian monuments of rare beauty. These are all assembled in one building in such a way as to produce a masterpiece of architectural art, that while it portrays the various stages of the development of Hungarian architectural development, yet each varying style of architecture is made to fit in with each other style in an artistic effect.

The idea for this peculiarly designed building came from the Buda-Pesth exposition of 1896, at which the visitors were treated to a display in different buildings of the various styles of Hungarian architecture. To erect several buildings at Paris was impossible, and Commissioner General M. Bela De Lukacs sought to overcome the difficulty and still attain the desired results by combining the features of the various styles in the one building, and it has certainly been done successfully.

The tasks set the architects was to combine in the one ensemble all the styles of architecture that have been followed in Hungary, the Roman, the Gothic, the Rennaissance, the queer and unshapely, and the rococo, or old-fashioned Louis XV. The architects were to render as prominent as possible the spirit of each period by reproducing the most characteristic specimens of monuments that have been built in Hungary.

Notwithstanding all the difficulties they encountered, the result obtained by the architects is worthy of praise. The plans of the pavilion comprise four wings grouped around a Roman cloister. Facing the quay d'Orsay, that is to say, on the southern side, the Roman style dominates. The famous portal of the Church of Jaath has supplied the leading motive; it serves also as a main entrance. The arch windows are borrowed from the same church the style of which has likewise lent inspiration to the designers for the floor above.

The Gothic facade fronts on the northern side, that is, on the river Seine. This handsome facade, with its balconies, or the knights' hall of the castle of Vajdahunyad forms the principal adornment of the north facade of the pavilion and it is admirably supplemented by the arched roof of the chapel of Csuetoertoekhely. The gorgeous section of the structure finds a counterpart in a tower which measures 131 feet in height. The top part of the pavilion is very characteristic, being a reproduction of the tower in the church of the citadel of Koermoeczbanya.

Joining the turret, on the northern facade, is a fine Gothic monument, the facade of the chapel of Kessa with its curious pediment and turret.

The most remarkable detail in the facade is supplied by the loggia in the architecture of which—very rightly termed Hungarian Renaissance style—is a group of details borrowed from very original monuments in upper Hungary. The architects have placed here the motives of the Rakocry house at Eperjes, and of houses of Kesmark and of Loesce, the moldings and endings of which are frequently discernible in some of the finer monuments of the above-named towns. They are exceedingly interesting and characteristic. The windows on the ground floor are copied from the city hall of Bartfa.

The small building that connects the west facade with the southern portion of the pavilion on quay d'Orsay is a pearl of early Renaissance architecture in Hungary. It represents the architecture of one of the entrances to the Cathedral of Gyulafeheivar and is remarkable on account of its details which are of most delicate composition. This small structure appears to have been added to the pavilion after the general design was completely finished. It, nevertheless, fits in splendidly with the Roman tower above it.

The western facade is copied from the barracks of Eperjes, formerly the castle of Count Klobusitzky. The principal motive is composed of a series of windows. The original chateau is ornamented with reliefs by Raphael Donner, the great artist of Porsony (Presburg).

Between this facade and the chapel of Csuetoertoekeby, is a well-proportioned turret, the top portion of which is copied from the tower of the Servian church at Buda-Pesth.

THE HUNGARIAN PAVILION AT THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

On the quay d'Orsay side, a vestibule leads into a courtyard, surrounded by picturesque and handsome cloisters. On one side is a staircase, the design of which is a reproduction of the grand staircase of the city hall of Bartfa.

The picturesque effect of the group is admirably set off by the admirable manner in which the entire pavilion has been executed. Great technical knowledge was necessary in order to render the archaic illusion complete and to adequately accentuate the artistic character of the details which are copied or inspired from originals of such dissimilar periods.

The exhibition rooms in the pavilion are also reproductions of interiors of Hungarian monuments. The ceilings, the dors, the windows, etc., bear the stamp of various epochs, respectively, from which the motives and the details have been adroitly utilized. They reflect much credit on the artistic taste of the two architects.

Among the interiors, attention may be called to the Hussars' hall, which will be the reception room of the commissioner. The architecture, the paintings and the sculptured ornamentation glorify the Hungarian hussars and are explanatory of the influence that celebrated arm has had on the development of the cavalry of all European armies.

The Beet Sugar Problem in Germany.

Beet sugar is one of Germany's greatest industries. Nearly one-fourth of all the sugar produced in the world is German beet sugar, which amounts to 1,700,000 tons annually. Of this German production, more than one-half is exported, and accordingly the price is dependent upon sugar consumption in other countries and the demand in the world's markets. The growth of the beet sugar industry in the United States and the increase of production in other parts of the world are already causing anxiety in Germany. The calm and intelligent German mind is accordingly now busy with investigations upon the results of which plans can be based for preserving a healthy equilibrium between consumption and production, and thus protecting industries in which millions of Germans have a vital interest.

Many elements of uncertainty enter into the question of how to restrict the increase of production. Moreover, as far as foreign countries are concerned, it would be useless to waste time in discussing this question.

The questions, therefore, which Germans are now considering are these:

There is a large overproduction of sugar in Germany, which at present makes exportation an absolute necessity. Will natural causes maintain this foreign demand for German sugar? And can Germany's overproduction be decreased by increasing the consumption of sugar at home?

Of these questions Germans prefer to consider the latter. It is always possible that the foreign demand for German sugar may be lessened by increased production abroad, by measures growing out of international customs wars and by other unforeseen causes. Furthermore, the amount of sugar which must be exported may be increased by the extension of beet culture in Germany. The protection of this great industry and of the people dependent upon it therefore demands a large increase in the home consumption. The amount of sugar used in Germany per capita is rapidly growing, but it is realized that this growth must be encouraged and largely accelerated. This can be done in two ways—namely, by increasing the manufacture and exportation of conserves, marmalades, etc., and by increasing the amount of sugar used by individuals, especially in the army, where increased consumption may be made compulsory. The question of increasing the manufacture of conserves is a practical one, which does not require consideration here.

But before raising the amount of sugar to be used by individuals, German scientists have investigated the question as to whether this can safely be done. They have decided that the amount of sugar used by individuals can be increased without hesitation, as sugar has many valuable characteristics. Its value lies not alone in its sweetness, but in the fact that it is a valuable dietetic remedy and an excellent article of food. Sugar is a very easily soluble carbon hydrate, and as such is quickly assimilated in human and animal bodies, producing warmth and force. It is also fattening and can be used as mast. As a developer of strength it has long been used, especially by mountain climbers. Various experiments have been made for the purpose of ascertaining whether sugar can be advantageously used for fattening animals. The results have proved favorable as far as hogs are concerned. It has been found that byproducts of sugar fabrication, denaturalized and free of tax, can be advantageously used as food for hogs. Molasses, which contains about 50 per cent. of sugar, is already much used, mixed with palm flour or peat, as cattle food.

The principal object of the experiments has, however, been to ascertain positively whether, as alleged, sugar possesses the power of quickly increasing or restoring strength, and thereby making men fit for unusual exertion. This point has been carefully investigated, the scientist not watching the entire muscular action of a man, because that would have been too difficult, but confining himself to observing a single finger through an instrument called an ergograph—i. e., "work measurer." He allowed the middle finger of the right hand to lift a weight, and then registered the degree of lifting force. The experimenter found that after sugar had been eaten the lifting force was stronger than before, and he therefore concluded that sugar is a strength-producing material.

PER CAPITA CONSUMPTION OF SUGAR IN DIFFERENT COUNTRIES.

Commerce of Germany in 1899.

Writers in foreign periodicals, and especially in France and England, have been calling attention to the rapid rate at which Germany is forging to the front as a commercial nation. She is practically the only great nation of Europe, with the exception of Russia probably, that is steadily increasing her commerce at preceptible rate.

Germany's commerce with the world in all commodities except the precious metals amounted to $2,186,744,000 in 1899; in 1898 it was $2,103,444,000; and in 1897, $1,979,208,000. Imports in the last three years were: In 1899, $1,236,886,000; in 1898, $1,209,278,000; and in 1897, $1,114,078,000. Exports in 1899 were $949,858,000; in 1898, $894,166,000; and in 1897, $865,130,000.

The most pronounced decrease in imports was in wheat and rye, on account of the gain in the home production. The importation of Indian corn (maize) shows a decided increase. In 1897, Germany imported $20,230,000 worth; in 1898, $29,988,000; and in 1899, $31,654,000 worth. A strong movement is being made by the dealers outside Hamburg, Bremen and Berlin to bring about some arrangement whereby they can deal with the United States shippers direct, especially in Indian corn. A large grain dealer of this city—Herr J. G. Zschacke—tells me that they could do a great deal better if they did not have to deal with the middlemen in Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen. The importation of hard coal was $33,558,000 in 1899, against $31,654,000 in 1898. Raw cotton decreased from $59,738,000 in 1898 to $55,692,000 in 1899. Wool went up from $71,162,000 in 1898 to $80,920,000 in 1899. Iron ore was imported to the value of $15,470,000 in 1899, against $13,090,000 in 1898. The imports of pig iron were $9,758,000 in 1899 and $4,760,000 in 1898. Of machines, instruments and vehicles of all kinds, Germany imported $18,088,000 in 1899 and but $14,518,00 in 1898.

The textile industry shows an increase in exports for 1899 of $11,186,000 over 1898. The exports in the iron and machine industries indicate a gain of $17,612,000 for 1899. The export of hard coal was $49,266,000 in 1899, against $49,028,000 in 1898. Drugs and colors decreased from $80,920,000 in 1898 to $64,498,000 in 1899. The export of grain and other agricultural products was $36,176,000 in 1899, against $34,748,000 in 1898. The exports of leather and leather goods were $38,794,000 in 1899 and $35,224,000 in 1898. Earthen and porcelain ware exports were $15,232,000 in 1899 and $14,280,000 in 1898. Sugar exports have decreased from $54,502,000 in 1897 and $50,456,000 in 1898 to $45,695,000 in 1899. This decrease is said to be due to the lessened demand from the United States. The export in sugar to the United States in 1897 was 376,286 tons; in 1898, 219,516 tons; and in 1899, only 153,198 tons.

FRANK W. HACKETT.

New Assistant Secretary of the Navy Is a Well Known Washington Attorney at Law.

The vacancy in the office of assistant secretary of the navy caused by the appointment of Mr. Charles H. Allen as civil governor of Porto Rico has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Frank W. Hackett, formerly of Portsmouth, N. H., and for 25 years a resident of Washington. Mr. Hackett is an intimate friend of Secretary Long of many years' standing, and his appointment is mainly due to their close friendship and the secretary's knowledge of his suitability for the office.

Mr. Hackett was born in 1841, and is consequently nearly 60 years of age.

FRANK W. HACKETT.
(Mr. Allen's Successor as Assistant Secretary of the Navy.)

He was graduated from Harvard university in 1861. He has a good war record, having entered the navy in 1862 as an acting assistant paymaster and serving creditably during the war of the rebellion until 1864, when he resigned to engage in the study and practice of law at Boston. Most of his naval service was on the North Atlantic station, where most of the sea fighting was done. He was with Lieut. Commander Flusser when the latter was killed on the United States steamship Miami in the engagement with the ram Albemarle at Plymouth, N. C.

When Caleb Cushing was senior counsel to the Geneva tribunal in 1872 Mr. Hackett served as his private secretary until ill health compelled him to relinquish that office and return to the United States. Although he has always maintained his legal residence at Newcastle, N. H., where he has a house, he has spent the greater part of the past quarter century in Washington, engaged in the practice of his profession before the courts and the departments. In 1877 he represented Portsmouth in the New Hampshire legislature. He is a man of high literary and legal ability, and is the author of several works. Although his experience in the navy has been somewhat limited, he has always shown a great interest in that arm of the service, and is probably as well informed in regard to its condition and needs as any other civilian in the country.

Mr. Hackett has accepted the appointment with the understanding that his term will expire on the 4th of March next. He has declared that he could not afford to give any more time to public business, as he has considerable private work to look after which would have to be sacrificed by a longer continuance in the government's service. The appointment came as a complete surprise to him.

ODD BUSINESS HOUSE.

Building in the City of London Which Looks Like a Soda Cracker on End.

Few cities abound in the various angular structures in the business section as found in London. The cutting of new streets through old localities has resulted in the formation of many difficult sites for the architect to treat for business structures. And it is by no means an easy task for the architect to take advantage of the small space at his disposal, and yet design a building which shall have some architectural beauty, and at the same time not bring out too forcibly the sharp angle of the plot of ground.

ARCHITECTURAL FREAK.
(London Business House Not More Than 20 Feet Across Base.)

A unique structure, probably without equal in any city, is shown in the cut. By the side of Cannon Street station, and dividing Dowgate dock from Cousin lane, stands this most extraordinary building. It is a very sharp angle, being only about five feet wide at the end shown in the view, and, although the facades are 100 feet long, the base is not more than 20 feet across. One wonders whether it was worth while to go to the expense of enclosing so small an area with so much brickwork.

The Racing Stables of a Western Millionaire

Joe Hooker Discusses the Horses Alfred Featherstone Is Putting on the Tracks

IT IS a good thing for the turf, and incidentally for thousands who are indirectly and directly dependent upon the racing interests for their livelihood, that there are many rich men who love the thoroughbred. If all owners of race horses were like the kind that generally "cut in" at New Orleans for the purpose of earning "feed money," the future of running racing would not be very bright. It has become a habit of the eastern critics to point with pride and strut about like peacocks as they descanted upon the lofty plane of the Jockey club tracks and the many millionaires who own racing stables. The west is overlooked, now that E. J. (Lucky) Baldwin, the famous proprietor of the Santa Anita stable, has practically buried his identity in a partnership. Such characters as Theodore Winters and J. B. Haggin are not discussed, except in the case of the last named, and they claim this great horse breeder as an easterner now.

But there is one wealthy man in the west, Alfred Featherstone, of Chicago, who has as good a stable of racers as a prince would wish to maintain. It costs him a pretty penny each season to keep up the big establishment. His retainers to riders, while large and apparently princely, are but small amounts compared to his many other expenses. Yet this man would rather back one of his great racers for $50,000 or even $100,000, and win, than most owners would care to win a fortune. Sentiment, that element which the commercial age of the turf would eliminate, guides Mr. Featherstone. He wants to see his flash in first became he wants to talk about his "winnings."

Mesmerist, the great three-year-old son of imp. Albert and Hoodoo, and by many considered to be the king of two-year-olds last year, is the best known animal in Mr. Featherstone's stable that will be raced principally at the big metropolitan tracks this year. Mesmerist is treated so well that he is like the son of indulgent parents. When the millionaire got ready to ship his 27 thoroughbreds from their winter quarters near Lexington to the Morrris park race track, he personally superintended the loading of the animals in palatial horse express cars. And Mesmerist had a stall that could only be likened to a luxurious apartment in a sleeper—of course it was not shorn of its distinctive equine features, but it was decorated with a prodigality of valuable rugs and blankets.

And it is said that Mr. Featherstone was so solicitous for the welfare of Mesmerist that he ordered a ferryboat to be ready at Jersey City, that would carry the horse car to the nearest point, by the water route, to the Westchester track. Over $500,000 worth of horseflesh went on that train, and besides Trainer Bauer there was a small army of employes, numbering 32 in all. Mesmerist might have extended his trip to England, had his owner said the word, for an offer of $100,000 for the horse had been made by a London syndicate, but had been refused.

"I set a figure too high for those Britishers," Mr. Featherstone told me, "hoping that I had stalled off their offers. I also made the stipulation that if they wished Mesmerist they would have to agree that he should never be raced in America. You see, I have some other fine animals, and as I race for the excitement and glory of the sport, I would not like to see my colors lowered by a horse that had formerly carried them. If the owners of Kilmarnock or Lieut. Gibson think that those three-year-olds are good enough to beat my pet, I will wager any sum up to $100,000 on my animal.

"Did you ever feel for some dumb brute that made friends with you, an affection that could not be explained? Well, sir, the first time that I saw Mesmerist he was an awkward, gangling yearling, nearly all legs, as are most horses that are quite young, and he poked his muzzle out of his stall and began to sniff at me. Then he sought my coat pockets, and his eyes seemed to say to me: 'Say, don't you want a good racer?'

MESMERIST.

"I had given Mr. Bauer instructions to buy Missionary, the bay son of Hanover and Ursuline Nun, no matter what he had to pay for the youngster. Mesmerist did not seem to be much in demand. Well, Missionary—and I may send him after the $10,000 American Derby—cost me $9,500, and he was cheap at that, while Mesmerist came to me for $1,100. Mesmerist is nominated in over 30 stakes, and I intend to give him plenty of rest, but race him in most of the stakes. And if my pet does not win, I will be out over $250,000. But he will win all of his starts. I feel that he will. It is strange how these critics say that he is not bred to go a route—that six furlongs is about his distance. But we shall see.

"Never mind, Mesmerist, old boy"—and one would have thought that he was talking directly to his animal, who was 1,000 miles away—"you will do the best you can. As if to make me the happiest turfman on earth, I am blessed with the greatest three-year-old filly that ever breathed—Indian Fairy, the chestnut daughter of Iroquois and Fairy. She won the Matron stakes last season, and I hope to be able this year to demonstrate her value. Missionary is to be prepared for the Realization stake, and I have already marked that victory down in my book of expectations. Hang the value of the stakes! I want the turf records to read that Mr. Featherstone's So and So won. Surely I might be forgiven this desire, considering that the stable is the most expensive thing I ever attempted."

ALFRED FEATHERSTONE.
A Millionaire Who Races for Pleasure.

I verily believe that were it consistent with the life of a racer, Mr. Featherstone would have Mesmerist romping about him when he walked out on the boulevard, much as a man has his pet dog. The owner could not abuse the ainmal, any more than a man could his own child. While he thinks so much of the big three-year-old, his satisfaction over a victory by any other member of his thoroughbred family is bound to be refreshing.

In the palatial Featherstone stable at Morris Park, is Mintage, a full sister to Mesmerist. She is not as large as her brother, being but a two-year-old, but she is beautifully formed, and gives promise of being a great racer. The other two-year-olds are so well bred—great care was used in selecting them, and money was no bar to purchases—that they must surely repay the rich man for buying them. Knight of Ellerslie is represented by a colt called Mortallo. Other sires in the two-year-old list are such well-known animals as Fonso, Lamplighter, Autocrat, Lissak—how the Chinns did sing the praises of this really grand racer—and imp. Albert. Previous, the horse that once defeated Hamburg, is the Nestor of the string. This five-year-old son of Meddler may be heard from in the spring handicaps. Windmere, a three-year-old, may be campaigned in the west. He is a son of Iroquois. If the exceedingly promising bunch of three-year-olds in this stable does not carry the Featherstone colors to the front many times, I will be much mistaken.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The team match at golf between Baltusrol and Essex county the same afternoon was a victory for the former team by a score of 14 to 1.

At Glen Ridge, Saturday, the Newark A. C. and Glen Ridge golf teams contested for honors in the East Jersey Golf League tournament, and Glen Ridge won by 9 up.

The golf team match Saturdey between the Elizabeth and Madison teams in the East Jersey Golf Association series, resulted in a victory for Elizabeth by a score of 12 to 8.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The prospects are that the race meet scheduled for July 4th at the Plainfield Driving Park will be the most successful ever held.

Going to the Paris Exposition.

Hon. H. R. Weber, commissioner from the State of Illinois to the Paris Exposition, his wife, Miss Helen Weber and Horace Weber, of Springfield, Ill.; Miss Juliet Weber and Miss Sue Weber, of Cumberland, Md.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rushmore and Hon. and Mrs. E. R. Ackerman, of this city, sail tomorrow morning on the Hamburg-American liner, "Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse" for the Paris Exposition. The Plainfielders will be absent about five weeks.

Preparing for Winter.

Snow and ice guards have just been placed on the Crescent Avenue church and the Somerset street school by the DuBois-Baker Co., of Wilkesbarre, Pa. This will prevent snow and ice from falling from the roof and thereby making it safe for people walking about the building. Heretofore much trouble has been experienced from falling snow and ice.

G. A. R. Men Visited Westfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, June 4.—A delegation of members from Post No. 73, G. A. R., of Plainfield, attended divine service last evening at the Presbyterian church, and listened to a fine discourse by Rev. Mr. Caldwell, the pastor.

Change to Morning Hours.

Commencing with next Sunday the Sunday-school of the First Baptist church will meet at 9:30 o'clock in the morning instead of 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon. This change is for the summer months. The morning church service will be held at 10:45 o'clock.

Stephen Cahoone to Conduct.

The meeting of the Volunteer League, or missionary study class, will be held at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. Stephen Cahoone will conduct the Bible study in connection with it. All men are invited to these meetings.

FIFTY-NINTH ANNIVERSARY.

East New Jersey Baptist Association to Meet in Newark Tomorrow.

The East New Jersey Baptist Association, composed of twenty-nine churches in Newark, Elizabeth, Plainfield, Jersey City and other places, will hold its fifty-ninth anniverary tomorrow at the North Baptist church, High and Orange streets, Newark.

After the election of officers Rev. Charles H. Dodd will preach the association sermon, and following him Rev. C. H. Stanley will deliver an address on "An Essential in Edification."

In the afternoon Rev. William T. Dorrand, of Stelton, will address the association on "Christ and the Individual Christian," and afterward there will be a symposium on "The Church of Today," the speakers and their subjects being: "Its Message," the Rev. J. M. Stifler, jr.; "Its Mission," the Rev. W. G. Fennell; "Its Dependence," the Rev. E. R. Curry. The meeting will then be thrown open for general discussion.

In the evening the principal address will be by the Rev. Walter J. Swaffield, of Jersey City, on "Loyalty to Truth."

Rev. J. L. Dearing, of Japan, and Dr. MacLaren, of India, will speak at the evening meeting. These men have recently been in attendance at the Ecumenical Conference, and are among the most distinguished of the Baptist denomination.

Cut His Cheek Badly.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 4—Joseph H. Hayes, of Hopewell, while attempting to board a moving train at this place this morning, tripped over a rail and fell, striking his face on the opposite rail, inflicting a very bad wound on the cheek. He was taken to his home in Hopewell, where he received medical attention.

One of His Toes Crushed.

Peter Galbraith, of West Sixth street, an employe of Frank Cullen, was lifting a large can of oil in a wagon Saturday when it slipped from his hands and fell on his right foot, badly crushing the large toe. He hurried to a physician and had the injured member dressed. It will be some time before he returns to work.

One of the Good Things.

Among the good things that are coming this week is the strawberry festival at Trinity Reformed church Thursday and Friday afternoon and evening under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of the church.

Eight-Hour Work Day.

The union plumbers of this city, who met some time ago and framed a resolution demanding eight hours a day with union pay, have had their request granted. The new schedule went into effect for the first time today.

Prize Choristers.

The prize choristers of Grace P. E. church for May are: A. Jaeger, V. Miner, F. Kanen, H. Smith, B. Bingerman; and the Misses M. Jaeger, B. Miner, M. Ulrich and L. DuChann. Miss Mildred Ulrich received the Grace church cross.

Festival Postponed a Week.

The strawberry festival of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church, announced for tomorrow evening, has been postponed a week so as not to interfere with Miss Whitney's recital at Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Thirteen New Church Members.

At the Communion service held at the First Baptist church yesterday morning thirteen new members were received. There was special music by the choir that was a feature of the service.

College Girls at Lunch.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. M. Berens, who has been ill at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. C. Eyme, 78 Duer street, is better.

Fred Sandford, who has been ill at the home of S. B. Wheeler, was taken to his home on East Front street Saturday. His condition is a little improved.

Hon. and Mrs. H. B. Weber, Miss Helen Weber and Horace Weber, of Springfield, Ill., were guests at the home of Ernest R. Ackerman, of West Eighth street, yesterday. Mr. Weber is the commissioner from the state of Illinois to the Paris Exposition.

THE LONELIEST WOMAN.

She Is from Washington and Lives Away Up North on a Seal Island.

Without doubt the loneliest woman—that is to say, the one farthest removed from her kind—in all these Uinted States of America is Mrs. Clark, of this city, the wife of Maj. E. W. Clark, government agent of the Pribylof or Seal islands in the Behring sea. This group, says the Washington Star, composed of the two small islands of St. Paul and St. George, are the homes of nearly all the seals remaining in existence, and they are about 1,800 miles west of the entrance to Puget sound, and about 200 northwest of the Aleutian islands, beginning at Unimak pass. St. George, which is the smaller of the two, being about six by twelve miles in extent, is 40 miles from St. Paul, and it has a population of about 100 Aleuts and four or five whites, consisting of Maj. Clark and his wife, a physician and two or three clerks for the North American Commercial company, which controls the seal business and has stores and warehouses on both islands. The little village of St. George contains 25 or 30 houses, including the company's buildings, the agent's house and a Greek church. There are no other houses on the islands, and Mrs. Clark is the only white woman. Her home is a small cottage of four rooms, very cozy and comfortable, with books and pictures, and a fine outlook over the sea. She does no cooking in her own house, as the government officials take their meals at the company house, near by. Mrs. Clark's nearest neighbor is the wife of the agent on St. Paul, who is less lonely because she has with her her two small children, Mrs. Clark's children being grown and having their own homes in the states. There is no communication between the islands except by one of the company's ships and by revenue cutters, as other ships are not permitted to visit the islands. These ships come only in the summer, and from October until June Mrs. Clark does not expect to see anyone or hear anything from the United States, or to send word home, no matter what happens. Sickness, death, disaster may come to her far off in that forbidding sea, or may visit her own at home, but no word may come or go until navigation is resumed. St. George is absolutely without trees, but its rolling surface and mountains, a thousand feet high, are beautifully green with coarse grass and moss, and wild flowers of brilliant hues dot the level stretches near the sea. Blue foxes abound, and over the rocks at the water's edge thousands and thousands of seals in ceaseless activity disport themselves noisily day and night from June until December, while millions of water fowl fill the air and the sea and flutter about the cliffs. Three hundred days in the year the weather is dark and dismal, and fogs hide the islands for days at a time. The cold is never excessive, but the winter storms are severe, and terrific gales sweep over sea and land. There is no harbor, and ships come to anchor a mile or so from shore.

PAINT COATS OF WARSHIPS.

Colors Used by the Various Navies of the World on Their Big Boats.

Every nation has its own fashion of painting its ships-of-war, just as it has a distinguishing uniform for its soldiers. Our own navy favors black sides, white upper-work superstructures, yellow funnels and masts and ventilators, says London Answers. German men-of-war are generally painted gray in time of peace and carry bands on the funnels; but for their war dress they have decided for a sort of "khaki" war paint of a yellowish brown hue, which their scientific experts pronounce as being most difficult to see both by day and night.

The French go in for a mourning dress of complete black, or black hulls, with gray funnels and masts. Their channel squadron rather favors a complete suit of neutral gray drab, which is almost invisible in gray weather.

The late Spanish navy was painted much after the English fashion, except for those ships serving on their American and Pacific stations, which were painted white.

The Austrian war vessels may be recognized by their black hulls, white upper works and black funnels. The Russians go in for black hulls, yellow funnels with black tops and white masts. While you may easily tell a Turkish man-of-war by her red funnel and coat of dirt.

—Harry H. Brokaw, treasurer for the Ballentine & VanFleet Carriage Manufacturing Company, of Somerville, had a rubber-tired Stanhope built at the factory for L. W. Serrell, of Crescent avenue, and it was delivered May 31st.

GIRL SCORCHER INJURED.

Lost Control of Her Wheel and Was Plunged Into a Deep Ditch.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, June 4—When scorching along South Broad street on a bicycle last evening Miss Myrtle Baker, of Brooklyn, lost control of her wheel and plunged into a deep ditch.

Miss May Herder, of Rahway avenue, who had been out riding with the injured girl, found that her companion was unconscious and called for help. Bicycle Patrolman O'Neil hurried to the place and, sending for a carriage, removed Miss Baker to the home of Harry A. Taylor, near by. Dr. R. R. Sinclair says the girl is not dangerously hurt. She was badly bruised about the head and body, but how seriously is not known.

Off to Sea Again.

Captain George D. Morrison, of Plainfield avenue, who has just returned from an extended sea voyage, has been engaged as captain for "The Californian," a new merchandise vessel owned by the American Hawaiian Steamship Company, of New York. On Wednesday Captain Morrison will start overland to San Francisco, and from there he will bring "The Californian," to New York on her first trip. He expects to make the return trip early in July.

The Lights Went Out.

An extra heavy current on the electric light circuit proved too much for the light fuses in a number of the stores Saturday night shortly after 9 o'clock and as a result they were plunged in darkness. Some of them were crowded with shoppers at the time who were bewildered until lamps and candles could be procured. So many of them were burned out that they could not be repaired until today.

To Night's Concert.

This evening's interest will be the rendering of the "Persian Garden" at Y. M. C. A. Hall. The programme, as published in Saturday's issue, is of special excellence and all lovers of music should hear it. The "Persian Garden" in itself should fill the house, outside of the excellent miscellaneous numbers. Mr. Romain will read two numbers of special interest. The programme will begin sharp at 8:30.

Handsome New House For West End.

James Manning, the contractor, has just made a contract to build a handsome $4,000 house on Dunellen avenue for Peter Marquelin, a New York business man, who has been living on Clinton avenue. Mr. Marquelin purchased the property from Mr. Manning and then decided to have a house erected thereon. Work will be started at once.

COUNCIL PROPOSES TO LICENSE JUNKMEN

Ordinance Drawn Up Which, If Passed, Compels Dealers to Pay $25 a Year.

AIMED TO PREVENT THEFT.

WHOLESALE LIQUOR LICENSE GRANTED TO BALLANTINE COMPANY.

Protest Received From a Few Temperance Advocates—New Wagon to be Purchased for Chief Doane—Many Petitions.

One of the most uninteresting meeting ever held by the Common Council was the regular June session held last evening, and even the members themselves evidenced a lack of interest in the unimportant matters brought up for consideration. All of the council men were present except Mr. Clifton.

At the suggestion of President Smith, Corporation Counsel Marsh has drafted an ordinance governing the junk shop business in this city. In the West End there has been so much pilfering among many unprincipled persons that the junkmen have become a nuisance, hence the ordinance governing this business.

It was presented by Mr. Gloak. The ordinance provides a host of things among which are that a limited number of licenses shall be granted by the Council to men of good moral character, and that a $200 bond shall be deposited by each as security that all its provisions shall be kept. Each licensed man shall have his name over his name over his place of business as well as on his cart with the number of his license. There shall not be received any pledges or pawn, nor stolen goods, when known to be such, and no business shall be transacted from the time of the setting of the sun. until 7 o'clock the next morning. A book of record shall be kept at the City Clerk's office which shall contain the names of all licensed junkmen, their number and a description of their places of business. If stolen goods are found in a junk shop the proprietor must give to the police any information desired about the goods, as to where they received them, etc. For the privilege of conducting such a business a person shall pay $25 a year for the first horse and wagon and $10 for each additional one used in going about to collect junk. The ordinance furtner provides a penalty of $20 for any violations of it. It was adopted on its first and second readings and ordered advertised. There seemed to be no doubts among the councilmen but what the ordinance would fully cover all casees coming under it.

Mr. Coriell introduced the question of purchasing a new wagon for Chief Doane for fire purposes. He stated that the present one was worn out and unsafe to use, and if an accident should happen while the wagon was being used the fire committee would feel somewhat to blame. He stated that he and Mr. Buckle went to Trenton, Saturday last, and saw wagons in use there which had been built by Fitzsimmons & Crisp. They learned that for the sum of $300 a suitable wagon could be purchased. Regarding the expense, he said that $200 will be saved this year in the department on gas, and the doing away with extra men would make it possible to keep within the appropriatio , even if the wagon is purchased. Mr. Coriell then offered a resolution that a wagon, not to exceed $300 in cost, be purchased for the use of Chief Doane in the fire department.

There was a long list of communications that occupied the early part of the session. Evarts Tracy asked for the privilege of a twelve-inch brick wall, two stories high with a cellar on his property on Hillside avenue. George Phillips and others asked for a fire hydrant at the corner of Dunellen and Mariners avenue. Mrs. George W. F. Randolph, owner of the building corner of Park avenue and West Second street, asked for the privilege of erecting a small building as a kitchen in the rear of the property.

A petition was received from residents of West Ninth street asking for two stone culverts at the corner of Arlington avenue and West Ninth street. J. H. Leggett and others petitioned to have an electric light placed on Watchung avenue between Front street and the bridge over Green brook, also that walks be laid the full width to correspond with the other walks as was required of others to lay when the avenue was opened to the bridge. Mr. Buckle, who understood this matter, had the petition referred with power. H. C. Compton and others asked for an electric light on

MUSIC, POETRY AND SONG

PLEASING PROGRAMME AT W. J. ROMAIN'S CONCERT.

Rendition of the Cantata "In a Persian Garden" Given in an Excellent Manner.

A pleasing programme of music, poetry and song was given at the Y. M. C. A Hall last evening by William J. Romain, assisted by a quartette of talented vocalists. The first two parts consisted of miscellaneous selections and the third part of the rendition of the famous cantata "In a Persian Garden," the fatalistic Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam. A small audience was present and listened to an entertainment that was deserving of a crowded house.

Mr. Romain gave two readings. The first was a selection from Longfellow's "The Spanish Student," and was cleverly portrayed. His other was Longfellow's "Sandolphin," with a musical background arranged by Harvey Worthington Loomis. It was given with much expression. As an encore Mr. Romain gave a little poem entitled "Fate," with piano accompaniment.

Miss Dora Louise Topping, the soprano, was particularly pleasing. She had a clear, powerful voice of high range, the use of which she understood perfectly. Her "Prayer and Aria" in the German showed her ability in the heavier work while a bright little song, "A May Morning," demonstrated her readiness to accommodate her voice to that class of music.

Miss Grace LaRome possesses a pleasing contralto voice. On the low tones she was particularly rich and clear. She sang with feeling. Douglas Lane, the basso, lives in Plainfield. He had a carefully trained voice that he used with effect. He was best in "My Little Woman," which was sung by request. Walter Robinson, the tenor, sang well. He had a clear, well-trained voice and sang with expression. Mrs. Harriette Robinson was an accomplished accompanist.

Although the Rubaiyat has been sung in New York and caused much talk in the musical circles there, this was the first occasion of its rendition in Plainfield. It gave full opportunity for all the members of the quartette who handled the difficult music with much success. The words are from Fitzgerald's translation of Omar Khayyam's great work while the music had an appropriate minor strain underlying the whole theme.

There are so many lovers of good music in Plainfield who would appreciate the programme given last night that many of the friends of Mr. Romain suggested that it would be well to repeat the concert.

FORMER PLAINFIELD GIRL WEDS.

Becomes the Wife of a Famous English War Correspondent.

The announcement of the following marriage will recall to Plainfielders the family of Mr. Lamson, who for a number of years resided in Plainfield on Grove street and later on Madison avenue. Saturday afternoon, at the residence of Mrs. J. D. Hunter, grandmother of the bride, 62 West Ninety-fourth street, New York, was celebrated the marriage of Miss Mary Judson Lamson, to Capt. George Clark Musgrave. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Henry Evartson Cobb, only the members of the family being present. The bride is the daughter of the late John S. Lamson. The bridegroom is the well-known war correspondent and soldier, who served in the British-West African service and with distinction in the Cuban War. He come recently from South Africa and expects to return there. He will sail with his bride for Europe after a short bridal trip.

Knights Templar Field Day.

The annual field day of the Knights Templar of New Jersey has been announced to take place Wednesday, August 29th, at Asbury Park. The parade and drill by the Sir Knights is one of the chief features of the field day. Trinity Commandery, of this city, will attend, accompanied by a band.

New Major for the Second.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 5.—The officers of the Second Regiment will meet next Friday evening at Trenton House for the purpose of electing two majors, successors to Major Clayton, of this city, and Major Cook, of Somerville. The impression obtained that the new majors will be Captain Otis Glazebrook, of Elizabeth, chaplain of the regiment, and captain Jacob Coward, quartermaster of the regiment. Captain Glazebrook declined the majority when Major Collins was elected lieutenant-colonel, but the general belief is that he will not reject it at this time.

PLEASURE AND PROFIT.

Successful Entertainment and Sale Conducted in Hope Chapel by the Women.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope Chapel will reap a handsome profit as a result of their entertainment and sale given in the chapel last evening. A large number were present and the different booths did an excellent business. The chapel was prettily decorated with flags and the booths with wild flowers.

The feature of the entertainment was the recitations of Miss Mary A. Luckey, who gave a number in her usual excellent manner. Piano solos and duets were given by Miss Webster, Miss Symons, Miss Ruckman and Miss Hustleton, at the conclusion of which ice cream and cake, candy and flowers were placed on sale at the different booths and a pleasant social time followed. The ice cream and cake were under the charge of Mrs. W. G. Gray, Mrs. Henry and Mrs. Wallace. Mrs. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Bowden and Mrs. Pearson, saw to it that every one was provided with a little bouquet, while Mrs. Randolph and Mrs. Higgins disposed of the candy. The entertainment committee consisted of Mrs. Kinsey, chairman, assisted by Mrs. Firstbrook, Mrs. Badford and Mrs. Sweeney, and Mrs. Weber received the tickets at the door.

TEACHER FOR 34 YEARS.

MISS RUNYON RETIRES FROM THE PUBLIC SCHOOL FACULTY.

Commenced Her Duties in Plainfield in 1866—Many Business Men Instructed by Her.

It is with many regrets that Plainfield people will learn of the verbal resignation of Miss Carrie B. Runyon, principal of the grammar department of the Stillman High School, upon which the Board of Education passed resolutions of regret at their meeting last evening.

Miss Runyon was the oldest teacher in the public schools, beginning her service in 1866 in the frame school house at West Fourth street and Arlington avenue, which was burned down and where the Franklin school now stands.

The next oldest teacher in point of service is Miss Ellen Niles, who is still teaching in the High School. Miss Runyon was transferred to the Stillman building soon after its erection in 1867, where she has since remained, teaching the first grammar grade, which is the preparatory grade for the High School.

A great many business men in Plainfield and other places can trace the foundation of a successful career to her untiring efforts and teaching. Although Miss Runyon has been in ill health for some time, mainly with an affection of the throat, through which she was forced to take a much needed rest, it was generally hoped and thought that she would be able to return at the beginning of the fall term, consequently her resignation comes as a surprise. The following are the resolutions of regret passed by the Board last night:

WHEREAS, Miss Carrie B. Runyon has for more than thirty years served the city of Plainfield with great efficiency and acceptance as teacher in the public schools; and

WHEREAS, Her ill-health makes it necessary for her to withdraw from the work of teaching; therefore

Resolved, That it is with great regret that this Board learns of her inability to return to her work, and that the clerk of this Board be requested to convey to her our appreciation of her long and excellent service and the great benefit she has conferred upon the community by her life-work with her pupils, and our regret that her illness prevents the continuance of that work.

Bishop Vincent Expected.

Bishop Vincent, of the Methodist church, is expected in Plainfield next Sunday to take part in the Children's Day exercises in Vincent chapel of the First Methodist church, which was for some years his charge. It will be his last Sunday in America, for he sails next week for Switzerland, to remain four years in charge of the Methodist church of Europe, with headquarters at Zurich.

Improving Franklin Place.

Franklin place, between Watchung and Putnam avenues, is receiving a new layer of crushed stone and the steam roller is working there at present. The gutters on the east side have been reduced to grade which will do away with several large mud puddles that have been troublesome in the past.

Contagious Cases.

Three cases of scarlet fever and one of diphtheria are now under quarantine in the borough. One of the former expects to be released tonight or tomorrow.

Plainfield to be Well Represented.

Plainfield will be well represented at the Y. M. C. A. boys' camp at Lake Champlain, as fourteen applications have already been sent in.

MORTIMER'S LICENSE LOST BY DEFAULT.

Failed to Pay License Fee of $250 Within Twenty Days as Ordinance Prescribes.

TIME EXPIRED SUNDAY.

IT IS REPORTED THAT MORTIMER AND HIS BACKERS DISAGREE.

Question Raised Concerning Details of the Management—The Failure To Pay License Fee was Great Surprise To Opposition.

Despite weeks of persistent effort on the part of his lawyers and political friends, John Mortimer, formerly of this city, but now of New York, has failed to secure the wholesale liquor license which was granted to him by the Common Council Monday evening, June 14th. It was intended that Mr. Mortimer should open a wholesale place in Rosa Frucht's building on Park avenue, and all the influence possible was brought to bear to have the license granted.

Great was the surprise of the opponents of the license when it was learned that Mr. Mortimer had not paid his license money, $250. This money was not paid within the prescribed number of days, twenty, and therefore the license goes by default. The twenty days expired on Sunday last, and as the Council failed to take any action last night as prescribed by the ordinance, the license is null and void. Section 17 of the ordinance to license inns and taverns, which refers especially to the failure of the man receiving a license and failing to pay for it, reads as follows:

* * * "On failure to pay any such fees within twenty days from the time the Common Council shall have granted any such application for license the said action of said Common Council shall no longer authorize the issuance of a license under said application to the person failing to pay as aforesaid, unless the Common Council at the first meeting following the expiration of said twenty days shall so direct."

It is understood that Mr. Mortimer has a good position in New York, and that he does not care to give it up. It is also reported that those who were working for him to secure the license wanted to have something to say regarding the business and that the applicant did not care to be subjected to such dictation. However, the license has not been issued and will not be at present. City Treasurer Arnold cannot now receive the license money by reason of the expiration of the time limit as provided by the ordinance.

ANGLEMAN WON SUIT.

As Assignee for Fred W. Hargraves, of Westfield, He Went to Court to Collect Bill From W. H. Brokaw.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 5.—The suit of Chas. H. Angleman, assignee for Fred W. Hargraves, against Wm. H. Brokaw, was tried in the Union County Circuit Court before Judge Vail yesterday. Hargraves used to run a mill at Westfield and made an assignment. Brokaw owed him for materials furnished, but claimed a counter debt according to an old contract. Brokaw is a builder in Plainfield. W. S. Angleman, of Plainfield, represented the plaintiff, and Wm. A. Coddington the defendant. A verdict was brought in for the plaintiff for $329.98, the full amount claimed.

Columbia Club Elects.

The Columbia Club met last evening and elected the following members: President, William Doud; vice-president, Archie Bellis; secretary, Stephen Fitzgerald; treasurer, Charles Everitt. The club has lately secured a number of new members and is now in a flourishing condition.

The Cross-Country Trolley.

The cross country street railway will be put in operation between Bird's Corners, in Mountainside, and Boynton Beach within the next month. Work will be commenced this week to run the line from Elm street, Westfield, to Mountainside.

Sons of Vets Invited, Too.

The Sons of Veterans as well as the G. A. R. have been invited to attend the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday to be addressed by W. F. Jones. Mr. Jones is an interesting speaker and a veteran of the Mexican and Civil Wars.

CUTTING DOWN EXPENSES.

Central Adds Extra Tonnage to Coal Trains and Saves the Work of a Crew of Men.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, June 5.—Great concern is felt here by the men employed in the Jersey Central Railroad yards over the contemplated removal of the yards from this place to Junction. Saturday and Sunday Central officials, including Superintendent Wentz, Assistant Superintendent Morse, Trainmaster Edga, all of Jersey City, were here making a test of the engines pulling trains from here to Junction. The Klondyke engines, they found, pulled 3,000 tons instead of 2,000 tons, and the freight engines pulled 2,000 tons instead of 1,600 tons, with the help of a pusher. The adding of this extra tonnage does away with one of the crews at this place. When the trains arrive at Junction the extra cars wil be thrown out at that place instead of throwing them out here, as has been the custom. The Jersey City crews, instead of turning here, will turn at Junction and get a full train for the return.

Two of the drill crews have been taken off from here and one regular engineer has been put on a pusher, and the crew of his train discharged. The ore train, which leaves here every morning, instead of drilling here, will do that work between High Bridge and German Valley.

RACES FOR JULY 4TH.

TROTTING AND BICYCLE MEET TO BE HELD IN PLAINFIELD.

Arranged by Gentlemen's Driving Park Association at Meeting Held Last Evening.

Bicycle and horse racing enthusiasts who have missed their favorite sport for the past few years, will have an opportunity to show their skill at a meet to be held in Plainfield next month. Twenty members of the Gentlemen's Driving Park Association met in Reed & Coddington's offices last night and by a unanimous vote decided to hold a race meet at the Driving Park July 4th. It was decided to give three trotting races of the following classes: 2:18, 2:30 and 2:35; two bicycle races, open to all comers, and, if possible, hurdle races, for which suitable prizes will be given. Two hundred dollars will be divided into four prizes for the 2:18 class; $200 in four prizes for the 2:30, and $150 for the 2:35. One hundred and fifty dollars will be divided in each of the bicycle races. The prizes for hurdle jumping will be decided later.

WANTED TO DIE.

Franklin Farmer's Wife Killed Herself With the Aid of a Shotgun Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 5.—Mrs. Mary Stevens, the wife of a farmer living near Franklin, eight miles from here, committed suicide at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by shooting herself in the neck with a shotgun.

While the family were absent from the house she took a single-barrelled breach-loading shotgun from the wall, and, placing the muzzle against her throat, leaned forward and struck the hammer a blow with a long handled hatchet. The charge went clear through her neck, killing her instantly. Her husband, who was working in a field, heard the report of the gun, and on entering the house found his wife lying dead on the kitchen floor with the gun still in her grasp.

Mrs. Stevens had been suffering from melancholy, and it is believed she killed herself while temporarily insane.

Many Houses for Garwood.

The Aeolian Company at Garwood is getting estimates for the erection of twenty-six houses, to be located on its land along North avenue, on the Cranford side. The company will also install a water plant to furnish water for fire purposes and use in the factory building.

Bad Hole in Roadway.

Drivers and wheelmen are warned to avoid a bad hole in the roadway at the corner of East Seventh street and Park avenue. The macadam surface has broken above the culvert and left a hole small but dangerous.

Children's Day.

Children's Day will be observed at the Seventh Day Baptist church Saturday morning with special exercises. The children of the Sabbath school are drilling for their participation in the exercises.

THE BRIDGE IS OPENED.

TROLLEY TROUBLE OVER B. AND O. TRACKS AT CRANFORD.

Formal Opening Took Place Yesterday Afternoon—Structure is a Substantial One.

The new trestle bridge erected by the Elizabeth and Westfield Trolley Company over the B. and O. Railroad tracks, at Cranford, was formally opened yesterday afternoon when one of the company's cars, carrying a number of officials, made the first trip over the bridge. Everything was found to be perfectly satisfactory, and the officials are much pleased with the new arrangements. In a short time it is hoped that the trip between Plainfield and Elizabeth can be made in one hour.

The bridge is made of iron and is 85 feet in length, with a clearance of 22 feet at the highest point. The iron was made at the Passaic Iron Works, Paterson, and the Dean-Westbrook Company, of New York, built the bridge. It is substantially constructed and will carry safely al weight that is put upon it.

Those in the party included Col. Hine, of Orange; Daniel Wolfskeil, J. H. Stevens, Joseph L. Whelan and James Smith, of Elizabeth; John Hope, of Roselle; J. M. C. Marsh, Westfield; L. W. Serrell, H. C. VanEmburgh and John Adlemann, of this city. The party made the trip to Plainfield after testing the bridge, and stopped at the Hotel Kensington, where some refreshments were served. Col. Hine, representing the company, was the host for the occasion. About 6:15 o'clock the party started on the return trip to Elizabeth.

In connection with the erection of the bridge mention should be made of the services of H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer, of this city, who had much to do with the proper construction of it.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

Enjoyable Affair to be Held at Seventh-Day Baptist Church Tomorrow Night.

The series of enjoyable entertainments and social gatherings, which have formed such a pleasant feature of the winter season at the Seventh-Day Baptist church, will be concluded tomorrow evening with an ice cream and strawberry festival, under the auspices of the Women's Society for Christian Work of the church. A musical programme will be given during the evening in which Miss Mary Griswold, Miss Borsum, City Judge William N. Runyon and several others will take part.

Branching Out.

C. E. Hepburn & Co., druggists, corner of Park avenue and Second street, have for some time past been crowded in their present quarters, and the owner of the building, W. R. Coddington, is about to relieve this condition. The store on Park avenue recently occupied by Mrs. H. A. Anderson, who sells patterns and fancy articles, will be taken by the firm. A large arch will be built between the drug store and the store in the rear, and the new addition will be used for prescription work, thus giving more room in the store proper. This popular drug firm's business is constantly increasing as earnest and persistent work derserves. The work on the improvement will be started at once.

Funeral of a Great Chieftain.

Great Sachem William Newcorn, of the Improved Order of Red Men, was scheduled to speak at Ramseys this evening at a meeting preliminary to the institution of a new tribe there. On account of the funeral of Past Great Sachem D. C. Vannote, at Camden, he was forced to cancel the date and left this morning for Camden, where he will take charge of the funeral ceremonies which are to be conducted by the Red Men.

Crap Shooters Non Est.

Last Sunday Chief Campbell and Chairman Lee of the Marshal Committee in the borough, made a tour of the various places where crap shooters and baseball players hang out, but none were to be found. The order of the borough was first-class throughout the day.

Arthur Philo Confirmed.

Arthur Philo, formerly of Grandview avenue, but now of Perth Amboy, was confirmed last Sunday at the Jewish Synagogue, at the latter place. Yesterday a reception was given to relatives, and today one will be given to friends in honor of the event.

Odd Fellows Initiated.

One candidate was admitted to Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., last evening. The service for Odd Fellows at the Park Avenue Baptist church was changed from June 10th to the 17th.

NOT A WORD ABOUT NEW HIGH SCEOOL.

Board of Education Considers Other School Matters of Importance, However.

BIDS FOR FURNISHING COAL.

JUDGES APPOINTED TO DECIDE WINNERS OF PRIZES.

School Property Assessed to Help Pay for Street Improvements—Regret Expressed Over Resignation of Miss Runyon.

The subject of the new High School has apparently been forgotten by the Board of Education, as no mention of it has been made for the past two or three meetings. Several items of interest were taken up at last night's meeting, but nothing was said regarding the new school. The members were all present, with the exception of President Probasco.

After the usual number of bills had been passed upon and ordered paid, the bids for the 500 tons of coal for use in the schools, were opened. The following bidders were either present or sent in bids: W. D. Manning, McDonough Bros., C. H. Bugg, E. H. Holmes, Boice, Runyon & Company and Geo. O. Stevens. After the bids had been opened and read they were referred to the committee on fuel.

Taxes to the amount of $1,276.48 were reported collected and placed to the credit of the Board. A communication was then read from the tax collector notifying the Board that the assessment on the school property for the macadamizing of West Fourth and East Sixth streets was $67 for the Irving School and $57 for the Bryant School. As this is city property the assessment appears rather queer, or as Secretary Lounsbury said, "it was robbing Peter to pay Paul." After discussing the question the Board decided to pay the amount and include it in the levy of next year.

A request from Janitor Hope, of the Bryant school, asking for a two weeks' vacation was received and granted. Heretofore the janitors have been granted a vacation of a week or more upon their asking Mr. Lounsbury, who did so upon his own responsibility.

The DuBois-Baker company, asked permission of the Board to erect 200 feet of snow guards on the school buildings at a cost of $50. It was referred to the building committee. Resolutions of regret were passed upon the verbal resignation of Miss Carrie B. Runyon, principal of the High School grammar department, on account of ill health.

Upon motion of Superintendent Maxson it was moved that a space be made in the graduates diplomas for his signature, which has previously been done under the head of "principal." The motion was carried.

The following committees for the awarding of prizes were then appointed: For English composition, A. C. Nickerson, Miss C. R. Yates and Miss Florence Tweedy; for penmanship, H. V. Borden, Jose Machado and Miss Edith Leonard.

The clerk reported that all details for the commencement were being arranged, after which the Board went into executive session.

The lowest bid of the coal dealers was that of the Paul T. Norton Company, who bid as follows: Nut and stove coal, $4.63; egg, $4.38; pea, $3.30, per long ton.

The bid specified that the coal could be weighed at the discretion of the Board at whatever scales they saw fit providing the delivering distance was not lengthened.

LOOKED DANGEROUS.

White and Colored Men in a Row on Park Avenue.

A fight, which threatened to developed into a race war, took place on Park avenue near Second street shortly after 7 o'clock last night. The fight started between a white man, who bystanders say was the aggressor, and a colored man. Friends of both sides immediately sprang to the rescue and for a few minutes it looked as if some one would get badly hurt. The cry that the police were coming was a signal for the fighters to disperse and the pugnacious white man was hustled off in a convenient hack. No arrests were made, but the police have the names of the offenders.

BOXERS DEFEATED.

Cossacks Who Went to Rescue Refugees Have a Sharp Fight.

TIEN-TSIN, June 5.—The Cossacks who went to look for the missing refugees from the district south of Paoting Fu have had a sharp fight with the Boxers, who they defeated with severe loss. The Russians lost one officer and had three others wounded.

Alarming reports as to the safety of the American and English missionaries have reached here from Paoting Fu.

A Serious Situation.

LONDON, June 5.—According to a special dispatch from Shanghai the Cossacks were dispatched to the rescue of the Belgians after a stormy interview between the Belgian minister, Baron de Vinck de Deux Orp, and the members of the tsung-li-yamen. The dispatch says also:

"Over 40 miles of bridges and stations on the Lu-han railway have been destroyed, and it will take months to repair the damage.

"The German and Austrian legation guards have arrived at Peking. It is asserted that the government is delaying the transition of telegrams in order to conceal the movements of the Boxers. Apparently the Chinese officials will do nothing to prevent massacres or outrages unless the powers take vigorous concerted action."

The Peking correspondent of The Times, telegraphing June 3, says:

"The Boxers have burned Huang-tsun station, on the Peking-Tien-tsin railway. The railway service is dislocated, and the foreign guards are necessary to police the line.

"The services of a party of Cossacks were accepted on Sunday to accompany the relief party from Tien-tsin to rescue the mining engineers in the interior. The relief party returned without fulfilling its mission.

"Two Russian officers have been wounded by the Boxers, and another Russian detachment is sure to be sent to punish the assailants.

"The reported murders of the missionaries appear to be fictitious, although the fate of one British missionary is causing anxiety. Chinese who are associated with foreigners or with Christianity are being vigorously persecuted."

Millionaire Clark's Will.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 5.—The will of Jonas G. Clark, founder of Clark university and estimated to have been worth about $10,000,000, has been filed in the probate court here. His wife gets $100,000 and the income from $400,000 during life. A number of relatives are given large bequests. His most important bequest is relative to Clark university. He offers to give just double what can be raised by the friends of the university, and if only $250,000 is raised his bequest will be $500,000, but if $500,000 is raised then he gives $1,000,000 and also the residue of his estate. This money is to be raised within three years by the friends of the institution. In a codicil $150,000 is given for building and maintaining a library. All the testator's valuable books, paintings and art treasures at the death of his wife are to be placed in a hall in Clark university.

Oregon's Election.

PORTLAND, Or., June 5.—The election was quiet and the vote polled much under the number registered. On account of the length of the ballot the count was delayed. Indications are that the Republicans have suffered losses, though probably not enough to imperil their control of the legislature. The state is conceded to the Republicans by about 8,000 plurality.

A Big Oil Well.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 5.—The greatest oil well in the Indiana oil territory has been found near Alexandria. It is on land leased by the Lippincott Glass company in Monroe township. The daily output is 700 barrels a day, which is twice as much as that of any other well in the state.

Pirates on British Steamer.

SHANGHAI, June 5.—A number of desperadoes disguised as passengers have pirated the British Yangtse steamer Kutwo. They committed wholesale robberies, terrorizing the passengers, who were quite unable to offer resistance. The thieves escaped with their booty.

NO ACTION YET.

Roosevelt Will Await Attorney General's Decision In Ice Trust Case.

ALBANY, June 5.—Governor Roosevelt, after a lengthy consultation with Attorney General Davies at the executive mansion last night, decided not to take executive action just yet in the matter of the American Ice company (alleged ice trust) and the charges against New York city officials until the attorney general has had ample time in which to go over the points of law involved and decide upon the mode of procedure to be taken. The attorney general, when he has finally decided upon what steps to pursue, will submit his decision to the governor for his approval.

The governor arrived here from the state camp at Peekskill at 6:40 p. m. and, according to an arrangement with Attorney General Davies joined that official in consultation at the mansion at 7:30 o'clock. At the conclusion of the conference, which was 9:30 o'clock, the governor made the following statement:

"As regards the ice trust I have listened carefully to the arguments of both sides, Mr. B. F. Einstein for the New York Journal and Mr. J. Noble Hays for the New York World. I have had a long consultation with the attorney general, who has kept me in close touch with the case and of the action he deems proper in it. It is a case of such great and far-reaching importance and questions of so grave a nature are involved, especially in regard to those holding official positions in the city government, that the attorney general desires to go into both the facts and the law with exhaustive thoroughness before deciding what action he will take, and I cordially agree with his attitude. It is a judicial proceeding into which it is needless to say that no personal or party consideration will be allowed for one moment to enter."

The consensus of opinion among lawyers here is that the governor will call a special grand jury to investigate the alleged offenses against the antitrust law.

FILIPINO LOSSES.

Report Sent to Congress In Response to Resolution.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Secretary Root has made answer to the senate resolution inquiring as to the number of Filipinos killed and wounded and the number of prisoners taken since the insurrection began. Having no detailed information on the subject, the secretary cabled the inquiry to General MacArthur, commanding at Manila, and received the following reply, which was submitted to congress:

"With reference to your telegram of 22d ult., Filipinos killed, 10,780; wounded, 2,104; captured and surrendered, 10,425; number prisoners in our possession about 2,000. No systematic record of Filipino casualties at these headquarters. Foregoing compiled from large number reports made immediately after engagements is as close approximation as now possible owing to wide distribution of troops. More accurate report would take weeks to prepare. Number reported killed probably in excess of accurate figures; number reported wounded probably much less, as Filipinos managed to remove most wounded from field, and comparatively few fell into our hands. Officers of high rank and dangerous and suspicious men have been detained as prisoners; most other men discharged on field as soon as disarmed. Propose to release all but very few prisoners at early date."

New Mexico's New Capitol.

SANTA FE, June 5.—The new capitol of New Mexico was dedicated yesterday with imposing ceremonies. This quaint old city was thronged with visitors. The houses and streets were especially decorated. A grand military and civic pageant was reviewed from the capitol steps by Governor Otero. At 3 o'clock the governor's salute was fired and the monster flag raised on the lantern cupola. The dedicatory exercises were held in the hall of the house of representatives. Chief Justice W. J. Mills presided and made an address. Archbishop Peter Bourgade offered the dedicatory prayer. Hon. F. A. Manzanares of Las Vegas delivered the building over to Governor Otero, who made an eloquent response, in turn placing the building in charge of the custodian committee, for which Territorial Secretary George H. Wallace made the address. Ex-Governor Bradford Prince then delivered the oration of the day.

Club Women In Milwaukee.

MILWAUKEE, June 5.—Fully 4,000 club women have arrived for the convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. Most of the delegations caucused on the train, and it has resulted in numerous presidential possibilities. It is evident that Mrs. Lowe can have a renomination if she wants it, but as she declares she will not accept it the New York delegation is working solidly for Mrs. William Tod Helmuth of New York city, though Mrs. Charles Denison of the same city is mentioned as the probable recipient of Mrs. Lowe's support.

Accidentally Shot.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 5.—Leon Miller of Howells, 8 years old, is in a critical condition at Thrall hospital here as a result of a bullet wound accidentally inflicted by John Callahan, an Erie railroad conductor, while shooting at a mark near this city.

PRETORIA INVESTED.

City to Be Surrendered on Demand?

CONTRADICTORY REPORTS RECEIVED.

One Message Is to the Effect That Boers In Council Have Resolved to Defend the City—Rundle's Hard Fight.

LONDON, June 5.—Of official intelligence regarding what is transpiring outside Pretoria there is little or nothing today. Lord Roberts is silent. Nevertheless, by piecing together items from various correspondents, it would seem that Lord Roberts' immediate army is all employed north of Johannesburg except one brigade, which is at Johannesburg, and that six columns are converging on Pretoria.

An undated news agency message from Pretoria, via Lourenco Marques, June 4, says:

"Pretoria is now invested by the British. No resistance will be offered. The city will be surrendered by the burgomaster as soon as a formal demand is made."

This message purports to come in cipher. President Kruger commands the telegraph eastward from Pretoria, and telegraphic news from Pretoria to Lourenco Marques has ceased, but the messengers of newspaper correspondents continue to pass to and fro on the railway. The latest to arrive at Lourenco Marques bring events at the Boer capital down to a late hour Friday night. At that time, according to these sources of information, the military leaders had quite recovered from the panic and had determined to defend the town. One message, which is dated June 1, says:

"Pretoria is full of strange burghers, but most of the commandoes are laagered outside. A great war council of generals has just concluded its deliberations. The decision as to the future military course has not been made known. Louis Botha and Delarey sat in the council."

Another dispatch brought to Lourenco Marques by messenger and dated at Pretoria, Friday, at midnight, says:

"The war council assumes the powers of the government. Its members declare that the capital may still be successfully defended. One commander declared: 'With the help of God the hour will still come when Great Britain will acknowledge the independence of the two republics. A tremendous change will yet come over the situation.'

"General Delarey said that Pretoria would be defended to the utmost, adding, 'There is every chance that we will yet beat the enemy out of the country.'

"President Kruger is somewhere to the eastward, but is in constant wire communication with the leaders here. There is, however, a deep feeling of anger against him on account of what is now called his unnecessary flight and because he and the officials took all the gold and left their subordinates unpaid. The latest phase of public opinion is a marvelous revival of courage."

From Lourenco Marques comes a dispatch dated June 4, saying:

"It is known that some great British movement is in progress outside Pretoria. The mysterious movements of President Kruger's secretary and physician, particularly their secret visit to the Dutch warship Friesland, which is in the harbor here, has aroused suspicions that important personages are expected."

The news from the minor theaters of hostilities is less cryptic. The Boer operations to break Lord Roberts' communications have been completely baffled, and the Boer columns are in danger of being surrounded by the British forces at Ficksburg, Senekal, Heilbron and Lindley. General Rundle, instead of throwing himself against the Boers intrenched at Bedulphberg, moved toward Ficksburg and established communication with General Brabant. The Boers marched parallel with Rundle, intending to seize a strong position on the Ficksburg road, but General Rundle got there first. The 1,500 Boers who were in this movement are now reported to be going elsewhere.

The correspondents with General Rundle continue to point out the hardness of the fight of last Tuesday, but they believe that it will be the last real resistance. Colonel Lloyd was thrice wounded. Drummer Haynes, while aiding Colonel Lloyd, was hit in the hand.

On Guard With Shotguns.

ST. LOUIS, June 5.—Every power house and car shed of the St. Louis Transit company is being guarded by Sheriff Pohlmann's posse comitatus. In all about 900 men are on duty. A force of from 50 to 60 men has been stationed at each power house, and this number will be on duty day and night until the strike is settled. Members of the posse are armed with Winchester repeating shotguns, and shells loaded with buckshot will be used in case of a disturbance. None of the deputies will be used to guard the cars, the police being retained for that service.

Glass Works Closed.

BUTLER, Pa., June 5.—The Standard Plate Glass company's works here have closed down indefinitely because of the refusal of the men in the polishing department to work Saturday afternoons. About 400 men are affected. General Manager Neale says the works will not start again until the company and men come to a definite understanding regarding rules.

Drowned For a Drink.

NEWBURG, N. Y., June 5.—Mike Sedeck, a Hungarian, rowed across the river with four companions. They bought a jug of whisky, and on the way home Sedeck ran his hand through the jug handle and took a drink. He fell overboard. The weight of the jug dragged him down, and he was drowned, although a good swimmer.

French Rioters Quieted.

CHALONS-SUR-SAONE, France, June 5.—This city is now quiet. The funeral of the victim of the rioting took place yesterday afternoon without incident. Another of the wounded is dead. An investigation has resulted in the announcement that the troops were fired on from a window before they replied to the fire.

May Recall Registered Letter.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The postmaster general has amended the postal regulations so as to permit the sender of a registered letter to recall it after it has been dispatched. Heretofore the rule has been that such a letter could not be recalled without the consent of the addressee.

OTIS REACHES LAND.

The General Leaves San Francisco For Washington.

REFUSES TO MAKE A STATEMENT.

He Says, However, the War Is Over, and Many Former Insurgents Are Friendly — Condition of Troops Excellent.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 5.—After five days in quarantine at Angel island Major General E. S. Otis, who arrived last Wednesday from Manila, was allowed to land yesterday. Because of several cases of smallpox on board the transport Meade General Otis and all on board had to submit to vaccination. General Otis was brought over from Angel island on a special steamer furnished by General Shafter, who went to meet the returning general, accompanied by Surgeon Major Arthur and Captain Wilson. The party was driven to the Occidental hotel, where General Otis spent the afternoon receiving callers and preparing for his departure east.

It had been decided to receive General Otis here with full military honors, but for some reason this ceremony was omitted.

General Otis, in response to a request for a statement of the situation in the Philippines, said that while it would give him great pleasure to comply with the request he was constrained to decline for the reason that such action in his judgment would be inconsistent with his duty as an officer of the army. Asked what would be the effect on the war if the report of Aguinaldo's death were true, General Otis said that the war was practically ended; that Aguinaldo's followers were deserting fast, and those who now remain with him are generally of the lower class. Most of his officers have left him, though some still remain in touch with him. Some of those who have left him are now engaged in business in Manila, and others are hiding in the mountains. Many of his closest followers are very friendly toward the United States, and as soon as the natives in general gain confidence in the friendly offices of the Americans there would be little difficulty in bringing them to terms. Asked as to the commercial value of the islands, the general said that they were vastly rich, especially in hemp, sugar and tobacco, and as soon as the situation became more quiet business of all kinds would increase tremendously, as it is doing now.

General Otis would not state whether or not he favored the retention of the islands by this country, and in response to such a query he merely said: "We have got them now. What are we to do about it?"

Regarding the number of troops and the condition of the soldiers General Otis said: "There are 55,000 effective troops scattered among the islands now engaged in the protection of the people from guerrilla warfare, which is rampant in some sections. The general health of the troops is exceedingly good, the percentage of the sick for the month of April being but 10 per cent. The Americans can stand the climate better than the Filipinos and especially during the rainy season did their health impress me. The men are becoming acclimated, and though it may become necessary to send out relief troops at times it will hardly be necessary to send soldiers very frequently."

General Otis said that his own health was excellent, that the ocean trip had done him a world of good.

General Otis left for Washington last night and will report to the president at once. He could not state when his report of the situation would be ready, but he would first make a verbal report to the authorities in Washington and later hand in an extended written report.

Census Work Progressing.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The director of the census says that the work of enumeration is progressing satisfactorily. In only two places had there been any doubt, but in both instances the difficulties had been surmounted. In San Francisco the enumerators who have charge of collecting statistics in Chinatown have been innoculated and permitted to pass the quarantine lines. In St. Louis it was feared the strike would interrupt the work, but arrangements have been made to proceed with the plan outlined. Every enumerator throughout the country has been directed to report daily to the census bureau and his immediate supervisor the number of names he has collected each day. Over 25,000 such reports have been received. In only a few instances have persons refused to give the information called for. Great patience will be exercised in such cases and every means exhausted to obtain the facts desired, but if no other means will answer the district attorney will be asked to see that the person refusing to reply is made to obey the law.

Extradition Treaty Ratified.

WASHINGTON, June 5. — United States Minister Lord, at Buenos Ayres, yesterday cabled the state department that the ratifications of the new treaty of extradition between the United States and the Argentine Republic were exchanged there yesterday. This treaty was negotiated in the last administration, but failed of ratification owing to the fact that it included a clause permitting each of the nations to surrender its own citizens upon extradition proceedings. This clause was finally omitted to meet the wish of the United States senate, and as amended the treaty has been ratified.

Foundry Workmen Strike.

BUFFALO, June 5.—Nearly 700 laborers, members of the Foundry Laborers' union, struck yesterday for $1.75 for an eight hour day, an advance of 25 cents. As a result about 1,200 molders and coremakers employed in the various shops of the city are idle.

Italian Elections.

ROME, June 5.—Official returns of the elections just held show 271 ministerials, 89 of the opposition to the constitution, 68 of the extreme left and 8 independents were elected. In 33 districts the results are uncertain, and in 39 districts a second ballot will be necessary.

A Nest of Smallpox.

MANCHESTER, N. H., June 5.—The board of health reported the discovery of eight cases of smallpox in a tenement house in McGregorville.

Weather Probabilities.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

MORE ABOUT NEELY.

His Monthly Stealings at Havana Averaged $17,000.

HAVANA, June 5.—"What a thief that fellow Neely was," remarked Acting Director of Posts Bristow after inquiring as to the amount taken in May, 1899, and ascertaining that it was $31,312.95. Neely's monthly average was about $17,000. His system of bookkeeping was simplicity itself. Apparently he merely divided the amounts received, taking one-half for himself and accounting for the other.

Yesterday morning the examination of Mr. Estes G. Rathbone, former director of posts, was continued. It lasted more than four hours. The most startling fact developed was that on May 26 of last year Mr. Rathbone ordered Special Agents Leatherer and Sullivan to examine the accounts. They found a shortage, but it was not thought that anything had gone wrong. They reported, however, that there was no check upon the bureau of finance, and they recommended that certain blank forms be made which would answer the purpose, such as all postmasters use when making their reports to the department monthly. Mr. Maynard, then chief agent, indorsed this recommendation and forwarded it to Mr. Rathbone. The latter approved it and sent it to Auditor Reeves, who initialed and forwarded it to Neely. After he had initialed it instead of putting the scheme into operation he quietly pigeonholed it, and it did not see the light until May 15 of this year, when the plan was put into effect.

Mr. Bristow says he is almost sure that the extent of the steal will amount to something between $80,000 and $100,000, but that this will not touch the item of surcharge stamps, which is $411,000. As to how many of these were burned and how many sold it is impossible to obtain definite information. As many have been traced it is known positively that not all were destroyed, but if Neely sold, say, $50,000 or $100,000 worth it would not be surprising, Mr. Bristow thinks, to find them scattered all over the world.

The postal inspectors say it is astonishing that a system so rotten could have been concealed beyond the first month. Every day only adds to the surprises. Lieutenant Colonel Burton, Mr. Jones, the special prosecutor, and Mr. Stevens left last night for the United States.

Roosevelt's Reasons.

ALBANY, June 5.—Governor Roosevelt has made public his reasons for granting the application for the extradition of Charles W. F. Neely, implicated in the Cuban postal frauds. He said: "I went over the briefs submitted to me by both sides carefully and also consulted very carefully with the attorney general in the matter. While admitting that an argument could be made out on both sides, it seemed perfectly clear to me that in both law and morals it was my duty to grant the extradition of Mr. Neely. I was glad that the decisions before me warranted this action, because I feel that the reasons for granting an extradition in the case of another state apply with tenfold greater force in the case of Cuba, where the United States is bound by every consideration to see that its officials give it an administration that shall be literally stainless in point of integrity."

Troops Healthy In the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—An expert estimate of the sanitary conditions among the troops in the Philippines is afforded by a published letter from one of the army nurses in the Manila hospital, from which this extract was taken: "The ones who served in the terrible epidemic of fever in the south during the memorable summer of 1898 find the work here comparatively light. There is a little typhoid fever, the majority of medical cases at present being malaria and dysentery. Those who have been here sufficiently long to have seen a rainy season tell us of the wonderful things we may expect between the months of July and December, when the hospitals are overrun with patients suffering from rheumatism and pneumonia. The percentage of illness among the troops, however, is small, as is also the death rate of the hospitals."

Training Ship Goes to Sea.

PHILADELPHIA, June 5.—The old time frigate Lancaster, now a training ship, passed out to sea yesterday for Southampton and from there will go to Leith, Scotland. She will then cruise in the Baltic, visiting Christiania, Copenhagen and Stockholm. Later her flag will be seen at Antwerp and Gravesend. On Sept. 7 she will enter the port of Havre, and two weeks later she will leave for Lisbon and Gibraltar. After a visit to the Madeira islands the Lancaster will sail for Hampton Roads, where she is due Dec. 1. There are 500 boys and landsmen on the Lancaster.

Murdered In His Office.

VINELAND, N. J., June 5.—Dr. Giles Chambers, a prominent physician of this city, was brutally murdered yesterday in his office by an unknown assassin or assassins, who succeeded in making their escape. His skull was crushed in as if he had been struck from behind with a heavy bludgeon, and there was also a deep cut on the back of his head. The body was found by the doctor's son and lay on the floor in a pool of blood.

Killed by a Collision.

WELDON, N. C., June 5.—A collision occurred on the Atlantic Coast Line railroad near here in which two men were instantly killed and three seriously injured. No. 32, known as the Atlantic Coast Line fast mail train, ran into an open switch at Garysburg, resulting in a collision with some freight cars.

A Bridge at Niagara.

ALBANY, June 5.—Bids have been opened by State Engineer and Surveyor Edward A. Bond for the construction of a bridge from the mainland to Goat island over the Niagara river in the state reservation at Niagara Falls, for which the legislature appropriated $120,000 last winter.

Mrs. John Sherman Dead.

MANSFIELD, O., June 5.—Mrs. John Sherman died at midnight, 72 years of age. She was Miss Margaret Cecilia Stewart, only child of the late Judge Stewart of this city. She was married to Mr. Sherman Dec. 31, 1848. No children. She was born here and will be buried here.

The Envoys In Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, June 5.—The Boer envoys and their party received a number of callers at the hotel yesterday. At 1:30 p. m. they gave a reception, several hundred people attending.

WORK NEARLY DONE.

Fifty-sixth Congress Winding Up Its Affairs.

PETTIGREW AND TELLER SPEAK.

House Agrees to the Senate Appropriation For the St. Louis Exposition and Also to the Mississippi River Amendment.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Congress is in the last gasps of the long session, and its expiration apparently is to be quite perfunctory. Unless something extraordinary occurs no further general legislation of national importance will be enacted before final adjournment. The senate was in session more than ten hours yesterday, nearly four hours of which were spent in executive session.

The only features of the day's session were the speech on the Philippine question by Mr. Teller of Colorado and the effort by Mr. Pettigrew of South Dakota to obtain consideration for the antitrust bill passed by the house last Saturday.

At night a picturesque session was held—a sort of social session—at which many of the senators appeared in full dress, and the galleries were thronged by a gayly attired crowd of spectators. Mr. Pettigrew replied at length to the speech of Mr. Spooner of Wisconsin on the Philippines, but did not conclude his remarks. The remainder of the session was consumed in the consideration of conference reports and in passing minor measures on the calendar.

The following bills were passed: Relating to certain railway corporations owning or operating street railways in the District of Columbia, making an annual appropriation of $1,000,000 to provide arms and equipments for state militia, to amend an act to prohibit the passage of special or local laws to limit territorial indebtedness, etc.; to relieve L. O. Maddux, doing business as Maddux, Hobart & Co., of an indebtedness of $29,000; providing that the secretary of the treasury proceed with the erection of a public building at Anniston, Ala., so soon as cession has been made of the site by the state to the United States.

The conference report on the sundry civil appropriation bill was then presented by Mr. Allison, chairman of the senate conferees. The senate accepted the report and agreed to the further conference asked by the house, instructing its conferees to insist upon its amendments.

Mr. Allen moved that the committee on education and labor be discharged from the further consideration of the eight hour bill and that the senate take up the measure for consideration. Mr. Aldrich objected on the ground that the motion was contrary to the unanimous agreement.

The senate then passed the house bill authorizing the construction of a bridge across the Mississippi river at St. Paul.

The house agreed to the senate amendment to the sundry civil bill appropriating $5,000,000 for the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis. There was not a word of debate on concurrence in the amendment. It was after 6 o'clock when the matter came up, and owing to the lateness of the hour and the overwhelming majority of the house in its favor the opponents of the fair appropriation did not even make a show of opposition. They contented themselves with demanding a roll call, which resulted 127 yeas to 75 nays.

The house also agreed to the senate item for the Mississippi river amendment reducing the appropriation to $2,250,000 and adding a provision for the preparation of a comprehensive report on the levee system by the Mississippi river commission. With these exceptions the items of the sundry civil bill still in dispute after the adoption of the partial conference report were sent back to conference. The disputed items of the District of Columbia appropriation bill were agreed to, and the bill went to the president, leaving only four appropriation bills still in dispute between the two houses.

Mr. Tawney of Minnesota is making an effort to delay final adjournment unless action is had on the Grout oleomargarine bill, but he met with no success yesterday. Everything, so far as the house is concerned, indicates final adjournment tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—A conference agreement was reached yesterday on a bill which will open to settlement about 2,400,000 acres of public land. Senator Shoup of Idaho originally proposed a bill opening to settlement the old Fort Hall (Ida.) military reservation, containing about 400,000 acres. Delegate Flynn in the house secured an amendment similarly opening a tract of about 2,000,000 acres of the Kiowa and Comanche lands in southwest Oklahoma. The conference has covered many weeks and has been very stubborn, but as agreed upon yesterday the lands will be opened as stated. The Indians first receive an allotment of Oklahoma lands of 160 acres each, with 480,000 acres to be held in common by them, the balance of 2,000,000 acres being opened to homestead settlers at $1.50 per acre.

Cuban Brigands Killed.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, June 5.—Rural guards killed Juan Gonzalez, the notorious outlaw, and four companions near Sagua. Gonzalez had been arrested several times, but he always escaped conviction because witnesses feared to testify against him. The officers of the rurals who killed him claim that Gonzalez and his band were slain in a fair fight, but there are natives who say that the outlaws were taken by strategy and then deliberately shot. Color is given to this report by the fact that not one of the guards was injured. The Gonzalez band was the last of the well known brigand organizations in this province.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: New Jersey—West Milford, Annie W. Thompson. New York—Minott, E. M. Farrington; Smithville, B. G. Kinnier. Pennsylvania—Ariel, A. J. Keyes; Equinunk, M. W. Southwell; Vilas, W. S. Russell; West Line, M. A. Ellinger.

Bonds Exchanged.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—The amount of bonds so far exchanged at the treasury for the new 2 per cent consols is $288,204,850, of which $85,208,900 was received from individuals and institutions other than national banks. The amount of old 2 per cents presented for redemption to date is $716,600.

Poor Politics.

There is an inconsistency about some Democrats at the present time that will make things political rather embarrassing for them after July 4th. Every politician, big and little, concedes that Col. Bryan is as sure of being nominated for President as anything can be certain in this life, and yet in the face of this fact they are patting themselves on the back because some of the State conventions of the party have seen fit to ignore some of the issues that Col. Bryan will certainly put to the front.

This is a Presidential year when the Democratic platform will have to be fitted to the man; not the man to the platform. And everyone knows what the man stands for. The platform that the Kansas City convention will adopt will undoubtedly be a thorough reflection of Bryan's political ideas, and it seems like butting one's head against a stone wall for the Democrats who expect to be "regular" this year not to be diplomatic enough to adjust their actions in conformity with this view.

With the naming of Col. Bryan less than a month away, State conventions are and have been avoiding the money issue in their platforms preliminary to the National gathering at Kansas City. What "poor politics" this procedure is can be readily appreciated by the following extract from an article contributed to the June number of the North American Review by Mr. Bryan:

The contest between monometallism and bimetallism is a world-wide contest—a contest which must go on until silver is once more a money metal equal with gold, or until the gold standard becomes universal. * * * It is needless to discuss the ratio since there is no division of sentiment among those who are actually trying to secure bimetallism.

There is a positive, earnest and active force behind the present legal ration of sixteen to one; there is no positive, earnest or active force behind any other ratio. Neither is it any longer necessary to discuss international bimetallism. The contest upon this question must be between those who believe in the gold standard on the one side, and, on the other side, those who believe in a financial policy made by the American people for themselves.

Mr. Bryan's position in this matter may not meet with the approval of all the prominent men in the party, but it is his stand nevertheless, and as long as they acquiese in the proposition to nominate him—which they do—it would seem to be futile and ill-advised to oppose one of the cardinal principles of his political decalogue. Sooner or later they will have to meet the issues which his nomination involves, and the quicker this is recognized the better it will be for them.

Some idea of how it pays New Jersey to be the "Cradle of Trusts" for the rest of the country is shown in the report filed by the State Board of Assessors with the Comptroller yesterday. The list includes 3,773 companies, against which there is assessed a tax of $1,554,126.01. This is $650,000 more than the amount of the corresponding schedule filed last year. The increase is due to the large number of trusts recently incorporated. Trusts are taxed on their capital stock. In the list there are 150 companies with an issued capital stock of $3,000,000 or more. The largest is the United States Leather Company, with a capital stock of $125,139,600. This company's tax is $10,006.98. The two companies which pay the greatest amount of tax are the Prudential Insurance Company, of Newark, whose tax is $117,376.32, and the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company, of Newark, whose tax is $84,289.34.

The average junk dealer in Plainfield ekes out a miserable existence, and it seems as though the Council was laying it on rather heavy in its proposition to compel the junkmen to pay a license fee of $25 per year. It would seem as though the public welfare would be conserved just as well with a moderate fee and the same stipulations as are proposed in the ordinance introduced in the Common Council last night. To exact a fee of $25 per year to deal in junk will undoubtedly result in driving several of the small and poor dealers out of that line of business, a purpose for which the Council does not exist. Probably there are junk dealers who buy stolen goods—and perhaps knowingly—but the Council ought to be able to pass an ordinance that will be strict enough in other particulars to suppress such practices without imposing a fee of $25 per year on all dealers.

Plainfield's talented and enterprising club woman, Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, is in attendance at the biennial congress of the National Federation of Women's Clubs being held in Milwaukee, where she is reporting the proceedings for the Newark Evening News. Mrs. Hall, like her brilliant and famous mother, Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, has a graceful and entertaining manner of writing, and her reports of this important meeting of club women will prove one of the most interesting features of the News during the convention.

The present yearly expenses of running the United States government is $514,480.254. The outlay for conducting military operations is a separate matter, and has caused a debt of over $200,000,000 since war was declared with Spain.

Former Senator Hill seems to be having a good deal of trouble to keep in the saddle on the back of the Democratic donkey in New York State.

Congress will adjourn tomorrow.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest to Plainfield.

It took the State Democracy a long time to appreciate James Martine, of Union county, but since it did pick him up in an honorable way, let's hope thtt it won't drop him too violently. Mr. Martine is a good old soul, who would rather rather be Democratic in every fibre than eat a tasty dinner.—New York Press.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

There are few parts of the country—perhaps none—where the scenery is more extensively and atrociously marred by huge, flaring advertising signs than along the lines of the Pennsylvania and Jersey Central railroads between Jersey City and Trenton. There is no pleasant and attractive piece of scenery, of meadow, marsh, woods or field, anywhere along these roads that is free from these glaring and offensive signs. They stare you impudently and monotonously in the face on every side. If you want to look at and admire a beautiful stretch of meadow and field you are confronted with the importunate advice to take a pill. If you desire to feast your eyes on a lovely wood you see all along the foreground flaring admonitions, in red and green paint, at once to buy a "don't worry" soap, or a nerve bracing tonic, or an appetizing pickle. The ceaseless repetition of the experience jars and maddens you so that you cease to look at a landscape thus outrageously marred and take refuge in a newspaper or in studying your fellow passengers.

Florence Marie Ryder is the name of the bright little Miss that arrived recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ryder, of Central avenue.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 5—R. L. Pierce, who has secured an option on the property of Mrs. Sarah Ransom, states that if the deal is successful, a colored orphange will be erected on the site, 50x80 feet in dimensions and 3 stories high, with no cellar. The cost is estimated at $7,000. The plans are now being drawn and buildings will be commenced as soon as the papers are signed.

Mothers in the vicinity of North and Jackson avenues are now beginning to complain of the hydrant on that corner which has been out of order for a long time. A stream of water is continually flowing from it, which appeals to the small boys, resulting in drenched garments and consequent colds. A few days ago one fond mother found it necessary to change her young hopeful's clothes twice as a result of playing with it.

The first quarterly conference of the year was held in the Methodist church last evening. It was presided over by Rev. George W. Smith, presiding elder of this district.

O. A. Douglas has a garden that he can justly be proud of. He has potatoes in blossom and peas that will be ready for picking at the end of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wiedenkaupt, Miss Pauline Kratzel and Harry Zimmerman, of Elizabeth, enjoyed a pleasant drive to South River, Sunday.

Charles Milliken has completed the painting and lettering of George Huff's stage, and it was used for the first time yesterday.

DeWitt Smith and family, of Somerville, have been spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Swackhamer.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Fritz, of Plainfield, visited Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Harris, of New Market, Sunday.

The postponed meeting of the congregation of the Presbyterian church will be held tomorrow evening.

The regular monthly meeting of the Epworth League, of the M. E. church, will be held this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch and family and Edward Doyle, of Cranford, spent Sunday with Joseph Maier.

H. L. Terry and family, of Westfield, spent Sunday with Mrs. Emily Apgar, of Front street.

Mrs. John Wherly, of Somerville, has returned home from a pleasant visit with her parents.

Rev. Frank Fletcher, addressed the children of the Harris Lane Sunday-school last Sunday.

A. N. Randolph and wife visited Mr. and Mrs. Manning Randolph, of Piscataway, Sunday.

Four members were received by letter at the Presbyterian church Sunday.

About fifteen men were laid off at the Lincoln Steel works Saturday.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 5.—The Baptist young people are anticipating a very pleasant time at their annual strawberry and ice cream festival to be held in the church Thursday evening. An interesting musical programme has been arranged, and as this is the first festival of the season in town the society is looking for their friends to turn out in large numbers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Emery, of Bayonne, have been visiting at the home of Mr. Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Emery.

Miss Susie Morey, who has been visiting her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Morey, has returned to her home in Brooklyn.

The board of trustees of the Baptist church held their regular monthly meeting in the church parlors last evening.

Peter McDonough and daughter, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mr. McDonough's parents.

Miss Mamie Miller led an interesting Epworth League meeting in the Methodist church last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frentz, of New York, were the guests Sunday of relatives and friends in town.

Rev. G. M. Shott atttended the ministers' weekly conference meeting in New York yesterday.

BERNARDSVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Bernardsville, June 5.—The warm weather of the past week has resulted in the steady arrival of numerous cottagers and of guests to Somerset Inn. Memorial Day was observed in the usual manner, and the stages to the inn were heavily loaded with guests for the day. Among those who arrived for a day's outing were William H. R Hosford, J. H. Hough and A. C. McKenzie, all of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Pratt, of Morristown, and Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Cooper, Miss Marion and Dudley Cooper. Mrs. Cooper was formerly Miss Rosalie Purdy, a sister of Dr. A. E. M. Purdy, who owns a cottage adjoining the inn. Newton Stout, wife and daughter, are also registered at the inn. This is familiar ground to Mr. Stout, as his summers during his boyhood were spent at the beautiful country home opposite the inn, now owned by Mrs. J. H. Ballantine, of Newark, but formerly built by his grandfather, the late A. V. Stout, of New York.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 5.—The freight yard employes of the Lehigh Valley Railroad are now receiving the same wages as the freight yard employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The new scale of wages became operative on Saturday night. The wages of the night brakemen have been advanced from $2 to $2 28, day breakmen from $2 to $2.16, night conductors from $2.50 to $2 76, and day conductors from $2.50 to $2.68. The employes of the Lehigh Valley Railroad asked for an increase in wages some weeks ago.

Stillman Randolph has left the Sofield house and moved to his father's place.

It is reported that a new store will be built and opened in town this season.

The Lehigh Valley carpenters are at work framing the new switch tower.

Harris & TenEyck's coal sheds are about completed.

OVERSTUDY FATAL TO CADET.

Lieutenant R. C. Smith Had Set His Heart on a Captaincy.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 5.—Overstudy is held responsible for the death of Cadet Lieutenant Robert Clay Smith, who died yesterday in his home here. He was a student in the Military Academy, Midland, and was taken sick there yesterday morning.

Smith was ambitious and had set his heart on a captaincy. It is a rule of the academy that all lights must be out at 10 p. m., but the lieutenant managed to stay up until midnight poring over his books. Yesterday he was attacked with pains in the head, and to a doctor reluctantly confessed how in secret he had been overtaxing his strength. His greatest anxiety was that his illness might prevent him from obtaining the prize on which he had set his whole heart.

New Industry for Westfield

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 5 —The Hercules Motar Company filed articles of incorporation yesterday with the clerk of Union county. The company will be located at Westfield and will engage in the manufacture and sale of apparatus for developing power. It is capitalized at $25,000. The incorporators are J. C. Warner, of 173 South Eleventh street, Newark; Charles G. Bliss, of Westfield, and M. I. Hester, of 462 Pacific street, Brooklyn.

A Defamatory Letter.

Through the testimony of William J. Kinsley, the handwriting expert, of New York city, Prosecutor John S. Voorhees expects to convict William Manning of criminal libel in the Middlesex County Courts at New Brunswick. Kinsley was sworn in the case on Saturday morning before Judge Strong, and with his chalk and charts showed how he came to the conclusion that the defamatory letter upon which the trial is based was written by Manning.

Continues the Injunction.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 5—In an opinion filed by Vice-Chancellor Emery he refused to dismiss the preliminary injunction restraining the Greenville and Hudson Railroad Company from crossing Chapel avenue, Jersey City, with its tracks. The road is a part of the Lehigh Valley system.

Copper and Silver in an Old Well.

There is considerable excitement in East Orange over the alleged discovery of silver and copper on the property of M. B. Wallace, an octogenarian. An old well ran dry and Wallace had it deepened. The stone and dirt taken out was found to contain 5.50 ounces of silver to the ton and 9.80 per cent. of copper.

Object to Jail Adjunct.

The Cranford firemen object to having a jail addition to the firehouse to accommodate the lockup and are making efforts to have the committee locate it elsewhere.

THE FASHIONABLE SKIRT.

Plain Ones Are Still Worn—Different Plaited Varieties.

Plain skirts are still worn and have by no means been driven out of favor by tucked and plaited styles. They are laid in two wide plaits at the back or in a single or double watteau plait, and the lining is secured to the goods so as to make one with it.

In plaited skirts there is great variety. The plaits may be large or small, far apart or close together, almost the full length of the skirt or simply over the hips, the same size throughout or tapering. Some skirts have a plain tablier; others are plaited all around. Much depends upon the figure of the wearer and the material of which the skirt is made.

Light goods are often shirred all around the waist and hips, and the shirrings are usually held in place by lines of stitching, which secure them against the lining skirt, which is otherwise free, except at the belt. The lining skirt is quite plain and is carefully fitted, and care must be taken that the lines of stitching do not gather it into fullness.

The illustration given today shows a summer cape of black guipure over white silk. Around the shoulders is a pelerine of black cloth cut in points and edged with a ruffle of black taffeta and fastened by a large bow in front. A drapery of silk encircles the top of the pelerine, and the cape has an edge of white guipure and a ruche of pinked taffeta. The toque of white draped tulle has the crown covered with grapes and foliage.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

NEW TRIMMINGS.

They Match the Color and Shade of the Costume.

Cloth costumes are decorated with silk bands of the same color, which form interlaces, bows and motifs of a variety of shapes, adapting themselves to the shape of the garment. This is a flat and unobtrusive but elegant sort of trimming and is new. Less novel are the tiny, very full ruches of mousseline de soie which are placed close together to cover revers, the mousseline being of the same color and shade as the goods.

This tendency to match the color of materials and trimmings is shown in a marked way among the newest models and designs. Louis Quinze knots of lace are incrusted upon silky cashmeres of the latest weave and are perfectly assorted to the material upon which they appear. The same idea is carried out with other motifs, which outline tunics, boleros, tabliers, etc. Sometimes the entire lower half of the skirt is enriched with these applications.

The picture shows a gown of mastic voile. The skirt has a deep plaiting around the foot and a pointed tunic bordered with several tucks and a deep edge of bise guipure. The tight bolero is trimmed with tucks and guipure, like the tunic, and opens over a plaited chemisette of sky blue taffeta, which is crossed by little straps of black velvet fastened by buttons of enamel. The sleeves are tight, with tucks at the wrist, and the cravat is of blue tulle. The hat of mastic straw is trimmed with blue flowers around the crown and under the brim.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

Misapprehended the Necessities.

"Yes, I advertised for a clerk," said the lawyer, taking the cigar from his mouth and throwing out his chest. "What qualifications have you?"

"I can lie a little, sir," replied the boy timidly.—Yonkers Statesman.

Who Will Compete in the Western Collegiate Meet

This Month Will Witness a Gathering of Famous Athletes at the Ravenswood Field

WHO will win the majority of points at the Western intercollegiate meet? That is the paramount question at this time with the athletes of a score of western universities and colleges. Thousands of alumni are interested. The great public has become educated to a point where it becomes as enthusiastic over the making of a new record in the hurdles or a new mark in the pole vault as a high school sprinter is in the work of the relay teams at an eastern intercollegiate meet.

Ravenswood athletic field has been secured for the great event this month, and the entrants will wear the colors of Michigan, Chicago, Northwestern, Illinois, Wisconsin, University of California, Grinnell, Minnesota, Iowa, Oberlin, Purdue, Notre Dame, De Pauw, Knox, Lake Forest, Illinois college, Drake, Nebraska, South Dakota, and some smaller colleges. In many respects this year's meet will be one of the most important ever scheduled. The point winners seem to be so well apportioned among the universities and colleges that the wiset follower of athletics, be he even the shrewd A. A. Stagg or the doughty George Huff, cannot begin to make an approximation that will look sure.

Harry Cornish, the former Cherry Circle athletic director, is given credit for originating the western intercollegiate. Since Mr. Cornish left the west for the work of bringing out eastern athletes, the alumni of the various western colleges have made a success of the "western." But the athletic authorities, assisted by the professors of the colleges have come to the conclusion that the next intercollegiate should be held under the auspices of a faculty board. No matter whether alumni or faculty arrange the annual contest of the best of the western athletic world, the "Western" will always be the climax meet of the year. All dual meets fade into insignificance when compared to the big event. Notre Dame had one man, Capt. Fred Powers, who last year came near winning the western by his own individual work. Instead of depriving the meet of interest, this added to it. Few will ever forget the magnificent struggle between Powers, of Notre Dame, and Clarence Herschberger, of the University of Chicago, in the pole vault, when each had been fatigued by competition in several events, and their agreement at last to divide the points.

California's athletes reappear at this meet for the first time since 1895. In that year the visitors from the coast made an eastern trip, just as they have done this year, and then won the majority of points in the "western." California has a good team this season, but it was not too strong for the eastern varsities. Plaw, the hammer thrower, with a record of 155 feet, leads the list. He is good enough to win almost any place. Hoffman, the pole vaulter, with 11 feet, and Cadogan, the ten-flat sprinter, with Capt. Drum, are the principal athletes in the far western group. Many close followers of college athletics think that the meet will be between Chicago and Michigan. The Wolverines will present practically its last year team, except that there will be some new and promising material from which surprises may come. Capt. McLean, with .15 4-5 for the high hurdle and .24 3-5 for the low hurdle, 23 feet for the broad jump and five feet nine for the high jump, is a tower of strength alone. Teetzel can run the quarter mile in .50 2-5, while Barrett, the half-miler, can do a fifth of a second over two minutes. Wood is strong for the mile, and Dvorak is a young wonder at pole vaulting, having a record of 11 feet, made without much effort. Sigismund is good for nearly 40 feet with the shot put, and

J. CORCORAN.

Notre Dame's Great Runner and Track Team Captain.

JOSEPH BREDSTEIN.

Wisconsin's Mile Walker and Captain of the Badger Track Team.

Leiblee is about a ten-second man in the sprint.

Despite all comment, Chicago sticks to it that Charles Burroughs, the sprinter who won his points last year in record time, is eligible to the "western," although not eligible in dual meets, and Coach Stagg feels that there is no other runner in the western group of colleges that can beat Burroughs when the latter is in form. Another strong maroon who was seen in the meet last year is Capt. W. A. Moloney, of the track team, who can run the quarter in .49 2-5 and the half mile in less than two minutes. Fred Moloney promises to be especially strong in the hurdles. Other promising maroon athletes are Hulbert, in the mile; Brown, the bicycle champion of last season; Mortimer, who throws the hammer 130 feet; Schmahl, with 118 feet in the discus throw, and some men who are good enough to pick up seconds and thirds.

Notre Dame will not have one man to win the broad jump, high jump and shot put and tie in the pole vault this season. Corcoran, the 'varsity sprinter, when he recovers from a slight accident, will be dangerous in the sprints and runs up to the quarter. In fact, it is freely said that Capt. Corcoran will prove to be another Johnny Crum, he is so fast.

Illinois is getting stronger each day. Siler, in the mile with 4:42; Miles and Brown, ten second men, barring a little friction; Keator, in the broad and high jump with his marks of 22½ feet, and five feet eight inches, respectively, are likely point winners.

Northwestern has provided a surprise. Almost without previous notice Dr. Hollister uncovered a real competitor for western championship honors in Baker, whose mile at Iowa in 4:35 stamps him as one of the best milers the west has developed. The purple has little hope in other directions.

The Wisconsin university team, under the direction of Kilpatrick, the best half-miler in America, has shown little to encourage the Badgers, but the athletes at this school are of the do or die order. They are like Harry Cochems, the "strong man" who once did so much behind the line for the cardinal eleven—they are never known to quit, and the western may develop some surprises from Madison. No one at the 'varsity will admit that there is a walker who will beat Capt. Joe Bredstein, and those points for the mile might as well be chalked up for the Badgers right now.

The mission of Iowa, Grinnell, Oberlin and the schools that have not the teams that the larger schools can boast, seems to be to get in with the best of the individuals and attempt to get as many points away from the big fellows as possible. The field is perfectly free and open, so that the best man, no matter whether he comes from a big 'varsity or a small college, may win his points. The more the situation is complicated by distributing the points the greater the interest in the meet.

E. G. WESTLAKE.

Strong Pleas for Equal Suffrage

Champions of the Cause of Both Sexes Give Their Views

Why We Ask for an Amendment to the United States Constitution.

We ask for a sixteenth amendment because we desire to take our case out of the hands of the mass of voters and place it in the hands of the various legislatures of this country, believing that the intelligent and educated men of the country, the students of our government and its principles, are the ones competent to settle this question. We do not ask this because we lack faith in the manhood of the country, but because we lack faith in the vote of the newly-made citizens, the men who come from the old world, who know nothing of our public institutions, and who have not been reared in our spirit of freedom.

Rev. Anna H. Shaw.

We are not assuming that all women desire the ballot. All women do not desire any one good thing. There are some women who desire no good thing at all. There are some women who are not seeking the very best in any relation of life. If we had waited for a majority of the women of our nation to demand higher education, when do you suppose the doors of our colleges would have been opened to them?

Dire results have been predicted at every step of radical progress. When women first enjoyed higher education, the cry went out that the home would be destroyed. It was said that if all women were educated, all women would become bluestockings, and if all women became bluestockings all women would write books, and if all women wrote books what would become of the homes, who would rear the children? But the schools were opened and women entered them, and it has been discovered that the intelligent woman makes a wise mother, a better home-maker, and a much more desirable companion, friend and wife than a woman who is illiterate, whose intellectual horizon is narrowed by the circuit of embroidery and the minuet.

The larger intellectual powers of women and the greater financial independence of women have tended to elevate the home. There is nothing in liberty which can harm either man or woman. There is nothing in justice which can work against the best good of humanity; and when on the ground of expediency this measure is opposed, in the words of Wendell Phillipps, "whatever is just, God will see that it is expedient." There is no greater inexpediency than injustice.

We do not claim that the millennium will come when we are enfranchised, but we do claim that the millennium will not come until justice is done to all mankind. We do not ask the ballot because we do not believe in men, or because we think men unjust or unfair. We do ask to speak for ourselves because we believe men unwilling to speak for us, but because men by their very nature never can speak for women. It would be as impossible for all men to understand the needs of women and care for their interests as it would be for all women to understand the needs of men and care for the interests of men. So long as laws affect both men and women, men and women together should make those laws.

REV. ANNA H. SHAW,
Vice President National American Woman's Suffrage Association.

Women the Reserve Force Needed in Our Government.

Women are filled with a Divine passion for being helpful. In innumerable departments of philanthropy and reform they are doing everything in their power to put a lever under the lowest stratum of society and raise it. All this is but the beginning. I see our young women growing up with this large-heartedness and passion to help, and it all points to the larger opportunities for usefulness for women that are coming. I never felt happier or more cheerful, or more full of faith that after all this clashing and discord, the future will come out like the sun after a storm. Women are to be more, and do more, and stand side by side with their brothers and spur them on.

Mary A. Livermore.

Since women are already to do so much, why not stop talking about suffrage? people sometimes ask me. Because legal injustice always begets social injustice. In every statute book we are put down as legally inferior. Do you deny it? Who shall not vote? Women and idiots, women and paupers, women and criminals, unless pardoned out. In what a category we are placed! The ballot is the synonym and symbol of equality in a republic. We must have this symbol of equality before women can do their best work in any department of life.

During the civil war the major of the Twentieth Indiana regiment was brought to my house in Chicago with seven partly healed wounds, received at Gettysburg. In his eagerness to get home he had started before he was fit to travel. He got as far as Chicago and every wound reopened. His mother was a friend of mine, and I took him in. He told me that in the beginning of the battle his regiment was stationed on a hill with the reserves. The smoke hid the battlefield; they could not see what was going on, and the screaming of the shells was so terrible that he found himself trembling with fear. After awhile the smoke blew away, and they could see, on a hill opposite, other reserves, including the Eighteenth Indiana. Presently the other reserves were ordered down.

Down they came, like one man till the masked batteries opened fire on them. The grape and cannister tore through them, mowing great swaths. On they went, keeping step and time, making their way around great mounds of dead. And the Twentieth Indiana watched in agony the slaughter of their comrades and friends, and the major cried: "O God, why don't they call us reserves into action? We could charge down the hill and spike those guns."

I think of this as I read the papers; I think of it as I go among the slums, I say to myself: "O God, why do not these beloved men, the halves of ourselves, call on us, their reserves? We could save them!" The same lesson comes to us from our sick and wounded soldiers; it comes to us in all work for the uplifting of society. It is this that makes me—now facing my eightieth birthday—still keep asking that we women may be classed not with state prison convicts, but with the men of our own households, whom we have helped to make and rear.

MARY A. LIVERMORE.

Woman Suffrage in Wyoming.

Equality of political rights for the two sexes is as firmly fixed in the fundamental law and in the minds of all the people of Wyoming as any institution can be fixed in any American state.

Hon. Joseph M. Carey.

After a close observation, for all these years, I have no hesitation in saying that I have failed to see any disadvantage whatever arising from women exercising the right of suffrage and full political rights. They show as marked ability, as discriminating a sense of duty, in the exercise of their political rights, as do their fathers, husbands or brothers. They have sought office to a very limited extent, yet they exercise their right of suffrage as generally and as intelligently as do the men of the state. They have filled many places of responsibility, some elective, others appointive. The possession of political rights has opened many places of employment to women which otherwise would be closed.

The advantages have been many. A disorderly primary meeting in Wyoming is unknown, the elections are quiet, the most modest woman feels perfectly free at the polling booth or to serve as an election officer.

All good reforms move slowly. It takes discussion, agitation and education to remove a long-standing prejudice and conviction, but woman suffrage has come to stay where it has been adopted, and it will make headway and will eventually, I believe, encompass all of the states. No other extension of suffrage ever made has brought so much advantage and so little disadvantage.

JOSEPH M. CAREY,
Ex-United States Senator from Wyoming.

Suffrage a Civilizer.

I want to say this as coming from Colorado: The experience we have had ought to demonstrate to everyone that woman suffrage is not only right, but practical. It tends to elevate. There is not a caucus but is better attended, and by better people, and held in a better place. I have seen the time when a political convention without a disturbance and the drawing of weapons was rare. That time is now past in Colorado, and it is due to the presence of women. Every man now shows that civility which makes him take off his hat and not swear, and deport himself decently when ladies are present. Instead of woman's going to the polls corrupting women, it has purified the polls. Husband and wife go to the polls together; no one insults them. There are no drunken men there, nothing but what is pleasant and decorous.

Hon. John F. Shafroth.

Woman is an independent element in politics. She has no allegiance to any political party. When a ticket is presented to her, she asks: "Are these good men?" A man is apt to say: "Well, it is bad, but I must stand by my party." He wants to keep his party record straight. She has no need of keeping a record, and she votes for the man she thinks the best man on the ticket. That element is bound to result in good in any state. People say they don't know how it will work. They are afraid of it. Can it be that we distrust our mothers and sisters? We shall never have the best possible government till we have the women.

JOHN F. SHAFROTH,
United States Representative from Colorado.

Every Claim is Backed by Local Testimony.

If the reader wants anything stronger than the opinions and experiences of his neighbors, what can it be?

Mr. H. C. Lippencott of 39 Chatham street, says:—"I was a victim of kidney complaint and dreadful headache, so bad in damp weather or when I caught cold that I could not get about. I was in the hardware business at this time and the heavy lifting and being on my feet so much greatly aggravated the troubles. I was at my worst when I concluded to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I got them at L. W. Randolph's drug store. It only required a few doses to convince me that I had the right remedy. My backache disappeared before I had finished the first box."

Effect of the Meat Bill on German Commerce

The German Press Fear Reprisals That Would Be Disasterous for the Empire

THE debate upon and passage of the meat bill by Germany has been watched with interest by opposing parties in almost every country of Europe. In England, in France, in Austria and in practically all of the European countries that are buying of American agricultural products there is an element that is hoping for the day to come when they can successfully shut off American competition by the passage of just such a bill as Germany has adopted. That there is but little fear of such a thing happening is true. The interests that would support such a measure are much larger in Germany than in any other European state, and in Germany they would not have been large enough to have accomplished its purpose, even in an amended form, had it not been for the exchange of votes which were needed by the government for the passage of the naval bill.

There was a strong opposition to the passage of the meat bill in Germany by the consuming classes. To them it meant increased prices for a poorer quality of products. They were quite willing to take the chances of trichinae and other dangers which the producing classes claim American meats contain.

THE FOUR NATIONS OF WHOM GERMANY BUYS THE MOST.

Practically the entire press of the larger cities was strongly opposed to the bill and did all that was possible to prevent its passage. But a few days before the vote on the bill was taken in the reichstag the Berlin Boersen Zeitung contained an able argument against its passage. It showed by conclusive figures that Germany was laying itself liable to a heavy punishment if the American government attempted reprisals for the proposed legislation. It gave figures showing the increase of German exports to the United States during the past two years, which showed that the exports of the country to the American continent had very nearly doubled in that time, the first quarter of 1898 showing exports from Germany to America is $9,128,002, while the first quarter of the present year, ending March 31, were $18,106,000. These figures are but for northern Germany, as the export figures for the first quarter of 1900 had not been received from other sections of the empire, but it is asserted that they would show an equally large increase.

THE FOUR HEAVIEST BUYERS OF GERMAN PRODUCTS.

Of these figures and what this trade means to Germany this paper says:

It accordingly appears that in two years our export to the United States has nearly doubled and is now very important. The $18,106,000 are 77,000,000 marks in three months or 308,000,000 marks ($73,304,000) in a year. This is only for northern Germany, and the figures from the consulates general at Dresden and Frankfort are still to be added. These will bring the total up to 600,000,000 marks ($142,800,000). How many thousands of Germans now dependent upon this trade for their support would be without bread if it were to suddenly stop! In this trade Germany has surpassed all nations except England, whose insular position, richness in coal and iron, and free trade policy give it an advantage which cannot easily be overcome.

In referring to the possible effect upon the German sugar industry should the United States attempt reprisals in that direction this paper says that Germany has supplied to America in one year sugar to the valuation of nearly $24,000,000, and that this vast trade can be continued if peace and friendship is maintained between the two countries.

"But," it continues, "if we force the Americans into retaliation, as our agrarians wish to do with the meat-inspection law, and thus render impossible the exportation of our sugar to the United States, we will have no other purchaser for this enormous mass of sugar. The prices will then sink to the cost of production, and perhaps even lower. As a consequence, many sugar factories and the farmers dependent thereon will become bankrupt, and a prosperous German agricultural industry will be destroyed."

The object of the agrarians in forcing the passage of this law is described at some length. On this subject this paper says:

"Every form of foreign competition is an abomination to our farmers, and American competition is the greatest. They would like to entirely forbid the importation of agricultural articles into Germany, and have had incredible success in this direction, owing to the fact that the government needed their votes. Thus, for instance, the importation of living cattle from America is entirely forbidden for the alleged purpose of preventing the introduction of cattle diseases. American cattle are, however, being constantly imported into England without bringing disease with them. For awhile even the importation of meat was forbidden, as it was said to contain trichinae and other dangers. Now the agrarians are working in an indirect way; they demand two veterinary examinations of every animal, one before and one after it is killed. Our veterinary surgeons cannot, however, examine the American cattle before they are slaughtered, and, as a foreign country must not be better treated than home producers, American meat can be forbidden entry into Germany—a sly plan, upon which a strange light is thrown by the fact that the farming gentlemen wish to have the law applied, not to themselves, but to the wicked towns. When they butcher animals for use in their own households, the law provides that these veterinary inspections may be omitted."

Germany has bought but a small part of American meat exports for several years. Previous legislation has made it so difficult to comply with German laws that much of the effort that might have been exerted to finding a market in the emperor's domains has been transferred to other fields. Of our annual agricultural exports Germany has been buying but an average of 13.01 per cent., while England has taken 54.62 per cent.

Of live cattle Germany is buying practically none, and the same is true of live hogs. Of canned beef, which is now practically forbidden, Germany has been buying an average of 9.55 per cent. of our exports, while England has bought 65.53 per cent. Of fresh beef, which the new law practically bars, Germany has bought but an average of three-tenths of one per cent. of our exports, while England has bought 99.81 per cent. Of corned beef Germany has been a better buyer than in any other of our animal products, with the exception of lard, and has taken 10.64 per cent. of our exports, while of lard she has bought 25.33 per cent. of all our exports.

The average value of the canned beef which America has sold to Germany each year since 1894 has been $466,124; of fresh beef, $5,453; of corned beef and other salted and pickled beef, $361,429, and of lard, $9,086,807. Judging from these figures, the passage of the new law will not work any great hardship upon the American packers, for the importation of lard, the most important item, is not prohibited.

But, while Germany buys but a small percentage of our meats, she does buy large quantities of other products of American acres and mines. Our cotton keeps her mills running; our copper keeps her electrical factories in operation, and our petroleum supplies both power and light. While in these things Germany offers a good market, yet of them she must buy if her prosperity is to continue, for American raw materials are, to a great extent, the making of her commerce. MAX OWEN.

Production of Iron and Coal in France. The nations of Europe are interested in the increased production of iron and steel in France, while shipping interests have viewed with some alarm the decrease in the production of coal during the past year.

The total of coal was 16,549,994 tons, a falling off of 165,138 tons as compared with the second half of 1898.

The output of pig iron (fonte) was 1,280,347 tons, an increase of 15,480 tons.

The production of iron was 423,092 tons, an increase of 29,479 tons.

The worked-steel product was 624,482 tons, an increase over the last half of 1898 of 48,790 tons.

The product of the entire year 1899 was: Coal, 32,933,780 tons, an increase of 577,684 tons over 1898; pig iron (fonte), 2,567,388 tons, an increase of 42,313 tons; iron, 812,755 tons, an increase of 76,345 tons. Total production of worked steel for 1899, 1,253,701 tons, an increase of 79,626 tons; total production of Bessemer and Siemens-Martin ingots, 1,529,182 tons, an increase of 95,465 tons over 1898.

GOLF

For the second time this season the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club team scored a victory Saturday last when the contest between them and the New Brunswick team was played at New Brunswick. The score was 30 to 5, and the opposing team was not in it at any stage of the game. The first game of the season was won by Hillside over the East Orange team. These contests are in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club defeated the New Brunswick Golf Club at New Brunswick Saturday by the score of 30 to 5. Glenney, of Hillside, made a new record for the course of 85, the former record having been 87. The teams played as follows:

FALL OF PRETORIA.

Lord Roberts Will Make His Formal Entry This Afternoon at 2 o'Clock.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

London, June 5.—The War Office has received the following from Lord Roberts: "Pretoria, June 5.

"We are now in possession of Pretoria. The official entry will be made at 2 o'clock this afternoon."

TO REGULATE MILK SUPPLY.

Borough Board of Health is Preparing for Action in That Matter—Other Business.

A regular meeting of the Borough Board of Health was held last evening, when several matters were discussed. The question of regulating and governing the milk business was talked over, and it was stated that the list of dairymen, together with the number of cows owned by each, where milk is purchased, if any is bought outside, names of customers, etc., was almost complete. There are a few dairymen yet to be heard from.

The Board decided that all ice men, scavengers and garbage collectors shall have their names placed on their wagons, together with the number of their license. It has been learned that some of these people have been running two or three wagons under one license, and this provision will obviate this trouble. The Board is now waiting to hear from counsel, who is to inform them precisely as to what power they have in certain matters, and the idea is to conform to the city form of government in such maters as necessarily comes under the supervision of the Board.

QUICK DESCENT.

But the Emergency Brake Stopped the Babcock Building Elevator Without Accident.

The elevator in the Babcock Building started to descend with somewhat unseemingly haste last evening when the car was occupied by eight members of Trinity Commandery, Knights Templar, and James Carter, the elevator man. The party boarded the elevator at the fifth floor and Carter started the car on its downward journey. Somehow it went faster than usual and the occupants began to experience strange sensations at the prospect of a flying trip to the bottom.

Carter kept his head and, finding that the usual mechanism would not stop the car, applied the emergency brake, which brought the elevator to a halt just below the fourth floor. The Sir Knights made the remainder of the journey afoot by the stairway. It took longer but, under the circumstances, was more comfortable.

The capacity of the elevator is 2,000 pounds and as many as fourteen have been carried. The trouble was repaired by electricians and the elevator is running all right today. The trustees of the Babcock estate may decide to put in an entire new motor to obviate the possibility of an overload.

Compton avenue, between West Front street and Dunellen avenue.

H. E. Gayle, formerly of the firm of Pearson & Gayle, builders, stated in a communication that he had received a bill of assessment for property on West Third street, which was owned at one time jointly by the firm, but since the firm had been dissolved the property has been divided. Mr. Gayle asked that the assessment be divided so that each could pay the right amount.

A lengthy communication was received from the Eastern Bottling Association, in which the writer, Frank Linke, manager of the company, set forth some things which the company proposed to do. It stated that an expense of $18,000 or $20,000 a building had been erected at the corner of West Second street and Central avenue, and as soon as things were in readiness the company proposes to conduct only one place, and not two as some have supposed. The communication stated further that the place would only be used as a bottling place, and that no whiskey or spirituous liquors would be sold.

On top of the above communication, another one in protest against the granting of the wholesale license to this company was received from Eathan Lanphear. He protested on the grounds that no one on Central avenue wants the licensed place there, that an ill-shaped building had been erected over the building line, that it is an improper place for such a business, being near Reform Hall and many churches, and that most all the people living on the avenue and near by are religious people, and the Council should protect these people. He also cited the fact that it is a place where many children pass back and forth and it would not be nice for them to be obliged to go by such a place.

Another protest was received from Dr. J. H. Marcley and others. They claimed that there are two wholesale places now and that the location as well as many other things being considered, is not a proper place for such a business.

Both of the protests were referred to the license committee. A little later in the evening the application of the Eastern Bottling Association was presented by Mr. Gloak, and on his motion the same was granted, as was also the application of F. W. Coleman for a license for the Netherwood Hotel from May 1st to November 1st. Mr. Craig voted against both applications. All the other members voted for them.

Mr. VanHerwerden offered a resolution which provided that the sum of $2,000 be borrowed and charged to the fire fund. Mr. Tolles offered a resolution regarding the macadamizing of West Fifth street, between Grant and Monroe avenues, which provided that the clerk notify the petitioners that when they agree to pay 29 cents per front foot for the work, the Council will adopt an ordinance authorizing the work. A similar resolution was also offered by Mr. Tolles regarding the petition asking that Netherwood avenue be graded. In this case the resolution provided that when the property owners deposit $100 with the city clerk an ordinance authorizing the work will be adopted. Mr. Tolles stated further that as yet nothing had been decided about the city sprinkling the streets.

Building Inspector Doane reported that during the month of May ten building permits had been granted.

Mr. Mellick reported adversely on the petition for an electric light on Prospect place, between West Third and Fourth streets. Mr. Lee called up the ordinance, which governs the City Industrial Home, on its third reading, and it was adopted and ordered duly engrossed and advertised. A resolution by Mr. Lee provided for the purchase of one cow, thirty chickens and the erection of a suitable building to keep them in at a cost not to exceed $300. The cow and chickens are for the Industrial Home, so that the city may save on milk and eggs.

Mr. Tolles called up on a third reading the ordinance to open Madison avenue to Green Brook and macadamize the same, and it was adopted, ordered engrossed and advertised.

TILNEY IS CAPTAIN.

Leal's School Baseball Nine Elected Officers for the Ensuing Year.

The baseball season was formally closed by a meeting of the Leal's School team held yesterday afternoon. At this meeting the following officers were re-elected for next year: R. F. Tilney, captain; R. B. Schoonmaker, manager, and C. A. King, association manager.

The team won thirteen games out of sixteen, aggregating 165 runs to their opponents 65.

Boy Campers to Meet.

A conference of the Y. M. C. A. boy campers will be held at the building Saturday evening. Items of interest concerning the camp will be discussed.

A HOME FOR FIREMEN.

IT WILL BE FORMALLY OPENED IN BOONTON JUNE 23D.

The Total Expenditure on the Institution Has Been $75,000—Places for Forty-five Men.

The State of New Jersey has given a check for $21,000 to the State Firemen's Home Commission to complete its last payment on the new State Home for Indigent and Disabled Firemen at Boonton, Morris county. This will complete the expenditure of $75,000 for the property and the home, which the State authorized the State Firemen's Commission to expend for this purpose.

The home does not cost the State a penny, but the State has control of it. The money is raised from the two per cent. fee collected from fire insurance companies organized outside of the State who are doing an insurance business in the State. This money formerly went to the Exempt Fire Associations scattered throughout New Jersey, but it has for three years been devoted to the purchase and improvement of the home, and what is to follow will be used for the maintenance of the home.

Through the generosity of the Exempt associations scattered throughout the State, the home is finished, ready for occupancy.

It formerly belonged to the Lathrop estate and has ample and elegant grounds. The mansion had to be enlarged so as to secure an ample dining-room and kitchen. At the present time the accommodations are limited to forty-five men, but can be increased to several hundred when the demands are made on it.

The transfer of this home by the present commission will take place Saturday afternoon, June 23d, and is to be made an imposing affair by the exempt and old firemen.

The date was originally fixed for June 9th, but when Governor Voorhees discovered that he had to go to Europe he requested a change. The formal opening will bring hundreds of old firemen to Boonton from all over the State. They will participate in a street parade and have a reunion.

—All the members of the medical staff of the hospital, with the exception of Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, Dr. W. C. Boone and Dr. J. H. Carman, are in Atlantic City attending the State Medical Association meeting.

WAR BEGUN TO BREAK TELEPHONE MONOPOLY

Branch of State Telephone Company Fighting for a Foothold in Plainfield.

WHAT IS OFFERED NOW.

DOUBTFUL CHANCE OF SUCCESS FOR INVADING COMPANY.

Has Petitioned the City and Borough Councils for Local Franchises—Rates Are Lower Than Present Company's.

Plainfielders are enjoying the prospect of a telephone war in the near future. The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has an exchange here with over 500 subscribers, while many of its wires are in underground conduits. The Plainfield Telephone Company, an offshoot of the State Telephone Company, has petitioned both city and borough Councils for permission to enter into competition with the company now in power.

The question that the Councilmen have to answer is whether or not the new company is going to keep its promises and whether there is anything to gain for the city in the admission of a rival company. If the desired permission is granted, then a lively time may be expected, as the New York and New Jersey Company is not going to give up one of its choicest monopolies without a fight.

The Bell Telephone system, of which the New York and New Jersey company is a part, controls by far the major part of the telephone lines of the country. In New Jersey and Pennsylvania there exists a rival corporation, the State Telephone Company, which claims to have upwards of 4,000 telephones in use throughout the State. The incorporators of the State Company are James B. Vredenberg, of Jersey City; Spencer Weart, of Jersey City; Andrew Dingler, of Jersey City; and R. H. Page, of Trenton. It now controls independent exchanges in Trenton, Newark and Jersey City and the Somerset Telephone Company, of Bound Brook.

Several years ago, Charles P. Sebring, of Greenbrook, built an independent line from Bound Brook to Mt. Bethel. This has since passed into the control of the State company and has been extended to Washingtonville.

The State Company made its first appearace in Plainfield several months ago when the Common Council was petitioned for the right to continue that company's trunk line through this city from Grove street bridge and thence to Second street and along the line of the trolley. The representatives of the company were given to understand that the permission would not, under any circumstances, be granted unless an exchange was established here.

Since then the Plainfield Telephone has been organized, and is said to be incorporatrd with a capital of $15,000. The incorporators are said to be Andrew Dingler, H. F. Atkinson and R. J. Emory, all of Jersey City. It is frankly stated that the Plainfield Company is merely a branch of the State Company.

The Plainfield Company has now applied to both City and Borough Councils for permission to establish exchanges here and offers to give unlimited service to residences for $24 a year and to business houses and offices for $36 a year, which is considerably less than the present rate of the N. Y. and N. J. Company. It also wants permission in this city to put its wires underground in such streets as the city shall designate. Here the matter has been referred to the street committee while the ordinance committee has the petition in the borough.

Despite the offer of lower rates, it looks doubtful if the new company will secure the desired permission. Those who are fully informed as to the situation declare that unless the new company has some very great advantages to offer the present municipal administration is not likely to look with favor upon them.

The reasons advanced are that, while competition is a good thing under most circumstances, it will really benefit the city but little in this case. The present company has a big exchange and has many of its wires underground. A new company would make it necessary for every enterprising merchant to have both services in his place of business, which would mean an increased expense. Then it would be necessary to tear up many of the streets to put the wires underground. All these things will be taken into consideration.

The promoters of the new company

IN AID OF MISSION WORK

FIRST BAPTIST YOUNG WOMEN CONDUCT A SUCCESSFUL SALE.

Sunday-school Room Prettily Decorated for the Occasion—Those Who Helped.

The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church conducted a successful cake and apron sale in the Sunday-school room yesterday afternoon and evening. The object for which the affair was given was to raise funds to assist the members in doing missionary work. They pledge themselves to raise about so much money each year, and this is one of the many ways adopted to do it.

The room was prettily decorated with wild flowers and mountain smilax. The committee in charge of the decorations consisted of Mrs. W. O. Chapman, Miss May Shreve, Miss Ella Serrell, Miss Deborah Winn, Miss Mattie Evans, Miss Velma Oakley.

One corner of the room was devoted to the sale of all kinds of aprons. Miss Sue Woodland, Mrs. D. R. Douglass, Miss Edith Cairns, Miss Alice Scribner, Miss Carrie Drake and Miss Grace Adams were in charge.

Another part was used for the sale of home-made cakes. This was in charge of Mrs. Frank Jones, Mrs. R. W. Barnes, Miss Mary French, Miss Jessie Coddington, Mrs. Harry Coddington. A candy table was presided over by Miss Bertha Thorn, Miss Bertha Needham, Miss Charlotte Suydam and Miss Florence Serrell. The ice cream was in charge of Miss Belle Lewis and Miss Edith Miles, and they were assisted by the following waitresses: The Misses Grace and Bessie TenEyck, Nellie Mantz, Pauline Denton, May Batchelor, Edna Lewis, Elsie Drake, Bessie Flanders, Mamie Henry, Bessie Wilson, Ethel King, Annie Hillman, Minnie Nischwitz, May Mulford, Bertha Miles, Helen Boice, Clyde Slater, Kathryn Rocap and Gladys Biglow.

TO HELP THE CITY NURSE.

Festival Held by King's Daughters to Raise Money for a Worthy Cause.

There is no worthier cause to be found than that of aiding those who are sick or disabled, consequently when the King's Daughters of the Monroe Avenue church announced that they would hold a fair for the benefit of the city nurse they received many offers of articles for disposal. The fair was held last evening and many of the contributors became buyers.

The articles for sale were attractively displayed on two long tables and were presided over by Mrs. Walter Manning and the Misses Elizabeth Forster, Alice Forster and Alice Beekman. Then there was a third table, supplied with candies which found a ready sale. Miss Minnie Whitely and Miss Annie Stafford took charge of this department. No entertainment or fair is complete without ice cream and cake, and this one was no exception to the rule. The frozen delicacy was sold by the following waitresses: Mrs. Mansfield Smith and the Misses Hannah Forster, Rosie Adams, Lydia Ackerman, Edith Manning and Mamie Kriney.

Plainfield Loses a Talented Pastor.

Rev. H. C. Eyme, of 78 Duer street, formerly pastor of the German Lutheran church on Grove street, has been supplying the pulpit of the German Lutheran church at Corona, a growing suburb of Flushing, L. I., for the past three months, and has finally yielded to a very flattering call from the officers and members of the church to become the permanent pastor. The many friends he and his family have made during their residence in Plainfield will regret to learn that he removes to Corona on the first of July to assume his duties as pastor of the church at that place.

A Good Time in Prospect.

Those who have attended the strawberry festivals at Trinity Reformed church under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society, have always had a delightful time. There will be no exception to the rule this year. The annual festival will be held Thursday and Friday afternoons and evenings in the Sunday-school room. There will be a number of pleasing features while the festival is being held.

Plainfielders in Produce Exchange.

A goodly share of the honors due to worth and popularity has again fallen into the hands of Plainfield citizens, when at the election of officers of the Produce Exchange held on Monday, Elliott T. Barrows was chosen president, Frederic H. Andrews, vice-president, and John Valiant, manager for two years.

STRINGENT RULES FOR LOCAL MILK DEALERS

New Milk Supply Ordinance Was Passed by Health Board on Second Reading.

MEETING HELD YESTERDAY.

CERTIFICATE GIVEN TO THOSE WHO COMPLY WITH REGULATIONS

The Regulations Will Not Be Compulsory, But Only Those Who Conform With Them Will Receive Certificate.

The only important act of the Plainfield Board of Health at its regular meeting yesterday afternoon was to pass the ordinance regulating the milk supply on its second reading. The ordinance was a direct result of the agitation following the epidemic here and is said to be the most complete of its kind in the country.

In attempting to regulate the milk supply the Board was confronted with a problem. While rules and regulations for dairies within the city limits could be easily enforced, it was not possible to do so when the source of the milk supply of local dealers was located elsewhere, as is largely the case. So a novel method has been evolved that the Corporation Counsel has duly approved.

The Board has drawn up certain regulations. All milk dealers who will agree to comply with them and do so will receive a certificate to that effect. There will be no compulsion in the matter, but the Board hopes that the milk dealers will see that it is to their own advantage to conform with these rules and thus secure a certificate.

Two certificates are provided for in section 1 of the ordinance. The first is given when the milk dealer agrees to comply with the regulations and the other when he has complied. The latter will be renewed every ninety days after inspection, but is revokable at any time on due cause.

Section 3 requires that a list of sources of milk supply and customers be furnished the Board every three months, and that the stables be light, dry and well ventilated. Each cow shall have three feet of width when in stanchions and when no artificial means of ventilators are provided, each animal shall have at least 500 cubic feet of air space. The stables shall have a tight dry floor and the ceiling shall be whitewashed whenever deemed necessary by the Board. Manure shall not be allowed to accumulate in large quantities in the vicinity of the stables. The cows shall be kept in clean condition. No milk is to be sold that comes from any cow that has calved in ten days or is about to calve within sixty days.

Cattle are to be fed on sweet and wholesome food and distillery slops and fermented brewers' grains are prohibited. The milkers and other attendants must be personally clean and shall wash their hands and brush or change their clothes before milking. All the utensils must be thoroughly washed and sterilized before being used again.

Milk is to be removed at once from the stable to a separate room and kept properly cooled. No tickets for the sale of milk are to be used more than once. Bottles must be sterilized before refilling of bottles in the wagons.

When anyone connected with the dairy or any member of the family be taken ill with a contagious disease, the Board shall be notified and no more milk sold until the matter has been thoroughly investigated by the Board. Before any milk is sold the the cows must be examined by a competent veterinary appointed by the Board at the expense of the dealer and then inspected every thirty days by him. In case of sickness breaking out in the herd the Board is to be notified at once and no milk sold until the matter is properly investigated.

The closing sections of the ordinance provide that a list of certificates shall be kept at the Board of Health office and shall be open to public inspection. Furthermore that, in case of revocation of a certificate, notice is to be sent to all customers and the fact advertised in the newspapers. A bond of $200 is required to show the good faith of the milk dealer. A charge of $2 will be made for the first license and for every fourth renewal.

A copy of the ordinance is now open to the public at the Board of Health office. It will come up for third reading at the next regular meeting of the Board when it will undoubtedly be passed.

Miss Jennie Simpson sails for Europe Saturday to visit friends of her father and mother. She will also visit the Paris Exposition.

WOMAN CHASED A THIEF

MIDNIGHT FROWLER PUT TO ROUT BY MRS. FLANDERS.

Stranger Was Trying to Break Into Cellar When Mrs. Flanders Attacked Him.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 6.—Mrs. Charles N. Flanders, of this place, is receiving the congratulations of her friends over a remarkable display of nerve and courage in an encounter with a sneak thief at her home yesterday morning between 5 and 6 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Flanders have suffered in the past by small depredations, but yesterday morning the climax was reached when the thief made an attempt to force an entrance into the basement in search of something more profitable. Mr. and Mrs. Flanders sleep on the first floor and the noise made by the would-be burglar awakened Mrs. Flanders. She concluded to dress and investigate the matter more thoroughly. While dressing she looked out of the window and saw a strange man with a bag in his hand go down the steps leading to the basement. Calling her husband, she finished dressing and grabbed the first article of defense that was handy—a large cane. Out of the door she ran and went straight for the man who was busily engaged trying to effect an entrance. His operations were rudely interrupted by a good whack on the back from the cane which was being wielded by a determined woman.

Before he could recover from his astonishment he was the recipient of another blow from Mrs. Flanders. By this time he had made up his mind that a good run was better than a poor stand. Then began a remarkable race, Mrs. Flanders following just close enough to reach the man, and every time she landed the stranger yelled. The race was kept up until the thief was off her property and Mrs. Flanders was satisfied he had learned a lesson that he will remember for some time.

The man was a stranger to Mrs. Flanders and was no doubt some tramp who had selected the place as an easy mark, but will no doubt tell his friends that he was mistaken.

TWO BICYCLES STOLEN

BICYCLE THIEVES PLIED THEIR TRADE LAST NIGHT WITH IMPUNITY

George H. Kenyon Lost Wheel in Front of Y. M. C. A Building—Lady's Wheel Stolen.

The bicycle thieves did a good business yesterday. In the afternoon they appropriated a Chapman wheel belonging to George H. Kenyon, the West Front street bicycle dealer, from the vestibule of the Y. M. C. A. building. In the evening they departed with a ladies' Orient chainless, left standing against the residence of Mrs. L. E. Howard, of 312 LaGrande avenue.

This is the second wheel Kenyon has had stolen in a month. He lost one May 11th. His son, Wm. A. Kenyon, went down to the Y. M. C. A. building yesterday afternoon and carried the wheel up into the vestibule for safe keeping. The theft occurred at about 5 o'clock. When Kenyon came out the bicycle was gone. It was a Chapman wheel, 99 model, No. 1,404, with oval crown and nickel forks.

Mrs. Harry Squires, of Arlington avenue, spent last evening with her mother, Mrs. L. E Howard, of LaGrande avenue. She left her Orient chainless wheel leaning against the front piazza. The wheel was there when Night Watchman Jerry Cash made his first round at 10:30 o'clock. When he passed again at 11:15 o'clock it was gone. There was no trace of the thief.

Mrs. Howard has been suffering from a series of petty robberies during the past year. The wash was stolen from the clothesline one day. A table was stolen off the piazza one summer evening, and a bicycle belonging to another daughter was stolen and then the wrecked remains thrown in another yard.

Both thefts have been reported to to the police, but there is little chance that the thieves will be caught. After the bicycle thief plies his trade here for a time, the citizens may wake up to the necessity of making a vivid example of somebody.

Didn't Act Proper.

Marshal Emmons, of the borough, arrested a man, who seemed to be rather demented, near the old electric light station on Race street last night. This morning he gave his name as Ollie McGann, of Elizabeth. Nothing serious was found in his condition and he was placed on a car and sent home.

"TIP," THE BOOTBLACK, IN A VICIOUS MOOD.

Colored Man Badly Injured Fellow Who Accidentally Run Into Him.

VICTIM LOST MUCH BLOOD.

ASSAULT OCCURRED ON NORTH AVENUE LAST NIGHT.

John Moenk was the Cause of "Tip's" Anger—Struck in the Face with Bootblack's Box—Assailant was Arrested Bleeding profusely from the face and staggering from the effect of several blows dealt by Gilbert Thompson, the one-armed bootblack, better known as "Tip," John Moenk was found on North avenue yesterday afternoon shortly before 6 o'clock by Roundsman Frederickson. The Roundsman saw that the man was badly injured and after turning him over to the care of a bystander, he started in pursuit of Thompson, who had fled through a store on North avenue into Second street.

He was found in the rear of a store on North avenue and was taken into custody. The injured man was taken to the station house and Dr. Berg, who was called, made an examination of his injuries. His face was found to be badly cut and bruised and he was bleeding from a hemorrhage caused by a blow on the nose. The man was hardly able to stand on account of the loss of blood.

Roundsman Frederickson made a complaint of assault and battery against Thompson before Justice Nash, before whom the man was tried this morning.

Thompson claimed that Moenk, in company with two friends, all from Elizabeth, had brushed into him purposely and knocked his blacking box from under his arm. He drew back to strike the nearest man, when Moenk sprang in front of him and received the blow in the face. The police say that the running into Thompson was purely accidental and that the assault was uncalled for.

Moenk telegraphed from Elizabeth this morning that on account of his injuries he was unable to appear against Thompson. He was held held in $100 bail for examination Friday morning at 10 o'clock.

LIBRARY AFFAIRS.

Board of Directors Pass Resolutions of Respect for the Late Rowland Cox.

The regular meeting of the board of directors of the Public Library was held last evening. Resolutions of respect for the late Rowland Cox, who was a member of the board, were passed.

Alexander Gilbert having tendered to the library, provided proper means can be taken for their care and preservation, a large and beautiful collection of butterflies and moths, the property of Mrs. Gilbert in her life time, the matter was referred to the art committee.

The treasurer read his annual report, and the president was authorized to add the annual report of the board and present both to the Common Council.

It was moved that the framed engraving of the late George H. Babcock be accepted and hung beside the the Babcock collections. The thanks of the board were also extend to Mrs. Victoria McKenzie for her gift of the stuffed peacock presented by her.

The motion was also made that the thanks of the board be sent for the gift of musical books from the Lowry estate.

A Pleasant Reception.

The Misses Marion and Margaret Porter gave a pleasant reception to about thirty friends last evening at their home on West Third street. Dancing was the feature of the evening and was kept up until a late hour. A number of phonograph selections were given under the direction of Fred Slater. Guests were present from Newark, Westfield, New Brunswick and vicinity.

Not so Well.

The friends of Floyd T. Woodhull, of West End Park, will be sorry to learn that during the past few days he has not been so well. Another abscess has developed which may necessitate another operation. It is sincerely hoped that he may speedily recover.

Ministers on The Mountain

Through the kindness of Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Herrieg, of Park avenue, Dr. and Mrs. Rodman will entertain the Plainfield Ministers' Association next Monday afternoon at Mr. and Mrs. Herring's summer cottage on mountain.

TALENTED MUSICIANS.

ENJOYABLE MUSICALE OF MISS WHITNEY AND HER PUPILS.

Excellent Rendition of Difficult Selections—Was Assisted by Other Artists of Ability.

The musicale given in the Y.M.C.A. Hall last night by Miss Whitney and her pupils ranks easily first among similar entertainments given in this city. The smoothness with which the program was carried out, the ease and confidence with which the pupils played, the precision of touch and the finish with which each number was given attested to the capability and experience of the instructor.

The first number on the program was played in excellent time by four very young ladies, entirely from memory, as were most of the selections played during the evening. The little miss who next tripped across the stage captivated the audience from the start. She played a series of five tiny little pieces with an appreciation of the music which was remarkable in so young a child.

Miss Phillips was particularly good in the first of the three numbers which fell to her share. Miss Bertha Hurst Whitney, who has become a favorite here, gave "The Low Backed Car" in a most charming manner. Frank T. Ogden came next with three attractive songs, which were well received.

Mrs. LeRoy Gates was particularly good in "Murmuring Zephyrs," by Jensen, which closed the first part of the programme.

The second part opened with the brilliant and always popular "William Tell," which showed great facility in execution and was the finest performance of the evening. It was rendered by Miss Whitney and Miss Utter.

Miss Emma Hyatt produced a favorable impression with Bach-Tours' "Bouree." There was a momentary hesitation during the second number, but she bravely recovered and finished the number, and in her third number more than redeemed herself. Her interpretation of the harp showed power and excellent command of the instrument.

Raymond McGee has a voice of beautiful quality, and all were glad to hear the full rich tones as he sang the three numbers which fell to his share.

Louis Hunt, of Brooklyn, who has been a pupil of Miss Whitney for the past three years, played with the ease and accuracy of a professional musician. The musical recitation, "In May," given by Miss Bertha Whitney pleased the audience greatly. Miss Whiting is exceedingly graceful, enunciates clearly and has an attractive personality.

The overture to Tannhauser was a fitting climax to the evening's programme. It was effectively played on two pianos with organ accompaniment.

Miss Whitney deserves great credit for the artistic excellence of the programme. The selections throughout the evening were of a high order, many of the best composers being represented.

The floral decorations by Mrs. Denton made a most effective background for the performers.

ALEX. KANE ASSIGNS.

Creditors Pressed Him and He Was Unable to Meet Their Demands in Time.

Alex. Kane, one of the largest stone dealers in this section, made an assignment this morning to Lawyer William G. DeMeza. Kane has a feed store at 222 Richmond street and his stone yard is located near-by. He lives at 312 Fillmore avenue.

Kane has done the city's work in flagging and curbing for the past two years and now holds another contract to supply the city with stone this season. He has a large stock of stone and feed on hand and some large book accounts. His creditors have been pressing him sharply of late and he was unable to meet his obligations as his money was so tied up in stock and book accounts. His liabilities will amount to nearly $2,000 and his assets will more than cover them. He met with a recent loss by fire that was only partially covered by insurance.

Senator Kean's Headquarters.

Senator Kean, the National Committeeman from New Jersey, has engaged headquarters for the New Jersey delegation at the Lafayette Hotel, and it is expected that the Republicans from all parts of the State will rendezvous there. Senator Kean's fame as an entertainer is well-known throughout the State, and he will do his utmost to look after the comfort of the delegation.

Mrs. Cadmus, of Philadelphia, is visiting relatives in town.

PREFERRED DEATH TO BEING ARRESTED

Bound Brook Italian Committed Murderous Assault and Then Killed Himself.

WAS JEALOUS OF HIS WIFE.

TRAGIC AFFAIR GROWING OUT OF OLD GRUDGE.

Travalgio Shot His Rival and When Cornered by Constables After a Chase Shot Himself in the Head.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 6.—Crazed by jealousy over the attentions of Vincenzo Gemino, an Italian laborer, to his wife, Antonio Travalgio, of Bound Brook, made a murderous assault upon the latter last night at 6 o'clock. He attacked Gemino with a shovel, severing one finger, and then shot him twice in the leg. Gemino was prepared for the assault and whipped out a revolver and fired a shot at his assailant. It took effect in Travalgio's side. The latter became desperately frightened at this turn of the affairs as a large crowd had gathered by the sound of loud words and the shooting. The shot that entered his side did not disable him and he started towards the mountain at a hot pace, and was followed by Constables George H. Murphy and John Friday, accompanied by a posse of citizens.

The officers gained rapidly on Travalgio, and overtook him, after a chase of a mile, in a vacant lot at the corner of Vosseller and Union avenues. Finding himself at bay the Italian pulled out his revolver and waving it into the air succeeded in halting his pursuers.

Constable Friday commanded the Italian to surrender, but the latter parleyed with him for a moment. Then he said that if the officer came within twenty feet of him he would kill himself. Believing the fellow to be bluffing, Constable Friday started forward. Travalgio raised the muzzle of the revolver to his ear and fired. He fell to the ground and the crowd that had witnessed the tragic affair rushed to the prostrate body.

Among those who had witnessed the suicide was Dr. C. A. Meek, of Newark, who was spending the summer in Bound Brook. He made a hurried examination and found that the Italian was mortally injured. He died ten minutes later. His remains were taken to the morgue. Gemino, who was shot by Travalgio, is seriously hurt and may not survive the wounds he received.

The trouble between the two men was of long standing. Gemino formerly boarded with Travalgio, and the latter became jealous over the boarder's attentions to his wife. There was a desperate fight between the two men a year ago and Gemino brutally assaulted Travalgio. The former served a year in State prison for the assault and was only released two months ago.

The dead man leaves a wife and four children.

LAID AT REST.

Funeral Services Over the Remains of the Late William Westerfield.

The funeral services of the late William Wecterfield were held yesterday afternoon from the home of his brother, Charles Westerfield, Central avenue, where a number of relatives and friends gathered. Rev. George Hauser, pastor of the German Reformed church, conducted the services and spoke well of the departed. He said that he believed that the deceased passed away in the faith. He spent much time with him toward the last and knew whereof he spoke.

Among the beautiful floral tributes were two pillows, one of which bore the inscription "From Your Friends." The other was from relatives, and there were several bunches of cut flowers. After those present were given an opportunity to view the remains, interment took place in the family plot at Westfield. Those who served as pall-bearers were close friends of Mr. Westerfield. They were Frank Randolph, Theodore Smith, Wm. Townley, Ulysses Force and Elwood Staats.

A New Band.

Benjamin LaVere, of Bank place, has decided to give Plainfield first-class music and a new brass band will be organized next week. Part of the band will be composed of professional men, and the other part of men who have had considerable experience in playing. The members will have new uniforms, and Mr. LaVere feels assured that the people of Plainfield will support him in his efforts to give them music of a high order.

—Woodhull & Martin are making a big drive in summer goods. The prices are right and the goods are of the best quality.

—The Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the Crescent Avenue church Friday evening will be of special interest to all.

—The borough school authorities are not having near as much trouble with truant scholars since the appointment of a truant officer.

—One week from Sunday evening Rev. J. W. Richardson will preach a sermon before the Odd Fellows of this city at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

—Ladies, clean your kid gloves with LaBelle glove cleaner. It is not a liquid, leaves no odor and can be used while the glove is on the hand. For sale only by Frank Bowley, druggist. tf

—The alumni association of the Borough Public High School has about completed arrangements for the reception to be given this year's graduates at the Park Club after commencement.

—The Mizpah Sewing Circle will meet tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. Andrew Cox, of West Second street, and in the evening Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., will hold a sociable at the same place.

—The Mutual Loan and Investment Company, of 118 and 122 Market street, Newark, is considered one of the best in the State, and it is prepared to make loans from $25 and upwards on all kinds of household goods and property of any kind. The loan can be paid back in monthly installments from one to twelve months. The company's advertisement appears in another part of The Daily Press.

—G. H. Kenyon, the popular bicycle dealer, has decided to make a big cut in high grade bicycles for the month of June. The White road model will be sold for $40, the racing wheel for $50, the "99" model for $35 and other wheels in proportionate prices. Mr. Kenyon keeps a full line of bicycle supplies at prices that are very reasonable. A specialty is also made of repairing of all kinds, and vulcanizing is something that is done at this place in a very satisfactory manner.

PRAISE FOR DR. CARROLL.

High Tribute Paid Him in Columns of Christian Advocate.

Concerning Dr. H. K. Carroll, who has recently been appointed secretary of the Missionary Society of the M. E. denomination, the Northern Christian Advocate says:

"The Hon. Henry K. Carroll, LL. D., is one of the ablest and best known men in the Methodist Episcopal church. His editorial connection with the New York Independent for more than twenty-two years made him eminent among the journalists of this country, and his subsequent services as Special Commissioner for the United States to Porto Rico have been of the most influential character.

"His genius for journalism was inate. Endowed by godly parents with magnificent physical health and with a solid moral and religious education, he commenced his newspaper work while he was but a boy. His first experiment in journalism was the founding of a country weekly, which still lives. He next became assistant editor of that bright paper, The Methodist, enjoying the great advantage of being associated with that accomplished scholar and gifted writer, the Rev. George R. Crooks, D. D., its editor-in-chief. Subsequently he had a brief connection with the Hearth and Home, then a short experience in the office of the Associated Press, after which he was for about a year a special correspondent of a Boston daily. He became religious editor of The Independent in 1876, adding to the duties of that position a few years later those of political editor. In September, 1899, he was appointed by President McKinley Special Commissioner for the United States to Porto Rico, to examine and report on the civil administration on that island and to suggest recommendations for a government suitable to the control of the country. His examination of the material, social, educational and political conditions of the island was most thorough, and have been fruitful not only in valuable suggestions to our government but also in most instructive and suggestive review articles and public addresses."

FIGHTING IN CHINA.

Admiral Kempff Lands Re-enforcements For Marines.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The secretary of the navy has received the following cablegram from Admiral Kempff, commanding the United States squadron lying at the Taku forts, at the mouth of the Pei-ho river, dated Taku, June 5:

"Engagement has commenced. Have landed force of 50 seamen more—battalion of marines."

The cipher message is not entirely legible, and it is supposed at the navy department the admiral means that he has landed 50 seamen to re-enforce the battalion of marines already ashore.

Empress Dowager Defiant.

SHANGHAI, June 6.—The China Gazette says it has the highest authority for stating that the dowager empress has ordered the tsung-li-yamen to face all Europe rather than to interfere with the Boxer movement.

Elsewhere it is asserted that the viceroy has ordered the troops to oppose the further landing of parties from foreign warships and that the troops now engaged in operations are designed to prevent further foreign re-enforcements reaching Peking.

Chinese Affairs More Grave.

LONDON, June 6.—The Daily Express has a dispatch from Shanghai, dated Tuesday, which says: "Russian troops have been ordered from Port Arthur to the neighborhood of Peking to punish the Boxers for killing two cossacks and wounding two."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Tien-tsin, dated June 4, says: "The situation is very serious. The Boxers are approaching Tien-tsin on all sides."

The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing yesterday, says: "The Boxers are within three miles of Tien-tsin. In addition to the marines the defensive force includes volunteers under the command of Major Higgs, late of the Sixteenth lancers. The town is practically under arms."

The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: "In official circles here it is believed that the situation in China has grown worse. The powers are now exchanging dispatches regarding the appointment of a single commander for the united European and American squadron."

Murdered by Boxers.

TIEN-TSIN, June 6.—News has just been received from the viceroy, through the men he sent to Yung-Ching, that Mr. Norman of the North China mission was murdered Friday or Saturday. It is thought that the viceroy knew of Mr. Norman's murder at the time of Mr. Robinson's.

More Aid For India.

LONDON, June 6.—The Peninsular and Oriental Steamship company has donated $25,000 to the India famine fund. The viceroy, Lord Curzon of Keddleston, telegraphs that cholera continues in many of the Bombay districts. The condition of the people there is deplorable, as a number of the large works are deserted. The Bombay government has authorized the opening of scattered village works, but it is reported that the situation is very difficult to deal with. Elsewhere the relief measures are sufficient generally in British India and are improving in the native states. About 5,770,000 people are now receiving relief.

New Labor Organization.

ALBANY, June 6.—Articles of incorporation of the New Era of Labor, with the principal office in Buffalo, have been filed with the secretary of state. It is proposed to build up a powerful and progressive organization of labor and capital which shall further the establishment of the eight hour day, the abolition of child labor and various other reforms. Among the directors are Milo F. Jordan, William Coulson, Seymour Nicholas, Dr. L. Phillips of Buffalo and others.

NEW YORK FOR BRYAN

State Democracy So Instructs National Delegates.

DAVID B. HILL CONTROLS CONVENTION

The Chicago Platform Ignored at His Behest—What Promised to Be a Stormy Gathering Ended In Harmony.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Delegates at large to the national Democratic convention:

David B. Hill of Albany, Richard Croker of New York, Edward Murphy of Rensselaer and Augustus Van Wyck of Kings.

Alternates: Frank Campbell of Steuben for Mr. Hill, Jacob Ruppert, Jr., of New York for Richard Croker, C. Morgan Sanford of Amsterdam for Mr. Murphy and James Shevlin of Kings for Augustus Van Wyck.

Electors at large: Frederick Cook of Rochester and Robert C. Titus of Buffalo.

No reaffirmation of the Chicago platform of 1896, but a declaration that the party in the state will support the platform of the Kansas City convention. No war tax in time of peace; parity of gold and silver as currency; abolition of all customs and tariffs between Porto Rico and the United States; condemnation of trusts and monopolies; opposition to entangling alliances; just and liberal pension laws and election of United States senators by the people.

This is the substance of the work done by the Democratic state convention yesterday in a convention that gave promise of being very stormy, but which ended up quietly. The particular feature of the convention was the domination of affairs by ex-Senator David B. Hill. The silver men profess to be satisfied with the result.

The subcommittee of the committee on resolutions, consisting of Messrs. Schraub, Grady, York, Milne and Mack, at a late hour in the afternoon drafted the platform of the Democratic party and submitted the same to the committee on resolutions.

DAVID B. HILL.

Senator Grady presented the report of the subcommittee, with a strong appeal for harmony, and made a very earnest request for its adoption and for a hearty indorsement of W. J. Bryan. "The indorsement of the resolutions by the committee," he said, "would serve the purpose every bit as well as if the committee themselves went to Kansas City to indorse him."

The meeting was held behind closed doors in Senator Murphy's room at the Hoffman House, and judging from the sounds that issued therefrom the debates and arguments were of a somewhat heated nature.

Norman E. Mack proposed an amendment of the resolutions by inserting the clause for the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform, which was defeated by a vote of 33 to 7. Mr. Mack said afterward that the adoption was not unanimous and that they did not get his vote because no mention was made of the Chicago platform. "No mention of the Chicago platform being equivalent to the repudiation thereof," he remarked in concluding his address to the committee. In the convention, however, Mr. Mack seconded the motion to adopt the platform as presented.

The principal planks of the platform are as follows:

"We favor both gold and silver as the standard money of the country, the money of the constitution and of our fathers, each to be maintained at a parity with the other in purchasing and debt paying power, which has been the steadfast policy of the Democratic party since the days of Jefferson, who decared that 'the monetary unit must stand on both metals.'

"We pledge our best efforts to continue the work of monetary reform.

"We are opposed to that foreign policy of the present national administration, commonly known as 'imperialism,' which contemplates schemes of conquest and the establishment of colonial governments in accordance with British theories and practices, demands large standing armies for purposes of subjugation, impoverishes the people with vast public expenditures, creates hordes of officials to rule over people who should be permitted to rule themselves, disregards the principles of the Declaration of Independence and materially changes the nature of our republican form of government. We earnestly protest against the wrongs, the usurpations and suicidal follies involved in such an un-American policy. There is no place for subject colonies under the American flag. The constitution does not contemplate the establishment of colonial systems.

"We demand that our solemn ante war pledges made by congress to Cuba and to the world should be speedily fulfilled in good faith, thereby preserving our national integrity and honor.

"We maintain that the constitution follows the flag over every integral part of the United States, affording to its inhabitants the protection and benefits of its guarantees of life, liberty, habeas corpus, freedom of speeech, freedom of the press, trial by jury and uniform tariff laws.

"A Republican congress has no more right to establish or govern a territorial or colonial system outside of the constitution than it has to create a king.

"We demand that every part of our possessions shall be governed according to American precedents and American principles.

"Our plain duty is to abolish all custom tariffs between the United States and Porto Rico and give her products free access to our markets.

"We condemn President McKinley and a Republican congress for a flagrant violation of this plain duty and for their hypocrisy and inconsistency.

"We express our unqualified opposition to those immense combinations of capital commonly known as 'trusts,' which are concentrating and monopolizing industry and business, crushing out independent producers of limited means, destroying competition, restricting opportunities for labor, artificially limiting production, raising prices and by reason of their alarming multiplication throughout the country are rapidly creating a condition which is becoming intolerable. These trusts and combinations are the direct outgrowth of the policy of the Republican party, which has created, fostered and protected them. It receives their support and solicits and accepts their prodigal contributions to aid its retention in power, and it is therefore incapacitated and unwilling to abolish and destroy them or even to properly regulate and restrict them.

"The Democracy of New York favor the nomination of William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska for president of the United States at the approaching national convention, and the delegates selected by this convention are hereby instructed to unite with the Democracy of the other states of the Union in making such nomination, and we pledge the unfailing support of the Democracy of New York to the platform adopted at such convention."

The new state committee met at 8 o'clock last night and without any friction and in very short order elected these officers: Chairman, Frank Campbell of Steuben; secretary, John N. Carlisle of Jefferson; clerk, Charles R. De Freest of New York; treasurer, Eugene Hughes of Onondaga; assistant clerk, J. A. Mason of New York; sergeant-at-arms, L. H. Wager of Rensselaer; stenographer, Thomas Hassett of Steuben.

FILIPINOS CAPTURED.

Major Johnson's Expedition Succeeds—Other Encounters.

MANILA, June 6.—Major Johnson, with two companies of the Twenty-ninth infantry and 25 men of the Eighteenth infantry, sailed from Romblom to the neighboring island of Tablas, where they disembarked simultaneously in four columns, converging upon a central point. The Americans encountered about 60 rebels, who retreated, and they captured 40, including all the officers, together with 10,000 rounds of ammunition and 24 rifles. Forty men of the Twenty-ninth regiment with a lieutenant were left as a garrison, the others returning to Romblom.

Company E of the Thirty-fifth regiment and Company G of the Fourth regiment encountered 50 insurgents behind stone trenches in the high mountains near Norzagaray, province of Bulacan. There was persistent fighting, and seven Americans were wounded. Finally G company by a flanking movement carried the trenches. Trumpeter Speaker of G company has been commended for "determined bravery" by General Funston.

Troop G of the Fourth cavalry, Company C of the Thirty-fourth regiment and Company A of the Twenty-second regiment are pursuing the captors of Captain Charles D. Roberts, who was taken by the Filipinos while scouting near San Miguel de Mayumo May 29. It is reported that the Filipinos have separated among the trackless forests.

Forty rifles, with artillery and a considerable quantity of ammunition, have been captured by the Americans in the mountains back of Dunalufihan. Three Filipinos were also taken.

The American scouts have destroyed the camp of General Mascardo. The natives report that Mascardo, with 200 men and 500 rifles, will surrender if given assurances that he will not be imprisoned.

Spanish Bonds Sell Well.

MADRID, June 6.—The conversion of the treasury debts is most satisfactory to the government. The results for the whole of Spain with the exception of Bilbao, where the subscription is also large, show that the holders of treasury bonds will absorb 452,000,000 pesetas of the new 5 per cent redeemable stock—that is to say, the entire amount less 5,650,000 pesetas, which was subscribed yesterday in cash. The subscriptions asked by the government were about 180,000,000 pesetas. The country has subscribed 4,355,000,000 pesetas. The loan is therefore covered more than 24 times.

Moors Preparing to Attack French.

LONDON, June 6.—Special dispatches received last evening from Algiers portray a serious situation. Thousands of Moors are massing at Figuig and in the neighborhood, preparing for a determined attack upon the advanced posts of the French. The French columns have joined hands at Zoubia, but the men suffer terribly from heat and thirst, and hundreds of camels died. The French are preparing intrenchments and are confident of their ability to repel an attack and even to take the offensive against Figuig if necessary.

Missouri Democrats.

KANSAS CITY, June 6.—A protracted wrangle in the credentials committee over ten contesting delegations from St. Louis and three from Kansas City blocked the deliberations of the Missouri state Democratic convention that met here yesterday to nominate a full state ticket. In both instances it was a contest between machine and antimachine factions. The indications are that the antimachine men will win a majority of the seats. The committees once out of the way, the convention, it is believed, will finish its work promptly.

Explosion In College Laboratory.

LANSING, Mich., June 6.—An explosion occurred in the mechanical laboratory at the Agricultural college while Professor M. D. Atkins was conducting an experiment in the presence of the students. Professor Atkins was seriously burned and the sight of his left eye destroyed by flying particles of glass. H. D. Hornbeck, a student, who was assisting, was also badly burned, and it is feared he will lose his right eye.

Fish Output For May.

ALBANY, June 6.—The output of fish fry and yearling fish of the state hatcheries for the month of May aggregated 66,702,010. This included 1,473,000 brook trout, 134,300 brown trout, 51,000 rainbow trout, 3,329,310 lake trout, 1,000 red throat trout, 3,795,000 frostfish, 2,721,000 shad, 4,490,000 muscalonge, 50,000,000 pike, 50,000 shrimp and 2,400 salmon.

SCENE IN THE SENATE

Bitter Partisan Debate Started by Pettigrew.

BYNUM DEFEATED FOR COLLECTOR.

House Also Indulges In Sharp Controversy Over Supply Bills—The Floor a Bedlam—An All Night Session—Adjournment Today.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—A tornado of partisan debate swept over the senate yesterday with Senators Hanna of Ohio, Pettigrew of South Dakota and Carter of Montana the chief figures. For sensational criminations and recriminations, for bitter personalities and for poignant invective the debate exceeded anything heard on the floor of the chamber for many years. The lie was not passed directly, but the truthfulness of statements was challenged very sharply.

Mr. Bacon of Georgia precipitated the scene by repeating a charge made several days ago by Mr. Pettigrew that Mr. Cramp, the Philadelphia shipbuilder, had contributed $400,000 to the Republican campaign fund in 1892, with the understanding that he would be reimbursed by contracts for the construction of warships for the government. This charge, Mr. Bacon said, had been denied neither by Mr. Hanna, the present chairman of the Republican national committee, nor by Mr. Carter, who was chairman of the committee in 1892. Then the storm broke.

Mr. Hanna vigorously denied any knowledge of such a transaction and expressed his opinion that it was false. Mr. Carter declared the statement properly could be branded only as a lie. Mr. Pettigrew not only reiterated the statement, but created a tremendous sensation by asserting that his authority was no less a person than Mr. Cramp himself and that in a conversation with Mr. Carter that senator substantially had verified the story. He also attacked Mr. Hanna relative to his election to the senate. Mr. Hanna replied in kind and expressed doubt of the South Dakotan's sanity. He was followed by Mr. Carter, who not only denounced the charges as figments of Mr. Pettigrew's imagination, but warned the Democratic side who now were the associates of the Dakotan that if they would "lie down with dogs they would get up with fleas."

Most of the day was given to conference reports and odds and ends of business preparatory to adjournment. A night session was held.

The senate rejected the nomination of Hon. W. D. Bynum as general appraiser at the port of New York by a tie vote.

The senate has confirmed the nomination of John R. Hazel to be United States district judge for the western district of New York.

The house entered the throes of dissolution, and all day and all evening the circling galleries were crowded with spectators. The picturesque incidents were few. Partisan passion, running high in the face of the impending presidential campaign, broke out several times during the afternoon, and hot words were bandied across the political aisle. Mr. Hull of Iowa and Mr. Lentz of Ohio crossed swords, and later Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio and Mr. Gaines of Tennessee had a lively encounter. Throughout the day at every opportunity there was a play for political advantage, and taunt and challenge were bandied back and forth. But all this was merely incidental to the work of crowding through the big supply bills which had the right of way.

During the interims between the consideration of conference reports members clamored like madmen in the wheat pit on a panic day for recognition for private bills upon which their political salvation might depend.

At the night session the galleries were thronged with gayly arrayed women, and the floor was a veritable bedlam. Hour after hour the conferees struggled on with their reports, the speaker, firm and resolute, steering the house through the turmoil and confusion. Toward midnight the galleries thinned out, but the tired legislators, with the prospects of an all night session ahead, remained in their places.

The conferees on the extradition bill have agreed. The bill differs very little from the senate measure. "Cuba" is stricken out and the bill made applicable to all possessions.

Dewey Off Again.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Admiral Dewey left here last night at 9 o'clock via the Baltimore and Ohio railroad for his trip to Columbus, Detroit and Grand Rapids. With him were Mrs. Dewey, Lieutenant H. H. Caldwell and Mr. J. H. Maddy, representing the railroad company. On the center window of each of the cars of the train was a miniature admiral's flag, with its four stars on the field of blue, the only decorative feature apparent on the train. A crowd of several hundred people saw the party off. The trip west is simply a social one and has, the admiral said just before leaving, no political significance.

Fell From Steeple.

COLD SPRING, N. Y., June 6.—"Steeple Jack," Stephen W. Romaine, while repairing the steeple of the Methodist church here, fell to the ground, a distance of 250 feet. He was almost instantly killed. He was at the top of the steeple and was clinging to the lightning rod, when it gave way. Romaine was 24 years of age and resided with his widowed mother in Yonkers.

A Gift From Helen Gould.

LOUISVILLE, June 6.—A report has reached here from Cincinnati that Miss Helen Gould has agreed to contribute $300,000 to Berea college, which has been trying to raise $500,000 for several months, but only succeeded in having $200,000 pledged.

Repairs For Turkish Warships.

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 6.—The government has signed a contract with the Ansaldo company of Genoa for the renovation of eight Turkish ironclads and are negotiating with the Krupp company for rearming them.

Illinois Bank Robbed.

WATSEKA, Ills., June 6.—The Bank of Donovan, Iroquois county, Ills., has been robbed. The safe was blown open and destroyed, and the burglars got $16,000 in paper and $1,000 in coin.

Tolstoi's New Book.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 6.—Count Leo Tolstoi has written a new work depicting the life of railway laborers. It is entitled "The New Slavery."

BRIDGE WORK

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

A VALUABLE PUBLICATION.

The Pennsylvania Railroad 1900 Summer Excursion Route Book.

On June 1 the Passenger Department of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will publish the 1900 edition of its Summer Excursion Route Book. This work is designed to provide the public with descriptive notes of the principal Summer resorts of Eastern America, with the best routes for reaching them, and the rates of fare. It contains all the principal seashore and mountain resorts of the East, and over seventeen hundred different routes or combinations of routes. The book has been compiled with the greatest care, and altogether is the most complete and comprehensive handbook of Summer travel ever offered to the public.

The cover is handsome and striking, printed in colors, and the book contains several maps, presenting the exact routes over which tickets are sold. The book is profusely illustrated with fine half-tone cuts of scenery at the various resorts and along the lines of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

On and after June 1 this very interesting book may be procured at any Pennsylvania Railroad ticket office at the nominal price of ten cents, or, upon application to the general office, Broad Street Station, by mail for twenty cents. 6 6-13

—The members of the Plainfield Primary and Junior Teachers' Union are planning for the summer school to be held at Asbury Park in the near future. There will be a large attendance from the Plainfield Union.

BRITISH IN PRETORIA

Lord Roberts Tells the Story of the Surrender.

LONDON WILD WITH DELIGHT.

There Was Serious Fighting Before Botha Proposed Armistice—The Terms Unconditional—Irish Yeomanry Captured.

LONDON, June 6.—Queen Victoria, surrounded by the Duke and Duchess of York, Princess Christian, Princess Victoria and many notables of her court, drank to the health of Lord Roberts and the army at Balmoral last evening. A great bonfire, lighted at her majesty's command, blazed on Craiggowan mountain, illuminating the countryside for miles around. The nation joins in the toast, glorifying Lord Roberts and turbulently rejoicing in his victory.

The dispatches of Lord Roberts telling of the incidents before the surrendering of the capital by three civilians stand alone, as the correspondents with him have not yet had their turn with the wires.

Lord Roberts' postscript announcing the loss of the yeomanry battalion came too late for the public to know it last evening. The newspaper commentators consider the incident deplorable, but as having no weight to speak of in the results. The battalion numbered between 400 and 500.

General Botha and most of his men got away from Pretoria. This is inferred from Lord Roberts' message, but the presumption is that the Boer commandant general cannot escape the British dispositions without a fight.

Operations elsewhere seem to have dwindled to nothing. General Baden-Powell joined General Hunter on Sunday at Lichtenburg. Sir Redvers Buller has not moved.

Mr. Bennet Burleigh, wiring from Johannesburg, says President Kruger took £2,000,000 in cash to Middleburg. Mr. Burleigh and Mr. Scull, an American, entered Johannesburg the night before Lord Roberts occupied the city and made a tour of it unmolested by the armed burghers.

The war office has received the following from Lord Roberts, dated Pretoria, June 5, 12:55 p. m.:

"Just before dark yesterday the enemy were beaten back from nearly all the positions they had been holding, and Ian Hamilton's mounted infantry followed them within 2,000 yards of Pretoria, through which they retreated hastily.

"De Lisle then sent an officer with a flag of truce into the town, demanding its surrender in my name. Shortly before midnight I was awakened by two officials of the South African Republic, Sandberg, military secretary to Commandant General Botha, and a general officer of the Boer army, who brought me a letter from Botha, proposing an armistice for the purpose of settling the terms of surrender.

"I replied that I would gladly meet the commandant general the next morning, but that I was not prepared to discuss any terms, as the surrender of the town must be unconditional. I asked for a reply by daylight, as I had ordered the troops to march on the town as soon as it was light.

"In his reply Botha told me that he had decided not to defend Pretoria and that he trusted the women, children and property would be protected. At 1 a. m. today, while on the line of march I was met by three of the principal officials with a flag of truce, stating their wish to surrender the town.

"It was arranged that Pretoria should be taken possession of by her majesty's troops at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

"Mrs. Botha and Mrs. Kruger are both in Pretoria. Some few of the British prisoners have been taken away, but the majority are still at Waterval. Over 100 of the officers are in Pretoria. The few I have seen are looking well."

Lord Roberts reports to the war office that the Thirteenth battalion of imperial yeomanry (Irish) was "overwhelmed by the Boers at Lindley." Lord Methuen made a "magnificent march to the rescue," but was too late.

Military Conferees Agree.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The conferees on the Military academy bill have reached a complete agreement. The senate amendments making General Miles a lieutenant general and General Corbin a major general remain in the bill, a provision being inserted in the lieutenant general amendment that it shall apply only to officers of the line. The number of cadets at large are increased to 100, 30 to be named direct by the president and the others apportioned to the states. These were the only material points of difference.

Fatal Fire Near Quebec.

QUEBEC, June 6.—The lumber plant at Ste. Etienne du Saguenay belonging to Prince Bros. & Co. of Quebec was destroyed by fire this morning. The loss will reach $400,000. Forty families are homeless as a result of the conflagration, and it is believed several perished in the flames. The telegraph office and other buildings are destroyed. The fire is supposed to have been started by colonists.

Swift Balloon Journey.

BERLIN, June 6.—Herren Borsen, Suering and Zekeli made a balloon ascension from the Tempelhof fields. They were driven within 20 hours to a point near Utrecht, Holland, whence they have just returned.

OREGON ELECTIONS.

Republicans Win by About 8,000. Woman Suffrage Defeated.

PORTLAND, Or., June 6.—Complete returns from 22 counties out of the 33 in the state show that in Monday's election the Republicans carried the head of the ticket by at least 8,000 plurality. Returns so far give Wolverton (Rep.), for justice of the supreme court, a plurality of 7,951. For congressman in the First district Tongue (Rep.) has 2,421 plurality. In the Second district Moody (Rep.), for congress, has 5,550 plurality.

The Republicans will control both branches of the legislature and will have a majority of 22 on joint ballot. The two houses will be made up as follows: Senate—Republicans, 20; opposition, 10; House—Republicans, 36; opposition, 24.

The woman suffrage amendment is defeated.

Counting in the city of Portland is not yet finished, but up to this time Rowe (Rep.), for mayor, has a plurality of 500.

General Wheeler Promoted.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The following nominations have been made by the president: Brigadier General Joseph W. Wheeler, U. S. V., to be brigadier general, U. S. A.; John K. Gladden of Maryland to be collector of customs, district of Annapolis, Md. Postmasters—John F. Nesbett, at Corona, N. Y.; Clark Grier, at Dublin, Ga.; Charles S. Shindel, at Tamaqua, Pa.; Walter K. Landis, at San Juan, Porto Rico.

Legislative Prospects.

It is about time for the politicians of both parties to become busy making slates for Legislative nominations. This fall there are to be six State Senators elected. The counties where vacancies will occur are Burlington, Middlesex, Passaic, Sussex and Hunterdon, now represented by Democrats, and Cape May, now having a Republican Senator. Naturally Hunterdon, Middlesex and Sussex are Democratic.

A Trenton correspondent says that Cape May seems to be strongly Republican because of the lack of Democratic organization there. Burlington is safely Republican unless when factional fighting is carried to the extreme in that party. It prevailed three years ago, when a Democratic Senator was chosen. Passaic is a doubtful county whenever the Democrats get together and make an earnest fight, as they did three years ago and elected Senator Braun. Much depends on Democratic cohesion this year as to the results in these counties. Should that party be in "ship shape" it ought to be successful in Sussex, Hunterdon, Middlesex and Passaic. Unless the belligerents of the dominant party come to terms in Burlington there may be another Democratic Senator chosen. Even should the Democrats elect all the Senators in those counties still they would not have enough votes in the Legislature to give them a majority on joint ballot, unless Essex county should turn a somersault by electing a solid Democratic delegation of Assemblymen and that is not likely to occur, says the Trenton observer. It seems morally certain that General Sewell will be re-elected to the United States Senate by the next Legislature.

Reform of Wayward Youth.

Students of penalogy throughout the country will no doubt watch with considerable interest the practical results that are sought for under the new probation law passed by the last Legislature for the purpose of reforming wayward youths without resorting to the extreme action of incarcerating them in jails and institutions where they are deprived of liberty and subjected to severe rules and discipline. Judge Blair, of Hudson county, is the first judge to bring the new law into play.

The law is designed to give first offenders the privilege of saving themselves from jail by good behavior. The prisoner who, instead of being sent to prison after conviction for a first offense, is placed "on probation" by Judge Blair, must not during the probation period leave the county or State without the approval of the probation officer. The offender, during the probation period, "must abstain from evil associates, the visiting of saloons, and the use of intoxicated liquors, and obey the law."

If the probationer misbehaves or violates the law during the probation period, the Court may send the offender to jail, like an ordinary criminal, and for a term to be fixed by the Court.

The true state of affairs in reference to the wholesale liquor store enterprise of John Mortimer is gradually coming to light. As insisted on at the time by the objectors to the application made before the Common Council, Mortimer was but a figure-head in the proceedings. After the Council had ignored public sentiment and lent its ear to the arguments of the politicians engaged in the effort to secure favorable action for the application, Mortimer and the men behind him had a "falling out." The result is observed in the failure of Mortimer to pay the license fee and thereby become possessed of the privileges which the Council so generously extended to him. It is to be hoped that the manner in which the Council was deceived in this matter will prove a healthy lesson for the members in the future.

Another native of New Jersey who obtained world-wide fame has passed away in the death of Stephen Crane. Although still young in years, Mr. Crane had made a niche in the literary world for himself by his cleverness as a writer of novels and sketches, his most famous work being the "Red Badge of Courage." It was a book replete with vivid bits of realistic descriptive writing, the power of imagination being developed to a degree that immediately won a place for Mr. Crane as one of the great novelists of the world. Previous to the success of this book, the young Jerseyman was a struggling newspaperman and author, living from hand to mouth each day. His success affords an encouragement to every young man of vigor, talent and perseverance.

Those folks who attend the National conventions of the great political parties every four years believe that the Republican convention, which will be held in Philadelphia this month, will be the most perfect in appointments and arrangements for the convenience of the attendants that has ever been held. The convention will probably last three days. As for the head of the ticket, it will be a veritable love feast—the naming of President McKinley being a mere formality. The contest for second place on the ticket, however, promises to be a lively one.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The various rumors that have been circulated concerning Thos. Washington, whose betrothed, Martha Smith, committed suicide a few weeks ago, to the effect that he had been married before he left Petersburgh, Va., led some of his friends to request Rev. E. E. Jackson to ascertain, if possible, the truth of the matter. Rev. Mr. Jackson is now in receipt of a letter from the clerk of the court at Petersburgh which states positively that Washington was never married while there and that he left that city before he was of age. Another letter was received from Thomas Washington's father stating the same facts.

The 1900 edition of the handsome resort book issued annually by the passenger department of the Lehigh Valley Railroad is now out and eclipses all former numbers, both in typographical work and the extent of the useful information it contains. The work is issued to inform health and pleasure seekers as to the various summer resorts and watering places reached over the lines of that road, the routes, fare and other facts which will assist in selecting a place suitable to one's tastes. It includes mountain, lake and seaside resorts—points so diversified that a summer place of any charter may be selected therefrom. It is profusely and handsomely illustrated and the beautiful embossed cover makes it a very attractive book. Copies map be procured at any of the offices of the Lehigh Valley Railroad.

New Fire-Alarm Box.

The new fire-alarm box located at the corner of North avenue and Berckman street, is now in working order. The number is 53. Chief Doane and J. F. Buckle, of the Council, located another box yesterday at the corner of Fifth street and Lee place, which will be installed soon. The number of this box will be 39. The new box ordered for the corner of Liberty and West Eighth streets, and which will be installed soon, will be numbered 36.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

When the Iron's Hot

On ironing day a woman realizes one of the many comforts that come with the use of a Wickless Oil Stove. A hot iron on this wonderful stove is a clean iron. There isn't a particle of dirt to mar the whiteness of the clothes, because there is no smoke or soot generated from its flame. This cannot be said of any other stove in existence.

Wickless BLUE FLAME Oil Stove

is solving the summer housekeeping question more effectively, and more economically than any other stove — gas or coal. It can bake, boil, broil, roast or toast — and it can do all these things at a fraction of the cost of the stoves, because it burns ordinary kerosene. Look into the merits of the Wickless Oil Stove. Get acquainted to-day. If your dealer does not carry them, write for catalogue to HEPTASOPHS AS HOSTS.

PROTECTIVE CONCLAVE ENTERTAINED THEIR LODGE BRETHERN.

Several Grand Officers Were Present, and a Pleasing Programme Was Followed Out.

Last night was a gala night for Protective Conclave, No. 505, Improved Order of Heptasophs, and the members did themselves proud on the occasion of the reception to their friends and sister conclaves. The members had provided a programme that was bound to please everyone. The feature of the entertainment was the playing of the Jeanrenaud Brothers on banjos, mandolins, musical bells, flower pots and a number of other intruments. "Sheridans Ride" was recited in a very excellent manner by Mr. Mattox, who gave as an encore, "The Volunteer Organist." Vocal solos were given by Mrs. John Manly and Miss Bertha Clum. Miss Clum also gave several excellent recitations.

Remarks were made by Archon F. C. Lounsbury, of this city; District Deputy Archon A. F. Partlow, of Newark; Supreme Secretary Samuel H. Tattersall, of Baltimore, and Deputy Supreme Archon J. V. E. Vanderhoef, formerly of Somerville, but now of Plainfield. At the conclusion of the programme a light collation was served by the members.

Delegations were present from Somerville, Westfield, Elizabeth, Orange and Rahway.

MANUAL TRAINING.

The Subject to be Explained to the Voters of the Borough.

The Borough Board of Education will hold a public meeting next week Monday evening when the citizens will be asked to authorize the installation of a proper heating and ventilating system in the Somerset street school. At the same time President, S. St. John McCutchen, of the Board, will present some exhibits of manual training for the purpose of showing the citizens what this new work in the school means. It is proposed by the Board of Education to introduce manual training in the schools, as it is believed to be very essential.

HURT PLAYING BALL.

Tunis Drake and William Dilkes Collided With Great Force.

Tunis Drake, of West Third street, and William Dilkes, of West Fourth street, are nursing injuries, as the result of a peculiar accident which happened to both of them while playing ball on the lot near the West End hose house Monday night.

Both men were running for a ball when they came together at full speed. Drake was so badly cut that Dr. Probasco found it necessary to take four stitches in his forehead.

Dilkes received several bad bruises and an ugly cut over the right eye.

Crop Report.

The following is John Naegle's crop report for this week: Plainfield—Grass is looking good; timothy in old meadows is not doing so well, on account of drought, new meadows are better, and will give a fair yield; clover unusually good, and an abundant crop is looked for; rainfall, 0.37 inch.

HE FELL INTO THE WELL

A POETIC SOUND, BUT NOT SO THE EXPERIENCE OF KELLY.

Abrupt and Exciting End to a Christening Celebration on Cottage Place Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Kane live on Cottage place, and last Sunday afternoon their infant daughter, Katherine, was christened at St. Mary's church. After the event the party returned home and celebrated it by entertaining a number of friends. During the afternoon some one discovered that a pail was at the bottom of deep unused well in the rear of the yard. Nicholas Kelly, one of the guests, offered his services and said that he would get the pail if they had a rope long enough to reach to the bottom of the well.

Michael Coyne, Alex. Kane and Patrick Kane, who were present, secured a rope to let Mr. Kelley down the well, which is about forty feet deep. He had been lowered about ten feet when the rope broke very suddenly, allowing Mr. Kelley to fall fully thirty feet to the bottom. There is over five feet of water in the well and the unfortunate man went down in the water so far that only his neck and head escaped. His feet, as well as his hands and face, were severely cut and bruised. At first his companions thought he was killed. They called to him and finally received an answer back. Then the question of getting the man out of the well confronted the men at the top. More rope was obtained and after an hour's hard work Mr. Kelly was finally brought to the top of the ground and taken to the house, where he is now under the care of a physician. It will be some time before he will be able to go out again. It might be stated that the pail is still at the bottom of the well and is liable to stay there for awhile.

This exciting time had a tendency to break up the celebration and the festivities were abruptly brought to a close.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. Banks, of East Second street, are entertaining compnny from Somerville.

The young son of Mr. and Mrs. Jonas, of West Third street, is sick with the measles.

Miss A. E. Beekman, of East Third street, is slowly recovering from a severe attack of erysipelas.

Theodore Moeford, of Newton, returned home this morning from a visit with E. T. Suffern, of Sycamore avenue.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Die Hochzeit der Prinzessin Marie Louise von Cumberland mit Prinz Maximilian von Baden ist endgiltig auf den 10. Juli festgesetzt worden. Dieselbe findet in Gmunden, Oberösterreich, statt und nachher wird das junge Paar einen festlichen Einzug in Karlsruhe halten.

Freiburg. Der verstorbene Stadtrath H. Gaeß hat der Karl Gaeß'schen Dienstboten-Stiftung ein Legat von 10,000 Mark ausgesetzt.

Heidelberg. Professor Dr. Kindermann hat auch für dieses Semester die Angehörigen des Handelsstandes zum unentgeltlichen Besuch seiner Vorlesungen über Nationalökonomie eingeladen.

Mannheim. Der Kaufmännische Verein hat das Wirthschaftsanwesen „Zum Rothen Schaf" erworben, um daselbst ein großes Vereinshaus zu bauen. Der Kaufpreis beträgt 157,000 Mark, der Gesammtaufwand mit den Baukosten ist auf 380,000 Mark berechnet.

Untergrombach. Hier wurde das Fest der diamantenen Hochzeit der Eheleute Josef Lindauer I, gefeiert. Ein Zug von etwa 100 Angehörigen, Kinder, Enkel und Urenkel, folgte dem Wagen, der das Jubelpaar zur Kirche brachte.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Gravelotte. Auf dem nördlichen Theile des Schlachtfeldes erhebt sich nahe bei der Grenzstation Armanweiler das jetzt fertig gestellte Denkmal des 3. Garde-Grenadier-Regimentes, Königin Elisabeth, das einen vorwärts stürmenden Grenadier, in der Linken eine Fahne, in der Rechten das Schwert haltend, darstellt. Das das Denkmal umfassende Gitter schließt auch einen Grabhügel ein, unter dem 80 französische Soldaten beerdigt liegen.

Kolmar. In der Herzog'schen Fabrik „Bagätelle" haben 500, in der Gensburger'schen Fabrik 50 Weber die Arbeit eingestellt.

Metz. Durch Kommandantur-Befehl ist den Truppen der Garnison der Besuch von etwa 20 Wirthschaften, in denen Branntwein und andere schnapsartige Getränke verschänkt werden, verboten worden.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Dieser Tage begann vor dem Schwurgerichte der Prozeß gegen den 44jährigen Kommis Anton Schlapt wegen vollbrachten Mordes und Betruges. Das Verbrechen des Betruges soll Schlapt durch Ablegung eines falschen Eides in dem gegen ihn anhängigen Cridaverfahren begangen haben.—In der Rochuskirche auf der Landstraße gerieth, während Pfarrer Gold die Predigt hielt, ein Blumenstrauß nächst dem Hochaltar in Brand. Die Schaar weißgekleideter Mädchen, die in unmittelbarer Nähe des Altars stand, flüchtete sich, als sie die Flammen emporzüngeln sah, unter Angstrufen durch die Sakristei in's Freie. Der Brand wurde rasch gelöscht.

Brünn. Unweit Weißkirchen hat sich der ehemalige Vorstand der im vorigen Jahre zu Grunde gegangenen Zalozna, Wenzel Nowotny, in das „Gevatterloch" gestürzt. Nowotny war seit dem Zusammenbruch der Zalozna trübsinnig. Man brachte ihn hierher in die Landeskrankenanstalt, wo er sechs Monate in Behandlung stand. Nach seiner Rückkehr verübte er den Selbstmord. Das „Gevatterloch" ist jene Schlucht, in die seinerzeit der Frauenmörder Schenk eines seiner Opfer stürzte.

Budapest. Kürzlich gerieth die neue gynäkologische Klinik in Brand. Sämmtliche Pavillons brannten. Die Dachstühle sind vollkommen niedergebrannt, an einzelnen Stellen brannte es schon im Innern. Glücklicher Weise ist es gelungen, sämmtliche Kranken und Wöchnerinnen zu retten. Die Rettung ist einem bei Ausbruch des Brandes vorüberziehenden Regiment zu danken, das sofort, trotzdem es in Paradeuniform war, zu den Rettungsarbeiten kommandirt wurde.

Liebenau. Hier brannten zehn Wohnhäuser sammt den Wirthschaftsgebäuden in Folge der Unvorsichtigkeit von Kindern vollständig ab. Der Schade, von welchem nur ein geringer Theil durch Versicherung gedeckt ist, beträgt 60,000 Gulden.

Innsbruck. Vor Kurzem fand die feierliche Einweihung der großartigen Wasser- und Elektrizitätswerke bei Matrei an der Brennerbahn, der „Brennerwerke" statt. Der Gesellschaft „Brennerwerke" gehören unter Anderem die Allgemeine Elektrizitätswerkgesellschaft in Berlin und österreichische und deutsche Bankfirmen an.

Prag. Der Abgeordnete Dr. Pinkas führte mit dem Architekten Vanderbilt in einer Fechtschule ein Fleuretgefecht durch. Dabei brach dem Abgeordneten Pinkas der Knopf von seinem Fleuret ab, und die Waffe drang seinem Gegner in den Leib. Vanderbilt wurde schwer verletzt in eine Heilanstalt gebracht, wo an ihm eine Operation vorgenommen wurde.

OLD STYLES REVIVED.

Full Skirts and Elbow Sleeves Again Seen.

Large hats with waved brims, having a vaporous trimming of gauze and lace, mingled with feathers, flowers or fruit, are the suitable accompaniment of the Louis Seize gowns which are revived for hot weather. In these customes the skirt is gathered all around the waist, the tight sleeves are of elbow length and are finished with a frill of lace, and the bodice has a Marie Antoinette fichu. Such a gown is admirably calculated as a model for thin goods and may be confidently regarded as the leading style for such materials. Smoothly fitting costumes are by no means retiring from the front, but are more for cloth, silk and woolen goods or heavy cottons, like pique and galatea.

Another old fashion which is just being revived for warm weather is that of collarless bodices, which leave the full length of the neck uncovered. This is delightfully cool, but exceedingly unbecoming to such persons as have not a round, full throat. It is probably most advantageous to women whose necks are too short, as in that case the appearance of increased length given by a collarless bodice is a great improvement.

The corsage illustrated is of pink surah, plain at the back and gathered at the waist in front. It is trimmed with bands of black velvet and has revers ornamented with incrustations of guipure, opening over a collar and plastron of puffed pink surah. The revers fasten with a black velvet bow, and the sleeves are trimmed with bands of black velvet. The hat of black straw is trimmed with bands of black velvet and a large chou of pearl gray tulle.

THE TABLE.

Fashions In Table Linen and Table Decorations.

There is a return to pure white table linen for dinners of ceremony, and nothing can be in better taste. The table is first covered with a heavy cloth of white wool, and over this the white damask cloth is spread. A scarf is placed lengthwise of the cloth, and the jardiniere is on this. The jardiniere is always low and broad, so that it will not interfere with the vision of guests.

Table scarfs are long and narrow and are ornamented with renaissance or other embroidery or framed in heavy guipure. For informal use there are scarfs embroidered in colored cotton, which are effective.

Scarfs are placed on the tea table as well as the dinner table, and the little tea napkins are made to match.

A fern dish full of low growing, small ferns is one of the prettiest decorations for the dinner table and is far less costly than cut flowers, which have to be renewed every time, while the ferns will last for a week or two if they are watered and kept in a cool place.

The illustration shows a gown of periwinkle blue voile. The skirt is mounted in a watteau plait at the back, and at the front are large tabs of embroidered silk, framed in stitched bands of voile. The bolero bodice is short at the back, while the front is ornamented by a band of embroidered silk like the trimming of the skirt. This band passes around the shoulders to form a collar. The collar and plastron are of plain silk horizontally plaited, the corselet of embroidered silk. The sleeves are finished with stitched bands. The hat of spangled horsehair braid is veiled with tulle and trimmed at the side with coques of satin and flowers.

The Pennant Prospects of the University Baseball Teams

BASEBALL in the universities, as a rule, is as uncertain as April weather. There are seasons when a certain team is so good that it is safe to say that it seems to be a pennant winner. But the enthusiast would rather be excused from making prophesies. This year the adherents of but two varsities in the west are pronounced in their beliefs that the nines of their respective schools will take first honors. Illinois and Chicago men say that the dispute will soon narrow to the state varsity team and the nine that Coach Stagg has under his charge.

Wisconsin makes no audible cry when the roll is called for prophesies. Michigan expects to do well, but the alumni and the students are not as elated as they were last season. Northwestern seemed to subside and lose interest after Capt. Frank West's purple players won a game from Chicago university. Beloit and Iowa say that the critics must not overlook them, but it is hard to see where these schools will rate in the final distribution of honors. If I were asked to "take a long chance" on a guess which team would be the best I would remark, in guarded tones, "Illinois seems to have the pole." The Illini defeated Chicago in a decisive game, and to the loyal followers of the state varsity this continuation of diamond supremacy over the rival maroons would be sufficient honor for the season.

Capt. Arthur Johnston, of the Illini, is one of the best varsity backstops the west has produced. He knows the game, and if he preferred baseball to his studies he might step out into the professional field. His training in the football team—he made an excellent captain for the gridiron athletes—helped him in baseball, no doubt. Besides, Johnston has seen a great deal of national and minor league ball, in company with that veteran coach, George Huff, and he has learned many points that are useful to college players. The stroke of getting the American league White Stockings to take their spring training at Champaign was a masterful bit of varsity strategy.

Coach Huff's players made the professionals put up gilt-edged ball and both nines were greatly benefited by the play. Southpaw McCullom, Lundgren and Falkenburg are pitchers who can be depended upon to do good work for Illinois. The Illinois team fields away up to the top mark and the men seem to know the science of team work and base running. It may be but a bit of sentiment, but the boys use a bat that is made up of several pieces of wood. George Huff is the originator of the substitute for the plain ash bat.

There is so little interest in the baseball team at Madison, say the Badgers, that it was almost a question whether the authorities would bother with diamond sports this year. But Coach Phil King, who is as cunning in baseball as in gridiron strategy, has been plugging along with the Wisconsin men, hoping to make a strong nine. For three years his success has been of a doubtful nature. He will give it another trial. The Badgers defeated Michigan, but the Wolverines are not up to their last year's form. Wisconsin has A. H. Curtis as a captain, and if he succeeds in rallying the boys he will make a finish with the cardinal that may be the means of setting a foundation for future nines.

Michigan misses the Silent Student Miller, whose pitching last year made the Ann Arbor team almost invincible. Capt. McGinnis thinks that the team is most promising, but that it will be late in getting into winning form. There are several available pitchers, but they do not rate high enough to bring the maize and blue to the top of the varsity list. Watkins, the best twirler the maize and blue ever had, is working with the pitchers, and with Capt. McGinnis' work the Wolverines should show strong.

Capt. Frank West, of Northwestern, is a good catcher. His team, although it did win from Chicago, is not able to show consistent form throughout the season. Hunter, Smiley and Nash are good pitchers, and if they were always well supported the purple might get more victories. The outfield is good and the stick work is, as a rule, such that there is plenty of room for improvement.

Chicago started with prospects as rosy as the sky during a particularly fine sunset. But Shortstop "Tod" Sloan was unable to play with the regular team on account of some trouble in his classes and the nine after its return from a triumphant trip to Vanderbilt university, where it took the series, began to show up in hard luck. Smith and Rogers are very good twirlers, while F. Merrifield is but a "warm weather pitcher," as the college boys say. Former Capt. Walter Kennedy leads his colleagues with the stick, but Capt. Vernon is a valuable man to the team. Ever since Jones and Gardner left the Midway school the baseball teams have been weak at backstop. This season the nine would be much stronger if the catcher's place were regularly filled by a steady man. Left field and shortstop are two other weak spots that may be strengthened before the season is much older.

LEROY T. VERNON, Chicago. A. R. JOHNSTON, Illinois. A. H. CURTIS, Wisconsin.

Notre Dame is always to be reckoned as a baseball and athletic factor. Her athletes have a way of furnishing surprises. Capt. Angus Macdonald and his men had some very instructive work under the coaching of "Chick" Stahl, the Boston National league outfielder, and if the Hoosiers profit by the major league coach's advice they will take down the pride of a few of the other college teams this season. Notre Dame has several veterans whose records speak for themselves. In fielding this team is snappy and as full of ginger as a team of professionals trying to get up a pennant race. When Notre Dame and Michigan met Notre Dame was in good form and the maize and blue had to suffer the humiliation of a shutout.

Jack Hollister knows that Beloit, the tight little college, was always considered to be good in baseball and he will see that Atkins, who has pitched Beloit to many victories, will have the cooperation of the other members of the team.

Necessarily the college baseball season is limited and there is always more or less guesswork about the actual play of the candidates, for the reason that the teams are substantially made up after indoor practice. However, the matter of which team should have the championship is one that should enter but little in the discussion of college teams. If the young men studying at the several universities choose to follow the diamond a portion of the year, why should the varsity rooters immediately ask that a championship team be demanded? The scheme of the exercise of baseball for the students is to have an enjoyable time and to get plenty of outdoor exercise. Victories, like defeats, are soon forgotten. Not one student in two hundred pays enough attention to the pennant-winning of several seasons to disturb any gray matter in his mind.

Illiteracy.

Hon. S. W. Matthews, Maine's commissioner of labor statistics, has made figures to show the percentage of illiteracy in the state, and comparisons are made with the illiteracy of other states. The showing, says the Boston Transcript, is one of which Maine may well be proud. The percentage of illiteracy in Maine is 2.47, and in the whole United States 16.97. According to the census of 1890 the percentage of illiteracy in New England was: Maine, 4.27; New Hampshire, 6.81; Vermont, 6.6; Massachusetts, 6.22; Rhode Island, 9.76, and Connecticut, 5.28. The only states in the union whose percentage was less than that of Maine were: Iowa, 3.61; South Dakota, 4.22; Nebraska, 3.11; Kansas, 3.99; Wyoming, 3.41; Oregon, 4.13. It is not unlikely that the census of 1900 will give Maine a still better standing.

ANOTHER DOG MASCOT.

How "Maine" Won Imperishable Glory on the Firing Line in the Philippine Country.

One of the pet war dogs that made a record for itself is called "Maine," and belongs to battery D, First California artillery, U. S. V. She was with the battery from the beginning of its trip until its return a year later.

She is a Great Dane of good pedigree, is mouse-colored, three feet high and weighs about 200 pounds. Her age is two years, and she undoubtedly has had one of the most eventful careers in dogdom.

"Maine" was presented to the battery just before it sailed. She was smuggled aboard the transport, her soldier companions little thinking that she would be seasick, but she was, and almost died. At Honolulu she was taken ashore and tenderly cared for by a trusted officer, Lieut. Morse, now dead, until the next transport touched, when she was taken on to Luzon.

Long and dreary were the days of the soldiers at Cavite, but "Maine" was always on hand and happy with the boys, cheering them up. She had an abnormal appetite for candy, and the little Filipino children who sold sweetmeats to the American soldiers came to know "Maine" as well as anybody did. They would feed her candy and then go to the battery boys for their money.

The marked intelligence possessed by the dog was shown by the fact that she knew the bugle calls perfectly and was ever first to respond. But on the firing line she won the most glory. Always at the front during an engagement, she seemed to enjoy the smoke and roar of battle and the whizzing of bullets, and proved herself very valuable as a messenger. She participated in the battles of San Roque, Caridad and Delalican, fought on February 9, 1899; Rosario, June 10; Noveleta, June 16, and Salinas, June 18. At the battle of Noveleta she received a wound and won the heart of every American soldier by her bravery and intelligence. While death and destruction was flying everywhere "Maine" was in advance of the American troops. Suddenly she was struck by a Filipino rifle ball, and quickly the word was passed along the firing line that "our mascot" had been fatally shot. But in a moment "Maine" came rushing toward the American army with a big Filipino sombrero in her mouth, undoubtedly captured by her from the very ranks of Aguinaldo's forces.

Cheer after cheer went heavenward for the brave mascot. But the wound she had received before reaching her command was a harsh one, and loss of blood compelled her to give up the fight, though she would not leave the boys or the firing line, and one of the soldiers used her as a rest for his rifle, firing shot after shot over her prostrate form. The ball had entered "Maine's" body just above the vital spot, back of the shoulders, and it was a week before she recovered from the wound. But she received more attention, perhaps, than any man in the hospital, and was pulled through.—Philadelphia Press.

This Little Pig Came Home.

A New Jersey farmer tells this remarkable story to the Evangelist, and vouches for its truth: "I had more pigs than I wanted to keep, so I sold one to a man living in the neighboring village. The little pig had been living in the pen with his brothers and sisters, and had never been outside of it until the man who bought him put him in a basket, tied down the cover, and put it in his wagon to carry to the new home. Late in the afternoon the farmer who sold it saw something coming across the swampy meadow below his home. He watched it struggling through the wet places, climbing the knolls, until he could see that it was his little pig, all covered with mud and very tired. He went straight toward the barn, against which was the only home he recognized. The money was returned to the man who had bought it, and the little pig stayed at home."

FIVE EDUCATED SEALS.

They Play Football, Balance Sticks and Perform Many Other Wonderful Tricks.

A seal football team has come to town. It plays at the circus.

Its members also sing, play orchestral selections and perform feats of balancing and sleight of hand—sleight of snout would be a better term—that would equip any man or boy to earn a living at country fairs.

There are five of these seals, big, clumsy fellows, so glossy of skin that when they lie motionless with snouts pointed to the roof they look like monsters in highly varnished mahogany.

Their marvelous feats are one of the two chief attractions at the circus in Madison Square garden.

But when they hear the voice of the trainer, Capt. Woodward, messieurs the sea lions hasten to show that instead of being carved out of mahogany they are a compound of agility, obedience and brains.

First they sing, in solo and chorus. The writer does not wish to dwell upon this part of their performance. It is enough that they evidently know what is required of them, and that they really sing very well—for seals.

Nor is it necessary to bring a Wagnerian critic's standards to bear upon the seal orchestra, consisting of bass drum, snare drum, tuba and French horn. The zeal of the musicians is their most admirable trait.

In other realms of vaudeville, however, Capt. Woodward's seals can challenge comparison with many a biped endowed with hands and feet instead of flippers and a tail. One of them catches a football on his nose, and there spins it until it occurs to him to toss it back to his master.

Next he balances on his nose a stick surmounted by the football. With his flipper he knocks the stick away, catches the ball on his nose, and a moment later transfers it to the nose of another seal, which tosses it back to Capt. Woodward.

The trainer takes a pyramid of those funny clowns' hats that fit into one another like baking tins. One by one he throws them over a distance of 35 feet to the biggest seal.

Mr. Seal watches each missile narrowly, dodges, reaches or ducks, according to the exigencies of the case, and catches all in succession on his head. He afterward takes one of them in his mouth, throws it in the air and catches it as before.

Then comes a balancing feat that reminds one of a pet dog's tantalizing ordeal of holding a lump of sugar on his nose until permitted to eat it. One of the seals balances on his snout a stick surmounted by a fish—and no pug ever liked a lump of sugar better than a seal likes a fish. One does not wonder at the yearning look in the performer's big brown eyes as the aroma of that tit-bit floats down to him.

Hey, presto! At the word of command he knocks away the stick with his flipper and catches the fish on his nose. Next moment it is down his throat, and the spectators shriek at his solemnly beatific expression.

As an appropriate climax to their amazing performance the seals juggle with barbells at the ends of which are blazing torches.—N. Y. World.

Gallantry Among Animals.

Farmers, and horsemen in general, know that although a horse will promptly attack any other horse that may interfere with him, either in the field or in harness, he will very seldom attack a mare. Farm horses which cannot be worked alongside of any other horse on account of their savage temper, may be safely yoked in double harness with a mare. It is not so generally known that dogs have this same chivalrous trait. No self-respecting dog will bite a female, except in the most extreme need of self-defense, though the female, as a rule, has no scruples whatever about punishing, to to the full extent of her power, a dog of the opposite sex that happens to be inferior to her in size and strength. So strong is this unwillingness to fight a female that few male hounds will attack a she-wolf or even follow her trail.

BRIGHT BROOKLYN BOY.

Sent to President Kruger at Pretoria with a Message from 30,000 American Youngsters.

James Francis Smith, 16 years old, sailed the other day for South Africa to see President Paul Kruger, of the Transvaal republic on behalf of 28,854 schoolboys of Philadelphia, New York and Boston who are sending Oom Paul their best wishes in his war with Great Britain.

James is a district messenger and his badge of the company he works for is numbered 1,534. He carries in his luggage the message of sympathy to the Boer president signed by nearly 30,000 patriotic American schoolboys. He is a bright lad, well able to take care of himself, and there is no doubt that he will return with an answer which will be sure to gratify the youthful friends of the Boers. He was accompanied by a reporter of the Philadelphia North American.

JAMES FRANCIS SMITH.
(Messenger Boy Sent to Pretoria by American Schoolboys)

On the dock from which the steamer St. Louis sailed a large and enthusiastic crowd gathered to bid the messenger "bon voyage." The two Americans will be transferred to a French ship before landing at Southampton, thus avoiding British territory. They will go to Lorenzo Marques on the French steamer and thence by rail to Pretoria.

For some weeks previous to the big meeting of schoolboys at the Academy of Music in Philadelphia on April 9 blanks for signatures had been industriously circulated in the public schools, and boys of all ages and classes eagerly attached their names to the sympathetic message to Oom Paul. The suggestion to send the signed scroll by a district messenger boy was at once adopted. The company's manager at New York asked young Smith if he would like to take a message to Pretoria to Kruger. He said: "Yes, sir," with as much nonchalance as if asked to take a note to the Gilsey house.

"Suppose, Jimmy," said the manager, "that Mr. Kruger is in St. Helena when you get to Pretoria?"

"Then," replied this young American, "I'll take it to St. Helena."

"Jimmy" was at once chosen for the important work. He lives at 117 Congress street in Brooklyn. His parents readily consented to let him go.

Statistical and Historical Data Bearing on the News of the Day From Foreign Lands

Progress on the Siberian Railway. Of all the great undertakings of recent years in the old world none have excited keener interest than the building of the Siberian railway, now nearing completion. Every step of its progress has been watched, and the following, received from Mr. R. T. Greener, American commercial agent at Vladivostock, will be of interest to American readers:

Mr. Khilkoff, minister of ways and communications, had a special train sent to him on the Great Siberian railroad some months ago. There were five coaches—one first-class, two second-class, one dining and one baggage car. All the appointments were excellent. There were, besides, the usual library, pianos, writing conveniences (found in American cars), a barber shop, a gymnasium, a good supply of ice, patent water boilers, dials which indicate the next station and the length of stop, double windows to protect from dust and the extreme Siberian cold; and an observation car at the rear. On this train were attendants speaking English, French and German. The cars are lighted throughout by electricity. There is no charge for the barber or for medical attendance. The bath costs two rubles (one dollar). From St. Petersburg to Irkutsk the transit occupies about seven days; from Moscow about six, and from Paris not more than 28 days.

The total length of the line to Vladivostock will be 4,714 miles. The cost will be $400,000,000.

The section just completed as far as Stretinsk is important, because it marks the connection with Vladivostock, some 1,500 miles, and gives a continuous all-rail travel of over 5,000 miles from Moscow. As is well known, there will no longer be any necessity for skirting the Amur by railway, since the acquisition of transit rights in Manchuria gives an almost straight line from Stretinsk, via Tsitsikar, Harbin, Nikolsk, then south a three hours' ride to Vladivostock. The last rail on the Moscow-Stretinsk division was laid December 28, 1899.

Lake Baikal is as long as England, covers an area of 12,430 square miles and is the formidable obstacle to be overcome. It is 1,561 feet above sea level, has a shore line of nearly 1,200 miles, a depth varying not less than 819 feet on an average and a distinct ebb and flow. Four thousand five hundred feet have been sounded, and in one instance 4,900 feet is the record.

After crossing Lake Baikal—by rails over the ice in winter, by boat in summer—the road ascends the Yablonoi mountains and attains its loftiest elevation, 3,412 feet above sea level. From this point it descends to the Amur.

As at present planned there will be three branches, all via Harbin; to Nikolsk, Vladivostock; to Peking, via Mukden and Niuchwang, and to a point not yet given out. The Nikolsk-Harbin branch is rapidly going forward from the Nikolsk terminus, and that to Mukden is now complete.

Two travelers who have made the overland journey, arriving at Vladivostock within a week, were six weeks from Moscow, including a stop-over of nine days. About the food there are varying reports. Some say even at remote stations the restaurants are excellent, with substantial dinners at 50 cents; others say the charges are extravagant. It depends much, I imagine, on the philosophy and patience of the traveler. My own experience on the Ussuri branch to Khabarofsk is good food, reasonable prices and every attention. The entire road is divided into sections of two-thirds of a mile each. At each station is the cottage where the stationmaster lives with his family and the guards. Between the Urals and Tomsk there are said to be nearly 4,000 of these guards. When travelers speak in a critical manner of the number of "soldiers" found on the cars and along the road, it is to be remembered that it is the same as if our conductors, brakemen, flag and switchmen all wore the same uniform.

Word has just been received that the administration of the Central Siberian railroad intends to do some good work in shaping up the line and increasing the speed according to plans fully matured. The cost of this work will be about 55,000,000 rubles ($28,325,000), and the varied improvements will require seven years.

From Ob to Irkutsk, 1,754 versts (1,163 miles), the following programme will be carried out: 1. All the rails will be changed. 2. All wooden bridges will be replaced by iron ones. 3. Stations and crossings will be widened. 4. Several new crossings will be constructed. 5. Passenger accommodations will be provided, as well as houses for railroad employes, freight warehouses, provision stations for the army and also for immigrants.

To Prevent Railway Accidents in Russia. To judge by the frequency of railroad accidents in Russia, human life has in the past been held at a low valuation, but with the Siberian railway nearing completion, and Russia bidding for traffic from the nations of the world, it would seem that the officials in charge of railways have seen the necessity of adopting measures to put a stop to the frequency of these accidents. To aid in this work a Russian genius comes forward with a novel invention with which the government has been experimenting successfully.

Experiments have been made at Vershbolovo station, on the St. Petersburg & Warsaw road, with an invention of Mr. Nikolaieff, designed both to give warning and to lessen the deadly effects of railroad collisions.

MAP OF THE SIBERIAN RAILWAY.

Two wrecking railroads were provided—on the first sleepers were displaced; on the second the rails were displaced. In both cases the stoppage was immediate by the aid of this device, without outside assistance and without injury to the moving trains. The essential feature of the invention is an iron tube of usual construction, connected with the general system of brakes and placed in front of the wheels. At the least irregularity in the movement of the train, the tube, in consequence of certain cuts made on it at intervals, breaks and thus produces an immediate stoppage of the train, locomotive as well. The examining committee found that the tube fully accomplished its purpose. Such an invention is of the greatest importance in Russia, where railroad accidents are a common occurrence. According to the official statistics published by the department of railways, the number of fatal railway accidents in 1893 was 4,548; in 1895, 5,763; in 1896, 6,107.

Swiss Trade in Africa. Swiss merchants and manufacturers are viewing with considerable satisfaction the increase of their exports to the Egyptian Soudan. Switzerland for some time has had a successful export business with the Soudan, especially in watches and jewelry. The export business with Tripoli, which has suffered very much during the past year, now shows evidence of vigorous revival, as the caravans to the interior—going to Africa from Tripoli—will now be increased in number since the defeat of the rebels in the Soudan. Timepieces and jewelry to the amount of 1,379,150 francs ($275,830) were exported from Switzerland to the Soudan regions in 1897, and this was increased to $416,800 worth in 1898.

Germany's Steel Rail Exports. Germany's export in steel rails is increasing each year. In 1894 she exported 119,410 tons, worth $2,356,200. In 1898 it increased to 123,839 tons, worth $3,094,000. The importation of steel rails into Germany decreased from 3,542 tons in 1894 to 267 tons in 1898. MAX OWEN.

"LITTLE MINISTER" CHRISTENED.

Pleasant Start in Life Given Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Eyme's Young Son.

A very pleasant affair of yesterday afternoon was the christening of Herbert Melly Eyme, infant son of Rev. and Mrs. H. C. Eyme, of 78 Duer street, which was celebrated in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends at the home of the parents at 4 o'clock. The home was prettily decorated in pink and white and these colors were used with the best effects.

Those who were sponsors were F. M. Thieriot, of South Orange; Charles Dorries, of Staten Island; Miss Emilie Shipper and Mrs. M. Berens, of this city. The rite of baptism was performed by Pastor Eyme, father of the son, who gave his recitation and prayer in English. He was assisted by Rev. Y. Hoppner, of Norristown, Pa., a classmate of Mr. Eyme, who delivered the sermon in German. The services were very impressive and thoroughly interested all present, especially the proud parents.

After the services a delightful reception was held during which congratulations were offered and refreshments were served by the host and hostess. Some of the guests present attended the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Eyme when they were married at South Orange two years ago. They were F. M. Thieriot, Albert Thieriot, Mrs. Leontine C. Munioz, Miss Leontine Mead, of South Bethlehem, Pa. Others present were Mrs. A. J. Leader, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Force and daughter, Lillian, Miss Agnes Lauer, Mr. and Mrs. George Maurice Audsley, Mrs. Milton Barkalew, Miss J. Kissam, of North Plainfield; Benno Gutmann, of New York city: Charles Dorries, of Staten Island.

The "little minister" received several beautiful gifts of gold, pearls, etc., and from his grandmother, Mrs. Berens, a bank book with $100 to his credit.

Soldiers to Meet.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—There will be a meeting held in Spencer's Hall this evening at 8 o'clock, for all Union soldiers who served in the late Rebellion. The man who offered his life, who gave up home and happiness, sacrificed the opportunities of youth, forfeited the equipments for the future in the education and experience which must be obtained in early years, if at all, and faced, unflinchingly, the inconceivable hardships and dangers and occasional disasters of war, that the Union should be preserved and prevented the destruction of our beloved country, must no longer be treated with neglect.

By order of committee,

BOUND TO GET IN.

The Friends of Newly-married Couple Were Determined to Serenade Them.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cooke, who were married at Hackettstown yesterday, and who returned to their newly-furnished home on Westervelt avenue, last evening, felt sure that they had escaped notice and would not be molested. They were mistaken, for the clerks at Woodhull & Martin's dry goods store, where Mr. Cooke is employed, were determined to give the newly-married couple a good time. They succeeded admirably.

The serenaders went to the home on Westervelt avenue and by the aid of a long ladder Harry Bogert and Harry Kesselring effected an entrance through the garret window, and with the assistance of cycle lamps they made their way to the first floor, where they opened the door and allowed the rest of the serenaders to enter. Once inside, a search was made through the house. About the house the crowd went trying every door. Finally they discovered a door locked to a closet. After much effort they succeeded in finding that the couple were behind this door, and persuaded them to come out.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooke received them cordially. They informed the guests that they would tender a reception to them this evening and all were invited to be present.

FUNERAL OF MISS LUND.

Last Sad Rites Over the Remains of Swedish Young Woman.

The funeral services of the late Miss Dissa Lund, a Swedish young woman, who died last week, were held Monday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Bender, Watchung avenue, and there was a very large attendance of friends. Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of the Hode Memorial chapel, conducted the services and spoke words of comfort to those present. He spoke of the fact that the departed had lived in this country among strangers, while she left a sorrowing imother in her old home in Sweden, from which place she came three years ago. Mr. Newell also mentioned the great devotion of friends to the deceased while she lay on a bed of suffering and how good all had been to her. There was a beautiful display of flowers from friends who thus evidenced their love and esteem. Interment took place in Hillside cemetery.

SWALLOWED A DIAMOND.

$150 Jewel Now in Stomach of Three-year-old Girl.

Mrs. Allen Flindell, of Newark, is minus one diamond ring valued at $150, and the jewel, it is supposed, is in the stomach of her three-year-old daughter. Mrs. Flindell came to Plainfield with her mother to visit the latter's brother, W. H. Spurge.

Last night the little girl succeeded in getting the ring off of her mother's finger and swallowed it before she could be stopped. The little girl does not seem to feel any ill-effects from the experience. A physician was called, but he apprehends no serious results, and believes that the ring will eventually be recovered.

Trolley Car Conductor Arrested.

Detective Sergeant James Bell, of East Orange, came to Plainfield Monday with a warrant of the arrest of James Matthews, formerly of East Orange, but for some time past a conductor on the Plainfield Street Railway line, on a charge of non-support. The warrant was endorsed by Justice Mosher and in company with Roundsman Frederickson, Bell set out to look for Matthews. He was found on a car at the Putnam avenue switch and placed under arrest.

WHERE WILL IT BE LOCATED

Several Places Mentioned for the Postal Sub-station That the Borough is to Have.

The announcement that North Plainfield is to have a sub-station of the post-office makes the next most interesting subject to be considered that of where will the station be located and who will be agent for the branch.

One of the places prominently mentioned in that connection is the drug-store of J. P. Powers at the corner of Somerset street and Craig place. Mr. Powers has a host of friends who would like to see the station located at his place of business. As a matter of fact, he has received assurances from influential men that he can be appointed agent if he so desires. At the present time, however, Mr. Powers is in doubt in the matter, and he may decide not to accept it. Should he be appointed, though, it would undoubtedly give perfect satisfaction to boroughites, as they would be assured of courteous and satisfactory service at the station.

Among the other places mentioned is the grocery store of Gulick & Companp, Duer street and Lincoln place, which is regarded as very central.

It is understoood that the grocery store of J. B. Arnold, on Somerset street, is also being urged as a good location for the sub-station.

realize that it is an uphill fight that they have begun, and they are going into the battle with lots of persistence. Their legal representative is Former Assemblyman W. R. Codington, of this city. At present their efforts are confined to the committees of the two Councils in an effort to secure a favorable report of the petitions for a franchise here.

Clipped Off Part of the Ear.

A borough woman, whose name cannot be learned, took her son, aged two and a half years, to a local barber yesterday afternoon to have his hair cut. The tonsorial artist in making a circle in the rear of the boy's head, clipped off a good-sized portion of the right ear. This frighted the mother and son very much. The cut bled profusely. The youngster was taken to John Powers' drug store, where proper treatment was given. No serious results are looked for.

Foreclosed a Mortgage.

William E. Sturr, of Newark, mortgagee, foreclosed on a mortgage given by George Richardson, of the firm of Richardson & Wald, and held the sale yesterday afternoon. Law Student Sweeney, acting for Lawyer McClure, bought the goods for $125 for his client, Leonardo Zstromio, who is going to continue the business.

Enlarging Their Store.

Gulick & Co., the Park grocers, corner of Lincoln place and Duer street, are enlarging their store and gaining fully one-third more room to display their goods, by removing a partition that ran through the Duer street end of the store. This firm is growing in popularity and are building up a fine business.

Resolutions of Condolence.

The Central New Jersey Lumbermen's Protective Association met last night for the first time since the death of their secretary, John D. Runyon. Resolutions of condolence were unanimously passed on the death of Mr. Runyon. J. D. Loizeaux was elected secretary of the association.

Burglars in the Borough.

Some time near 12 o'clock last night burglars broke into the residence of Gus Feiring, of 53 Harrison street, and stole a gold watch, considerable clothing, a small sum of money and other articles of value. The thieves effected an entrance through a window, returning the same way.

Married by a Justice.

The marriage of Miss Lulu Mabel Ayling and William Irving Moore, of 87 Grandview avenue, took place last Monday evening at the office of Justice W. E. Mattison, who preformed the ceremony. For the present the couple will live at 87 Grandview avenue.

ADVANTAGES OF MANUAL TRAINING

Teaches the Boys to Have a Practical and Definite Idea of Work.

URGED FOR THE SCHOOLS.

SALIENT POINTS BROUGHT OUT BY A CORRESPONDENT.

It May Be Introduced in the Borough—Voters Will Decide if They Want to Spend the Necessary Money for It.

One of the most important matters for the borough voters to decide next Monday night at the school meeting will be the question of whether or not they want to establish manual training in the public school. In view of this the following communication will be of special interest:

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—The adoption of manual training as a part of the instruction of the schools of the borough, as is now advocated by the Board of Education, is a most interesting subject to those who know what manual training is and what it accomplishes.

As a taxpayer and one who has children receiving education in the borough schools, I venture to give for the benefit of the general public some features of this line of instruction.

Manual training is particularly valuable because of the habits it produces and the capacities that it trains. Manual training compels pupils to be accurate, to depend upon themselves, to consider before they act. A boy corrects an error in his arithmetic or algebra and thinks no more about it. He is used to such mishaps. But when he comes to similar oversights in the workshop he finds that his labor is lost and his material spoiled. He cannot afford to make mistakes. He quickly learns to work with the faculties alert. Manual occupation, from paper folding to carving, requires thoughtful attention. Dexterity of the hand implies certain dexterity of thought, which is acquired along with the manual skill. No exercise trains the children to habits of attention like those in which the hands can be employed

To my mind an important and educational feature in manual training is the fact that the pupil's work is largely the expression of his practical and definite thought. Before a boy can do a thing he must have the idea of that thing clearly fixed in his mind. Careful work is always preceded by careful thought. The finished piece is a perfect picture of the mind behind it. Thus the training leads I think more directly to independent and original thought than by any other training in the course of study.

Let more sunshine into the lives of the children. The reading lesson, the language lesson, the general atmosphere of the school should cultivate refinement and love of beauty. Nearly every form of manual training helps in this work. No pupil can construct a well finished article in wood or metal without learning better to appreciate good workmanship. No one can execute ornamental designs in wood-carving or lathe work without gaining along with his skill in manipulation a corresponding delicacy of thought and feeling.

The boys and girls in our public schools need to learn, more than any other lesson, the value of earnestness of a great o'er mastering purpose. Manual training strengthens the will. It gives a specific direction and force to every mental act. The boy acquires in the workship the habit of overcoming difficulties and persisting in an undertaking till it is crowned with success. He conquers his sluggish tendency to do things carelessly. He learns the lesson of industry, perseverence and genuiness.

Mental training broadens the views and teaches exactness and makes students practical and self-reliant, affords vent to nervous restlessness, and stimulates to industry and perseverance. It reaches some students who are not interested in intellectual work.

The success of each pupil after leaving school depends largely on his will power—on his ability to work. While we would not teach trades in the public schools, this incidental benefit of manual training should not be overlooked, that the productive power of a workman is at once visibly increased by giving dexterity to his hands. The future leaders of our industries will receive their first training in the use of tools in the public schools.

The demand for manual training is not ephemeral. Such magnificient in-

COMPANY OF SOLDIERS.

PLAINFIELD MAY YET HAVE A MILITARY ORGANIZATION.

Lieut.-Col. Collins Gives Some Good Advice To Those Interested in the Scheme.

Charles A. Peterson, of Watchung avenue, has taken up the project of securing a military company for Plainfield, and in response to a letter to Lieut.-Col. D. F. Collins, of the Second N. J. Infantry, he received word from the Colonel, yesterday, who expressed himself as being very much pleased at the interest that Mr. Peterson and others were taking in it.

He said that he had hoped to have secured the vacancy caused by the disbandment of the Keyport Company for Plainfield, but the State military authorities deemed it best to locate it at Trenton, but they gave him the assurance that Plainfield should have the next vacancy, which he had reason to believe would be shortly after the next encampment, about August 1st. In conclusion he said that he should urge upon those interested the advisability of securing the requisite number, 60 men, so as to be ready to avail themselves of the next opportunity, and if a sufficient number could be gathered together at any time he would be pleased to come to Plainfield and talk the project over with them. Mr. Peterson, who is a veteran of the Spanish war, is making every effort to secure the men and would be pleased to hear from anyone desirous of forming the company.

HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES.

Class of 1900 Will Number Twenty-two of Which Only Three are Young Men.

The graduates from the Plainfield High School this year are twenty-two in number of which nineteen are young women. The commencement exercises are to be held at Music Hall, Thursday night, June 21st. The members of the graduating class on as follows:

Classical Course—Helen Louise Brown, Mary Lock, Charles Hillman Fountain.

Latin—Modern Language Course—Flora Campbell, Sarah Pauline Denton, Josephine Herrick Lapsley, Mary Lee Mann, Ruth Potter Maxson, Beatrice Miner, Alice Louise Morgan, Mary Alice Ross, Emily Sandford Runyon, Irma Georgette Wolf, Marion Drake Woodcock, Walter Squires.

Modern Language Course—Edna Burr, Clara Gaston Dunham.

Latin—History Course—Fannie May Fish, Emma Harper Miller, Iola Moore.

Commercial Course—Dora Amelia Bennett, Albert Linden Schomp.

CADET APPOINTMENTS.

Promotions Among Non-Commissioned Officers of High School Battalion.

With the end of school close at hand there are to be a number of changes in the cadet battalion of the Plainfield High School. The promotions among the commissioned officers have not yet been made public. The other appointments and promotions are announced by Adjutant Walter Squires as follows:

Second Sergeant, Cadet Bridgeman, vice Hazeltine, resigned; third sergeant, Cadet Meeker, R. W., vice Bridgeman, promoted; fourth sergeant, Cadet Doane, vice Meeker, promoted; corporal, Cadet Whitney, vice Doane, promoted; corporal, Cadet Hancock. The above are assigned to Company A. Corporals, Cadets Brakeley and Moore. The above are assigned to Company B. Fourth sergeant, Cadet Lounsbury, vice Lovell, resigned; corporal, Cadet Miller, vice Lounsbury, promoted; corporal, Cadet Leland. The above are assigned to Company C.

No One to Dispense Justice.

Chief Campbell, of the borough, was in a quandary yesterday. He had a prisoner in the lockup and there was no one about to give a hearing. Mayor Smalley is detained at home by illness, and Charles Lee, chairman of the marshal committee, was out of town. Fortunately the case was not an important one, and after consulting with the Mayor, Chief Campbell released the prisoner and sent him to his home at Elizabeth.

A Plainfield Groom.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage of Miss Skellinger, of Chester, Morris county, and Allen Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Baker, of West Fifth street. The event will take place Wednesday, June 20th.

To Talk to the Children.

Rev. Mr. Boyle, of Brooklyn, has been secured to address the children next Sunday morning at the Park Avenue Baptist church when the Children's Day exercises will be held.

PLAINFIELD WILL BE BARRED TO FAKIRS.

Chairman of Police Board Buckle Has Given Instructions to That Effect.

GETTING TOO NUMEROUS.

ATTTACTED CROWDS IN THE STREETS THAT BLOCKED TRAFFIC.

Last Saturday Three Fakirs Made Things Lively in Town—Hurt Trade of Local Merchants and Often Swindle the People.

Ever since the advent of spring, a week does not pass but at least one fakir with some strange and remarkable collection of articles visits this city. A favorite corner for the fakirs is that of Park avenue and East Second street. Councilman James F. Buckle, chairman of the police board, has decided that they are growing altogether too numerous and has instructed the police to accord them a chilly reception hereafter.

Saturday nights are the favorite visiting times of these traveling peddlers but they ply their trade other evenings as well. They have been accustomed to apply to Mayor Rockfellow for permission to sell and the permission has usually been granted informally.

Last Saturday evening one fakir attracted a great crowd at the corner of Park avenue and Second steeet, while a second held forth on East Front street, near Park avenue, and a third on Somerset street, near Front street. In all three places the crowd stretched far out into the streets, blocking the traffic. These fakirs seldom sell anything of real merit and purchasers are often swindled. The money which would ordinarily go to the local merchants is taken out of town.

Councilman Buckle saw the state of affairs last Saturday night and decided that it was not a thing to be desired for the future. A conference with Mayor Rockfellow has resulted in the determination of the Police Board to keep this class of peddlers out of the city hereafter as beneficial to the good order of the city and the trade of the local merchants.

BROKE ALL THE WINDOWS.

Mrs. Wolford's Sanity Examined and it is Decided to Send Her to Insane Asylum.

Mrs. Katharine Wolford is an aged German woman who has been making her home with Eberhart Vielbig in Washington Valley. For some time she has been acting rather queerly. Tuesday afternoon she became violent. Her hatred turned to the windows of the house. They did not admit enough air, she said, so she proceeded to assist them in the work. After breaking every window in Vielbig's home, she went to the house of a neighbor, where the family was absent, and served the windows in like manner.

Mrs. Wolford was examined yesterday by Dr. J. H. Cooley and Dr. D. C. Adams and they decided that she was insane. Arrangements were made to commit her to the State Hospital for the Insane at Trenton, and she left this afternoon in the charge of Constable William N. Pangborn.

LOCAL CLUBS TO PLAY.

Proposed Golf Match Between Hillside and Park Clubs Postponed From Yesterday.

It was expected that four men teams from the Park Golf Club and the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club would meet yesterday afternoon on the links of the former club as a result of challenge sent to the other club by the Park Club boys. Owing to the inability of the Hillside Club to get a representative team together yesterday, the match was postponed. It will be played at some near date which will be announced later. The contest will be watched with interest. The Hillside players are very confident of winning but they may find the difference in the links more of a handicap than they expect.

Institutions to Be Visited.

In addition to visiting every house in Plainfield and getting the names of the occupants, the census enumerators will be obliged to visit the City Industrial Home, John Leal's school for boys, Muhlenberg Hospital and the Plainfield Seminary. The borough enumerators will have to visit Brookside Retreat, Children's Home and Dr. Cooley's Sanitarium, in addition to their visits to every house.

A Tenor Soloist.

Charles Angleman, formerly of this city, but now of Rahway, has accepted a position as tenor soloist in the Reformed church at New Brunswick.

A SUCCESSFUL FESTIVAL

ENJOYABLE AFFAIR HELD IN THE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST CHURCH.

Strawberries, Dairy Maids and Other Things Were to be Seen There Last Night.

The warm weather of last evening was rendered much more endurable to those who attended the ice cream and strawberry festival at the Seventh-Day Baptist church. It was the last for this season of a series of very successful social affairs conducted under the auspices of the Women's Society for Christian Work.

A flower booth was erected in the centre of the chapel, where Miss Ethel Titsworth, Miss Ruth P. Maxson and Miss May Alice Ross presided. The decorations were in green and the stock in trade lent color to the booth.

Buttermilk and pot cheese was dispensed from a charming little diary garden where two dairy maids, Miss Bessie F. Randolph and Miss Mertie F. Randolph, very becomingly gowned in appropriate fashion, were in charge. At the lemonade well were Miss Mabel Rogers and Miss Mary St. John. A candy table was in charge of Miss Luella Clawson and Miss Ernestine Smith.

The refreshment committee supervised affairs in the parlors where a host of small tables were arranged for the serving of berries, cream and other delicacies. The committee was composed of Mrs. I. N. Van Sickel, Mrs. D. E Titsworth and Mrs. Charles Dunham. The waitresses were the Misses Etta Fitz Randolph, Elfreda Randolph, Bessie F. Randolph, Anna Wooden, Louise Van Sickel, Mabel Maxson, Edna Randolph, Kizzie Neagle, Elizabeth Allis and Zilphia Williams.

During the evening an informal musical programme was rendered which included a piano duet by Mrs. W. C. Hubbard and Miss Ethel Titsworth, vocal solos by Miss Mary Griswold, accompanied by Miss Jessie Utter, violin solos by Arthur Mosher, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Allis, and vocal solos by City Judge William N. Runyon. As usual the Judge was particularly pleasing and was enthusiasticly encored.

William C. Hubbard acted as master of ceremonies during the programme. John P. Mosher was cashier in the refreshment department. The whole affair was under the charge of a committee composed of Mrs. John P. Mosher, chairman; Miss Luella Clawson, Miss Ernestine Smith and Mrs. W. C. Hubbard.

DANCE AND FESTIVAL.

Given in Washington Hall by Ladies' Auxiliary of A. O. H.

The festival and dance given by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H. proved a great drawing card last night and as a result Washington Hall was crowded. Dancing was the feature of the evening and was kept up until a late hour. Dancing always creates a demand for something cooling. The ladies had prepared for this and strawberries and ice cream were to be found in abundance. Mrs. Bimble, assisted by Mrs. Linke, saw to it that every one was provided with cream, which was delivered by Miss Katie Flatly, Miss Maggie Corrigan and Miss Lizzie Fitzgerald.

The committee to whom the success of the dance was due was made up of Mrs. Regan, assisted by the Misses Lillian Tyrell, Maggie Corrigan, Katie Kane and Annie Quinn.

An Approaching Marriage.

Many Plainfielders will be interested in the announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Maude Eleanor VanDyke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. VanDyke, of 226 East Front street, and William D. Bauer, of Somerville. The happy event will take place on Wednesday evening, June 27th, at 7:30 o'clock, at the home of the bride's parents.

Her Mind Unbalanced.

Mrs. William Darling, of West Fifth street, was taken to the Morris Plains Asylum for treatment yesterday. She has been in poor health for some time, which, with the worry caused by her mother's serious illness, proved too much for her and her mind became unbalanced.

Camp Northfield.

For many years Plainfield has been represented at Camp Northfield, Mass., and in all probability this year will be no exception. The camp opens June 28th and continues until Sept. 1st. Special railroad rates have been secured. Full particulars at Y. M. C. A. building.

A Children's Service

A children's sermon will be given at the morning service of the Monroe Avenue church Sunday. The children's exercises will be held at 3 o'clock.

OLD VETS PROPOSE GOING INTO POLITICS

First Regiment in New Jersey of Union Veterans' Union Organized Here Last Night.

ALFRED PERRY AT THE HEAD

REMEDY OF PENSION DIFFICULTIES WILL BE AIM OF THE UNION.

Veterans of Civil and Spanish War and Their Sons are Entitled to Membership—All Will be Urged to Join.

The first regiment in New Jersey of what is known as the "Union Veterans' Union" was organized last evening in Spencer's Hall on Somerset street. The purpose of this organization, which originated in Washington, is to bring the strength of the battlemen of the war of the rebellion, and their sons and grandsons, to bear politically for the obtaining of a full measure of justice in the procuring of pensions for those who are entitled to them under the law.

It is claimed that at present great difficulties are encounted by the old soldiers in his efforts to get what he is entitled to. It is also claimed that the pension office is literally filled with the confederate soldier or his sons and daughters, and there seems to be a premediated delaying of work in pension matters. These things are largely responsinsible for the new organization which hopes to remedy some of these troubles speedily.

Those who are eligible to membership in this new organization include veterans of the Civil War and of the Spanish-American War, together with the sons of all veterans of hese wars. By organizing in this manner the members hope to secure just and proper recognition. It is claimed that the politician has neglected the requests of the veterans in many meritorious cases, and has hastened to do the bidding of many others who came armed with influence.

The First Regiment of New Jersey was organized last evening. There were about thirty veterans present. Comrade Alfred G Perry, of the borough, was elected Colonel, and he in turn will appoint the subordinate officers. The organization is to be in army style to be better comprehended by the veterans. The other officers such as lieut.-colonel, major, etc., will be selected from Elizabeth, New Brunswick and other places.

MUSICAL TEA.

Charming Affair Given by Miss Edith Clapp in Honor of Miss Leontine Meade.

Miss Edith Clapp, daughter of Mrs. Susan L. Clapp, of Mercer avenue, gave a most charming musical tea yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Leontine Meade, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Bethlehem, Penn. The house and piazza were artistically decorated with flowers and mountain smilax. During the afternoon a most delightful musical programme was rendered. Miss Roseavell Schroeder sang some charming songs accompanied by Miss Alice Barlow on the piano and Miss Hyatt on the violin. Miss Francis Weir played many selections on the piano with skill and Miss Hyatt delighted the audience with her violin playing.

Miss Clapp received the guests in the parlor, assisted by her aunt, Miss Lizzie Loyd and Miss Meade. In the dining room Mrs. Morris Sawyer Tremaine presided over the ices and was assisted by the Misses May Bodman, Alice Thompson, Harriet and May Shreve, Mabel VanDeventer, Helen and Francis Weir, Anna Miller and Miss Leyler, of Amherst, Mass.

Entertainment and Bazaar.

An entertainment and bazaar will be given by the ladies of the mission church of the Heavenly Rest, tonight. A special programme has been arranged and various articles will be on sale, including ice cream and cake.

More Electricity Needed.

The employes at the Plainfield Electric Light Station are very busy making some large improvements, which includes the installation of new large boilers to meet the increasing demand for electricity.

Leaving Town for the Summer.

Already Plainfield people are beginning to leave the city for seashore and mountains and by the last of this month, after school closes, a great many people will be away from town.

Uniform Hats for Call Firemen.

The call men in the Plainfield fire department will soon purchase their new hats, which will be like the ones used by the regular men.

IN THE FACE OF DEATH.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM A HORRIBLE DEATH BY A YOUNG MAN.

Jumped From a Coal Train Just as Express Approached—Fell Back Just in Time.

The dangerous practice indulged in by the employes of the Pond Tool Works of catching on a convenient coal train and riding home from work, came near resulting fatally to one of them shortly after 6 o'clock Tuesday evening. A coal train was slowly pulling up the grade at Grant avenue when the day hands quit work and a number of young men and boys jumped on the cars. At the Liberty street bridge several of them prepared to jump off on the South Second street side of the track.

One young man started to get off on the left side of the train and cross over the tracks. He had just swung himself over the side of the car and prepared to jump when to the horror of his companions, they saw the express due at Plainfield at 6:21 coming swiftly up the eastbound passenger track directly next to the one the coal train was on.

They shouted a warning to him but it was too late, and he sprang directly in the path of the approaching train. The engineer had seen him prepare to jump and immediately reversed the throttle, at the same time blowing the whistle. The young man hesitated for a moment, then seeming to regain his presence of mind he threw himself backward and fell into the ditch between the two trains, less than one second before the express passed by. His frightened companions thought he had been struck and were afraid to go to the spot until several men who had been attracted by the whistling volunteered to go up. To their surprise and relief the supposed dead man was slowly rising from the ditch, covered with dirt and more frightened than hurt. He turned without a word and crossed the tracks to West Second street.

Those who witnessed the escape say it was the closest call they had ever seen and as a result the rest of riders jumped off the coaler and finished their journey home on foot, which it is hoped they will continue to do in the future.

OLD MANSION BURNED.

Beautiful Old Homestead on the Raritan River Entirely Destroyed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 7.—Wentworth, the handsome residence of Mrs. Evelyn Murray, located on the bank of the Raritan river, between Raritan and South Branch, was burned yesterday. The cause of the fire is unknown.

The mansion was formerly the old homestead of Senator Frelinghuysen's family. The loss is estimated at $30,000. Mrs. Murray and her servants were the only occupants of the house at the time and they escaped.

Central H. and L. Company, of this place, responded to a call for help and went to the scene to endeavor to save the property. The house is a total loss and many valuables were destroyed, but the amount of insurance could not be learned.

Mrs. Murray is the divorced wife of a brother of former Supt. Murray, of the New York police department, and spends a portion of her time here and the rest in foreign travel. She has had much trouble with the servants on her place.

Weather is Just Righ.

This is just the kind of weather to thoroughly enjoy a strawberry festival, and if you go to Trinity Reformed church this afternoon or eveevening or tomorrow afternoon or evening the Ladies' Christian Work Society will see that you enjoy the festival they are giving. Besides you will help a good cause.

Endeavorer's Annual Meeting.

The annual business meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will be held in the church parlors this evening. The most important business to be considered will be the election of officers.

Dislocated His Kneecap.

While descending the stairs at his home in a hurry yesterday morning Frank McInerney slipped and fell to the bottom, dislocating his kneecap. A doctor was summoned and replaced the injured member, but it will be some time before he will be able to walk.

Mayor Smalley Still Ill.

The condition of Mayor Smalley, of the borough, is not quite so good today, and he will be detained at home much longer than he expected.

HUSBAND, THOUGHT TO BE DEAD, TURNS UP

An Embarrassing Turn of Affairs in the Marital Experience of Mrs. Baker.

MARRIED A SECOND TIME.

FIRST HUSBAND APPEARED TO MAKE TROUBLE.

Mr. Baker Was Astounded When He Learned the News—Left Home For Awhile, But is Back Again Now.

For some time past the relations between Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Baker, who live on Plainfield avenue, in what is known as the "haunted" house, have not been happy. Tiffs between the two have been quite frequent and counter charges of misconduct have been made by each one.

But the climax to the trouble came about six weeks ago when one night Mr. Baker saw a man sulking near the house, and on inquiring of his wife who she thought it could be, received the startling information that she thought it was a former husband, George Canfield, whom she married in 1878, and from whom she became separated the same year.

The news came like a shock of Mr. Baker, as he was unaware that his wife had previously been married. He brooded over it to such an extent that he left home. He went to Asbury Park where he remained for five weeks, returning home on the advice of his friends. He returned Tuesday, but on going to the house his wife refused to let him in until he was forced to call an officer and demand admittance.

He left again, however, and registered at the City Hotel, because, he said, his wife was harboring her former husband.

This was the way the case stood this morning when a Press reporter interviewed both parties. Mrs. Baker, in speaking of the trouble, said:

"I was married in 1878 to George Canfield at New Providence, R. I., but soon after my husband went west to engage in business, leaving me to follow when he became settled. We corresponded until July of that year, when he drifted further west and the letters became less frequent and finally I lost all track of him. Some time afterward I received information that he was dead.

"His parents, who live in Newark, thought the same and when I left New Providence they thought I was dead also.

"I married Mr. Baker in 1886 at Bound Brook, soon after removing to Plainfield. Thus matters stood when by advertising for me, through Mr. Canfield's sister leaving me some money, his parents found I was living and he also living in Indianapolis, where he has a wife and six children. Upon learning that I was alive he wrote to me, but I refused to have anything to do with him. He came to Plainfield some time ago to see me. His father came from Newark and induced him to go home, as we were both married and for the sake of our children leave things as they were. This he consented to do, returning to Indianapolis yesterday. For the present I have no definite plans as to what course I shall pursue."

Mr. Baker says that things will remain as they are at present. Baker is a painter by trade and is well known in Plainfield where he has a number of relatives.

The couple have two children—a boy and a girl.

A HOME WEDDING.

Miss Marion Thompson Becomes the Wife of William Robinson.

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Charles Thompson, of West Front street yesterday, when her daughter, Marion, was united in marriage to William Robinson, of New York, by Rev. C. Mangers, of Oxford, N. J. The maid of honor was Miss Marie Thompson, a sister of the bride and the best man, John Robinson, a brother of the groom. At the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was given to the immediate friends and relatives of the family, after which the young couple left on the 1:30 train for a short wedding trip to Connecticut. At the conclusion of the trip they will take up their residence in New York, where the groom is in business.

Getting Ready for Football.

A meeting in the interest of a football eleven for the Plainfield High School was held at the High School yesterday afternoon. There were twenty candidates who reported. No action was taken, but it is probable that the High School will be represented on the gridiron next fall.

SUPREME COURT OPENS.

Chief Justice Depue Presides for the First Time—Lawyers are Anxious.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 7.—The June term of the State Supreme Court opened Tuesday. Chief Justice Depue presided over the court for the first time. He announced that Justice Fort, together with himself and Justices Ludlow and Gummere, would sit as the main court, while Justices Dixon, Garrison and Collins would comprise the main branch and Justices Lippencott and VanSickel the twig, or side branch.

Edward A. Duffield, of Newark; Chas. A. Rathbun, of Morristown; John W. Harding and John S. Mitchell, of Bridgeton, and Chauncey H. Beasley and Carroll Robbins, of Trenton, were named by the Chief Justice to examine the candidates for attorneys and counselors' licenses. The quo warranto proceedings instituted by Edward Uffert, of Newark, against Receiver of Taxes Vogt, were set down for argument in the near future. The court dismissed the rule commanding Charles A. Trimble to show cause why he should not be disbarred for alleged unprofessional conduct.

A number of lawyers, among them some of the most prominent in the State, are "on the anxious bench." As a number of cases which they announced ready for argument were marked well down the list, the lawyers went away. A large number of short cases were quickly disposed of, however, and the cases in question were reached in the afternoon. As the attorneys were absent they fear that the court will force them off the list for the term. The court recently announced that cases marked "ready" must be argued at once—that is, on "second call," which takes place as soon as they are reached on the calendar.

PLANS FOR P. O. BUILDING.

Government Structure at New Brunswick Will be a Handsome and Modern One.

The rough sketch of the plans for the proposed postoffice building to be erected at New Brunswick has been submitted by James K. Taylor, the supervising architect, to Secretary Gage, Secretary A. Hitchcock, and the Postmaster-General, and has been approved. The plans and specifications will at once be prepared. The remaining $50,000 of the original appropriation will be available with the adjournment of the present session of Congress. The price paid for the ground was $20,700, and the remaining amount will be expended on the postoffice building.

The building will be constructed of brick with terra cotta trimmings, two stories, and the second story will have room for the offices of the Internal Revenue Agent and weather bureau service. It is expected that ground for the new building will be broken about October 1st, and the building will be ready for occupany about July 1, 1901. The bill making the appropriation of $100,000 for this building was introduced by Congressman Howell, and was the only New Jersey bill which was passed at the last session of the 55th Congress.

VOORHEES ENJOYS HIMSELF.

Letter From Frank Bergen Tells of the Governor's Doings.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth June 7—Governor Voorhees and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bergen are having a delightful tour, according to several letters that have been received by residents of this city.

The last one reached here Tuesday. It was written by Mr. Bergen, under date of May 27th, from De-Keyser's Royal Hotel, London. It says in part:

"We arrived here Wednesday, May 23d, about 5 p. m., and have been busy doing the town ever since. Several friends have called and made it very pleasant for us. We are all very well, the Governor especially.

"Tomorrow we are going to sail for Antwerp and run over Holland for a few days to see my poor relations, and then go to Paris to be robbed for a week. We expect to start from Cherbourg, France, June 9th, on the New York, and hope to see America again on the 16th.

"I have been three times in Europe and while there is much to see that amuses a vagrant, the principal benefit of it all is that it makes one more contented to stay at home."

Martin a Candidate for Major.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 7.—There will be a special election held next Friday evening at Trenton for two majors for the Second New Jersey Regiment. Rev. Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, chaplain of the regiment, who has been urged to become a candidate for major, stated positively today that he would not enter the race. As a consequence the Elizabeth officers have unanimously decided to support for the position First Lieutenant William B. Martin, of Company I, of this city. Lieutenant Martin has been in the National Guard of this State for fifteen years and served ten months in the volunteer service during the Spanish-American War.

GENERAL WHEELER'S FUTURE.

He Will Be Retired Soon at His Own Request.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—It is said at the war department that General Wheeler will be given no military assignment under his commission as brigadier general of regulars, but that he will be placed on the retired list within the next few days. This plan of action, it is said, is in accordance with an understanding reached between the president and General Wheeler. The retirement will be made upon General Wheeler's application and is in conformity with the statute authorizing the president to retire officers of the army upon their own application after they reach the age of 62 years.

General Wheeler was born Sept. 10, 1836, and in the natural course of events would be retired for age Sept. 10 next, when he will reach the age of 64 years, the statutory limit of active service in the army.

The retirement of General Wheeler will create a vacancy in the grade of brigadier general, which will be permanently filled by the appointment of one of the officers of the army who particularly distinguishes himself in action in Cuba, Porto Rico or the Philippines. The president is somewhat embarrassed in this matter by the abundance of material to select from. Six officers are mentioned as having superior claims for preferment in this direction. These are Generals Davis, Chaffee, Hughes, Wheaton, Bates and Schwan, all of whom have rendered conspicuous military service. They are all colonels in the regular army and brigadier generals of volunteers. There is an impression that General Davis, military governor of Porto Rico, stands the best chance of securing the star.

Indiana Democrats.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 7.—The differences and conflicting opinions which on the eve of the Democratic state convention threatened to disrupt the deliberations and precipitate a warm discussion were settled in the various committees, and the convention yesterday was strikingly harmonious from beginning to end. The work of the convention was transacted expeditiously. The following ticket was named: Governor, John W. Kern of Indianapolis; lieutenant governor, John C. Lawler of Salem; secretary of state, Adam Heimberger of New Albany; state auditor, John W. Minor of Indianapolis; state treasurer, Jerome Herff of Peru; attorney general, C. P. Drummond of Plymouth; delegates at large, Samuel E. Morss of Indianapolis, Hugh M. Daugherty of Bluffton, James Murdock of Lafayette and George B. Menzies of Mount Vernon.

Supposed Counterfeiter Arrested.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7. — The United States secret service operatives sprang another surprise here last night when they made an additional arrest in the great counterfeiting conspiracy which was unearthed in this city and in Lancaster, Pa. The man apprehended is Daniel R. Hayes, a yardman in the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad, who was taken into custody by Secret Service Operative William J. Burns on the charge of having passed $20 counterfeit Hamilton head treasury notes. He was held in $10,000 bail by Commissioner Craig for a hearing today.

Smallpox Scare In Fall River.

FALL RIVER, Mass., June 7.—Six additional cases of smallpox have been brought to the attention of the authorities. Arrangements were made at once to take all the patients to the Fall River pesthouse. The smallpox first developed in a tenement house which is above the corporation store where all the mill employees trade, and in consequence a genuine scare has developed in that locality.

Elephant Dead of Heart Failure.

BALTIMORE, June 7.—Jolly, the big 17-year-old Indian elephant which has been exhibited in the Hagenback show of wild animals in all parts of the country, is dead in this city. Heart failure is attributed as the cause of dissolution. Sport, another elephant in the herd, was injured in a railroad accident three weeks ago, and it is probable that he will be killed today.

AN ENGLISH OPINION

The British Consul at Manila Makes Report.

RESTORATION OF ORDER DIFFICULT

Improvement Visible Everywhere Throughout the Islands Under American Rule—The Chinese Labor Question Important.

LONDON, June 7.—The report of the British consul at Manila, Mr. Harford, on the trade of the Philippine Islands in 1899 was received at the foreign office May 7. He says the collapse of the insurrection and the reopening of the ports restored confidence and produced great commercial activity. The continuance of prosperity, however, he added, was dependent upon circumstances, for, though the ports were safe, the interior of the islands was quite the contrary, and it will depend on the state of the country whether further exports are forthcoming. He explains that the immense size of the country renders a restoration of law and order a difficult task, as the influence of the leaders appears strong enough to prevent the otherwise willing natives from surrendering.

Mr. Harford then proceeds to comment on the greatly enhanced cost of living in Manila, saying house rent, all kinds of labor and everything connected with shipping owing to the immensely increased demand command their own prices. Improvements, he also says, are visible in every direction and refers to the work of draining the filthy town ditches and stagnant pools "which," he asserts, "in contemplation may possibly entail epidemic, but its advantage to posterity is inestimable." The recovered land of the city walls and moat "will," Mr. Harford further remarks, "provide building sites which American enterprise will know how to utilize, and, though Manila will never become a fashionable watering place, it may become a great commercial power in these waters before the first quarter of the century has passed." He adds:

"The hemp and tobacco industries are likely to suffer severely for some time from the insurrection, but there is no doubt there are now golden opportunities for the employment of capital and talent in many local trades. Ice manufactories, livery stables, hotels and general enterprise are much wanted, but I most strongly deprecate young men without capital, no matter what their education, coming in search of employment. In every department the greatest courtesy and attention is to be found from the officials.

"The Chinese labor question is one of great importance to the Americans. Owing to their experience in California they are strongly influenced against it; but, considering the Filipinos' natural indolence, it will probably be found impossible to do without the Chinese. The Filipinos make excellent clerks if well overlooked, otherwise they will spend their time in gambling and cockfighting. They are apathetic and have no commercial instincts."

Regarding Iloilo, Vice Consul Fyfe says:

"The United States having now successfully occupied the better part of the island, the end of the year augurs well for a happier future, and when once peaceful rule is established many important improvements will be made."

Conference on Arbitration.

LAKE MOHONK, N. Y., June 7.—The sixth annual conference for the promotion of international arbitration met at Lake Mohonk yesterday, 175 persons being present. The opening prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. John K. Allen of Tarrytown. Mr. Albert K. Smiley delivered an address of welcome, and upon his nomination ex-Chief Justice Matteson of Rhode Island was elected president. The first address was delivered by F. W. Holls, secretary of the United States commission at The Hague convention. Mr. Holls reviewed the history and doings of the convention and paid a high tribute to the ability and service rendered by the United States commissioners and declared that the convention had more than satisfied the best wishes of its friends. It had made war more difficult by opening the way to peace and by saving the self respect of the weaker nations.

A Musician Turns Housebreaker.

LOWELL, Mass., June 7.—A policeman arrested George E. Kittredge, aged 22, a well known and respected music teacher, in the act of breaking into a store. At the station a burglar's jimmy, chisel and a very large bunch of keys were found on him. Later at his home articles said to have been stolen from residences in the fashionable Highland district were discovered. Breaks at the Highlands have occurred almost every Sunday evening since April 15 while the occupants were at church. In eight breaks more than $1,000 worth of property was taken. The friends of the arrested man maintain that he is insane.

Magdalen Islanders Prosperous.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., June 7.—Mail reports from the Magdalen islands, which are situated in the gulf of St. Lawrence about 100 miles from the Canadian mainland, state that affairs are remarkably prosperous there this season. The islanders, who number 6,500, captured 17,000 seals on the ice near the shore this spring, the greatest catch in the memory of most of the residents. To add to their good fortune an immense catch of lobsters and other fish is announced.

Severe Storms In France.

PARIS, June 7.—Heavy thunderstorms in the central parts of France have caused serious damage to crops and live stock. There have been several deaths from lightning, and large tracts of country around Thiers are inundated. Seven persons have been drowned, traffic on the railroad has been interrupted, and 1,000,000 francs damage has been done at Thiers itself.

Colombian Revolutionists Win.

CARACAS, Venezuela, June 7.—A dispatch from Cucuta, department of Santander, Venezuela, says that after 13 days of fighting the Colombian revolutionists have routed the government forces near Bucaramanga, capturing a number of prisoners, including General Penasolano.

Americans First In Pretoria.

ALBANY, June 7.—Governor Roosevelt is highly elated over the fact that one of the two Americans who entered Johannesburg ahead of the British troops was a corporal in the Rough Riders, Guy Scully, a graduate of Harvard.

CHINA'S WAR CLOUD.

Situation Growing More Serious, Says Minister Conger.

AMERICA ORDERS RE-ENFORCEMENTS

The Gunboat Helena and a Battalion of Marines to Leave Manila—Japan Protests Against the Landing of Russian Troops.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—"Americans in China will be protected. Conger can have all the men he wants," declared an official yesterday. And within an hour a message to this effect had been sent to Minister Conger by Secretary Hay. At the same time Secretary Long ordered Admiral Remy at Manila to send the gunboat Helena and a battalion of marines to Admiral Kempff at Taku.

A message was sent to Admiral Kempff telling him to call on Admiral Remey for troops or warships if he should deem this necessary.

Minister Conger reported that the condition is more critical and Peking itself is in danger.

The Boxers are burning property within three miles of the city. In a pitched battle between Boxers and the Chinese troops, assisted by Cossacks, many were killed on both sides.

About the Boxers.

LONDON, June 7.—The Rev. Mr. Sowerby, who has worked for 20 years in China and who has just reached London from Pao-ting-fu, said today: "The Boxers are the scum of the population. They have no uniform organization nor any official leaders. Formerly they carried broadswords, but now they have well managed modern weapons, undoubtedly supplied by the imperial family. Before drilling they throw themselves on the ground, work themselves into a frenzy and then believe themselves invulnerable. The empress has fostered an otherwise unimportant movement because of the wholesale desertions from her army under General Tung, the imperial troops believing that war with some foreign power is imminent. The empress dowager, who becomes more intensely antiforeign as time passes, has been greatly annoyed by the work of the Germans at Kiao-chou. She desires to use force to stop the reform movement, and is ready to defy the European powers. If the Boxers are permitted to invade Peking the result will probably be disastrous to foreign missions, which are isloated and spread over a large area."

Japan Protests.

SHANGHAI, June 7.—Japan has protested against the further landing of Russian troops at Taku. She has backed up her protest by mobilizing her troops to meet an emergency. The members of a majority of the Peking legations are sending their families away to places of safety. It is reported here that two Russian engineers were murdered at Yuchow-fu, northwest of Port Arthur, after their wives had been outraged. The total damage done to the Chinese railroads by the Boxers is now estimated at $5,000,000.

South Dakota Democrats.

CHAMBERLAIN, S. D., June 7.—The Democratic state convention for the selection of eight delegates to the Kansas City convention concluded its labors last night. The delegates were instructed for Bryan. The adoption of the report of the committee on resolutions was opposed owing to paragraphs eulogistic of Charles A. Towne, the Populist nominee for vice president; commending the course of Senator Pettigrew in the senate and recommending that the Democratic convention to be held at Yankton July 11 for the nomination of a state ticket indorse him for re-election, thus binding every Democratic member of the legislature to his support. After a prolonged debate, however, the resolutions as reported by the committee were adopted. Sympathy was extended to the Boers, and imperialism and trusts were denounced. Maris Taylor of Huron, present bank examiner of South Dakota, was elected member of the Democratic national committee.

Major Smith Dismissed.

ALBANY, June 7.—Governor Roosevelt yesterday afternoon issued an order dismissing Major Clinton H. Smith of the Seventy-first regiment from the service of the national guard. This action is taken on the recommendation of the board of examiners appointed by Governor Roosevelt to examine into the fitness of Major Smith to serve as a commissioned officer in the national guard. Major Smith has been removed because of his having failed to take command of the Seventy-first regiment at the battle of San Juan Hill, Santiago, Cuba, and lead it into the fight when Colonel Downes, its commander, had failed to do so.

Chaplain of Two Conventions.

PHILADELPHIA, June 7.—The Rev. Edgar M. Levy, D. D., of this city has received official notification of his selection as chaplain to the national Republican convention. The information came in a communication from Chairman Hanna of the national committee. When Dr. Levy will have fulfilled his office he will bear the unique distinction of having acted as chaplain of two Republican national conventions 44 years apart. Dr. Levy in 1856 acted as chaplain to the Fremont convention held in this city at Musical Fund hall. He is a Baptist clergyman and is 80 years of age.

Shot Himself and Not Thieves.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 7.—Joseph Taylor of Slate Hill heard thieves at his hennery and rushed to get his revolver. In the excitement he shot himself through the hand, and the thieves escaped.

Relentless Rheumatism Conquered.

Up to recently it could have been said that science had advanced no positive cure for rheumatism, but a hospital specialist, delving after a cure for this tormenting disease, one day hit upon just the right formula, and in Dr. Holtin's Rheumatic Remedy to-day the medical world recognizes at last a cure.

No matter how bad your pains may have been or are; no matter of how long standing; no matter how many remedies you have tried, Dr. Holtin's Rheumatic Remedy will not only help you at once, but it will cure you for ever and ever. This magnificent remedy will cure all forms of rheumatism, muscular, acute, articular, gout, neuralgia, or sciatica, because it drives out of the system at once the uric acid that makes all the trouble and brings the muscle fibers back to their normal condition.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. ROBERTS' ARMY RESTING.

Preparing to Pursue the Boers Who Fled Toward Lydenburg.

LONDON, June 7.—Military operations in South Africa are apparently at a standstill. For a day or two the tired troops of Lord Roberts are resting, and he is filling the magazines and warehouses at his new base, Pretoria, preparatory to a long chase after the retiring Boers in the direction of Lydenburg. His cavalry are probably seeking to intercept Commandant General Botha.

Some dispatches are to hand which left Pretoria Monday while the fighting was going on outside the city. They come by way of Lourenco Marques. One of them says:

"Toward the end of the day, when the British naval guns were shelling the southern forts, a number of projectiles burst, damaging the suburbs. All day armed burghers have been leaving Pretoria, going east. The greater part of the railway rolling stock has been removed.

"General Botha was fighting an essentially rear guard action, his object not being to defend Pretoria, but to delay Lord Roberts until the railway switch had been cleared and the main part of the Boer army had started to withdraw. The British advance appears to have left open to the Boers the best line of retreat along the railway."

Possibly Lord Roberts may have been able to cut the railway before a full retirement was effected. That Pretoria would be defended was apparently given out after the council of war with a view of misleading the British. Lydenburg, the district into which the provisions originally destined for Pretoria have been diverted and where a cartridge factory has been erected and reserve supplies of all sorts are stored, is a volcanic region of fertile valleys inclosed by great ramparts of precipitous rock penetrated by narrow, winding passes. There are herds of cattle in the valleys, and there is much native labor available for fortifying. The Boers used both heavy and light artillery at Pretoria.

What is supposed to have been the last train out of Pretoria arrived at Lourenco Marques Sunday evening. The passengers included a number of foreign volunteers who were leaving the Boers and also the wives and children of Hollanders. They described Pretoria as destitute of food and clothing. What the Boer officials could not take the natives and townspeople did.

Probably the most important Boer army is at Laingsnek, where both sides are passive. General Rundle and General Brabant have withdrawn a little southward.

General Baden-Powell has extended martial law to the Marico and North Lichtenberg districts. Shots were exchanged between Boer and British patrols 18 miles east of Mafeking on May 28. Part of the forces lately at Pretoria are reported to have gone eastward to meet General Baden-Powell and to make a show of holding the country through which he and General Hunter are moving.

A dispatch to The Daily Telegraph from Newcastle, dated Tuesday, describes the Boers there as an unorganized rabble, without flour, meat or sugar. Their surrender is only a question of time. Nevertheless, the correspondent avers, they hold strong positions, with the prospect of a safe retreat toward Lydenberg.

Dockery For Governor.

KANSAS CITY, June 7.—For governor, Alexander M. Dockery of Gallatin; for lieutenant governor, John A. Lee of St. Louis; for secretary of state, S. B. Cook of Mexico; for state auditor, Albert O. COULD NOT ADJOURN

House In a Deadlock Over Naval Bill.

LENTZ OF OHIO BLOCKS BUSINESS.

A Heated Night Debate—Mr. Cannon Scores the Conferees For Non-agreement—House Refuses to Yield to Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—When the house last night at 10:30 took a recess until 10 o'clock this morning, the two chambers of the national legislature, with heads down and horns locked, were in a desperate struggle over the item in the naval appropriation bill relating to ocean surveys. The final adjournment of congress is postponed until it is over.

The proceedings in the house during the day were tame and without dramatic incident. This was partly due to the fact that the firm position taken by the house on the armor plate provision transferred the fight to the floor of the senate and to the obstinate refusal of Mr. Lentz, an Ohio Democrat, to permit any unanimous consent legislation until the Republican leaders agreed to allow the testimony in the Cœur d'Alene investigation to be printed. Mr. Lentz held the house by the throat all day, and except for privileged matters things legislative were practically at a standstill.

But at night there was enough excitement to compensate for the dullness of the day session. The house got its dander up over the failure of its conferees to abide by their instructions on the ocean survey item, and after an exceedingly sensational debate, in which Mr. Cannon, the chairman of the appropriations committee, made some startling disclosures as to the manner in which Commander Todd, the hydrographer of the navy, had waged his campaign against the stand taken by the house in favor of the coast and geodetic survey doing ocean survey work the house rejected the conference report by an overwhelming majority and the speaker took the almost unprecedented course of appointing new conferees on the part of the house who are not members of the naval committee.

The debate was one of the bitterest and most heated of the session. Mr. Cannon in the excitement of the moment took off his collar and necktie and with sleeves rolled up aroused the house to a tremendous pitch of enthusiasm as he dealt the conferees sledge hammer blows. The galleries, crowded to the doors, cheered the picturesque fight of the grizzled old veteran until the fretted ceiling rang. The conferees defended their course as best they could, and Mr. Foss, acting chairman of the committee, resented with bitter language the charge that he had betrayed the house. Hot words were bandied back and forth, but the house was in an ugly mood and was resolved to fight the senate to a finish. The appointment as conferees of Mr. Cannon, Mr. Moody and Mr. Shafroth, all of whom are in sympathy with the house's position, assures no surrender on their part until the house itself shall direct them to yield.

Inability to reach an agreement upon the naval appropriation bill forced the senate to abandon the adoption of the house resolution for final adjournment. The armor plate question, which for five years has been a thorn in the side of congress, upset the calculations of the senate leaders, and their well laid plans went awry.

It was a day of strife and turmoil in the senate. Early the conferees on the naval bill reported a disagreement, and the senate was told plainly that the house would not consent to the amendment providing for an armor plate factory to be operated by the government. A compromise proposition was presented by Mr. Penrose of Pennsylvania and after hours of debate finally was adopted by a vote of 39 to 35. The discussion of the proposition developed an unusual bitterness of feeling, and charges of robbery and political corruption were hurled about the chamber with an abandon which, if they had not fallen from the lips of grave senators, would have been regarded as reckless. Little worse was ever heard in the heat of a political campaign.

Three o'clock, the hour agreed upon for final adjournment, was passed, and still the senate wrestled with the armor question. When the Penrose proposition finally was agreed to it was supposed the way was clear, but late at night another disagreement was reported on the naval bill, and the senate took an adjournment until 11 o'clock today.

SESSION'S APPROPRIATIONS.

The Amount Largely In Excess of Former Years.

WASHINGTON, June 7.—A carefully prepared statement on the appropriations of the session was made by Senator Allison, chairman of the senate committee on appropriations, and Chairman Cannon of the house committee on appropriations in accordance with custom. The statement says:

"The appropriations made by the first session of the Fifty-sixth congress amount to $709,729,476. This sum includes $131,247,155 estimated to be on account of or incident to the late war with Spain, and deducting it the remaining amount, $578,482,321, represents the ordinary appropriations made for the support of the government during this session.

"It will be observed that after deducting the amounts estimated to have been appropriated on account of or incident to the war with Spain for the ensuing, the current and the last fiscal years (which cover the period since the beginning of the Spanish war) the appropriations for the five fiscal years, including the two immediately preceding the war, are as follows: 1897, $515,845,194; 1898, $528,735,079; 1899, $532,371,688; 1900, $554,278,866; 1901, $578,482,321.

"This shows an apparent excess in the ordinary appropriations at this session for the fiscal year 1901 of $49,747,242 over the appropriations for the fiscal year 1898, which immediately preceded the Spanish war. The chief increases in ordinary expenses for 1901 over those for 1898 are: Increase of the navy, $7,081,916; pensions, $3,981,350; postal service, exclusive of newly acquired territory, $17,782,900. Twelfth census, $9,000,000.

"Permanent appropriations (including $2,000,000 for requirements of sinking fund and $4,000,000 for redemption of national bank notes), $6,634,000. The total of these increases is $50,202,826.

Weather Probabilities.

Showers and probably thunderstorms; brisk to high south to southeast winds.

Regulating the Milk Supply.

The ordinance which has been drafted for the supervision and control of the milk supply in this city, for the purpose of reducing to an absolute minimum the chances of an epidemic of contagious diseases through the distribution and use of impure milk, is certainly sweeping and stringent in its character. However, it is left to the discretion of the milk dealers whether or not they will all agree to its provisions, and those that do agree to it will put themselves under an obligation that will require constant care and vigilance to observe in an effective and successful manner.

The Board of Health also assumes a grave responsibility, as the success of the ordinance will impose upon the members a close and careful knowledge of local conditions in reference to the milk supply of the community. The ordinance will have to be administered with judicious and sober appreciation of the fact that it is one which will be easy to make offensive and oppressive, and to steer clear of such results will require an exercise of keen, yet mild, discrimination.

The milk dealers who agree to abide by its terms put themselves under an obligation that is revolutionary in comparison to the general practices that prevail at the present time in the handling of milk, but if the stipulations and restrictions are followed out it will make their customers feel that they are not being subjected to the perils that sometimes arise as a result of the old and careless way of gathering and distributing that necessary article of nutrition.

It would seem, though, that there will have to be some modifications of the ordinance before it becomes really practicable. For instance, the ordinance, as now proposed, provides that no dealer who agrees to observe it shall be permitted to use tickets issued to customers more than once. To provide a new set of tickets every day would mean an expense of from $200 to $400 annually for each dealer. A rule involving such an outlay of money for so small a thing as tickets is, of course, preposterous and out of reason. That is one defect of the proposed ordinance, and there may be others which will have to be toned down considerable before they are adjusted to a practical condition of affairs.

For several weeks the New Brunswick Home News has been vigorously criticising the Middlesex County Board of Freeholders on the ground that contracts for macadamizing county roads have been made at excessive prices. The Home News has not only stirred up official circles in its own bailiwick, but now it has succeeded in interesting State Road Commissioner Budd in the discussion. Mr. Budd comes to the defense of the Freeholders and says that "there has been an increase in the cost of construction all along the line." He cities the fact that Mercer, Burlington, Gloucester and Monmouth counties are all paying from twenty-five to fifty per cent. more for road improvement than a year ago, and that as a matter of fact the contractors claim they have been losing money at former prices.

Notices were sent out yesterday to the members that the Republican State committee will meet for organization at the Trenton House in Trenton, Tuesday, June 12th, at 11 o'clock. It is generally understood over the State that Franklin Murphy will be elected chairman of the committee by acclamation for the sixth consecutive term, and that the headquarters of the committee will be in Newark, as heretofore.

The pollution of the Passaic river must cease within four years. The State Sewerage Commission has issued an ultimatum to that effect, and this action is believed to be the beginning of the end of the pollution of potable streams in New Jersey.

After all, how futile and fruitless were the arguments of the politicians in behalf of the man who was going to break up that terrible monoply in the wholesale liquor traffic in Plainfield!

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrie Ferrie and their bright little daughter, of Cape Town, South Africa, are now enjoying a vacation in this country. They have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Ferrie's father, George A. Audsley, 150 Grove street, but at present are in New York. Mr. Ferrie is employed by the English Government as the chief engineer in charge of all construction work with headquarters at Cape Town. This position he has held for ten years continuously, and during that time has never had any vacation. In recognition of his long faithful service he was recently granted a vacation of six months. Mr. Ferrie is of Scotch birth and a man of great executive ability. However, neither he nor his wife are partial to the country where they have been living and it is doubtful if they return to Cape Town. They are delighted with Plainfield, and it is possible that they may locate in this city.

* * * * *

Many a woman who has at this season of household rummage without a sale deliberated over the disposal of old article stowed away in the recesses of cupboards and closets, will appreciate the experience of New Yorker who tells the following story of herself: "I was told to put the house in order for renting furnished and as it was an old house I found a variety of articles too old for present use and too good to throw away. I made these in piles for different charities. Over a hat box at the top of a wardrobe I hesitated. The box was in good condition but the hat within was queer. I thought it ancestral. It looked like a mourning hat and I fancied my husband's grandfather had worn it after the demise of his life partner. I respected his grief so much that I put the hat back in its box and returned it to the top of the wardrobe. Then as I realized that if I grew sentimental over all the old articles I found the house would never be in order for new tenants. I took it down again and sent it to the Home for the Aged. The next day my brother-in-lay came to dinner with the question:

"'Has anyone seen my opera hat?'

"I gasped, for I was from the country and was not familiar with opera hats.

"'Where was it?' I inquired with some misgiving, and I knew from the sinking at my heart he would say the top of the wardrobe in the guest chamber.

"'Oh, John!' I faltered, 'I thought it was your grandfather's hat and I sent it to the Home for the Aged.'

"John roared. I realize he might have done worse. He might have twitted his brother's wife with her country training and ignorance of operas and their belongings, but that roar of laughter just ended with the exclamation!

"'The eternal fitness of things! Home for the Aged and opera hats!'"

William Farrier spent yesterday in New York.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 7.—The Baptist church young people have made arrangements for a large turnout of their friends at their annual strawberry festival to be held in the church this evening. The committee in charge has arranged a very pleasant and entertaining musical programme, a feature of which will be the singing by the ladies' quartette which has recently been organized. This will be their first appearance in public.

Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Westcott have been spending a few days at Atlantic City, where the Doctor has been attending the State Medical convention, which has been in session there.

The members of St. Mary's Catholic church, of Stony Hill, are arranging to hold a fair in Excelsior Hall Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week.

Carter, Miss Mary Bosselle, Miss Phoebe L. Hart, Miss Mary L. Pugh and Miss Olive Newell. The commencement exercises will be held June 18th at the Club Hall. Prof. Cecil F. Lovell, of New York, will make an address. Rev. N. W. Cadwell will deliver the baccalaureate sermon next Sunday at the Presbyterian church.

The police are rigidly enforcing the bicycle ordinance. Officer Knapp a few nights ago arrested E. P. Bassett for riding without a light. He was let off with a light fine.

JOHN L. REDUCING WEIGHT.

Jersey Small Boys Forsake Parental Woodpile to See Him Pass.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Metuchen June 7—The Metuchen small boy and some of his big brothers—in fact, most of them—are discussing but one thing just now, and that is John L. Sullivan and his record and past glories. The great pugilist of other days is down here as the guest of a friend of his, "The" Allen.

John L is using the time of his stay to take off some of his flesh, and, clad in a red sweater, he takes to the road daily, and, despite his age and weight, hits up a lively pace. He seems in good health and his face is clearing under the influence of his exercise, short a time as he has kept it up.

Every time he starts out he is followed by every small boy who can get away from school or the parental woodpile. As he passes everyone stands and watches him, and in the country the farmers and their hands line up at the fences to see him and his escort pass.

SOME WILL BE DISAPPOINTED.

Great Demand for Tickets to the Republican National Convention.

The great clamor which is being made throughout New Jersey for tickets for the National Republican convention would make it appear as though half the Republicans in the State wanted to attend the sessions of that body. All of the Republican Congressmen and the two senators are fairly besieged with requests for tickets, and it is evident that there will be a large number of disappointed Republicans distributed throughout New Jersey.

The tickets which will be distributed in New Jersey will be placed in the hands of the national committeemen on the morning of June 18, 1900, and not a day before. There will be about 250 tickets for the entire State of New Jersey, and a mere mathematical calculation will demonstrate just how many can see one session of the convention and how many will not be able to get inside the big auditorium.

Property Owners Must Pay First.

At the meeting of the Common Council Monday night the following resolution was passed: "Resolved, That the City Clerk be directed to notify the petitioners for the macadamizing of West Fifth street, from Grant avenue to Monroe avenue, that as soon as the property owners shall deposit with the City Treasurer a sum equal to twenty nine cents per foot frontage between the above mentioned points, the Common Council will introduce an ordinance for macadamizing said street for a width of 16 feet, and for a depth of six inches in the centre and four inches at the sides."

Team of Fast Steppers.

Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., of Jackson avenue, has just purchased a very handsome team of sorrel horses from Robert H. Cook, of Rockview avenue, for his own pleasure driving. He is also building an addition to his barn on the north side to accommodate the new team and his wagons. The many friends of the popular Councilman may now expect to see him frequently on the speedway enjoying a fast mile.

The Man Who Fell in a Well.

Nicholas Kelly, of Cottage place, who fell thirty feet down an unused well last Sunday afternoon at the home of Patrick Kane, of the same street, was not injured as seriously as was first supposed. His foot was severely cut and he lost considerable blood, but he is now able to go out and does not suffer an inconvenience.

—Neuman Brothers handle Mr. Corburn's berries. He reports the flavor and quality better than ever before.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Die zuständige Magistratskommission beschloß, die von der Regierung verlangte Garantiebetheiligung Berlins an den Kosten des Großschiffahrtsweges Berlin-Stettin zu übernehmen, wenn Charlottenburg zehn Prozent der Berliner Garantie übernimmt. —Das neue Feuerwehrdenkmal, für welches die städtischen Behörden 26,000 Mark als Jubiläumsgabe zum 50-jährigen Bestehen der Wehr bewilligt haben, wird auf dem Mariannenplatz nahe der Waldemarstraße aufgestellt werden.—Der allgemeine evangelische Missionsverein theilte mit, daß die Kosten des von ihm in Kiautschau zu erbauenden Krankenhauses auf 100,000 Mark veranschlagt sind, wovon 40,000 Mark aus dem Nachlasse des Missionärs Dr. Faber gedeckt seien.—Der aus Wien gebürtige 25jährige Dr. jur. Walter Schlesinger hat Selbstmord verübt, indem er Gift nahm. Die Ursache war unglückliche Liebe.

Groß-Lichterfelde. Der 77-jährige Professor Dr. Immanuel Schmidt fiel beim Ueberschreiten des Fahrdammes hin, brach sich den Arm und kam dann noch unter die Räder einer Droschke, wodurch ihm eine Rippe gebrochen und die Leber gequetscht wurde. Der greise Gelehrte gab bald darauf in seiner Wohnung seinen Geist auf.

Kossenblatt. Neulich schoß der Rittergutsbesitzer Buchholz auf kurze Distanz auf vier Personen, die in einer Gerichtsverhandlung als belastende Zeugen gegen ihn aufgetreten waren. Zwei Personen, darunter der Gutsgärtner Ponath, waren tödtlich, die beiden anderen leicht verwundet. Als Buchholz verhaftet werden sollte, schoß er sich eine Revolverkugel in den Kopf, die ihn sofort tödtete.

Provinz Hannover.

Lehe. In der Midlumer Haide, zwischen Lehe und Bederkesa, entstand ein großer Brand, der die fiskalischen Forsten ergriff und etwa 1000 Morgen Waldbestand vernichtete. Der Schaden wird auf 80,000 bis 100,000 Mark geschätzt.

Osnabrück. Hier starb der älteste aller inaktiven Offiziere der deutschen Armee, der Major a. D. Eduard Wilhelm v. Linsingen, geboren zu Messina, Sizilien, als Sohn eines Offiziers der deutsch-englischen Legion. Der Verstorbene war ein Augenzeuge der Schlacht von Waterloo im Jahre 1815.

Stettin. Der 61 Jahre alte Pastor Rudolf Steinbrück aus dem nahen Eggesin wurde wegen Unterschlagung amtlicher Gelder, sowie wegen falscher Buchführung zu 2½ Jahren Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Treptow. In dem etwa 700 Einwohner zählenden Dorfe Robe sind durch eine Feuersbrunst 60 Gehöfte in Asche gelegt worden. Der Schuhmacher Manske, dessen Häuschen ebenfalls abbrannte, erlag vor Schreck einem Schlaganfall. Der Bauernhausbesitzer Emil Hoppe trug schlimme Brandwunden davon.

Provinz Posen.

Bromberg. Ein Hochstapler, der 28jährige Josef Wolawelski aus Pinsk, Rußland, wurde von der hiesigen Strafkammer zu anderthalb Jahren Zuchthaus verurtheilt. Wolawelski hatte unter der Angabe, er sei der Sohn des in Holzhändlerkreisen großen Kredit genießenden polnischen Juden A. S. Wolawelski-Pinsk, von Holzfirmen in Thorn, Schulitz und Bromberg größere Geldbeträge erschwindelt.

Schubin. Bei einer in dem Dorfe Bielawy ausgebrochenen Feuersbrunst ist die Frau des Ansiedlers Hilbert verbrannt, während ihre Angehörigen schwer verletzt wurden.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Rominten. Wegen der hier herrschenden Leutenoth ist man bestrebt, ständige Waldarbeiter für die Haide anzusiedeln. Zu dem Zwecke sind in mehreren Dörfern eine Anzahl Wohnhäuser erbaut. Außer freier Wohnung wird den Leuten eine je zwei Morgen große Waldfläche zur Abholzung, Urbarmachung und Benutzung überwiesen. Ferner erhalten die Arbeiter Weide und Futter für eine Kuh, sowie freie Feuerung. Für diese Vergünstigungen ist es ihnen zur Pflicht gemacht, sämmtliche im Walde vorkommenden Arbeiten gegen Tagelohn oder im Akkord zu übernehmen.

That are superior in quality are what we handle. It's very easy to keep a stock of meats which will be partly good and partly inferior and to sell a little of both to each customer; this we never do. Our meats are of superior quality, and with only ordinary care on the part of the cook, should give entire satisfaction. Cut from young cattle, sheep, etc., the beef, mutton and lamb is tender, juicy and of delicious flavor.

Pretty Evening Gowns Seen in NEW YORK

They Are Made of Many New Materials But Principally of the New Silks

EVERY store and dressmaking establishment is now showing full lines of the summer novelties, and the display is beautiful beyond conception. All sorts of new things that are pretty are to be seen, and they attract a countless number of visitors. The merchants announce an unusual number of out-of-town buyers this year, who are evidently making purchases preparatory to going abroad for the exposition at Paris, and if they buy of the best that New York has to offer they certainly will not be behind the Parisian women in point of clothes when they reach the French city, and that they might be behind in any other particular would never be conceded.

Of the new materials that one sees there are innumerable new varieties of silk on the market, and though many of the silk dresses will be worn covered with transparent fabrics in the height of the summer, the silk is an important factor even under muslins and grenadines. The new introductions will be used both alone and in such goodly combination. One of them is called epinette, and is so closely spotted, on a level with the surface, as it were, as to give the impression of hail lying on the ground. The armure make is found in a large number of colors, and is at once strong and light-looking. Shot silks, not in violent contrasts, but visible only at glimpses and in certain lights, are to be fashionable. Brocades are for evening gowns or full dress afternoon occasions. Then there are the foulards, that useful fabric, so light and cool, not too dressy for ordinary occasions. yet, if smartly made, nice enough for most times and seasons. To such gowns a great deal of lace is to be added, especially in the form of insertion a jour, as the French modistes say—that is, with the material of the dress cut away under the lace to show the lining—and a little bit of some striking contrast of color is often thus introduced. Green foulard, with blue at the yoke and under the insertion, is very delightful if the tones be well contrasted. The vice versa arrangement is, perhaps, even a little better in effect; a blue foulard, with green, say a navy blue and an emerald, is a most happy combination. The green does not hesitate to appear in the shape of velvet, in which the coloring comes out more vividly than even in satin, but, of course, the latter may be well used. A favorite idea of the moment is to add a touch of a third very brilliant contrast of tint; and, be it understood, there is always in a smart gown some white.

These new silks are being used extensively in the evening gowns, and one of these that is unusually charming is of black silk net, almost covered with a design in black jet beads. This is made over a light blue silk, and has a low decollete with long sleeves, with charming flowers and foliage over the shoulders and extending low on the bodice. The flowers and foliage are also used on the left side of the skirt and extend onto the long train.

Another pretty evening gown that is destined for wear abroad is of a white swiss with a pink silk polka dot. The skirt of this has a deep flounce around the bottom, with three full ruchings of pink satin for heading. A long floating sash of the swiss, with narrow pink ribbon ruched all around. The bodice at a round neck with deep swiss ruffle falling over the arms, and to take the place of sleeves. A slight fullness at the waist line with a finish of pink ribbon.

One of the most charming creations in the gown line that American women will display at Paris is a dinner gown of ivory satin with a skirt that is made perfectly plain with a double box plait. The bodice has a deep square yoke of the ivory satin, with strips of narrow black velvet in clusters, and a space between. Around this yoke is a handsome fall of real lace caught at each shoulder with a rosette of black velvet. Elbow sleeves with a fall of the lace and a knot of black velvet.

One of a more striking character is a smart affair of yellow and white silk organdie destined for afternoon wear. It has a low cut V neck, and a fichu of white silk draped over the shoulders and tied in front with long loose ends. A deep flounce on the skirt with five rows of insertion above.

Another gown has for its chief substance a foulard in a blue something brighter than navy and less so than cornflower, lightly flecked over with splashes of white in the pattern. The skirt is footed by a frou-frou of flouncings, then comes a band of lace inserted a jour over green, a plain space of material and another band of lace, up to above the knee. The top of the skirt is fitted to the figure by a series of rows of gaugings, sloped down back and front and high over the hips like a half swiss belt. The bodice is a bolero—that is to say, it is basqueless—pouched to the waist, and held there under a narrow belt of emerald-green velvet; down the center it opens very little to show a loosely gathered vest of white chiffon, and the edges of the bolero are provided with tabs and tiny cut steel buttons that pretend that they would close the edges if you wished it (not that they would really do so, however); at the bust, the edges of the bolero are cut sharply away to the shoulders to show the plaited chiffon vest rather widely, and across its snowy surface, rather as if it were a necktie, passes a twist of bright orange velvet ribbon, crossing in the middle of the chest and going on round the neck.

SARAH DAVIDSON.

Grammar Comes Last.

"I've heard," he said to the man from Oklahoma—"I've heard that they didn't pay much attention to grammar in some of the territories."

"Waal, I dunno," replied the other. "I mean correct language, you know."

"Yes, I know what you mean, but I was wonderin' whether you'd be so mighty particular about grammar if you stood in front of two guns with your hands up. If you was, you'd git two bullets with it, and the bullets would lead the way fur the grammar!"—Washington Post.

Gossamer Tea Gowns.

Silk muslin with brocaded boleros is employed for tea gowns made up with bands of fur, and a great many of them are made as princess dresses, with the fashionable cluny or maltese insertions let in from the neck to the feet. Coats of silver and jet paillettes are supplemented for tea gowns by gossamer underdresses and have light-colored sashes round the waist. More blue is employed for these dresses than any other color.—Westminster Star.

A flannel rag round the wrist will cure the pain in the arm.

REPRESENTATIVE HULL.

Iowa Congressman Who Has a National Reputation as a Worker and a Diplomat.

Representative Hull, of Iowa, enjoys legislative work. He is a good parliamentarian and can preside over the house without embarrassment. "On the floor" he is different from most members. He never tries to force a measure—he carries it through. A colleague has said that Hull can get bills through the house with less friction than any other man on the floor.

Hull is best known as chairman of the house committee on military affairs. Before the war with Spain this chairmanship might have been called a "genteel" position, just as the chairmanship of appropriations was "powerful," the chairmanship of pensions "laborious," the chairmanship of judiciary "dignified," and so on. But nowadays the military chairmanship is one of great importance, and Chairman Hull had power, labor and dignity showered upon him because of events following the battleship Maine's misfortune. He has been chairman of the committee since the Fifty-fourth congress.

HON. JOHN A. T. HULL.
(Chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs.)

As a representative, says the Washington Star, Hull is tireless. He is always at it; in fact, he wastes labor occasionally because some of it does not show and brings no fruit or reward except satisfaction to him. He has both determination and perseverance.

Hull's devotion to details and his love of work give value to his service as a representative. He does lots of work in committee, and would rather dictate letters than eat. Less than 50 years of age and enjoying fine health, he is good for years yet. And, with much army legislation to come, no matter what develops, he ought to grow.

ROBERTS IS UPHELD.

Voters of Utah Elect a Congressman on a Platform Censuring the Action of the House.

The recent contest for Utah's seat in the lower house of congress terminated in the election of Judge William H. King, the democratic candidate. The republican candidate for Brigham H. Roberts' vacant seat was Secretary of State James T. Hammond. Both men are Mormons, but neither has ever been a polygamist. King refused to run for the house in 1898, being a candidate for the senate in the contest which resulted in a failure to elect, and a good many people have blamed him for that refusal, since it was followed by the nomination of Roberts. The democracy placed Judge King upon a platform which contained a plank deploring the action of congress in refusing to administer the oath of office to Brigham Roberts.

This declaration was made only after a bitter fight, in which about one-third of the convention, including Mormons and Gentiles, opposed the adoption of the resolution. This element contended that the party could not afford to longer sustain the Roberts issue, and should drop it.

The republican convention, on the other hand, ignored the Roberts question, and this caused dissatisfaction among those voters of the party who favored a positive utterance in favor of obedience to the law against polygamy.

Senator Hanna on Cartoons.

A public man who had attained that eminence which attracted to him the attention of the newspaper artist brought a cartoon in which he was the central figure to Senator Hanna. He professed great indignation, and declared that he was going to sue the paper for damages. He even named the sum, $25,000, in which he intended to mulct the ownership. When he had laid his proposition before the senator, and when the latter had examined the picture critically, the aggrieved one asked for an opinion on his expressed determination. "Well," said the senator, "if you can get $25,000 damages for that picture, what do you think I ought to be able to collect for all the cartoons that have been printed on me?"

HUMOROUS.

If you would know how a girl thinks she looks, read the description of the heroine in her favorite novel.—Detroit Journal.

"How did that fight between the bridge tenders end?" "It was fought to a draw—and they both fell in!"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Your lawyer made some pretty severe charges against the other fellow, didn't he?" "Y-e-e-s; but you ought to see how he charged me." — Green Bag.

Tom—"Why is Jones so unpopular in political circles?" Dick—"He's launched a boom for himself as 'the popular candidate.'" — Philadelphia Press.

"That office boy of yours has a thoughtful cast of countenance." "Hasn't he? He's thinking up some new excuses for getting away to the ball games."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"That girl," said the postmistress, "is carrying on a clandestine correspondence with some young man." "How do you know?" asked the neighbor woman. "She never uses postal cards any more."—Philadelphia Press.

"Where is the American section?" asked the visitor to the Paris show. "Oh, monsieur," replied the polite attendant, "ze Americanes! Zey are such great peoples—and we lofe them so much—it is all yours—effery section!"—Philadelphia North American.

At the Country Post Office.—Summer Visitor—"Is it true that the postmaster is supposed to read all the postal cards that come through the office?" The Postmaster—"I s'pose so; but it's mighty hard to read some of 'em. City folks are glib enough at talkin', but when it comes to writin' they can't come up to the boys in the lowest class in our country schools."—Boston Transcript.

is what we make no charge for. You pay for the materials and the labor—nothing more. Our paper hangers are men who "KNOW HOW" to measure a room—"KNOW HOW" to size it—"KNOW HOW" to cut, match and hang the paper. They know their business. Its good policy to intrust your work in our hands—we'll see that you get a good job That's what you want; that's just what you'll get if we do it. You can surely find just what you want among our many choice patterns—all the very latest styles.

} Fi. fa for sale of mortgaged premises.

By virtue of the above stated writ of fieri facies to me directed, I shall expose for sale by public vendue at the Court House, in the city of Elizabeth, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, on Friday, the fifteenth day of June next, at two o'clock in the afternoon of said day, all that tract or parcel of land and premises hereinafter particularly described, situate, lying and being in the city of Plainfield, in the County of Union and State of New Jersey and in the Township of North Plainfield, in the County of Somerset and State of New Jersey, bounded and described as follows, viz:

Beginning at a point in the centre of Front Street, which point is in the southerly boundary line of land now or late of Franklin Wiley, and running thence along said line north 42° 59' west one thousand two hundred and seventy-five 37-100 feet to a point across the Green Brook; thence south 37° 45' west six hundred and ninety-five 83-100 feet to land of Madam Ruttka; thence south 44° 45' east forty two feet; thence south 19° 14' east still along said Ruttka's line eighty two 15-100 feet; thence south 44° 15' east one thousand one hundred and sixty 28-100 feet along said Ruttka's line to a point in the centre of Front Street, and thence along the centre line of Front Street north 37° 45' east six hundred and ninety-one 66-100 feet to the point or place of beginning. Containing twenty 54-100 acres of land. Excepting, however, thereout all those certain tracts or parcels of land and premises, situated, lying and being in the City of Plainfield in the County of Union and State of New Jersey, and in the Township of North Plainfield in the County of Somerset and State aforesaid.

First Tract: Beginning at a point and corner in the centre line of Front Street, and corner of lands formerly of Franklin Wiley; thence north forty-two degrees and fifty-nine minutes west twelve hundred and seventy-five and thirty-seven one hundredths feet along the line of lands of said Franklin Wiley formerly to a point and corner of lands of Jacob Cole: thence along the line of lands of said Cole in a course of south thirty-seven degrees and forty-five minutes west six hundred and eighty-one and thirty-five one hundredths feet to a point and corner in line of lands of William H. Davis; thence in a course forty-four degrees and forty-five minutes east eight hundred and twenty-one and eight-tenths feet to a point and corner of other lands this day conveyed by said Allen to said Helen C. Watson; thence along the line of lands of said Helen C. Watson in a course of north thirty-seven degrees and forty-five minutes east two hundred and forty-two feet more or less to a point and corner; thence in a course of south forty-two degrees and fifth-nine minutes east four hundred and fifty feet to a point and corner in the centre line of Front Street; thence along the said centre line of Front Street in a course of north thirty-seven degrees and forty-five minutes east four hundred feet to a point and corner, being the place of beginning.

Second Tract: Beginning at a point and corner in the center line of Front Street distant four hundred feet in a course of south thirty-seven degrees and forty-five minutes west from the corner of lands of Franklin Wiley formerly in a corner of other lands this day conveyed by said Allen to said Helen C. Watson; thence along the line of lands of said Helen C. Watson in a course of north forty-two degrees and fifty-nine minutes west four hundred and fifty feet to a point and corner of other lands of said Allen; thence along line of other lands of said Allen in a course of south thirty-seven degrees and forty-five minutes west two hundred and forty-two feet more or less to line of lands conveyed by said Allen to William H. Davis. thence along the line of lands of said William H. Davis in a course of south forty-four degrees and forty-five minutes east four hundred and fifty feet to a point and corner in the center line of said Front street; thence along the center line of said Front street in a course of north thirty-seven degrees and forty-five minutes east two hundred and forty-one and sixty-six one-hundredth feet to the place of beginning.

Being a portion of said mortgaged premises heretofore conveyed to the defendant George F. Martens by the said defendant John K. VanNess by deed dated May twenty-second, 1893.

The property first described, excluding the excepted portions, will be first sold to pay the sums of money due to said complainant and the defendant, William Allen, with interest and costs, but if such sums should not be realized by the sale of said property first described and excluding therefrom the excepted portions, then there will be sold the property excepted and lastly described, being a portion of said mortgaged premises heretofore conveyed to the defendant George F. Martens by the said defendant John K. Van Ness, by deed dated May twenty-second, 1893.

Dated May 9, 1900.

ART IN ARCHITECTURE

Designed and Written Especially for This Paper

THE TEN-ROOM home here illustrated can be erected for the sum of $2,200.

The foundation is built with rubble stone, 18 inches thick.

The foundation showing above the ground is of brick, 12 inches thick. The height of basement is 7 feet; first story, 9 feet 6 inches; second story, 9 feet.

The sizes of all the rooms are shown on the floor plans.

The veranda extends across the entire front of the house.

Use 2 by 10 inch joist for first and second floors; studding 2 by 10 inches; roof rafters, 2 by 4 inches. American glass, for all windows, excepting where art and plate glass is shown.

Composition carving is used for the front gable. All floors are double, with felt paper between them.

Sheathing is of fence flooring; siding, 4 inch o. g. One layer of building paper is used beneath the siding Cedar shingles for all roofs. Veranda, porch and balcony floors must have their joints well leaded. The front gable is cemented, being fastened on with wire nails, and wire criss-crossed to each nail to hold the cement in place.

Stone caps for chimneys. Chimneys showing above the roof are laid up with press brick. Wrought iron brace supports side chimney.

Gutters, down spouts, flashing and drips are made from galvanized iron. The two mantels are wood, and of a neat design. Georgia pine trim, oil finish, throughout the house. Plastering is two-coat work. Painting for the exterior is three-coat work. Shingles for the roofs will have one brush coat.

Doors will have cross panels. There is a maple floor in kitchen and pantry.

A PRETTY VILLAGE OR COUNTRY HOME.

PLANS OF FIRST AND SECOND FLOORS.

Closets are fitted up with drawers and shelves. Sliding door pockets are lined. All openings are cased. Use tile flue lining for all flues. The entire building is piped for gas and furnace.

Concrete the entire basement floor, and divide off into laundry, store room, fruit room, furnace room and coal bins. When the house is complete, see to it that it is left all ready for occupancy. GEO. A. W. KINTZ.

TREES AND LIGHTNING.

The Oak Is Said to Furnish a Favorable Target for the Discharge of Electric Fluid.

The person who in a storm seeks refuge under a tree should beware of the oak. It is a dangerous shelter. Its stout heart furnishes a favorite target for the thunder bolt.

The German government has been making systematic inquiry into the subject of lightning-struck trees. Overseers of nine forestry stations, scattered throughout an area of 250,000 acres in the district of Lippe, have made a thorough investigation of the forests in that locality.

They report that the oak is the most susceptible to lightning. The beach is the most seldom struck, and next in exemption comes the pine. In that locality the forests are composed of trees in the following proportion: Beach, 70 per cent.; oak, 11 per cent.; pine, 13 per cent.; fir, 6 per cent.

There have been 275 trees struck in this acreage within three years. Examination shows this to be the ration: Fifty-eight per cent. oaks, 21 per cent. firs, 8 per cent. pine, 7 per cent. beach.

Our Annual Drink Bill.

An estimate made by the American Grocer showing the camparative consumption of alcoholic and other beverages in the United States for the year ending June 30, 1899, places the total cost to the consumer at over $1,000,000,000, or, to be exact, $1,146,897,822, as follows: Alcoholic drinks, $973,589,080; coffee, $134,695,154; tea, $33,613,588; cocoa, $5,000,000. Total, $1,146,897,822. This means a yearly per capita expenditure for beverages of $15 for the 76,011,000 inhabitants of the United States, or about 4½ cents a day.

All Wasps Are Carnivorous.

The mouth parts of the wasps, though arranged for sucking, have not reached that degree of perfection found among the bees. They are thus prevented from extracting the honey from the deeper flowers, and accordingly frequent the more shallow or widely opened ones, particularly the Umbellifevae. Fruit in its season also forms an important part of the food of the adults. Several species store up honey in considerable quantities, but the greater number, if not all, have marked carnivorous tendencies.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

This has been the first season for several years that Leal's School has had a baseball nine on the diamond. Despite that fact the team has made an excellent showing winning thirteen out of sixteen games. Robert Abbott has acted as scorer throughout the season and has kept a careful record of each game, making it possible to compile the following batting and fielding averages:

THIEF ESCAPES FROM COURT.

When Sentence is Pronounced He Skips to Freedom.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 7.—In the Union County Court yesterday afternoon Charles Connell and Patrick Hennessy, river thieves, were convicted of stealing a ton of special pig iron from the Central Railroad wharf at Elizabethport.

The prisoners were under $500 bail each, and when sentenced was announced Connell tried to escape from the courtroom but was intercepted by two constables. When the officers turned to look for Hennessey he had disappeared, and it is believed he jumped on a trolley car, made his way to the Staten Island ferry and fled to Richmond Borough.

John S. Johnson, manager of the carpet department at Woodhull & Martin's store, was married last night to Miss Maggie Menagh, of Hackettstown, at the home of the bride. After a short trip the couple will reside in this city.

PASTOR SIMPLY QUIT.

REV. A. T. SCHAFFER NO LONGER WITH ST. PETER'S CHURCH.

Call Extended to Rev. Mr. Trebpet and it is Expected That He Will Accept It.

The members of St. Peter's Evangelical Lutheran church held a congregational meeting last evening at which time a call was extended to Rev. Mr. Trebpet, a young minister who was graduated yesterday from Crozier Theological Seminary at Upland, Pa., to become the pastor of the church. The members have reasonable assurances that he will accept.

Rev. A. F. Schaffer, who has been the pastor for sometime past, has not given satisfaction, owing to the fact that he has been away so much of the time and the church has been obliged to depend on others to fill the pulpit. Mr. Schaffer has not occupied the pulpit in two months, and recently a postal card was received from him in which he stated that he was through with Plainfield and the church. Immediately afterward a registered letter was sent to Mr. Schaffer asking for his resignation, and no reply was received. They have therefore declared the pulpit vacant and extended the call to Mr. Trebpet.

A short time before Mr. Schaffer went away he asked his congregation for a vacation of three months. This was refused for the reason that they thought that their pastor had been away enough. Inquiries were made and it was learned that Mr. Schaffer was in Passaic, and it was from the latter place that the last letter was received from him.

The congregation believe that Mr. Trebpet will build up the church and do a great deal toward reuniting the members who have been slightly at odds over certain matters in the church.

STRUCK A LITTLE GIRL.

Mrs. Thomas Kane, It is Alleged, Acted Cruelly Towards Bertha Rickter.

Patrolman Flanagan was called to Richmond street yesterday afternoon by the report that a woman was killing a little girl in a house on that street. Upon his arrival on the scene he found the trouble to be in the house of Mrs. Bertha Rickter, whose little daughter was crouching in the cellar and sobbing hysterically. Mrs. Thomas Kane had struck her with a club.

The officer quieted the girl, who is about eight years old, and began investigations. He found that the trouble had started out of a quarrel between the Rickter girl and a little daughter of Mrs. Kane's, in which the latter was slapped in the face. Mrs. Kane hurried to the Rickter residence to make complaint to Mrs. Rickter, and on not finding her at home took the law into her own hands by striking the girl, it is said, with a stick. The screams of the frightened child gave rise to the report that someone was being killed. Mrs. Kane was brought before Justice Nash this morning charged by Mrs. Rickter with assault and battery. She waived examination and gave bonds for her appearance before the Grand Jury.

Preached Ordination Sermon.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 7.—Lewis Gaston Learef was Tuesday night ordained to the ministry to the Third Presbyterian church. Rev. Dr. E. B. Cobb, moderator of the Elizabeth Presbytery, presided. Rev. W. R. Richards, of the Crescent Avenue church, Plainfield, preached the ordination sermon. The charge to the pastor was given by Rev. John T. Kerr. The new clergyman is a native of this city.

Officers of Bricklayers Union.

The bricklayers met last evening and elected the following officers for the ensuing year, all of which were installed by their deputy, Randolph Marsh: President, Theodore Mason; vice-president, Bert Tallamy; financial secretary, John Dentz; recording secretary, John Williams; corresponding secretary, William Smith; treasurer, Jacob Higgins.

Lumber is Cheaper.

Builders and contractors will be pleased to learn that there has been a drop in hemlock lumber from $23 and $26 per thousand feet to $21 and $18 per thousand feet. It is expected that in a short time other kinds of lumber will take a drop in price and that the rates will come within the reach of persons who heretofore could not afford to build.

Former Mayor Fisk Leaves Town.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk and family, of West Seventh street, left today for Southampton, Long Island, where Mr. Fisk has taken a cottage for the summer. Two of the sons, Charles W. and Augustus R. Fisk are now taking their entrance examinations for college, but will spend most of their summer at Southampton.

Reception to Their Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Cooke, who were married a few days ago at Hackettstown, gave an informal reception at their home on Westervelt avenue, last night, to their friends, including the clerks at Woodhull & Martin's store.

A HOME WEDDING.

Marshall Kenney and Amanda Willis the Contracting Couple—To Reside at South Plainfield.

A pretty wedding took place at 511 East Third street, last evening, at 8 o'clock. Marshall Kenney and Miss Amanda Willis, both of this city, were joined in wedlock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Mckoy. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. D. Tildon. The house had been handsomely decorated for the occasion and a number of invited guests from out of town and of this city were present to offer their congratulations at the close of the service.

Miss A. D. Pedan, of Brooklyn, presided at the piano and played the wedding march as the bride and groom, accompanied by the host and hostess; entered the parlor.

After the ceremony a repast was served to those present who enjoyed themselves in a social way the remainder of the evening. The bride and groom are both of considerable means. Mrs. Kenney was the one who lived for so long a time with Henry Mellick, the miser, who died recently. They will make their home for the present at South Plainfield.

Among the guests that were present were: Mrs. A. D. Pedan, of Brooklyn; Miss Pearson, of Dunellen; Mr. Willis, of Bound Brook; Miss Squires, of Elizabeth; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Maynard, Miss Maynard, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hill and the Misses Hill, the Misses Doyle, Frank Kelso, Miss Fields, Dr. J. C. Anderson, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Bowser, Miss Addie Truman, Alfred White, Chas. Scudder, George Anderson, Edward Lightfoot, Miss Evaline Williams, of this city, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Smith, of Oak Tree.

BROKE COLLAR BONE.

Unfortunate and Painful Accident That Befell Otto Arens at His Home.

An exceedingly unfortunate and very painful accident happened to Otto Arens at his home last evening. He was walking about in the upper part of the house in the dark and making a mistep he fell the entire length of the main staircase. Members of the family were startled by the noise occasioned by the fall and they hastened to the hallway at once to find Mr. Arens lying at the bottom of the stairs suffering from severe injuries.

Dr. J. T. Fritts, the family physician, was summoned at once and an investigation proved that the collar bone was fractured, besides receiving several bruises on the face. Proper treatment was given and today Mr. Arens is resting as comfortable as possible. He is a very heavy man and tall, and the fall proved more serious than it would have with a person of lighter weight.

Game Warden Miller Captures Three.

Game Warden George H. Miller is determined to break up the violation of the fish laws. Last Thursday night he made a raid near Bound Brook and secured three nets, but was unable to arrest the parties. Saturday night, however, assisted by other wardens, he succeeded in capturing "Steve" Wolenski, John Green and Chas. Driboski, and took them before Justice Apgar of South Bound Brook. They were fined $50 apiece and $3.45 costs each.

Entertained Whist Club.

Mrs. Charles B. Clifton, of "Roselawn," West Seventh street, entertained the members of the ladies' whist club of which she is a member, at her home yesterday afternoon. The guests enjoyed a game of progressive whist on the broad verandas of "Roselawn" and then partook of daintily served refreshments.

Entertained Euchre Club.

D. E. Gavin and Miss Gavin, of Columbia avenue, entertained the Tuesday Night Euchre Club at their home last evening by giving a dance. This was the wind-up of the season, and a most delightful time was had by all. Dancing was continued until the early hours of the morning.

Prize Examinations.

The prize exhminations at the Plainfield High School have begun. The examinations in Greek and Latin were held yesterday afternoon. Others will be held this afternoon and the remaining afternoons of the week.

Next Season's Captain.

At a recent meeting of the members of the Plainfield High School baseball team, Townsend Mason was unanimously elected captain for next year. The manager will be chosen by the board of directors.

William H. VanWinkle, of Park place, the borough, has accepted a permanent position with J. A. Smith & Bro., grocers.

Dudley S. Miller, head clerk at Randolph's pharmacy, was obliged to give up work last evening for a short time upon the advice of his physician. Mr. Miller has been suffering with the grip and he returned to work sooner than he should. He will be confined to his home for at least a week under the care of his physician.

ADVANTAGES OF MANUAL TRAINING.

stitutions as the Pratt Institute and Drexel Institute illustrate both the wide spread need and the clearness with which that need is seen by philanthropic men. Is should be the part of the partriotic leaders in educational affairs to guide this great movement to practical results—to make it the means of infusing strength and interest in the work of our schools.

Provision should be made in our public schools for the harmonious training of all the pupil's powers, and the people should have new reason for pride in their cherished system of public schools, because of their adaptation to the changing needs of society.

I believe if this subject is understood that there will not be a single dissenting voice against the adoption of this practical branch of instruction. The State gives for its introduction and maintenance a sum equal to the amount raised by the district. No other subject is so highly subsidized.

Citizen.

Graduated With Honors.

Rev. Ernest Crane, of this city, was graduated yesterday from the Crozier Theological Seminary, at Chester, Pa., with honors. Rev. Mr. Crane will return to this city for a time, and a little later will go to Charleston, S. C., where he expects to become the pastor of a church. His father, Rev. Arthur Crane, is at present located at Charleston.

TROLLEY HELD UP AT PICTON STATION.

Elizabeth and Westfield Company and Lehigh Valley Fail to Agree on Terms.

REGARDING THE CROSSING.

ONLY OBSTICLE IN COMPLETION OF RAHWAY-WESTFIELD LINE.

Lehigh Valley Tracks Must be Crossed at Picton—Railroad Company Wants Other Corporation to Build Bridge or Hire Flagman.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, June 8.—Work on the cross-country trolley line of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, which is to connect this place with Rahway, is at a standstill. The present trouble is with the Lehigh Valley Railroad. It is necessary for the trolley line to get over the railroad tracks in some manner in the neighborhood of the Picton station. The officials of the companies are now trying to settle on some compromise that will please both sides.

According to the original survey made for the Westfield Rahway line, it was to cross the Lehigh Valley tracks at grade, just east of the Picton station by the way of a private right of way. Since then the route has been modified and it was arranged that the trolley line should parallel the county road for a short distance and cross the Lehigh Valley tracks at the same place, necessitating only one set of gates and one flagman.

The trolley line has been completed to within a half mile of the Picton station and cars belonging to the Rahway system have been running there regularly of late. The tracks have been built southward from Westfield to a little over a thousand feet from the station at Picton. Owing to a delay in receiving the copper trolley wire, the overhead wiring has not yet been completed to that point. There still remains a break of about two thousand feet to complete the line.

The Lehigh Valley holds the key to the situation as it is in possession of the ground. The railroad officials therefore expect the trolley people to come to terms. The latter declare that they can build up to either side of the railroad property and transfer over if necessary.

The Lehigh Valley officials desire the erection of an overhead bridge for the trolley tracks, or else agree to permit the trolley cars to cross at grade provided that the street railway company will agree to bear the expense of a flag and gateman as long as one shall be necessary. At present that expense falls on the Lehigh Valley, and the other company is loath to assume an expense that will always continue.

Just exactly what the outcome of the fight will be it is impossible to say. If a satisfactory agreement cannot be reached then the trolley company will undoubtedly build its lines to either side of the track and allow the passengers to walk over as was done at Cranford Junction until the bridge over the B. & O. tracks was finally finished. While this would not directly connect the Westfield and Rahway systems and would prevent through cars to Boynton Beach and other places on the Kill von Kull, it would enable the company to carry passengers between this place and Rahway.

MUST MARK CONSUMPTIVES.

Physicians will be Punished for Failure to Report Cases.

The Trenton Board of Health has adopted an amendment to the Health Code placing consumption in the same category as small-pox, diphtheria, yellow fever and other contagious and infectious diseases. It provides fines and imprisonment for physicians who fail to report cases of consumption within thirty days after they so diagnose them. It is also made a misdemeanor for any person to hide a case of tuberculosis, the penalties being the same as in the case of any other infectious disease. Hospitals are not exempted from the general provisions.

It is understood that the local board has the backing of the State Board in taking this action, and that the latter body will urge other boards of health to follow the example of Trenton.

Bride From Ohio.

The marriage of Charles C. Snyder, of the firm of Daniel Snyder & Son, millers, on Somerset street, and Miss Schaffer, of Dresden, O., took place last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride. The happy couple are expected to return home tomorrow and will take up their residence in West End Park, where Mr. Snyder has leased a home for himself and bride.

THE OMER C.'S DINED.

FIRST ANNUAL AFFAIR OF A FAMOUS ASSOCIATION.

Gathered Around the Festive Board at McVey's Hotel and Had a Good Time.

The doings of the Omer C. Moore Association have been a fruitful topic for newspaper articles for the last seven years in this city, but up until last night there was a great mystery about this wonderful organization. That mystery has now been effectually dispelled and the Omer C. Moores stand out acknowledged and recognized. The Omer C. Moores have been going through the incubator of public interest and attention since 1893, and last night they broke their shells and came forth in all their splendor—"a thing of beauty and joy forever."

From the famous Flannery Hall to McVey's restaurant is a long and perilous jump, but the Omer C.'s made it with dexterity and grace. To attempt a description or explanation of the origin and history of this famous club would be too severe a task for human mind.

Suffice to say that fifty elated gentlemen sat around the festive board at McVey's last night to participate in and enjoy the "first annual." Plainfield has had all kinds of dinners and banquets, but never such a one as that of the Omer C.'s. How the guests came together or for what purpose the dinner was held passes comprehension, but at the next meeting of the association the mystery will probably be explained in the well-known brilliancy of thought for which the "regulars" are famed.

At the head of the main table sat the honored head of the organization—Omer C. Moore. To his left was Councilman Buckle, who was prevailed upon to act as toast-master. Down the line were the other members. There were no guests—the fact that you were there constituted a membership in the organization.

After the menu had been served, the "open sesion" was begun without ado. The first one called on for a speech was Charlie McGinley, one of the most active and agressive of the Omer C's. Then followed the other speech-makers in rapid succession. They included Captain Flannery, Asa Pope, Joe. Blimm, Dan Shea, M. F. Elderton, J. McLean, Councilman Smith, Morgan Turton, John Kenney, Harry Werner, Bill Mattox and others.

Contrary to practice in the association, the affair was ended without "rough house."

FOR THE CHILDREN.

Special Services at the Park Avenue Church Sunday-School.

Children's Day exercises will be held at the Park Avenue Baptist church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Sunday-school, in place of the regular preaching service. There will be special exercises by the school and an interesting address by Rev. Ackland Boyle, of New York City. Mr. Boyle was at one time an actor, but for some years has been engaged in the ministry, and has labored extensively in mission work in the city of New York. He is also a lecturer of considerable note. This will be his first visit to this city. He will also preach in this church Sunday evening.

In the Somerset Court.

A special session of the Somerset Court was held Tuesday morning. Emma Jordan, Cornelia Fields, Thomas Rattles, John Hall and Walter Course pleaded guilty to a charge of inciting a riot, and Thomas Goldman pleaded guilty to the larceny of a horse, buggy and two sets of harness. Course was given five days in jail; Rattles was fined $10; Hall and the Jordan and Fields women were each fined $15, and Goldman was given three years in State Prison. The Fields woman paid her fine and was discharged. All the prisoners were colored.

New Cars for Trolley Line.

The ten new second-hand open cars of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company have arrived and are now in use on the Plainfield-Elizabeth line. Superintendent John Adlemann says that the ten new double-truck open cars will be ready for use next week.

Good Positions.

Miss Rosetta A. Ackor, of Washingtonville, and Miss Frances C. Hunt, of Dunellen, both recent graduates of Plainfield Business College, have just secured desirable positions in New York city.

—The handsomest collection of fine vegetables, everything fresh, to be found in the city, will be at Neuman Brothers tomorrow morning.

STOLEN BICYCLE FOUND

WRECK OF A CLEVELAND WHEEL DISCOVERED IN CEDAR BROOK.

Small Boys Found It — Proved to be One of the Wheels Stolen Tuesday Night.

Chief Grant and several of the victims of the bicycle thief went on an expedition late yesterday afternoon to discover, if possible, the identity of the remains of a wheel. The wheel was found early yesterday afternoon in Cedar brook, near Watchung avenue, by John Rempf, of Webster place, and William Sheeban, of Richmond street, two small boys. The find was reported to the police.

The bicycle had been stripped. The wheels, chain and saddle were gone. It was a Cleveland wheel, model 22, No. 61,833. It was quite rusty. The theft of that same wheel was reported to Roundsman Frederickson last Wednesday morning at police headquarters. A young man left the number but not his name. Frederickson supposed that it was one of the two wheels that had already been reported and did not ask his name. The fact now comes to light that there must have been three wheels taken Tuesday night. If the owner of the Cleveland wheel will report to the police, he can get all that remains of his bicycle.

TOO FAST FOR JOHNSON.

Colored Barber Unable to Keep the Pace Set by His Friend, "Gamey" Nelson.

John Johnson, a colored barber from Hopewell, met his old friend, "Gamey" Nelson, yesterday afternoon, and started in to drink with him. Johnson tried to hold "Gamey's" pace, but at 10:30 o'clock "Gamey" was as lively as ever and Patrolman Totten found Johnson curled up in a heap on the sidewalk on North avenue dead to the world for the time being.

When Totten found that Johnson refused to be moved he organized a posse comitatus, composed of Eugene O'Reilley, Wm. W. Warnock and Thomas Muir, and carried the prisoner to jail.

John was haled before Judge Runyon this morning and explained that he had been in too fast company. So the Judge suspended sentence.

JOHNSON—MENAGH.

Plainfield Young Man Takes Hackettstown Belle for Life Partner.

Johnson Sherrerd Johnson, of this city, was married Wednesday evening at Hackettstown to Miss Margaret Axford Menagh, daughter of Mrs. Caroline Menagh, a member of one of the old families in Hackettstown. The bridemaid was Miss Jennie Johnson, of Hackettstown, a cousin of the bridegroom. The flower girl, Miss Helen Menagh, of Jersey City, the bride's neice, and the best man was Samuel B. Johnson, of Easton, Pa., brother of the bridegroom. The ushers were William Axford, of Jersey City, and John H. Sharp, of Hackettstown, cousins of the bride. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Chapman, of the Presbyterian church, of which the bride and bridegroom are members, the latter having lived in Hackettstown before coming to Plainfield two years ago. The couple went for a bridal trip after the ceremony, and when they return will live in their new home on the East Side.

Mr. Johnson is the manager of the carpet department at Woodhull & Martin's store, and is very popular among a large circle of friends and acquaintances.

The Chase Divorce Suit Begun.

The trial of the suit of ex-State Senator Daniel C. Chase, of Middlesex county, against his wife, Emma E. Chase, for divorce on the ground of infidelity, was begun in the Vice-Chancellor's Court at Newark yesterday. The plaintiff's lawyers are Mahlon Pitney, of Morristown, and Adrian Lyon, of Perth Amboy. The defendant was represented by Henry S. White, of Red Bank. Mr. Pitney asked that the case be postponed, saying that his witnesses had for some reason proved hostile. The Vice-Chancellor decided, however, that the case should go on today.

His First Arrest.

John Murphy, hailing from Westfield and possessing a good reputation and a sorrowful expression, appeared before City Judge Runyon this morning, charged with being drunk yesterday afternoon. Patrolman Flanagan had arrested him on Front street. He had never been arrested before and promised to behave hereafter. So the Judge suspended sentence.

Adjourned Meeting of Borough Council.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council on Friday night of next week, when several important matters will come up for consideration.

SENATOR REED CAME TO RESCUE OF "TIP."

Argued for His Release and Failing in That He Bailed Out the Bootblack.

SELF-DEFENCE WAS URGED.

PRISONER THOUGHT HE WAS TO BE PUMMELED.

So He Got in the First Blow, Which Knocked Out the Elizabeth Man—"Tip" Must Answer to Grand Jury.

The trial of "Tip" Thompson, the one-armed bootblack, accused of assault and battery by Roundsman Frederickson, who was acting in behalf of John Moenk, of Elizabeth, came before Justice Nash this morning.

Thompson was represented by Senator Charles A. Reed, who made a strong argument for the acquittal of his client.

After hearing both sides of the case the Judge held "Tip" in $100 bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury. The facts of the case, as brought out in the trial, are as follows: Moenk, in company with two friends, William Staub and Albert Overadunk, left Elizabeth to take a trolley ride to Plainfield. After arriving here they visited several hotels and had many drinks, but Moenk denied being drunk. They were coming up North avenue, opposite the station, three abreast when they jostled into "Tip," knocking his box from under his arm. "Tip" drew back to strick the man who had jostled him, when Moenk stepped between them, and laying his hand on "Tip's" arm said, "Wait a minute."

"Tip," thinking that Moenk was going to strike him, struck first and knocked him in the gutter. The blow caused a hemorrhage which caused Moenk to loose a great deal of blood, giving the impression that he had been stabbed.

In view of the fact that "Tip" had taken the law into his own hand in striking the man, whether the box was knocked from his arm purposely or not, the Judge held him for the Grand Jury.

Senator Reed immediately went his bond.

PIANO RECITAL.

Clever Work of the Young Pupils of Miss Anna O. Marsh.

The pupils of Miss Anna O. Marsh, of Madison avenue, gave an interesting piano recital yesterday afternoon. A few illustrations of clavier and piano work were given first and proved very interesting.

One number which was of especial interest was played by one of the younger pupils, first on the clavier by memory and then on the piano. The pupil had never played this piece on the piano before or had she even heard it played, but it was so well memorized that it was executed with perfect ease and given an excellent interpretation.

Following this were bright selections played by the younger pupils in a very pleasing manner. One little boy of eight years surprised the audience by playing a piano accompaniment to a violin solo played by his brother, Clarence Mills. The remaining numbers on the programme, given by the older pupils, reflected credit on the players and showed thorough and progressive work.

NO CONSOLIDATION.

Rumor About Disposal of Central Again Denied.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey was again the subject of a variety of rumors yesterday. One report current in Wall Street was that this railroad was to be consolidated with the Pennsylvania or the B. and O. President J. Rogers Maxwell, of the Jersey Central, said that he knew nothing of any such consolidation, and so far as he knew there was no basis for the rumors.

Officers of N. J. Medical Association.

The New Jersey Medical Society in session at Atlanic City elected Tuesday the following officers: President, William Pierson, Orange; first vice-president, John D. McGill, Jersey City; second vice-president, E. L. Godell, Asbury Park; third vice-president, Henry Mitchell, Asbury Park; secretary, William Chandler, South Orange; corresponding secretary, E. W. Hedges, Plainfield; treasurer, Archibald Meyer, of Newark.

FIRE ALARM ANSWERS.

NEW ORDERS ISSUED BY CHIEF DOANE FOR DRIVERS.

Calculated to Improve the Service—Still Alarms Must be Recorded at Headquarters.

Chief T. O. Doane of the Plainfield fire department has just issued a general order to the department relating to the answering of the alarms. Under the old ruling, the reserve companies were not expected to respond to a first alarm out of their district after the recall was blown. Now they are ordered to hold themselves in readiness to answer any first alarms that may come in after the other companies have turned out for a first alarm until notification. The object of this new ruling is to allow the apparatus to return to the house and get a supply of dry hose without standing the chances of being called out to another fire when unprepared.

No company is to answer a still or telephone alarm without first notifying headquarters and giving the number of the station to be sounded in case assistance is needed. In case of calls for assistance from boxes 12, 13, 14, 21, 41, 42, all companies in quarters are to respond. Otherwise only the companies in quarters that are regularly scheduled to answer first alarms from the box sounded.

Permanent members of the fire department when absent from quarters in case of an alarm, except on vacation or during day off, are to report immediately to their own quarters, and be in readiness to cover ground left uncovered by other companies unless otherwise ordered.

RUTGERS' STUDENTS RIOT.

Preparatory School Boys Have to Fight Their Way to a Commencement Dinner.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 8.—It took main force to get the young men of the graduating class of the Rutgers Preparatory School here to the banquet awaiting them at the Mansion House last night. There was a riot which blocked Albany street and furnished a spectacle for many persons who looked at it from place of safety. Hostilities began yesterday afternoon, when a committee of Rutgers College freshmen kidnapped James Adams, of Berne, N. Y., and bore him off in a coach toward Bound Brook. He is thought to be bound and guarded in a country barn.

The "Prep" boys heard of the kidnapping and spread the word among their friends, the Rutgers sophomores, that they would need help. About 7 o'clock the would-be banqueters marched toward the hotel, re-enforced by many "sophs." The freshmen lined up across Albany street, dressed in old clothes, football jackets and sweaters. Fifty boys were soon in a heap. Two scared policemen tried to check the rush, but were swept about like paper in a wind. The hotel entrance is narrow, and the first "Prep" boy to get to the door had two freshmen climbing over him. By the aid of a brace of sinewy "sophs" he got inside, much the worse for wear. It took half an hour of fierce fighting to get all the "Preps" into the hotel, one by one.

Object to Outsiders.

The hotelkeepers and grocers of Summit who retail bottled liquors, ale and beer are highly incensed at the authorities in permitting beer bottlers from Newark and Elizabeth to sell beer in Summit without a license. The proprietors of hotels and saloons have to pay $500 a year, grocers who retail liquors are compelled to pay the City Treasurer $250 a year, while the beer bottlers, none of whom resides in the city, do not pay a single cent.

Duvier the Winner.

John McKinley, of the Lehigh Valley Railroad, and William Duvier, of the Jersey Central, both brakemen and residents of Mauch Chunk, have been contesting at their home for a gold watch. The affair was decided last evening, when Duvier was pronounced the winner of the prize.

Last Play of the Season.

The Tuesday Evening Whist Club met this week at the home of Miss Ella Hedden, West Fourth street, for the last time this season. The prize winners were Mrs. Walter Apgar, Mrs. Frank Mandeville, Robert Crosson and Horace Huff. The club will be reorganized next fall.

No Gypsies Allowed in Borough.

Chief Marshal Campbell, of the borough, moved the band of gypsies from West End avenue this morning, as they were located inside of the borough limits, which they law does not permit.

Charles Gulick, of West Second street, has accepted a position with Chas. Drake, the West End cylie dealer.

FREE TICKETS FOR ALL.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR BAPTIST SUNDAY-SCHOOL EXCURSION.

Only Those Not Associated With the School Will Have to Pay—Selection of a Secretary.

The quarterly meeting of the Sunday-school teachers of the First Baptist church was held last evening in the lecture room of the church. There were about twenty teachers present and a very interesting session was held. Frank Jones, the treasurer, reported that all obligations and bills were paid and there is a balance of about $300 in the treasury. When the church pays to the school that which is due them there will be a balance of over $400.

The question of electing a secretary was brought up and finally deferred to next Sunday morning when there will be a special meeting of the teachers. It is quite likely that Douglass Drake, the present assistant secretary, will be chosen for the place, as he has had considerable experience for some time past in the work.

The annual excursion, which takes place next month, was discussed and it was unanimously agreed not to charge anyone in the Sunday-school, church or the missions for tickets, but to give all free tickets. It was decided that this can be done as there will be nearly enough money in the treasury to do it. It is possible that there may be a small deficit, but this can easily be met. Heretofore there has been a great deal of dissatisfaction over the arrangement of charging scholars and teachers for this outing, and the change was welcomed by those present last evening.

L. H. Biglow, Jr., reported for the committee on ventilation in the Sunday-school room, and he stated that the trustees would make the desired changes. Frank Jones, of the committee to secure substitute teachers, presented a favorable report. Every report showed that the school is in a most gratifying condition, both financially and spiritually.

SCHOOL CENSUS.

A Total of 3,398 Children Are Recorded—Fourth Ward Has 1,329.

Abram Angleman, who was appointed to take the school census in Plainfield, has completed his work, which shows a slight increase in numbers from last year. The children taken are between the ages of 5 and 18 years, and divided by wards are as follows: First ward, 716; Second ward, 752; Third ward, 601; Fourth ward, 1,329, making a total of 3,398. The exact figures for last year are not known, but the increase is between one and two hundred.

MEAN WORK.

Some Malicious Man Cut Tires on Rubber Tire Runabout.

F. S. Cutter, of 407 East Second street, drove to Oak Tree last evening where he conducted the singing at Marconnier chapel. He left his horse and rubber tire runabout, together with a whip, bicycle pump, and umbrella outside the chapel. Sometime during the service some despicably mean person helped himself to the whip, bicycle pump and umbrella, and made way with them. Of course, Mr. Cutter has no idea who took the things, and the chances are he never will.

Twice during the service Mr. Cutter went outside to see if his rig was all right, and the last time he discovered that his horse was untied. From this he was led to believe that he must have thwarted an effort to steal the whole rig.

GOING BACK TO DUTY.

Rev. W. T. Griffin to Resume His Work as a U. S. Consul.

Rev. W. T. Griffin, of LaGrande avenue, U. S. Consul at Limoges, France, returns Monday by Steamship St. Louis to Southampton. From there he will go to Copenhagen and a Government tour of inspection will be made. He will eventually reach his post of duty at Limoges. Mr. Griffin's family will remain here at their home on LaGrande avenue. Mr. Griffin has been in Plainfield for some time past enjoying a rest from his arduous duties, and the many friends he has made here will regret that he is to leave the city.

Makes a Pretty Sight.

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club is greatly indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Elliot T. Barrows, of West Eighth street, for a handsome bed of colloidions that have been arranged on the lawn to the club house and greatly improve its appearance.

—It's rather early for peaches and apricots, but Neuman Brothers have some of excellent quality now.

THE CHURCH WOMEN CONDUCT FESTIVALS

Successful Events of Fair Workers of Trinity and Church of Heavenly Rest.

WEATHER WAS JUST RIGHT.

PLEASANT ARRANGEMENTS PREVAILED AT BOTH PLACES.

One of the Chief Social Affairs at Trinity—At the West End Society Everything Was a Success—Those in Charge.

The annual strawberry festival opened yesterday afternoon at Trinity Reformed church under the auspices of the Ladies' Christian Work Society of the church. As usual, the ladies put forth every effort for a successful affair. This is one of the chief social events of this church during the year. For weeks past the members have been formulating plans for the festival and when their preliminary work was completed, they felt sure that their efforts would be rewarded. The attendance yesterday afternoon and evening was not as large as hoped for, but the ladies feel encouraged. They hope that this afternoon and evening there will be a large increase in the attendance and patronage.

The festival is held in the Sunday-school room, which has been attractively arranged. It makes a pleasant place to spend your spare minutes in enjoying a plate of ice cream and strawberries, as well as a delicious piece of home-made cake. And if you have a sweet tooth, as most people have, there is a large assortment of home-made candies that will thoroughly satisfy. About the room there are many tables, conveniently arranged, where the ice cream, strawberries and cake are served. The tables are made additionally attractive through the use of flowers.

Then there is a large table devoted to the sale of beautiful flowers of all kinds, which occupies a prominent place in the room. This is in charge of the Whatsoever Circle, King's Daughters, including Miss Mabel Woodruff, Miss Lillian A. Force, Mrs. Will F. Williams, Mrs. Leonard Smith, Mrs. Frank E. Woodruff and Miss Minnie M. Williams.

Mrs. Edward T. VanWinkle is the chairman of the whole affair, and to her wise management and direction, assisted by Mrs. E. H. Bird, is due very much of the success of the festival. The cake table is presided over by Mrs. P. A. Emmons and Mrs. T. R. VanZandt, while Mrs. E. H. Bird and Miss Minnie M. Williams are in charge of the candy table. The strawberries and ice cream are in charge of Mrs. Seaman Williams.

Mrs. H. W. Marshall has an important duty in looking after the waitresses. Those who served last evening and assisted materially in making things pleasant were Miss Grace Rowland, Miss May VanFleet, Miss Nellie Young, Miss Berg, Miss Grace Berg, Miss Emma Line, Miss Josie Fritz, Miss Grace Emmons, Miss Sadie Holmes and Miss Achsah Holmes.

A very pleasant feature was the orchestral music by a trio consisting of Mrs. J. H. Buckley, piano; Mrs. C. V. D. Corle, cornet; Mrs. George Saums, violin. They discoursed popular music throughout the evening, which added much to the enjoyment of those present.

The ladies under whose direction the festival is being given have not yet decided for what purpose the profits will be used. This will be determined at a future meeting of the society.

Last evening was an ideal one for the second annual bazaar and fair given under the joint auspices of the Woman's Friendly Society and the Industrial School of the Mission Church of the Heavenly Rest, and probably that accounts for the large numbers who were present. The fair began at 4 o'clock, but it was not until evening that the most buying was done. The parish house was filled with eager buyers.

Around the pretty lawn were hung innumerable Chinese lanterns and gayly colored flags of all nations, which lent a very pretty appearance to the scene. It is needless to say that the lawn tables were occupied all the evening and in consequence this part of the fair enjoyed an excellent patronage.

Inside everyone was intent on buying and the articles for sale were rapidly bought up.

Directly opposite the entrance was a beautiful rustic booth, prettily decorated with bunting, and here all sorts

THEATRICAL.

Unusual large audiences are the rule at the Proctor continuous performance theatres in New York, and the patrons not only see a most pleasing and attractive programme of vaudeville features, but are assured of finding the temperature of these houses at least 20 degrees cooler than on the outside. At Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre, week of June 11th, are: Ralph Stuart, late leading man of the Murray Hill Stock Co., who makes his debut in the comedietta, "The Peacemaker;" Gruet, Beers and Beer, comedy acrobats; Jess Dandy, the "Broadway Hebrew;" Galetti's Monkey Circus; H. V. Fitzgerald, the American Fregoli; Conway and Leland, the monopede acrobats, and many more. At Proctor's Twenty-third Street Theatre, week of June 11th, are: Mr. and Mrs. Robyns in "The Counsel for the Defense;" Zeno, Carl and Zeno, aerial performers; the Queen's Fan Trio, Fisher and Carroll, the Irish comedians. At Proctor's Palace, week of June 11th, are Kathryn Osteman and Co. in "The Editor," Three Guitanos, European grotesques, Giacinta Della Rocca, the violiniste; Frobel and Ruge, "Fun in the Air."

FIVE WEEKS WITHOUT FOOD.

VanSickle is Starving Himself to Death in Jail.

Slowly starving himself to death, Charles E. VanSickle is lying on a cot in the Middlesex county jail at New Brunswick. He has refused to eat for five weeks, and his death is expected to occur soon.

VanSickle disappeared from his home on Somerset street, New Brunswick, April 4th, and for four weeks nothing was heard from him. He had been employed as bookkeeper by Louis Briegs, a clothier, of Perth Amboy. The police found VanSickle at the house of John E. Croken, a short distance from the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Whelmore, where he lived before he disappeared. He made no explanation of his disappearance.

Soon after this he became deranged and refused to eat. Dr. Donahue attended him and ordered him removed to the poorhouse. Instead he was taken to the county jail.

Fifty Years in Company's Service.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 8—Thomas Preston, the oldest employe of the Henry R. Worthington Pump Works Company, will celebrate next Monday his fiftieth anniversary in the company's service. Mr. Preston is now eighty years old. His associates in the company will tender him a complimentary dinner Monday night at Quien's Hall, on which occasion the veteran will be the recipient of a splendid testimonial from the company.

National Guard Company Disbanded.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 8.—An order was issued yesterday by Acting Governor Johnson disbanding Company B, of the Second Regiment, because the company was unable to maintain the minimum quota of members. The company has been located at Keyport. The disbanded company's place will be taken by a new Trenton company, which is being organized by Lieutenant Pedrick.

Working Night and Day.

The employes of the United Gold and Silver Mining Company of Woodglen are now working night and day. An extra force was put on Saturday and the work is progressing under most favorable circumstances. Prospectors are still at work on the recently acquired Hann and Slater farms. The farmers adjoining the mines are keeping a close watch for a possible trace of gold or silver.

—The grounds about St. Mary's church and rectory present a fine appearance under the care of Sexton John Carney.

CONGRESS ADJOURNS

House Finally Concurs on the Naval Bill.

CLOSING HOURS GIVEN UP TO SONG.

Representatives Experience Change of Heart During the Night, and the Cannon Conferees Come to Grief—Lentz Balky.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Congress adjourned sine die at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. For the senate it was a day of waiting. The naval appropriation bill—the stumbling block to final adjournment—could not be agreed to by the conferees of the two houses, and the disagreement was reported to the senate early in the day. The report was accepted, but the senate refused to request another conference, although Mr. Hale expressed the belief that an agreement might be reached. There was an evident disposition on the part of the senate to make trouble if the conferees should recede from the senate amendment as to the ocean surveys, and it was deemed the wisest policy to afford the house an opportunity again to pass upon the question.

At 3 o'clock, after several recesses had been taken, it became known to the senate that the house had concurred in the senate amendments remaining in controversy, and soon afterward the house resolution providing for final adjournment was passed with an amendment fixing the hour at 5 o'clock June 7.

It was not until 4:40, 20 minutes before the hour fixed for adjournment, that the president pro tempore of the senate, Mr. Frye, appended his signature to the naval bill. With some other measures it was hurried to the president, who was in waiting in his room in the capitol, and was signed by him a few minutes later.

The concluding hour of the session was purely a social session. No business beyond the adoption of the customary resolution of thanks to the chair (Mr. Frye) was accomplished. In acknowledgment of the compliment Mr. Frye delivered a brief and graceful speech which was received with cordial applause throughout the chamber.

In a marked contrast with the exciting incidents attending the bitter struggles of the closing hours of the session Speaker Henderson laid down his gavel at 5 o'clock at the conclusion of one of the most picturesque scenes which have ever occurred in the hall of representatives. Party passion and personal rancor, which have brought the house to the brink of actual riot several times during the last 48 hours, gave way in the closing half hour to good fellowship which found vent in a patriotic outburst that stirred the crowded galleries to the highest pitch of enthusiasm.

During a brief recess taken within 30 minutes of the time fixed for the final adjournment to give the president an opportunity to affix his signature to the bills that were being rushed to him for approval, a group of members, led by Mr. Mercer of Nebraska, Mr. Ball of Texas, Mr. Fitzgerald of Massachusetts and Mr. Tawney of Minnesota, congregated in the area to the left of the speaker's rostrum and began singing patriotic airs. The galleries were banked to the doors. "Columbia, Gem of the Ocean," "Auld Lang Syne" and "The Red, White and Blue" successively rang out.

As the singing proceeded members joined the group until without regard to age or party the entire membership of the house joined in the choruses. The spectators in the galleries applauded each song until the strains of "Dixie" filled the hall. Then their unbounded enthusiasm broke out in wild cheers. But the enthusiasm "Dixie" evoked was not to be compared with the remarkable demonstration which followed when, in a clear, ringing tenor, Mr. Fitzgerald of Massachusetts started the national anthem with the inspiring words, "Through the dawn's early light."

After Speaker Henderson had made a graceful farewell speech thanking the members for their courtesy and had declared the house adjourned the members testified to his popularity by singing "For he's a jolly good fellow," and the newspaper correspondents in the press gallery celebrated their emancipation from the burdens of congress by singing the "Doxology."

The principal feature of the closing day in the house was the reversal of its action Wednesday night in turning down the conferees on the naval bill for yielding on the item relating to ocean surveys. Over night the sentiment of the house underwent a complete change, and the members voted by a large majority to accept outright the senate amendment which goes much further than the compromise which the conferees offered Wednesday night. The new conferees, led by Mr. Cannon, who had brought in a compromise which they considered more satisfactory, were ignominiously pushed aside. It was a distinct victory for the old conferees, Messrs. Foss of Illinois, Dayton of West Virginia and Cummings of New York.

The other feature of the closing day was the course of Mr. Lentz of Ohio in blocking unanimous consent legislation.

"I'll get great bargains, sir," she said.
"He sells magazines at the publishers' price,
And his store is just delightfully nice.
He has pretty inkstands and paper weights,
Alphabet blocks and transparent slates.
"He has all the popular novels, too,
And special books he'll get for you.
He has paper napkins and fountain pens,
And the sweetest, loveliest, dearest things.
He has dominoes, checkers and playing cards,
Duplicate whist and tally cards,
Crokinole, archarena and also chess,
And all other kinds of games, I guess.
"He has papeteries in greatest array,
From the daintiest tints to the very gay—
"You've said quite enough, my pretty maid,
I must see that wonderful store," he said.

THE CHINESE PUZZLE

Situation Apparently Not Getting Any Worse.

FOREIGNERS GUARD THE LEGATIONS.

Boxer Revolt Spreading Rapidly, and the Government Does Little to Prevent It—Several Towns Raided and Pillaged.

LONDON, June 8.—The situation in China as measured by abundant unofficial telegrams continues full of interesting possibilities, but apparently it has not grown worse during the last 24 hours, although the favorite adjectives of London and continental commentators are "perilous," "grave" and "dangerous."

The naval commanders in Chinese waters have received identical instructions as to procedure, the question of an emergency being left to their discretion. No fear is entertained for the safety of the legations at Peking. European residents, however, are escaping from the capital to the coast. Peking is still under control, according to a dispatch to The Morning Post dated yesterday, but in a very excited state. A thousand foreign guards were garrisoning the legation houses.

Six hundred international troops are at Tien-tsin with six guns. A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Shanghai, dated June 7, takes a gloomy view of things, which are pictured as going from bad to worse. The correspondent says:

"The authorities are displaying palpably guilty supineness in dealing with the Boxers, and the powers are more and more taking matters into their own hands. The Boxer revolt is spreading and is rapidly changing its character. The Boxers are getting arms, preparing to meet force with force.

"There has been no communication between Peking and Tien-tsin since Tuesday, although one miserable half hearted attempt has been made by Chinese soldiery to reach the capital. The troops were fired upon, and the train had to come back. Another station has been burned on the line."

A dispatch from Shanghai, dated 7:30 p. m., says the dowager empress has ordered General Neih Si Chong, with 3,000 men, to protect the railroad at Peking. A severe fight, it is added, has occurred with the Boxers, whose ranks include many soldiers from other generals' commands. When the battle ended, 200 dead were left on the field. The dispatch goes on to say: "One hundred and eighty British marines, with a machine gun, are about to force a passage from Tien-tsin to Peking. Altogether about 900 British have been landed from the fleet, a greater number than have landed from the combined vessels of the other powers. This evidence of Great Britain's intention to assert her position strongly gives great satisfaction here."

A news agency dispatch from Tien-tsin, dated yesterday, says:

"The Boxers are still raiding and pillaging over a wide area. They have wrecked and burned the stations at Longfong and Langoo. It has been definitely ascertained that Mme. Astier and Messrs. Ossent and Cades have been murdered. General Nieh claims to have defeated the Boxers, killing 500."

West Virginia Democrats.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., June 8.—After a continuous session of six hours and a half the Democratic state convention last evening concluded its work. It was largely attended and enthusiastic throughout. In addition to the platform adopted and the ticket nominated the occasion also had a bearing on national politics. West Virginia next November elects members of the legislature as well as state officers, and the new legislature elects the successor of United States Senator Stephen B. Elkins. The consensus of opinion is that the work of the state convention has been favorable to the candidacy of John T. McGraw of Grafton for the Democratic nomination for senator. The following ticket was named: For governor, John H. Holt; auditor, James H. Miller; treasurer, James Garland Hearst; attorney general, George M. McCoy; supreme judges, John W. English and W. G. Bennett; electors at large, John W. Davis and E. M. Gilkeson.

Failures In May.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dun's Review will say tomorrow: "Failures in May were not only the largest ever known in that month since such records were made, but of 80 months covered by these returns only six have shown as large liabilities. Contradictory though it may appear, the report is encouraging. There was not a single failure in the month which was calculated to shake or did shake commercial credits, which were stronger at the end of May than at the beginning. Neither were there any failure or nest of failures calculated to create alarm about any particular branch of business. Real estate and building failures were numerous and, as before, included several of considerable size, and in general the result indicated excessive expansion and speculation in the past rather than growing unsoundness now."

Federation Women's Clubs.

MILWAUKEE, June 8.—After one of the most spirited sessions ever held by the General Federation of Women's Clubs the long discussed question of reorganization was defeated by a vote of 498 to 298. So lively was the discussion that at times there was a score of women on the floor demanding recognition. But not for a minute did Mrs. Lowe lose control of the convention. The only new features of the presidential contest was the withdrawal of Mrs. Williamson of New Jersey, which left a clear field for Mrs. Lowe.

Americans Ambushed.

MANILA, June 8.—Captain Frank F. Crenshaw, with 40 men of the Twenty-eighth infantry, while scouting near Taal, was led into an ambush by a guide. Captain Crenshaw was badly wounded in the head, and one private was wounded. The rebels were scattered, leaving ten dead and three wounded on the field. Captain Flint, while scouting five miles east of Biacnabato, Bulacan province, had a slight brush with the enemy. Flint and two privates were wounded.

Pope's Reception Postponed.

ROME, June 8.—The pope has postponed until tomorrow the reception fixed for today at St. Peter's. His physician, Dr. Laponi, says the pope is not indisposed, but only a little fatigued in consequence of the reception of the Spanish pilgrims Wednesday, which lasted two hours and a half.

OOM PAUL ON WHEELS

Head of Transvaal Government In a Railway Car.

KRUGER SHOWS NO SIGNS OF FEAR.

Declares the War Not Over and That Boers Will Fight to the Bitter End—Can Hold Out For Many Months.

LONDON, June 8.—The executive offices of the Transvaal government are in a railway car, which is shunted on a switch at Machadorp station. President Kruger caused the interior of the coach to be reconstructed some time ago, with a view to contingencies that have now arrived. A correspondent of The Daily Express who went from Lourenco Marques to see President Kruger was received yesterday. The president sat smoking a long pipe. He looked worried, but his bearing was quiet and determined. He did not make the least objection to being interviewed.

The correspondent was equipped for the interview by cables from London.

"Yes," said President Kruger, "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not mean the end of the war. The burghers are fully determined to fight to the last. They will never surrender so long as 500 armed men remain in the country. I feel deeply encouraged by the fine work Steyn and De Wet are doing in the Free State."

The correspondent suggested that the war was over, inasmuch as the capital had been taken.

"The capital!" exclaimed Mr. Kruger, with energy. "What is a capital? It does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar. The capital of the republic, the seat of government, is here in this car. There is no magic about any special site. Our country is invaded, it is true, but it is not conquered. The government is still effective."

Referring to the reasons why he left Pretoria Mr. Kruger said:

"I was not so foolish as to be taken prisoner. I provided this means of locomotion precisely for the same reason as our burghers supply themselves with horses when they take the field.

"It is necessary that I should be able to move quickly from place to place. That is all. By and by this car will take me back to Pretoria. For the present it enables me to keep away from Pretoria, where I could be of no service and where I should only play into the hands of the enemy."

"They say, Mr. Kruger," remarked the correspondent, "that you have brought with you gold to the value of £2,000,000."

"It is not true," replied the president. "Whatever monetary resources I may have with me are simply those which we require for state purposes. At the same time I am not going to tell you where our treasure is. Let Lord Roberts find it if he can."

State Secretary Reitz remarked:

"You may depend upon it that the war is not yet over. Guerrilla warfare will continue over an enormous area. We intend to fight to the bitter end and shall probably retire upon Lydenburg, where we can hold out for many months."

"Yes," observed Mr. Kruger; "it is only now that the real struggle has begun. I fear that there will still be much blood shed, but the fault is that of the British government."

Then raising his voice to an almost passionate height Mr. Kruger exclaimed:

"The time has passed for us to talk. We have done plenty of that, but it has done us no good. There is now nothing left for us to do but to keep on fighting."

Nine hundred British prisoners arrived Tuesday at Nooitgedacht. They are penned in a barbed wire inclosure of four acres on the open veldt.

According to a dispatch from Lourenco Marques, dated yesterday, Lord Roberts is reported to have intercepted two trainfuls leaving the vicinity of Pretoria. Telegrams from the British side are exceedingly scanty. Two brief ones received from Pretoria say that Mrs. Kruger is still occupying the presidency.

Kruger Coming to Pennsylvania.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 8.—It is reported by the Canton (Pa.) Sentinel that President Kruger, if he succeeds in evading the British, will locate in or near Brownlee, Tioga county, Pa. Henry Halles, a relative of Kruger, who lives in Brownlee, wrote Kruger at the breaking out of the war inviting him to locate there in case eventualities made it necessary for him to leave the Transvaal. Halles recently received a letter from President Kruger accepting the invitation, and representatives of the Transvaal have made inquiries concerning the price of farms in the vicinity of Brownlee, which has a large number of Dutch residents.

French Fisheries Fail.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 8.—The French fishing on the Grand Banks has been a total failure thus far owing to the inability of the fishermen to procure bait in Newfoundland waters. The mail steamer Virginia, from Labrador, reports that the straits of Belle Isle are still blocked with heavy arctic floes, the worst known for years. The British steamer Scottish King, which went ashore Nov. 30, 1898, near Renews and which was successfully floated on June 1, was safely berthed here yesterday.

Barber's Sudden Death.

SODUS, N. Y., June 8.—John McDowell, a barber, while shaving a customer dropped dead. He had shaved one side of the customer's face and made some slight remark when he suddenly exclaimed "My God!" and fell up against the wall, sinking to the floor and expiring instantly. Heart failure was the cause of death.

First of Texas' Corn Crop Sold.

AUSTIN, June 8.—The first car of this year's corn crop of Texas was marketed in Ellis county yesterday. The corn sold for 55 cents a bushel. The wheat harvest is now in progress all over the state. The total yield is estimated from 12,000,000 to 14,000,000 bushels.

Good Price For Watercovered Land.

ALBANY, June 8.—The state land board has made a grant of 310 acres under water to the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company of Buffalo. The price paid is $20 per acre, and the land is situated in the townships of West Seneca and Hamburg in Erie county.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done, Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

PART AND PARCEL.

A DAINTY box, an exquisite wrapper, a delicate color, and a clinging fragrance—yet all these will not cleanse the skin! Has it ever occured to you that you pay big prices for these things? Do you care to buy five articles or do you require only one—a strictly pure soap. Remember you pay for perfume whenever you buy it mixed with soap. Don't you think it is wiser to make your own selection of perfume and buy it separately? It is certainly the method adopted by most persons of cultivated taste, those who bathe with pure Ivory Soap.

BATTLESHIPS SAIL.

Quick Work Under Emergency Order—To Join Admiral Farquhar.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The battleships Indiana and Massachusetts sailed from the League Island navy yard at 5:40 last evening for Hampton Roads, where they will join the north Atlantic squadron under Admiral Farquhar for a cruise and practice drill. In less than 48 hours, under emergency orders, the two warships were made ready for service. This is the first time in the history of the American navy that the mobilization drill has been attempted.

The complement of the battleships' crews, 450 men, was effected with the arrival of details of marines and sailors from Washington, Brooklyn and Boston. Admiral Crowninshield, chief of the bureau of navigation, came here from Washington and inspected the battleships prior to their departure.

After the mobilization is completed the squadron, consisting of the New York, Kearsarge, Indiana, Massachusetts and Texas, will engage in squadron maneuvers and other exercises for the next six weeks. It is stated at the League Island navy yard that the Indiana and Massachusetts would again be placed in ordinary at the yards when the exercises are over.

Laborers on Strike.

GLENS FALLS, N. Y., June 8.—Over 400 workmen employed on the buildings of the Glens Falls Portland Cement company are out on a strike. The grievance of the men was originally owing to a mutual insurance plan being adopted deducting 10 per cent of one day's pay from each man. The men now refuse to return to work unless they receive 25 cents more per day per man.

THE ST. LOUIS STRIKE.

Four Persons Shot, One Fatally. Governor Stephens Threatened.

ST. LOUIS, June 8.—As an outgrowth of the street car strike three policemen were shot last night, one fatally, and a citizen was mortally wounded. Officer William O. Coates was shot in the back while on a repair wagon on Kossuth street. No report of a gun was heard, and when he fell back in the wagon the men with him thought he had been shocked by electricity. Examination disclosed that a bullet had struck him in the back and passed through the body. His wound is fatal. Officer Boland was shot at Fifteenth street and Cass avenue and Officer Gibbon at Twenty-fifth and Angelica streets while guarding cars stalled by wire cutting. Both men were shot from the upper stories of dwellings. John Goettling, a citizen, was shot through the chest on O'Fallon street, the bullet having been fired by a special deputy in plain clothes.

Another conference looking to a settlement of the strike was held between Judge H. S. Priest, who is now conducting the strike negotiations for the transit company, and ex-Governor William J. Stone, counsel for the strikers. Nothing was accomplished as far as could be learned.

The motormen and conductors who are coming from Philadelphia and Baltimore are expected to arrive here this morning.

"In addition to these," said General Manager Baumhoff of the transit company, "others are coming from other cities, and we will soon have enough experienced men to run all the cars. The strikers' places are being rapidly filled, and in a few days there will be no vacancies."

Sheriff Pohlmann's posse comitatus has grown to 1,277 men. The number is deemed sufficient by the sheriff to operate a number of lines after dark. The work of swearing in deputies is being continued, however.

Governor Stephens, at Jefferson City, has received many letters from St. Louis threatening him if he does not call out the militia to suppress street car strike riots and others threatening him if he does call out the militia. Yesterday he received a note saying, "If you do not call out the state militia in a few days you will be shot."

LONG DISTANCE TELEPHONING.

A Possibility of Increasing the Capacity of the Atlantic Cable.

NEW YORK, June 8.—Dr. M. I. Pupin of Columbia university recently prepared for the American Institute of Electrical Engineers in Philadelphia a paper in which the author described a method for constructing a cable or an air line circuit such that it would be possible to telephone over it from New York to San Francisco with perfect ease or even from New York to London through a submarine cable made upon the principles announced. In the current issue of The Electrical Review Dr. Pupin further describes in an interview some of the features of his invention.

The idea of telephoning through a transatlantic cable, he says, is easily possible, though of doubtful practicability. It is not perhaps a commercial possibility, nor would there be very great demand for use of a cable for this purpose. The real advantage of his invention lies, he thinks, in its application to telegraphy. The speed of signaling can be increased, he states, from five impulses per second to 1,500. It will multiply the capacity of an Atlantic cable about 300 times. This would make it possible for the rates on cable messages to be lowered until cablegrams would actually be cheaper than postal cards and infinitely quicker.

Gold Democratic Ticket Likely.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 8.—John P. Frenzel, treasurer of the National Gold Standard Democratic committee, has returned to his home here from New York and announces that the national committee of which he is treasurer will meet here on July 25 for consultation and that the result will doubtless be the calling of a national convention to nominate candidates for president and vice president by the National Democratic party. The meeting of the executive committee was held in New York last Friday, and Mr. Frenzel says that all the members were present or were represented by proxy. The sentiment of the members of the committee, Mr. Frenzel says, was unanimous against Bryan and the Chicago platform and that there was also a strong feeling against McKinley.

Factors in Mr. Martine's Favor.

The convention at Trenton had no desire or design to elect Mr. Martine. The bosses had decided to turn him down, just as the Democratic party had been accustomed to do to Mr. Martine. "Bob" Davis didn't want a decent man elected as a delegate, and he had planned to defeat Mr. Martine. But a fight arose between Essex and Hudson, and shifty "Bob" decided to defeat Essex even at the cost of sending Mr. Martine to the convention. And he did so.—Elizabeth Journal.

The Journal states something that is not so in reference to the election of Mr. Martine as one of the "Big Four." In the first place the convention did want to honor Mr. Martine, and it was done despite the fact that some Democrats of prominence and influence were working against him. All the support that Mr. Martine received in the State convention was given to him voluntarily. The delegates were unhampered by solicitation on his part—his candidacy consisting of the simple and plain declaration that if he was selected as a delegate-at-large he would consider it an honor and be pleased to serve. Mr. Martine was selected because he was wanted by a majority of the delegates, and that action was not influenced because there were any deals on his part or any effort to use him to pay off political grudges. His service, loyalty and earnestness in the cause of Democracy, and the conviction that he was entitled to the distinction, were the only factors that contributed to his success in the convention.

So far as the part played in the convention by Robert Davis is concerned, those who know anything about the situation at all know very well that the Hudson county leader's support was perfectly honest and straightforward. Several weeks before the convention — previous to the Democratic dinner in this city, in fact—Mr. Davis pledged Hudson county's delegation to the support of Mr. Martine. Mr. Davis was prompted solely by the generous recognition of the worth of Mr. Martine's Democracy and the knowledge that his selection would be beneficial and give general satisfaction to the party. Mr. Davis' attitude toward Mr. Martine was the personification of warm friendship and honesty in intention and action.

Plainfield and the Milkmen.

The municipal affairs of Plainfield have always been noted for being original and up-to-date, and in many instances ordinances framed for the local government have been regarded as models for other towns to pattern—notably the ordinance under which the street railway company is allowed to operate. Now fresh fame and laurels are to be added to the municipal crown by the ordinance which the local Board of Health has prepared for the control and supervision of the milk-supply of the community.

As is already known and appreciated by Plainfielders, the ordinance is a remarkable one in many respects, and is attracting wide-spread attention among those who follow the latest in public affairs. Yesterday's Newark News devotes a prominent editorial to the Board of Health milk ordinance, and among other things it says:

Henceforth the Plainfield milkmaid will need a wardrobe equal to a bridal trousseau and enough toilet accessories to stock a Turkish bath establishment and manicure parlor. The Board of Health of that thriving New Jersey town, stirred up by the recent epidemic of scarlet fever, has turned its attention to the milk dealers with a vigor which, if it does not abate, may be counted on to make cows aristocrats and dairymen men of fashion.

The regulations are to be commended in the main as worthy of imitation everywhere. If enforced they will purify Plainfield's milk supply and result in such a "scrubbing up" among the milkmen as will render it difficult for even their intimate friends to recognize them.

There has been a good deal of talk about the Democratic nomination for Congressman in the Third district going to S. S. Childs, of Somerset county, but according to the New Brunswick Home News that political preferment is going down to Monmouth county. The Home News says: "Congressman Howell, if he runs for Congress next November, will probably have as his opponent David S. Crater, of Freehold, who is now Surrogate of Monmouth county. Mr. Crater is a strong candidate, but would have to contend against the force of a Republican tidal wave with President McKinley on the crest of the wave."

The marvellous growth of New Jersey's banking system is well shown in the latest reports concerning the National and State banks in New Jersey. The banks have had their ups and downs in this State as in every other State. In 1838 there were twenty-six State banks; in 1850, 24; in 1870, 5; in 1880, 8; in 1890, 22; in 1898, 21. In 1863 there was one National bank; in 1868, 55; in 1878, 68; in 1888, 85; now, 105. The capitalization of the National banks of New Jersey in 1863 was $84,000. Now it is over $14,000,000. The capitalization of the State banks in 1870 aggregated $1,050,125. In 1898 it aggregated $1,738,500.

A mercantile business which is not given the assistance of advertising is like a stove without an outlet for the smoke, says the Philadelphia Record. It won't draw. As the generality of the merchants are in business for profit, and not for rest or recreation, it is necessary for them to advertise daily so that their business announcements will draw to them the custom they want.

In answer to a Senate resolution calling for information as to the cost of shipping troops to and from the Philippines, the quarter-master-general has submitted a statement showing that by availing of the army transports the War Department has saved the government $9,087,155, as compared with the commercial rates.

The Philadelphia Ledger well remarks about the large income received by New Jersey from the trusts that "the sum is little enough to pay for the odium she receives from her sister States for sending such a brood of monsters into the business world."

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

New Jersey Congressmen have been requested to furnish the names of young men in their district who desire to join the National Rough Riders Encampment, which will be established in Colorado, and those wishing to do so may forward their names to the headquarters in New York city.

* * * * *

Woe betide the knights of the road who are corralled along the Lehigh Valley Railroad tracks in the vicinity of South Plainfield. The will get "justice" on the spot, for the company now has among its employes a single man who has the legal right to deal out sentence in big and little doses. In the past whenever tramps were captured around the South Plainfield tracks it was necessary to send them to New Market for trial. That was a nuisance. It took the railroad men who were wanted as a witnesses away from their work, and so many a deserving candidate for penitentiary distinctions failed to get all that was due him. It is different now. In the signal tower at South Plainfield is a man who was elected last spring is the high and honorable office of justice of the peace. He has just qualified and henceforth the homeless wanderers who are gathered in along or near the tracks will be arraigned before him. In view of that fact it might be well for the railroad company to build a jail of its own.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

IN OUR CARPET STORE.

A splendid showing of the well-known "Flowery Kingdom" mattings, imported by Arnold, Constable & Co., whose importations are confined to us in this city.

More and more the store grows in inportance and attractiveness. People of good judgment and cultivated tastes naturally gravitate to the "People's Store."

A REQUEST—Please do not ask us to send goods C.O.D. It entails an enormous amount of extra work on our delivery system, which is already terribly overworked.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 8.—At the meeting of the Board of Freeholders Wednesday $1,500 was appropriated to build a wall along the brook on Main street at the corner of Walnut.

The last meeting of the season of the Banjo Club was held last evening at the residence of Miss Luella Clawson. A most enjoyable evening was had by all. The club will resume practice again in September.

Ice cream, strawberries, cake and a general good time were the features of the festival given in the Methodist church last evening. A large number were present and as a result a neat sum was realized.

Washington Rock was crowded yesterday all day with picnicers and sightseers. Several Sunday-school classes from Plainfield spent the afternoon there.

The directors of the Building and Loan Association were pleasantly entertained by the president, Rulif J. Swackhamer, last evening.

O. A. Douglas has secured a handsome clock from Maltby & Company for getting a full set of tickets from Holland coffee.

Miss Della Fritz, of Plainfield, returned home yesterday after a pleasant visit with friends in the borough.

Robert Lowrie was able to attend school yesterday for the first since his recent accident.

Mrs. A. S. Newton left yesterday for Gerard, Ill., where she will remain for some time.

Robert Gidden presented his wife with a new Monarch piano yesterday.

Mrs. N. J. Hamilton entertained the Crokinole Club Wednesday evening.

Fred Touzeau is spending a few days with friends at Peapack.

T. C. Bodine is having his residence painted by Edward Taylor.

Mrs. Alvah Gray visited friends in Roseville yesterday.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, June 8.—The school day exercises of the Piscataway township schools were held in Vail's Grove yesterday. The exercises, which began at 1 o'clock, were opened with a prayer by Rev. S. K. Doolittle, followed by an address of welcome by Miss Zella Kelley. A varied programme of songs, contests and recitations was then given, at the conclusion of which refreshments were passed.

A horse belonging to A. G. Nelson caught his foot between a rail and plank as he was being driven across the Prospect street crossing yesterday morning, and before it could be extricated the hoof was torn off. The harness was broken by the animal in its struggles to free itself.

William B. Smith tripped over a fork handle as he was entering the barn Wednesday and received a broken arm. Dr. Nelson attended him.

Fred Clawson has returned home from Delaware, where he has been visiting friends.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 8—The members of the B. Y. P. U. of the Baptist church held their annual strawberry and ice cream festival in the parlors of the church last evening. The ideal weather was all that could be desired and the friends of the society turned out in force. The festival proper was preceded by a short programme of vocal and instrumental music, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. A special feature of the programme was the singing by the Ladies' Quartette which has recently been organized, and consists of Mrs. F. W. Hoppell, Mrs. William Maguire, Miss Hollingsworth and Miss Trautman. The several selections rendered were well received, and the ladies will no doubt be in great demand among their friends in the future. The piano solos by Miss Nichol and Miss Miller were also a very pleasing part of the programme, while the vocal solo by Miss Daisy Conklin, of Patchogue, L. I., was all that could be desired. The programme was brought to a close with a selection by the quartette, after which cream and berries were served and the evening devoted to social talk.

A pleasant evening was spent by the members of the Borough Fire Company and their friends at the entertainment and sociable held in the company's headquarters last evening. An interesting programme was presented at the close of which refreshments were served and the younger set enjoyed a dance.

The public school commencement exercises will be held Wednesday evening of next week in the Baptist church. At the close of the exercises the graduating class will tender a reception to their friends in the assembly rooms of the school building. Admission to the reception will be by invitation.

Wm. H. Lee, of the West Side Hotel, will raise a new flag pole in front of his hotel tomorrow afternoon. The event will be attended by a number of Mr. Lee's friends from town and Plainfield.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., met in their rooms last night. Important business was transacted relating to the Pythian Decoration Day exercises which will be held on Sunday afternoon.

Glenside Park has opened for the summer season. Already a number of the cottagers have arrived and by next week it is expected that this pleasant resort will be in full swing.

The merry-go-round located on Front street is only open to the public on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights.

The Methodist Sunday-school will hold their Children's Day exercises in the church Sunday evening.

The Township Committee will meet in the town rooms this evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 8.—Someone stole the whips and blankets from the buggies under the church sheds the night of the festival.

Mr. Thompson, of Plainfield, is excavating the cellar for Mrs. McDonough's house.

The festival in the hall Tuesday evening was a grand success socially and financially.

Frank Miller has gone to work for McDonough Brothers on one of their ice wagons.

The school was well represented at the school picnic at New Market yesterday.

The Red Men's picnic will be held June 16th at Rinos Park.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Schweiz.

Bern. Ein von der Bundesversammlung angenommener Gesetzentwurf zur Einführung der zwangsweisen Unfalls- und Krankenversicherung aller nicht als selbstständige Unternehmer ihren Lebensunterhalt verdienenden Personen, deren Aufwand zum Theil aus der Bundeskasse bestritten werden sollte, ist am 20. Mai in Gemäßheit der Bundesverfassung der Referendumsabstimmung unterbreitet und vom schweizerischen Volk mit einer Majorität von 170,000 Stimmen abgelehnt worden. Für das Gesetz sind 150,000, dagegen 320,000 Stimmen abgegeben worden.

Zürich. Im Alter von 78 Jahren starb in Zürich der Senior der Universität, Professor Dr. Kym.

St. Gallen. Der Gemeinderath von St. Gallen hat eine Verschärfung der Bestimmungen betreffend die Sonntagsruhe in dem Sinne beschlossen, daß künftig nicht blos an den vier Hauptfesttagen, sondern an allen öffentlichen Ruhetagen jeglicher Verkauf von Waaren, ausgenommen Lebensmittel und Apothekerartikel, untersagt werden soll, während bisher an Sontagen von 10 Uhr Morgens bis Nachmittags 3 Uhr der Verkauf aller Waaren erlaubt war.

Graubünden. Dem Bericht des Kleinen Rathes ist zu entnehmen, daß im letzten Jahre 112 Gemeinden des Kantons die obligatorische Viehversicherung eingeführt haben. Das Versicherungskapital beträgt 13,034,808 Francs. Die Zahl der umgestandenen Thiere beläuft sich auf 1192 und deren Werth auf 277,900 Francs. Daran wurden vergütet 214,034 Francs. Die Beiträge der Mitglieder beliefen sich auf 139,766 Francs, die des Kantons auf 41,929 Francs, die des Bundes auf 41,929 Francs.

Tessin. Die kantonale Irrenanstalt in Casvegno hat im vorigen Jahre 248 Geisteskranke beherbergt. Das Minimum der gleichzeitigen Pfleglinge betrug 114, das Maximum 152. In den meisten Fällen wird die Ursache der Krankheit auf Erblichkeit, in 17 Prozent auf Alkoholismus zurückgeführt.

Waadt. Dieser Tage starb in Lausanne ein Italiener, der vor mehr als 50 Jahren in seiner Heimath Geschichte machen half. Der 1814 geborene Trenca erlöste 1845 seine Vaterstadt Mentone sammt dem Nachbarort Roccabruna von der Herrschaft des Fürsten von Monaco. Während der 12 Jahre, da die beiden Städte eine steuerlose Selbstständigkeit genossen, stand der Verstorbene an der Spitze der militärischen Macht. Später kam er nach Lausanne, wo er die letzten Jahrzehnte seines Lebens in steter Beschäftigung mit der neuesten Geschichte Deutschlands, insbesondere des Krieges von 1870 auf 1871, zubrachte.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Danzig. Der 17jährige Lehrling Selcke, Sohn einer achtbaren Wittwe, der auf der hiesigen Generalagentur der „Iduna" durch Fälschung von Postanweisungen gegen 2000 Mark unterschlug, wurde von der Strafkammer zu 1½ Jahren Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Konitz. In Folge der Ermordung des Gymnasiasten Winter haben die Antisemiten die Aufregung so geschürt, daß es trotz aller Vorbeugungsmaßregeln des Landraths doch zu Aufläufen kam, bei der Eigenthum und Leben der jüdischen Einwohner bedroht war. Besonders bedroht war der Schlächter Lewy, welcher früher verhaftet worden war, weil der Arbeiter Masloch gegen ihn ausgesagt hatte. Das Gericht erkannte sehr bald die falschen Aussagen des Masloch und verfügte gegen ihn Verhaftung und Anklage wegen Meineids, während Lewy entlassen wurde. Dies benutzten die Schürer. Der Landrath hatte indessen rechtzeitig Militär aus Thorn requirirt. Dieses ging sofort mit dem Bajonett gegen die Menge vor und verhaftete drei der Hauptschreier, die nun wegen Landesfriedensbruches unter Anklage stehen. Dem energischen Auftreten des Militärs ist es zuzuschreiben, daß der Aufruhr ohne Verletzung von Personen unterdrückt wurde.

Preußisch-Holland. In voller Rüstigkeit und Frische feierte Kapellmeister Knoblauch sein 50jähriges Berufsjubiläum. Im Jahre 1850 kam Knoblauch nach Preußisch-Holland, widmete sich der Musik und ist seitdem hier verblieben.

Rheinprovinz.

Köln. Die Kölner „Polyhymnia" wird im nächsten Jahre das Fest ihres 50jährigen Bestehens feiern. Sie beabsichtigt aus diesem Anlaß, einen internationalen Gesangswettstreit zu arrangiren, an dem sich jedoch Kölner Gesangvereine nicht betheiligen dürfen.

Elberfeld. Die Stadtverordnetenversammlung beschloß, tüchtige, minder bemittelte Handwerker zur Weltausstellung nach Paris zu entsenden. Die Handelskammer bewilligte die Mittel für zwei Personen, und der Kunstgewerbeverein beschloß, 1000 Mark zur Entsendung von vier Personen auszusetzen.

Krefeld. Der Minister hat den Bau einer Kleinbahn von Krefeld über Fischeln, Anrath, Neersen nach Viersen genehmigt.

Viersen. Der Schuhmacher Hamacher, dessen Wohnhaus niederbrannte, hackte sich in Verzweiflung mit einem Beil die rechte Hand vollständig ab. Er starb an Verblutung.

INVESTIGATOR: Doctor, what do you think of this as a testimonial for a dyspepsia cure? I am a pressman living in East New York and work in New York City. For many years I have been troubled with bleeding piles which always bothered me. Though I tried a great many remedies I decided long ago that there was no medicine which could cure them and had determined that I must go on and bear it. Without any thought about Ripans Tabules other than a medicine for disordered stomach I took a half dozen and noticed a decided improvement in my condition. I kept on taking them regularly for a few weeks and my piles disappeared absolutely. It is weeks now since I took my last Tabule and I feel better in every way for my experience with them. Ripans Tabules are the only medicine I have taken in a year.

DOCTOR. In a case of bleeding piles, aggravated by constipation, the Ripans Tabules would in frequent cases give marked relief and in many cases apparently effect a cure. The Tabules did not cure the piles but they cured the constipation and then the piles disappeared. There is nothing wonderful or even unusual about it.

WANTED—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

That are superior in quality are what we handle. It's very easy to keep a stock of meats which will be partly good and partly inferior and to sell a little of both to each customer; this we never do. Our meats are of superior quality, and with only ordinary care on the part of the cook, should give entire satisfaction. Cut from young cattle, sheep, etc., the beef, mutton and lamb is tender, juicy and of delicious flavor.

GREEK ROYAL FAMILY.

Its Members Are, Without Exception, Good-Looking and Live Together in Perfect Harmony.

Considering the relationship between the Greek royal family and the reigning houses of Europe it is curious that so little is known of them. They do not occupy public attention as do other royalties. King George is the favorite brother of the prince of Wales and is one of the cleverest as well as one of the handsomest reigning sovereigns on the continent.

Like the princess of Wales, he has the rare combination of fair hair and deep blue eyes, and at the time of his marriage to Grand Duchess Olga of Russia they were said to be not only the handsomest royal couple, but the finest-looking man and woman in Grecee, that land of handsome folk. Few princes have had more romantic lives than King George. He was the second son of his parents, the king and queen of Denmark, and when offered the Greek throne was but a boy of 17. He began to reign a couple of months before he was 18, and four years later married, his bride being just 16.

The king and queen became the parents of seven children—five sons and two daughters; and the one shadow over their ideal married life has been the loss of the elder princess, the namesake and god-daughter of the princess of Wales, who died within three years of her marriage to one of the Russian grand dukes. Of the five princes, the future king of Greece—who enjoys the splendid title of duke of Sparta—was married shortly after the death of the late Emperor Frederick to Princess Sophie of Russia, one of Queen Victoria's most charming and accomplished granddaughters, who showed, during the Turkish-Greek war, not a little of her mother's remarkable intellectual power, for she organized all the arrangements made for the nursing of English nurses whom she early asked to come to her assistance. The duke and duchess of Sparta, who inhabit a beautiful country palace near Athens, have three children—two little sons and a daughter. In connection with this fact, it is curious to note that, according to an old Greek prophecy, when a George is born to royal parents rejoicing in the names of Constantine and Sophie, he will become the conqueror of the Turks and set up once more the Greek orthodox religion in Constantinople.

THE QUEEN OF GREECE.

Of late Prince George, the king and queen's second son, has played a certain part on the European stage, for to him has been confided the pacification of Crete. He is a splendid-looking man, just 31 years of age, and full of energy and vitality. He is the intimate friend—as well, of course, as a first cousin—of the emperor of Russia, and he accompanied the latter during his tour in the east; indeed, it was Prince George who saved the future czar from being assassinated by a Japanese fanatic. He is possessed of enormous strength, and successfully warded off the blow intended for the czarowitz.

Dinner and Luncheon Soups.

Clear soups should be served at dinners and thick soups at luncheons. Cream of chestnut was one of the novelties that demonstrated its popularity last season as a winter soup. Peel about 60 chestnuts and blanch until the skin will rub off between the thumb and forefingers. Then cook gently in a rich, well-flavored stock until soft enough to rub through a sieve. Dilute to the proper consistency with the stock in which they were cooked and serve very hot with croutons.

How to Clean Glass Globes.

When the globes belonging to chandeliers have become very dirty with smoke, they should be soaked in warm soda water. Then add a few drops of ammonia, and wash the globes well with a soaped flannel, rinse in clean water and dry with a soft linen cloth.

The Best Furniture Whip.

Narrow strips of ticking tied to a piece of broomhandle is the best whip to beat upholstered furniture, in the opinion of the New York Evening Post's household expert.

NEW FIELD FOR WOMEN.

It Is the Stretching of Shoes and Is Not of Flowery Ease for Those Who Try It.

When the woman said she wanted a pair of shoes the hollow-eyed clerk did not ask: "What size, madam?" but said, instead: "New or second-hand?"

The woman hesitated, not quite grasping the significance of the question. "Why, new, of course," she said, at length.

"The reason I asked," said the clerk, "was that we have several pairs of shoes of different sizes that have been worn a little, just enough to stretch them, and I didn't know but that you would like a pair that your feet would slip right into, and that you'd never have any trouble with."

The woman's interest had plainly got started by that time "Have you any such?" she asked.

"A few pairs, as I have just said," replied the clerk. "They have been worn long enough by professional shoe stretchers to take the stiffness and newness away. We are thinking of making these stretched shoes a permanent and prominent feature of our stock. Why, do you know," he continued, with increased earnestness, "if I had a foot that I could expand or contract at will, according to circumstances, I could make a pile of money by just trying on shoes. Anybody who has ever endured the torment incident to stretching a new pair of shoes would be willing to pay 50 per cent. more a pair in order to be relieved of the discomfort of getting them set to the foot. The custom of offering stretched shoes to patrons has already been introduced into several stores in town, and it certainly ought to become very popular. Judging by present indications, it will not be long until every shoe store of any pretensions will employ people with feet of the standard sizes to wear new shoes for a day or so to break them in. It will certainly be a good investment, for patrons will buy shoes oftener when the horror of setting them has been removed, and thus more money will accrue to the dealer. Shoe stretching is a calling that will not permit its followers to tread on flowery paths of ease, but the possibility of buying shoes that are comfortable from the start opens up a view of elysium for the wearer."—N. Y. Sun.

THE PLAITED SKIRT.

Dame Fashion Decrees That It Should Be Laid in Tiny Folds Across the Back.

Even with the triple-fold center plait predominant, the fate of the plaited skirt hangs in the balance, for there are those who declare that the design does not sufficiently break the plainness originated by the habit back, and is therefore found wanting.

Dame Fashion in an arbitrary moment presents an irreproachable method of arranging the fullness at the back of the skirt and one which bids fair to enjoy a large share of popular favor during the summer season.

NEW PLAITED ARRANGEMENT.

It requires no more material to make the new skirt than is used when adopting the triple-fold center plait. The fullness of the latter is simply dispersed across the back of the skirt in smaller box plaits which can range in width from one-half to three inches, as the material will allow.

A summer skirt of khaki cloth made to wear with separate waists has the fullness at the back laid in seven tiny plaits not more than an inch wide.

The front and sides are close fitting and the skirt touches the floor all around with an increased train effect at the back. An economic advantage of these skirts is that they are all built upon imitation silk linings, and, with care, will wear the whole season without evidencing any need of replenishment.—Helen Gray Page, in Chicago News.

How to Preserve Vegetables.

Keep them on damp stones covered with a damp cloth. Beetroot, parsnips, carrots and potatoes are best kept in sand during the winter. Onions should be tied in bunches and hung up.

Public Office in Boston.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 10, "Lives That Lift"—Text, Luke xiii, 20, 21.

"Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God? It is like unto leaven."

The attractive power of a pure personality is the most elevating influence this world knows. There is a fearfully alluring and contagious force in vice. Evil propagates with almost as much rapidity as microbes of some foul diseases and with as disastrous effects, but righteousness is more virile and recuperative and permanent.

Truth crushed to earth shall rise again,
The eternal years of God are hers,
But error, wounded, writhes with pain
And dies among his worshipers.

With marvelous rapidity the yeast germs multiply under proper conditions of heat and moisture and in a proper medium. So do religious truth and godliness. If at times it seems that the church languishes and false doctrines flourish and sin is rampant, it is well to study the facts closely and seek to discover the conditions of the times. The trouble is never with the leaven of truth and right. But the absence of it may be one of the causes of prevalent apathy and open ungodliness. If salt is no longer saline, it will not prevent meat spoiling. If men are no longer truthful and honest, they will not inspire confidence in and love of integrity, however prominent they may be in church circles. On the other hand, if salt be saline it will preserve the meat without regard to the locality where made or the form of packing and labeling it may receive. However humble and seemingly uninfluential a person may be, if the soul is pure and the life consistent there cannot fail to be influences of purity proceeding from it to all who come in contact with it. Gentleness of speech and courtesy of manner, when they proceed from a genuine nature, whole souled and full orbed in brotherly kindness, will conquer obstinacy, enmity and malice more surely than any other weapons. Leaven will raise meal if it has a fair chance. No one expects it to make bread of clay, or, if they do, and it fails to work, the fault is not in leaven or in clay, but in their lack of rational insight. They lack common sense. Three years of discipleship with Jesus Christ fails to make Judas Iscariot other than a thief, a betrayer of innocence and holiness. The fault was not in Jesus, but in Judas.

The gospel will save men if they will let it get in its work properly in heart and action. The goodness in the world today is the result of the influence of God's Holy Spirit. It saves the individual and lifts communities, nations, worlds. The most powerful force in this universe is this same leaven of the gospel. It lifts men from being sinners into sainthood and divine heirship. Watch it work. Feel its action. Be lifted yourself. Help lift others as you go up.

Go Work.

Nothing of worth comes without work. Money and lands may be bequeathed, but ability to use them wisely and enjoy them can never be passed from one to another. If secured at all, it must be by personal exertion. Poverty does not prevent the winning of the prizes of life. Sometimes it is a direct advantage. The children of wealthy parents are not necessarily in better or worse condition than those who are poorer. Work is the price of all good things in this life.

"Help yourself, and heaven will help you." In the religious life this is eminently true. Longing to be good never made any one better till the desire led to active practice of virtue and living trust in God. Powers of soul can be developed only by use. Faith grows strong only as it faces doubts and overcomes them. Hope becomes an anchor to the soul only as disappointments and disasters drive it from the beaten track of life into dangers of the lee shore; then it finds bed in the unseen, and however the winds and waves may beat and surf may thunder on the beach it holds and saves.

If you want to love God more, begin loving Him some and by showing that love by helping His children. Love grows by loving. Get interested in God's people. Do something for somebody. Don't be afraid to touch somebody with sympathy. Get out of self. Forget your own heartaches in relieving some other person's heartache. God works. If you want to get near Him, you must do it in His workshop, helping.

The Various Branches.

There are some people, and they not a few, who do not yet realize that there are many branches of the Methodist tree. There are almost a dozen in the United States. Each has a history well worth study. The Methodist Episcopal is the largest in membership and best known. Then comes the Methodist Episcopal Church South. In Canada all branches have united, and they constitute the third body in number and influence on the continent.

In England the Wesleyan connection is the strongest and represents the society organized by Wesley.

In the main points these four bodies agree in their doctrines and customs. They differ in the manner in which they are governed. The English and Canadian churches have no bishops, but superintendents.

If this is to be a Christian nation, the people must know the Bible, love its truths and practice its precepts. This they can only do by becoming acquainted with it by reading and preaching. Socialism of any stripe cannot save. Isms are not the antidote for sin. Social culture has no sure basis except regenerated hearts and converted lives. No lifting without leaven. A Christian who does not read his Bible constantly is like dead yeast—lifting power is gone.

A CONTINENTAL DAM.

It Sounds Like a Cuss Word, But This Account Proves It to Be Otherwise.

Can you give the origin of the expression "continental dam?" asks a correspondent of the Philadelphia Times. It sounds profane, but is it? Possibly, and in all probability, it owes its existence to the continental currency of revolutionary fame or its counterfeit. During the darkest days of the revolutionary war, when the credit of the continental government was at its lowest ebb and the redemption of its currency of grave doubt, this currency had depreciated to such an extent that we are told it required $600 of its face value to purchase a good substantial pair of boots. Not content with this deplorable condition of things, however, Yankee ingenuity devised a substitute (counterfeit) for this currency, and when these spurious notes came under the notice and detection of bank officials it was their custom to stamp upon them the Latin word damnato (condemned), or, in its abbreviated form "dam," thus ending their disastrous career.

Is it possible to conceive of anything more utterly worthless or good for nothing than this counterfeit continental money forever condemned by this "dam" upon it, and is not this the most logical and natural deduction of the origin of the expression, "It is not worth a continental dam," so much like profanity, and yet, if we are correct, so absolutely free from it?

AN ORDINANCE

For the Laying Out and Opening of Madison Avenue from the Northwesterly Side Line of West Front Street to the City Line in the Centre of Green Brook.

WHEREAS, William M. Stillman, Eugenia L. Babcock, individually and as guardian of George L. Babcock, Joseph A. Hubbard, Trustee, and William M. Stillman, Trustee, the owners of all the land embraced within the lines of the proposed street, hereinafter referred to, have dedicated said proposed street to the public, and have agreed that in case the City shall accept said proposed street, that they will at their own expense within thirty days after the completion of the bridge to be built over said Green Brook, at the Westerly City terminus of said street, macadamize the roadbed of said street to a width of sixteen feet, and a depth of six inches at the centre and four inches on the side, and further, that they will from time to time and at all times hereafter indemnify and save harmless the City of Plainfield from any and all expense and damages, if any, in and about the opening, acceptance and macadamizing of said proposed street, and have filed with the City Treasurer an agreement to secure the performance on their part of their said agreement hereinabove referred to; and

WHEREAS, the Common Council have adjudged and do hereby judge that the public good requires that said proposed street should be accepted upon the terms and under the agreements aforesaid, and have accepted and do hereby accept said agreement above referred to; therefore,

The Inabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the proposed street with centre and side lines, as heretofore so dedicated to the public and signed by the parties so dedicating the same and shown on map filed with the City Clerk, May 7, 1900, entitled "Application Map for the Opening of Madison Avenue from the Northwesterly Side of West Front Street to the City Line in the Centre of Green Brook, City of Plainfield, New Jersey, May, 1900," be and the same is hereby accepted as a public street of the City of Plainfield, to be known as Madison Avenue, and that the centre and side lines and the grade of said proposed street, are hereby established as delineated and set forth on said map.

Adopted by the Common Council June 4, 1900.

Approved by the Mayor June 5, 1900.

GEO. W. ROCKFELLOW, Mayor.

Attest: J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.

AN ORDINANCE

Concerning the Industrial Home, and the inmates thereof.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That the Alms House of the City shall be known and designated as the City Industrial Home.

Section 2. That it shall be the duty of the Overseer of the Poor, and he is hereby authorized and empowered, to direct and assign the persons under his charge in the said Industrial Home to such employment or occupation as they may respectively be capable of pursuing, and especially to make such arrangements that all the labor in the said Industrial Home shall be accomplished by the inmates thereof, if consistent with their ability. To determine whether any inmate who alleges physical disability, infirmity or illness, as an excuse for failure to perform such labor as may be assigned to said inmate, is feigned or genuine, said Overseer may call to his aid the City Physician, whose duty it shall be to make examination in the premises, and report his conclusion to said Overseer.

Sec. 3. It shall be the duty of said Overseer of the Poor and the Superintendent and the Matron of said Industrial Home to carefully observe and strictly enforce the Rules and Regulations adopted by the Common Council from time to time, in relation to the government and discipline of the said Industrial Home.

Adopted by the Common Council June 4, 1900.

Approved by the Mayor June 5, 1900.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning June 10—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—Lives that lift.—Luke xiii, 20, 21.

THE PARABLE.

This topic is illustrated by the parable of the leaven and the meal. It is associated by the evangelists with that of the mustard seed—the one representing the external growth and spread of Christ's church and the other the internal growth of Christian principles and their universal extension. After the parable of the mustard seed, Jesus said: "Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God? It is like leaven which a woman took and hid in three measures of meal till the whole was leavened."

THE INTERPRETATION.

The kingdom of God represents the church which is to spread over the world as the leaven throughout the meal. The leaven represents the word of God, or the new living principle brought into the world by Christ, which is to be implanted in the hearts of men and which will lift them as leaven lifts or raises the meal. There is no significance in the fact that there were three measures of meal or that it was a woman who hid the leaven in the meal. This was the usual amount, and the work was such as a woman usually performs.

THE APPLICATION.

This parable very naturally suggests the lifting force of Christianity upon the lives of men. It not only suggests lifting lives, but sets before us some facts in reference to lives that lift.

1. Lives that lift must themselves first be lifted. All men in their natural estate are like the meal. They need a leaven to raise them from a condition of sinfulness before God to a position that is acceptable to God. It is easy to see that this is necessary before our lives can influence the lives of others for good. The blind cannot lead the blind. The unreformed cannot reform. Before a portion of meal could leaven that adjoining it it must itself be leavened. No man can lift the lives of others by this new force which Christ has brought into the world until we ourselves are Christianized and lifted.

2. Lives that lift must come in actual contact with the lives that need to be lifted. The leaven had to touch the meal before it would be leavened. So, by the touch of our lives in some way, the principle of new life which we possess must be implanted in the hearts and lives of others if they are to be lifted Christward and heavenward. By personal example, by personal attentions, by personal persuasions, we must make our lives touch the lives of others if we are to win them for Christ.

3. The greatest lifter of lives is Christ Himself. He is the life. The leaven is really not so much the word of Christ as it is Christ Himself. Christ in the heart lifts the life. Christ in the world is lifting the whole world. Christ lived and died that He might raise men from the lowest depths of sin and misery to the highest heights of glory and happiness. But He not only lifts the lives of those who accept Him, but He places within them the power of drawing others to Him, that they may be lifted up. He is not only the great moral and spiritual magnet who draws all men unto Him, but He magnetizes those who are drawn, and they possess the power to draw men up unto Him. Have we been lifted to Christ? Are we lifting others to Him?

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Have a biographical meeting. Arrange a special programme, with five minute papers or addresses on the lives of men which have been conspicuous for their lifting powers—Peter, Paul, Barnabas, Luther, Wesley, Spurgeon, Murphy, Moody.

BIBLE READINGS.

Math. v, 43-48; John iii, 14-16; xii, 32; Gal. vi, 1-10; Phil. iii, 12-14; Col. iii, 1-3; I Tim. iv, 12-16; II Tim. iv, 1-8; Heb. xii, 1, 2; Jas. v, 19, 20; I Pet. ii, 20-25.

In Honorable Ways.

The church should discountenance all methods for raising money which tend to cheapen religion. She cannot afford to ignore conscience in her financial operations. She must be both honest and reverent in replenishing the Lord's treasury. Due regard must be had for the proprieties of life on the one hand and respect for the Master and His house on the other. Nothing must be done to lower either Him or His cause in the eyes of others, even if thereby more money comes into the bag. Christian principles are needed in all the benevolent and church schemes of the day. No amount of good ends can justify the use of questionable means for their attainment. The Lord wants His depleted exchequers filled only in legitimate, honorable and becoming ways.—The Presbyterian.

Faith In the Bible.

If our Sunday schools are turned into Bible schools, where the very words of Holy Writ are studied and helps and methods less depended on, those who teach and those who are taught will derive that illumination which ever comes from the entrance of the truth of God. If the whole Church of Christ were to present a united front of such a character instead of one of halting and declining faith in the book they profess to love, an impression might and would be made upon the world. Even were it impossible to induce the visible church to unite in taking such a stand, those who do it would at least be faithful witnesses for the truth, and the result could not be foretold.—Episcopal Recorder.

The Latest Gospel.

The latest gospel in the world is—know thy work and do it.—Carlyle.

HAS A QUEER TRADE.

Man from New Jersey Who Imitates a Wax Figure.

He Calls Himself the Animated "Dummy" and Is the Hero and Victim of Some Odd Accidents and Adventures.

Joseph E. Hurst, of Newark, is the name of the best imitation of a wax figure in the world.

He has followed the business for ten years, and has had some peculiar experiences.

"The idea came to me in this way," he said to a reporter for a New York paper:

"A druggist on a corner had a wax figure of a woman in his window. It was advertising soap, a bar of which it would hold out to the public all day long. I was hungry, out of work and about discouraged. I looked at the figure and then at the next corner. Over there was a large drug store that had no wax figure, and that was also selling soap. I went over there and said to the angry looking proprietor:

"'What will you give me to bring that crowd over here and keep it here? I can do it.'

"'I will give you $25 a week,' he said.

"An hour after I walked into the store. I had on a blond wig, my face was highly decorated with rich paint, and, all in all, I flattered myself that I looked as much like a wax man as a real one. The proprietor watched me in surprise.

"Slipping into a clean white suit of ducking, I stepped into the window and began to pose. I turned mechanically from side to side. It was five minutes before any one across the street noticed me. Then there was a rush. For three weeks I stood in that window, and, at the end of that time the general public was not sure as to my constitution. I have been at it ever since.

"The funniest thing happened in Philadelphia. I was a figure in a parlor scene in a furniture store. It was late in the afternoon, and the place was nearly deserted. Two fashionable young women came in to look at furnishings, and the proprietor showed them around. They came along to where I was.

"'What a lovely wax figure!' exclaimed one.

"'Adorable!' said the other.

"'If I could find a man like that now!'

"'Perfectly kissable.'

"'As long as it is wax it probably would not object to being kissed,' said the manager, maliciously.

"'I'll do it,' said the younger of the two girls. There was a silken swish in my ear, and a second after her lips were pressed to mine in a warm smack. The girl started back and fell in a heap on the floor. She had fainted, and for a little while there was a scene of consternation.

"When she came to, of course, she apologized very humbly, and I assured her that I was her debtor. It was the finest compliment to my art that I have ever received.

"In Omaha a woman fell in love with me and wrote me letters.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The Hillside Tennis and Golf Club was represented at the first meeting of the New Jersey State Golf Association, held at East Orange last week, by Henry Lowe.

Play for the president's cup will be continued at the Park Golf Club course tomorrow afternoon. Despite the fact that his handicap was cut down from four strokes to scratch, Morgan T. Townsend captured first honors for the cup last week and is in good condition to be one of the low men tomorrow. Townsend has another battle on his hands for tomorrow as well. He is the next challenger for the green committee challenge trophy now held by Fred Taylor, and will play for it Saturday. The match will be eighteen holes, match play. The same cards, medal play, will be turned in as part of the competition for the president's cup.

TENNIS

While there have been no tennis matches of importance in Plainfield this season and there is no prospect of any as yet, Westfield has taken a renewed interest in the game. A tournament was held there Decoration Day but the honors came to Plainfield after all. The tournament was won by Fred G. Smith, of this city, in a field of sixteen competitions.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Several interesting races have been arranged for the Gentlemen's Driving Park track tomorrow afternoon, when some of Plainfield's best horses will give exhibitions.

ELSIE IS HAPPY.

The Fact That She Swallowed a Diamond Ring Doesn't Worry Her.

Elsie, the little daughter of Mrs. Edward Flindell, of Newark, who swallowed a $150 diamond ring belonging to the mother on Tuesday while visting at the home of W. H. Spurge, of Carlton avenue, seems to be getting along nicely. The little girl seems to be serenely unconscious of the presence of the ring in her stomach so far as any ill effects are observed in her health. She is a cute and bright little tot and when anyone asks her the question "Where is papa's ring?" she opens wide her mouth, looks wise and points her finger down her throat.

Graduate in Law Studies.

The sixty-eighth annual commencement exercises of the New York University was held last evening in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, among the graduates in the law department were E. O. Clark, J. H. VanWinkle, Jr., and Carl S. Brown, of the borough.

of fancy paper novelties could be purchased, from lamp shades to calendars and tissue paper. This booth was in charge of Miss Miss Minnie Wilson, Miss Alice Gilbert and Alice Barlow.

A lemonade and flower booth was presided over by Miss Viola Lievers and Miss Sadie Kriney, who saw to it that no one went thirsty, or the men were provided with a little bouquet. The articles on the calico booth rapidly disappeared through the efforts of Mrs. Graves, Mrs. Morgan and Miss Wenzel.

The customers of the candy booth were obligingly waited on by Mrs. Walter Manning and Miss Frances Phillips. All kinds of cake was on sale at the cake booth in charge of Mrs. Fraleigh and Miss Hattie Martin. A good share of the patronage was secured by the fancy bocth at which embroidered articles made by the children of the industrial school were for sale, some of which were very creditable.

A guessing contest for a doll was held at this booth, but no one was successful in guessing its name. Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Morrison and Miss Louise Morgan presided here. The ice cream tickets were sold by Mrs. Phillips.

Nearly all the articles were disposed of before closing time came, and although the fair was not quite as successful as that of last year it more than came up to expectations, and the ladies are to be congratulated on their success.

TO NAME CONGRESSMAN.

Republicans Will Nominate Candidate in Elizabeth June 28th—To Take Part in Philadelphia Parade.

Mayor Charles B. Holmes, of Rahway, chairman of the Eighth Congressional district committee, has issued the call for the Republican convention to nominate a candidate for member of Congress. The convention will be held at the Lyceum Theatre in Elizabeth, Thursday, June 28th, at 3 p. m.

The basis of representation will be one delegate for every 100 Republican votes cast for governor at the last gubernatorial election, and one delegate for every fraction thereof over 50, each ward, township and borough to have at least one delegate.

The Republican county committee will meet at the Dix building Elizabeth tonight. The main business will be to fix date of primaries for the congressional convention, and to fill vacancy in the committee caused by the death of Hon. George Kyte.

SUPT. MAXSON PLEASED.

Complimented the Teachers for Their Efficient Work for the Past Year.

At the monthly meeting of the teachers of the city yesterday Superintendent Maxson gave them final directions for closing up the work of the year. He said that he considered this year's work unusually successful and congratulated them on establishing such a strong spirit of kindness and friendliness between teacher and pupil. He also expressed satisfaction that the parents were co-operating so cordially and freely with the teachers in work and discipline. In the course of his talk he announced that he had refused to consider the New Haven superintendcy.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIETY.

Business Session Followed a Short Programme—Officers Were Chosen.

The annual meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church was held last evening in the church parlors. The business session was preceeded by a short programme arranged by the missionary committee. The programme included a vocal solo by Miss Mary Griswold, a talk on the work of the Sabbath Evangelizing and Industrial Association in South Africa by O. S. Rogers and a vocal duet by Miss Nan Randolph and Miss Ernestine Smith.

The business session was then held and the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Miss Ida L. Spicer; vice-president, Jacob Bekker; corresponding secretary, Asa F. Randolph; recording secretary, Miss H. Elizabeth Allis; treasurer, Miss Lucie Dunham; auditors, O. S. Rogers and Asa F. Randolph. The chairmen of committees were chosen as follows: Lookout, Mrs. J. Miller; prayer meeting, Miss Anna Wooden; missionary, Dr. Martha R. Stillman; literature, Miss Myra Clark; temperance and good citizenship, Miss Ida Randolph; flower, Miss Luella Clawson; music, Miss Jessie M. Utter; social, Miss Bessie Fitz Randolph.

The officers were nominated by a committee composed of Miss Ernestine Smith, chairman; Miss Nan Randolph, Miss Ida Randolph, O. S. Rogers and Jacob Bekker.

BAKERS TO SEPARATE.

Husband Says He Cannot Get Along With His Wife and Will Sue For a Divorce.

Orrin Baker, of Plainfield avenue, whose troubles were told in The Press yesterday, said this afternoon that he was going to leave for Ocean Grove and in a few days would begin legal proceedings for separation from his wife and for the possession of his children, as he and Mrs. Baker could not agree.

The children are a girl about eight years old and a boy of five.

Pleasant Cycle Run.

Eight members of the Y. M. C. A. bicycling division, led by Paul Whitall, enjoyed a pleasant run to Rahway, by way of Westfield, last night. They made a friendly visit to the association there and returned by way of Menlo Park and Metuchen, arriving home in time to have an enjoyable plunge in the pool.

A Parlor Sociable.

A parlor sociable was given at the residence of Jumis Flippen, of Plainfield avenue, last night, for the benefit of the Mt. Olive church. Vocal and instrumental selections were given by the Brown brothers and several others. Strawberries and ice cream were sold.

Clyde Doane, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hervey Doane, of LaGrande avenue, is seriously ill at his home. As yet the physician has not determined what his illness is, although he has a very high fever. Out of consideration for the little sufferer, the young people in the neighborhood have ceased playing tennis near Mr. Doane's house, so that there may be no disturbance.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. S. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility, but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., SATURDAY, JUNE 9, 1900. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

THESE MEN WERE ANXIOUS TO FIGHT.

Offensive Conduct of Plainfielders After Leaving a Sparring Match in Elizabeth.

CAPTURED BY THE POLICE.

ASSAULTED A PARTY OF COLORED PEOPLE FOR NO REASON.

Tried to Be Funny With the Policeman, With the Result of Having His Club Brought Into Play —Fined in Court.

Among those who attended the smoker and sparring exhibition which took place at Turn Hall on High street in Elizabeth Thursday night were Thomas Moran and Michael Mullaney, of Plainfield, both of whom were arrested at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning for drunkenness and disorderly conduct.

Shortly after 4 o'clock Moran and Mullaney became involved in a quarrel at the corner of Broad and West Jersey streets with several colored persons who had been out enjoying a trolley ride and were on their way home.

Mullaney, stout in build, having a tendency toward pugilism, threw off his coat and in short order compelled the colored people to move on down East Jersey street, when he picked up a big rock and started in pursuit.

At this juncture Officer Reilly appeared on the scene, made Mullaney drop the rock he had, and ordered both him and Moran to move on unless they wanted to be locked up, and when they told him that they belonged at Plainfield, he attempted to escort them to the depot.

The trio had proceeded but a short distance in the direction of the depot, when Moran attempted to clinch with the officer, and, in order to defend himself and bring Moran under subjection, the officer was obliged to bring his baton into play, with such effect that not only Moran, but his companion as well, were glad to accompany him to the lockup.

Moran on hearing the charge read, that of being drunk and fighting on the public street, pleaded not guilty, and demanded a postponement of the case, which was promptly denied.

Justice Hall gave Moran the option of paying a fine of $3 and costs or going to jail for ten days, while Mullaney was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and costs. The latter, who was well supplied with ready cash, paid both fines, declaring as he did so that he considered they had gotten off dead cheap.

DR. CARROLL TO SPEAK.

Will Address Meeting of Layman's Association in Newark.

There will be a meeting of the Laymen's Association of the Newark Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church for the purpose of hearing reports from the General Conference held at Chicago. This meeting will be held in St. Paul's M. E. church, Broad and Marshall streets, Newark, on Thursday of next week. There will be a session at 3 o'clock in she afternoon and another one at 8 o'clock in the evening. In the evening Hon. H. K. Carroll, President McKinley's special commissioner to Porto Rico, and at present secretary of the denominational missionary society, will deliver two addresses, one on "The General Conference in its Relation to Missions." and "The General Conference from a Layman's Standpoint."

More Libraries on Their Travels.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 8.—Since Librarian Henry C. Buchanan yesterday sent out eight new traveling libraries. They went to Titusville, Mercer county; Belle Mead, Somerset county; Rochelle Park, Bergen county; Mansquan, Monmouth county; Seaville, Cape May county; Asbury, Warren county; Three Bridges and White House, Hunterdon county. A traveling library of fifty five volumes was received yesterday as a contribution from the Fortnightly Jaunts Club of Madison.

Filling in New Street.

The work of filling in the extension to Duer street on the borough side still progresses and will be completed soon. It is believed that the work of erecting the new bridge over Green brook at that point will be started the last of this month or the first of next.

Netted $50.

The recent strawberry festival held at the Seventh-Day Baptist church proved to be as great a success financially as it was socially. The Women's Society for Christian Work, under whose auspices the affair was held, has netted $50 from it.

HERMIT AN ASTRONOMER

QUEER OLD CHARACTER FOUND ON THE RARITAN HILLS.

Accidentally Discovered by a Reporter —Was a Professor in Germany.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Liberty Corner, June 9.—At last Leopold Swartzberger, who for ten years has lived the life of a hermit, has come out of his retirement, but it took the eclipse of the sun to bring about this wonder.

In June, 1890, a little, dried-up, grizzled man came to this town and bought a small place two miles from here in Dog Watch Hollow, on the crest of the hills which range the Raritan Valley. No one knew him nor did he make friends with anyone. Some time after his arrival a great quantity of baggage arrived, which he placed in his cabin.

From that day he has lived the life of a recluse, speaking to no man, and no one seemed to know how. It was only last Saturday, when a newspaper man tramping over the hills met the "Hermit of Dog Watch Hollow," as he is called, that his secret was learned. It was to be seen at a glance that the man was cultured and educated. When the eclipse of the sun was mentioned the hermit's face lighted up and he began to talk of the great event.

It developed that in 1888 he was a professor of astronomy in a Berlin university. Family troubles caused him to leave Germany, bringing his telescope and scientific instruments with him. He had made his own calculations and figured the time of the eclipse without outside aid. He has not seen a newspaper since his retirement, and when he learned of the great preparations which had been to observe the eclipe his pleasure knew no bounds. He told the reporter of his preparations to view the phenomenon, but under no circumstances would he permit a visitor inside his cabin.

MARRIED FIFTY YEARS.

Mr. and Mrs. Eden Boice Recently Celebrated the Golden Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Eden Boice, of West Third street, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding last Monday in an appropriate manner. During the day and evening a number of friends called to extend their congratulations and bestow gifts upon them.

Mr. and Mrs. Boice were born near this city, and after they were married they went to Virginia, where they remained for nine years. They then came North to visit friends, and while here the Civil War broke out and they could not return at that time.

During the progress of the war their property was destroyed by soldiers.

They then decided to live in this city, and here they have remained ever since. Their first home was located where the First National Bank now stands, and several times since then they have moved to various parts of the city. Four serious fires have visited them, leaving them with scarcely anything. However, their many friends have been generous and assisted them many times, for which they are very grateful.

Mr. and Mrs. Boice are are both enjoying good health and will probably live to see many wedding anniversaries, which is the sincere wish of their many friends and acquaintances.

Complain of the Street.

Residents living in the Third ward are complaining very much over the condition of the street at the corner of Arlington avenue and West Seventh street. The trolley tracks have been laid several inches below the Seventh street grade, which brings the latter street up in the air. Persons riding a wheel or driving over the place are given a shake up.

Minstrels at Rutgers College.

The students of Rutgers College, New Brunswick, gave a minstrel show last week in which Herbert DeW. Rapalje, of the borough, a senior at college, acted as one of the end men and gave several solos. The Targum, the college publication, says that he made a decided hit.

TALENTED YOUNG WOMAN.

Miss Mabelle Phillips, of Plainfield, Graduates at Wellesley College This Year.

Among the members of the graduating class of Wellesley College this year is Miss Mabelle Phillips, daughter of Percy Phillips, of Madison avenue. Miss Phillips graduated from the seminary here and has since made quite a record for herself at college. She has had a high standing in her class and has taken a prominent part in the athletic affairs. She has also managed the Wellesley magazine for a year and made a great success out of the enterprise.

PUPILS AS ENTERTAINERS.

Closing Exercises of the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School Yesterday Afternoon.

The closing exercises of the Randolph-Cooley Collegiate School on LaGrande avenue were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Owing to the lack of accommodations only the pupils and their parents were present. Owing to the fact that there was no class to graduate, no regular commencement was held but instead an entertainment was given to the pupils by the principals.

Dr. Leonard Waldo, of Stelle avenue, gave a very interesting talk on the recent eclipse of the sun and explained how it came about. There was a recitation by Miss Mary A. Luckey, teacher in elocution at the school. A chorus composed of the children sang five selections.

GOVERNOR SAILS TODAY.

He Will Be Home to Attend the Republican National Convention.

Governor Foster M. Voorhees and his traveling companions, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bergen, are expected to return June 16 from their European trip. The party is scheduled to sail from Southampton today.

The Governor is one of the "big four" delegates from New Jersey to the National Republican convention at Philadelphia.

Franklin Murphy, one of the commissioners who represents the nation at the Paris Exposition, has made arrangements for remaining in this country until after the National convention, to which he is a delegate-at-large from New Jersey.

Mr. Murphy will sail from New York to assume his duties at the French capital on the steamer St. Paul June 27, and will be accompanied by his family. He will remain in Paris about two months, unless the political situation in New Jersey requires his presence here earlier.

INCREASE IN HILLSIDE CLUB.

New Members That Have Just Been Elected to Enjoy its Privileges.

The trustees of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club have elected the following new members: Active member, Mrs. George W. VanSlyck, 996 Central avenue; associate members, Mrs. Percy H. Stewart and Miss Ada G. Marsh; junior associate members, Miss Caroline S. Martine, Miss Charlotte F. Finch, Miss Grace S. Brewster, Frances A. Martin and John C. Martin.

The club has joined the East New Jersey Golf Association, and the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association.

Pure and Healthy Milk.

S. B. Wheeler, the milk dealer, has resumed business and is now prepared to serve his old customers. He has taken every possible precaution to give his customers pure and healthy milk. Every cow in the stable has been tested and tried by a veterinary of undoubted reputation and will be examined at frequent intervals. A physician will inspect all the help connected with the production and distribution of the milk every month. Special care will be taken in the transportation and delivery of the milk.

Free Entertainment.

There will be a free entertainment in Washington Hall Tuesday evening next in the interests of temperance and prohibition. Singing, recitations and readings will be the features, together with instrumental music. See advertisement in another part of The Daily Press.

WILD WORK OF THE ELECTRICAL STORM.

Terrific Display of the Elements in the City and Borough Last Night.

MUCH SMALL DAMAGE DONE

MANY BUILDINGS WERE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Several Persons Were Shocked by the Electricity That Came Dangerously Near Them—Two Storms Came Together.

Amid peal after peal of thunder and the almost continuous glare of the lightning, a band of energetic thunder showers assembled over Plainfield and North Plainfield early last evening. They came from all directions and, after a mighty and decidedly noisy encounter, drove away the humid weather, leaving a miniature cool wave in their track. During the encounter a number of stray bolts of lightning wandered about the city and borough with more or less damaging results. A number of buildings were struck and several people were stunned by the shock.

It didn't begin like any well behaved thunder storm, traveling out of the northwest with plenty of warning, but gathered from all directions. It really seemed like a combination of efforts. The thunder rolled and crashed incessantly, following the blinding flashes of lightning almost immediately. It was by far the worst storm of its kind so far this season and rivaled in severity those of past years.

The rain accompanied the electrical display and fell in torrents for half an hour or more. Then it slackened and by an hour after the worst of the storm the clouds had drifted away to the southeast.

The Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company suffered severely from the storm. In fully seventy-five homes the lighting system was rendered temporarily useless, either a converter or a fuse being burned out. In Washington Park the entire house circuit refused to work and many homes were in darkness.

A bolt entered the residence of Geo. P. Dupee, 30 Rockview avenue, by the telephone wire and splintered the frame to the bath-room window. The residence of Martin I. Cooley, of Rockview terrace, was slightly damaged.

A tie post in front of the residence of Henry Hansen, of North avenue, was split by lightning which then wrecked the garden fence.

The summer cottage on the mountain belonging to F. O. Herring, of Park avenue, was struck in the rear by a bolt which tore off the shingles and went through to the front room. Here it seemed to separate, one part going down through the supports of the floor and the other through a window, breaking a pane of glass. Mrs. Herring and a friend were in the sitting-room, but were not injured. A peculiar part of the incident was that a screen in one of the rear windows, which was open, had a hole burned in two opposite corners, but the centre was not touched at at all.

One of the peculiar pranks of the lightning was the demolishing of a pump in the kitchen of David Gordon, of West Front street. The lightning came in through the back door, which was open, and went out without any further damage.

A number of chimneys in the West End suffered more or less from bolts, one of which was completely demolished. The chimney that was on the residence of J. H. Garretson, of Lee place, and it was razed to the level of the roof.

While the storm was at its height Mrs. Eugene Ginard, of Warrenville, was stunned by a bolt which struck a tree in front of the residence of Mrs. John Kuhn, on West Fourth street, and under which she was standing. Mrs. Ginard, who peddles produce in Plainfield, was afraid her horse would become frightened and run away, so she attempted to hold him under the tree, protecting herself with an umbrella. The bolt struck the upper part of the tree, splitting a limb and stunning Mrs. Ginard. She stood as if dazed for a moment and then reeled and would have fallen but for Mrs. Thomas Parkinson, Mrs. Kuhn's mother, who ran out and caught her. It was fully an hour before she became conscious. On realizing what had happened she grew hysterical and it became necessary to call Dr. VanHorn. It was after 9 o'clock before she was able to start for home in company with her little daughter.

MURPHY FOR GOVERNOR.

HUDSON REPUBLICANS ORGANIZE TO URGE HIS NOMINATION.

Boom Will Be Formally Launched at a Political Outing to Be Given By His Friends.

The boom of Franklin Murphy for the Republican renomination for Governor probably will be formally launched September 10th at Pleasure Bay, at the outing of an association of which he is the standard bearer. The association was organized yesterday by Hudson county Republicans, and its object is to arouse sentiment in favor of Mr. Murphy, who will be the guest of honor at the outing.

The organization was perfected by Colonel S. D. Dickinson, and arrangements were made for the outing immediately after. Mr. Murphy had consented to be the standard bearer. All the prominent active Republicans of the county have been enrolled, and it is probable that a solid Murphy delegation will be sent from Hudson county to the nominating convention.

The outing will not be wholly a county affair, as leading Republicans from every part of the State will be invited, and the United States Senators Sewell and Kean are expected to be among the guests. The officers of the association are: President, S. D. Dickinson; vice-president, James C. Young; secretary, Edward W. Woolley, and treasurer, J. H. Potts. There are sixty-two honorary vice-presidents.

No Injunction Served.

The officials of the Ideal Cash Register Company, of Bound Brook, deny the statement made that an injunction had been served on the company through the efforts of the National Cash Register Company. The Ideal Company's plant is running right along, and, as previously stated in The Daily Press, there was only a slight suspension of work in the factory on account of the discharge of some of the workmen who were not skilled enough.

Wrenched His Shoulder.

George Giddis, of Duer street, while running after his cow just before the storm last night, stepped in a post-hole at Hudson's pasture lot, and was thrown. He fell with great force and struck on his shoulder and arm. He wrenched the shoulder in a severe manner, and will be laid up for some time with it.

Important Witness Dead.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 9—Wesley Smith, of Rahway, an important witness detained in the county jail as a witness in the trial of Thomas Pyatt for the murder of a man by the name of Mossman, died last night. Smith was 45 years of age, and his death is a severe loss for the prosecution in the case, Past Four Score.

MAYOR WANTS CITY TO COLLECT ALL GARBAGE.

Believes That it Could be Done Satisfactorily by Paying a Small Tax.

NOT TO BE DONE THIS YEAR

ASH CARTERS WILL BE DISTURBED OVER PROSPECT OF IT.

But They Might be Placated by Giving Them Some of the Jobs Working for the City—Councilmen are Studying the Question.

Regarding the question of garbage collection and disposal, which Plainfield will have to settle sooner or later, it is well to know that Mayor Rockfellow strongly favors the idea of the city doing the work and the citizens paying a small tax for it. At present Plainfielders are greatly perplexed over the question of getting rid of their garbage, and it was the original plan of the Mayor to have the Common Council take the matter up this year. The Council could not just see its way clear to handle the question this year, but there is no doubt but what another year will see the matter settled. There seems to be no doubt in the minds of a majority of the Councilmen but what the city should take charge of this work and then there will be assurances that it will be done right. Plainfield is increasing in population, and the old fashioned method so long in vogue is too far behind the times to give satisfaction to a rapidly growing city like Plainfield.

Of course, it is to be expected that the various ash-carters and garbage collectors about the city would be stirred by any change, as it would seriously affect their business, but when the Plainfield Sanitary Company introduced their system here many of these men were employed by the company, and thus they were made happy. It is reasonable to suppose that maybe these same men might find employment with the city should the latter decide to engage in this business. It has been esimated that all of the garbage and ashes in the city can be collected for a small per capita tax, and if the right system is introduced there is no reason why it should not succeed.

It has been stated by officials competent to know that the present plant, not now in use, which was operated by the Sanitary Company, was too large for the city, and that there is not enough material in the city to keep it going. It is quite likely that some other system would be used if the city decides to take hold of this matter.

COUNTY BOULEVARD.

County Attorney Codington Says the Commission Will Soon be Ready to Report.

At a meeting of the Board of Freeholders, Thursday afternoon, County Attorney Coddington reported that the Westfield avenue commission, appointed by the court in the matter pertaining to the widening of that thoroughfare, had completed its duties, and that the report prepared would shortly be presented.

The county road committee reported that bids for the building of the Mountain avenue and Springfield avenue roads had been received, and recommended that the contract for building the Mountain avenue road be awarded to W. H. Weldon, of Rahway, at $1,578.70, Mr. Weldon's being the only bid received for that road, and that the contract for building the Springfield avenue road be awarded to Charles Meeker, of Plainfield, his bid being $11,393.74.

A resolution was adopted to the effect that the State road committee be requested to appoint L. W. Miller as supervisor over the work of building the Mountain avenue road, and L. M. Miller as supervisor over the work to be done on Springfield avenue.

The only other business transacted was the payment of bills, after which the Board adjourned to meet again Thursday afternoon, June 14th.

Graduated From the "Tech."

John V. Beekman, Jr., of West Eighth street, has returned from Boston where he has just graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology after taking a four years course in architectural engineering. Beekman graduated from the Plainfield High School in 1895.

Result of Little Girls Effort.

The four little girls who recently gave a lawn fair at the home of Ethel Lorton, 203 Watchung avenue, netted $3.55 for the Westfield Fresh Air Camp. The last of this month another similar fair will be held at the home of Edith Glaentzer, New street.

FARM HAND'S EYE ON MILLIONS.

Says He is to Share a Big Estate in Australia.

If what William C. Dalton, a farm hand, at Hopewell, Somerset county, says it is true, he has fallen heir to part of the estate of his uncle, John Linch, of Australia, amounting to about $35,000,000. Dalton says he is one of seventeen heirs who will receive equal shares of the $35,000,000. Last week, he explains, a New York law firm sent for him and told him of this good luck.

Now for Private Business.

Senator Sewell will soon leave Washington for his home at Camden, where his multitudinous duties as vice-president of the West Jersey Railroad will occupy his time. Senator Kean will leave Washington by June 15, upon which date he will give up the handsome house he has occupied for the season at 1327 Sixteenth street, N. W. He will make his headquarters at Elizabeth, where he has a handsome house just outside of the city proper.

Will Set Aside.

The will of Harriet Douglass, a sister of the philanthropist, John Mitchell, of Burlington, has been set aside on the petition of some heirs, who have filed a caveat. It is claimed by them that the bequests were unfair to them, and that the will had not been properly executed. The estate is worth about $7,000.

ENCAMPMENT WILL BE HELD

Story of Abandonment of Sea Girt Plan Based on General Cooper's Letter.

That story sent out from Trenton to the effect that there may be no State encampment of the National Guard at Sea Girt this year, has this foundation: General Cooper, of the Second brigade, wrote to Major General Sewell a brief and rather complaining note, which intimated that inasmuch as some State officials at Trenton were opposed to a brigade encampment, perhaps it would be well to abandon the holding of an encampment this year altogether and have an entire division at Sea Girt next year. General Sewell forwarded this letter to Adjutant General Stryker without recommendation.

General Stryker says there will undoubtedly be an encampment this year. All the preparations for it have been made, and he has the express authority of Governor Voorhees to issue the necessary orders. Everything is now waiting for Major General Sewell, who is held up in Congress, but will probably hold a conference in a short time.

There will undoubtedly be an encampment at Sea Girt this year, but it may be put off a week beyond the time fixed—July 6th—on account of the delay incident to the prolongation of the session of Congress, which prevents General Sewell from making the final arrangements.

PHILIPPINE HERO RETURNS.

Captain Castner, Fourth United States Infantry, Reaches New Brunswick on Sick Leave.

Captain Joseph C. Castner, Fourth United States infantry, has reached his home in New Brunswick from Manila.

He is on three months' sick leave, and his fellow citizens are giving him a warm reception. He visited Rutgers College, his alma mater, and the students cheered themselves hoarse. Had he permitted it Captain Castner would have been carried around the campus on their shoulders.

Captain Castner went from Alaska to the Philippine Islands, in response to a hurry order from the War Department, to take command of the Tagalos scouts under Generals Lawton and Young. He was a lieutenant then, and his bravery at the head of the scouts marked him for the promotion he received. He subsequently took command of his own company.

The trip from the artic to the tropic zone seriously affected Captain Castner, but he stood it several months until ordered home. The trip back on the transport benefitted him greatly.

CROP CONDITIONS.

What the Last Week Did for New Jersey Farmers.

During the week the temperature and sunshine have been above the normal, but the rainfall was largely deficient, especially in the northern and southern sections. Local thunder storms in the central section on the 31st, 2d and 3d were very beneficial.

The apple trees in many places are unusually affected with the falling of the foliage. In some instances the leaves become spotted, then turn yellow and fall from the trees. There seems to be a combination of diseases, for in some samples sent to the experiment station for inspection, the tops of the branches are already dead from trouble of the past year, while others show signs of fireblight which causes the young leaves to wilt and blacken, while they retain their hold upon the twigs. It is to be hoped that clear, warm weather will do much to bring the apple trees into their usual health and leafage.

The outlook for timothy and clover at this date is that the yield will be below the average, except in portions of the middle section, where it is very promising.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by L. W. Randolph. Trial bottles free.

PIO DEL PILAR CAPTURED.

Native Police Seize the Rebel General.

MANILA, June 9.—The native police have captured the notorious rebel general Pio del Pilar at San Pedro Macati.

Valuable Papers Found.

VANCOUVER, B. C., June 9.—A copy of the Manila Times received by the Idzuma Maru tells of an important discovery of insurgent documents and other articles which have been hidden by the Filipinos. It says:

"On May 2 General Funston was making a personal reconnoissance with 18 troopers in the direction of Bongabon and Pontabagan, up the Rio Grande de Papapamnga, when he discovered a perpendicular ladder leading up a cliff crowned with a dense forest. Beside the ladder hung a rope, which, when pulled, rang an alarm bell in the woods back of the precipice.

"The general and his men ascended the ladder and found 30 or 40 large wooden cases crammed full of state documents comprising most of the archives of the government. There were other things saved from the wreck of Malolos—about 1,000 Hotchkiss shells, a quantity of dynamite, a stock of bombs and much other ammunition, 200 pounds of black gunpowder, office furniture from the Malolos audencia, carpets, chairs, tables and a lot of miscellaneous goods of no special importance.

"The documents were the principal prize. After as good an inspection as circumstances permitted General Funston set aside several tons of useless rubbish and burned it on the spot, saving the state papers. These comprise all the correspondence of Aguinaldo and his chief official from the time of the earliest dealings with Dewey down to the hurried migration from Malolos. (Archives subsequent to that date were, it will be remembered, taken at Tarlac in the middle of last year.) There are letters to and from Wildman and Dewey, besides several business firms in Manila. Aguinaldo's own letter book, giving press copies of everything he wrote, is also there. It is rumored that the correspondence shows some firms in Manila to have had relations with the rebels heretofore unsuspected.

"The whole cache was ingeniously hidden among the trees in the ravine and roofed over heavily with nipa to an unusual thickness. The structure made quite a big warehouse, with not an inch of space vacant. It was found later that there were other approaches to the cache just like the one described, with alarm bells everywhere."

Dewey Never Wrote to Aguinaldo.

DETROIT, June 9.—Admiral Dewey was shown the statement made by the Manila Times concerning an alleged recovery by General Funston's men of a portion of the archives of the Filipino rebel government which it was claimed contained certain correspondence between Aguinaldo and Dewey. After reading the statement Admiral Dewey positively denied ever having written Aguinaldo. Said he: "I never wrote a letter to Aguinaldo in my life. Whenever I wanted to see him I sent for him. He was employed by me for certain purposes, just as I employed a lot of other people among the natives. I made him no promises. If there had been 5,000 American troops with me in the beginning to occupy the city and maintain order there would never have been this trouble."

BUSINESS CONDITIONS.

Price of Iron Declines, Wheat Goes Up—Failures Increase.

NEW YORK, June 9.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The adjournment of congress after a useful session, the progress toward peace in South Africa and the rapid adjustment of prices here to a more natural level all tend to bring nearer the day of greater activity. But that progress has not been rapid, and the yielding of prices affects many only as a reaction, cutting off part of the profits supposed to have been secured. The impression grows also that no extensive changes in business are now probable until after the presidential election, and the possibility of trouble in China has at least as definite an influence on American affairs as any change in South Africa.

It is but a few days since an eminent ironmaster overwhelmed doubts and questions by the positive declaration that any decline whatever in the price of iron this year was simply impossible. Yet anthracite No. 1 has declined $4.25 per ton, and this week the Bessemer association has reduced its price at Pittsburg $4.90 per ton and the southern makers $2 per ton.

The rise of 2½ cents in wheat, attributed to injuries threatening a short movement next fall, affected stocks somewhat. Exports do not materially change, having been for the first week of June from Atlantic ports, including flour, 2,855,261 bushels against 1,849,373 last year, from Pacific ports 591,015 bushels against 623,400 last year, and of corn 2,793,869 bushels against 2,804,909 last year. Receipts of both grains have fallen considerably below those of last year.

Failures for the week have been 206 in the United States against 159 last year and 19 in Canada against 10 last year.

Secretary Hunt In Porto Rico.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 9.—Mr. William H. Hunt, secretary of state of Porto Rico, has arrived by the steamer Ponce, Captain Dyer, from New York June 2. Having taken the oath of office in Washington, he will immediately begin the discharge of his duties. Mr. Hunt, who is being entertained by Governor Allen, remarked yesterday that "the quaint architectural effect of San Juan must appeal strongly to an artistic temperament." Governor Allen may leave for the United States about June 20, but no definite decision has been taken. Beyond the newspaper reports and information brought by Mr. Hunt the governor knows little as to the appointments President McKinley will make for Porto Rico. He has received no official advices whatever.

Colorado Democrats.

DENVER, June 9.—The Democratic state convention chose Governor Thomas and T. J. Maloney of Denver, A. T. Gunnell of Colorado Springs and Charles Benkle of Pueblo as delegates at large to the national convention and instructed them for Bryan and the Chicago platform.

Human Bones Discovered.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 9.—A quantity of human bones has been discovered ten feet below the surface of the ground on the farm of Downs brothers, near here. A year ago a quantity of old coin was found near the spot.

FIGHTING IN CHINA.

Bloody Battle Between Government Troops and Rebels.

THE BOXER SECT A POWERFUL ONE.

Legation Guards Not Yet In Action, but Are Ready—Representatives of the Powers Acting In Harmony—The Recent Murders.

LONDON, June 9.—Definite returns regarding the severe fighting between the Chinese troops and the Boxers that was going on Thursday between Tien-tsin and Peking had not been received at Tien-tsin when the latest telegrams to reach London were filed. The Chinese troops, however, had killed many Boxers, according to some reports, while another account had the government soldiery defeated in an engagement near Pao-ting-fu.

Apparently the legation guards have not yet taken a hand in the fighting, but they are ready to do so at a moment's notice. The Boxer movement affects some hundreds of square miles. Official dispatches to Vienna from Peking aver that the sect is more powerful than any political party in China, embracing no less than 4,000,000 and manipulated by zealous and adroit men. The representatives of the powers are still acting in perfect concert, which appears for the present to give the Chinese government ample chance to put down the disturbers alone. The Tien-tsin correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing June 7, says:

"For the last three days the whole community of Tien-tsin has been preparing to defend itself against an expected attack by the Boxers. There is a continual influx of refugees from the surrounding country, who are now crowding the city. This increases the excitement. Nearly all the villages surrounding Tien-tsin are joining the Boxer movement, which is taking more and more a fanatical character.

"Parties of foreigners when approaching the villages are driven back by armed bands. Yesterday the Chinese troops were ordered to Machang, on the Grand canal, within 20 miles of which a large body of Boxers is reported to be collecting. Attempts to re-establish the regular working of the Peking-Tien-tsin railway have hitherto proved futile. Every night the Boxers set fire to the sleepers and the woodwork of the bridges."

The Peking correspondent of The Times in a dispatch dated June 7 says:

"Particulars received here show that Messrs. Norman and Robinson, the missionaries, were hacked to pieces in circumstances of revolting barbarity. The Chinese government cannot be exonerated from the charge of complicity in these murders. From the beginning its action will bear only one interpretation—namely, that of approval of the antiforeign movement which has had these results.

"The government has delegated as a commissioner to Chochau and Pao-ting-fu, the chief centers of the Boxers, to investigate and report a notorious antiforeign official."

The Daily Express suggests that 20,000 Indian troops be dispatched to China to restore order.

The Daily Mail reasserts its position of yesterday, that the United States, as the friend of Russia and Great Britain, would be able to impose order without alliances or jealousies.

The Peking correspondent of The Times, telegraphing June 8, says:

"The news that General Nieh's foreign drilled soldiers had fired upon the Boxers who were destroying the railway near Tien-tsin was favorably received as giving some ground for hope that the government would change its policy.

"Now arrives the intelligence that Nieh's troops have been ordered to return to camp at Lu-tai and that their action has been condemned. The tsung-li-yamen, however, denies the truth of the latter statement."

Korea and Japan at Odds.

YOKOHAMA, June 9.—More serious from a Japanese point of view than the rising of the Boxers in China is the sudden tension between Japan and Korea as the result of the protests of Japan against the torture and execution of prisoners by the Korean government. The Korean emperor absolutely refuses to grant an audience to the Japanese minister, Hayashi Gensouke.

Fatal Mine Explosion.

GLOUCESTER, O., June 9.—Two hundred miners were imprisoned early yesterday by an explosion of gas in Mine No. 2, and as many more were about to enter the mine for work. It was thought at first that the loss of life would be very large, but the work of the rescuers was carried on so energetically and successfully that all were rescued and saved except three. Evan Joseph, John McClelland and Aaron Swanson were killed, and their bodies probably cannot be recovered, as the mine is still on fire. These men were engaged to watch the large mine at night and see that it was in condition for the miners to enter in the morning. They were cut off from all means of escape at the time of the explosion, and their horses perished with them. William Williams, also employed in the mine, had his leg broken and others suffered slight injuries.

Dewey In Detroit.

DETROIT, June 9.—The spontaneity and cordiality of the welcome accorded to Admiral Dewey yesterday afternoon and evening by the people of Detroit has seldom been equaled in any reception accorded a popular idol in this city. In the afternoon the masses paid him vociferous tribute. At night society did likewise in manner more polite, but not less enthusiastic. The earlier half of the day was rainy and portentous, but just previous to the arrival of the Dewey special train at 2 p. m. the weather became clear, cool and quite ideal for the occasion.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Delaware—Robinsonville, Paul Clifton. New Jersey—Clarksburg, T. C. Britton; Elm, Thomas Albright. New York—Cicero Center, Clarence Phelps. Pennsylvania—Camp Ground, J. C. Rhodes; Hopewell Center, H. C. Manifold.

Egyptian Cotton.

CAIRO, June 9.—It is estimated that the year's cotton crop will be equivalent to 1,000,000 American bales. The cutting of the "sudd" in the Nile promises to inaugurate a new era in Egyptian agriculture, as the water will hereafter be richer in fertilizing material.

BULLER WINS A POINT

Secures Location Commanding the Boer Position.

MAY RENDER LAINGSNEK UNTENABLE

British Prisoners Deceived—Roberts Entered Pretoria Upon the Heels of the Departing Boers Under General Botha.

LONDON, June 9.—General Buller has at length taken the offensive, and by maneuvering he has secured a position west of Laingsnek by which he believes he can make the Boer positions untenable. Presumably he will immediately follow up his success.

The war office has received the following dispatch from General Buller, dated Yellow Boom Farm, June 8:

"On June 6 General Talbot Coke, with the Tenth brigade and the South African light horse, seized Van Wyke hill. The enemy made some resistance, and a good deal of sniping occurred. Our casualties were about four killed and 13 wounded.

"During that day and the following we got two 4.7 and two 12 pounder naval guns on to Van Wyke hill and two 5 inch guns on to the southwestern spur of Inkewelo. Under cover of their fire General Hildyard assaulted all the spurs of the berg between Botha's pass and Inkewelo.

"The attack, which was well planned by Hildyard and carried out with immense dash by the troops, for whom no mountains were too steep, outflanked the enemy, who were forced to retire from their very strong position.

"I think we did not have any casualties, and I hope I have obtained a position from which I can render Laingsnek untenable."

Lord Roberts has communicated nothing for three days nor permitted the correspondents to wire what is going on. London's inference is that he is resting, although he is possibly disposing his army for a reach after Commandant General Botha.

The Daily Express has the following from Pretoria, dated Wednesday:

"The 1,000 prisoners who were deported from Waterval were told that they were about to be given up to Lord Roberts. They entrained cheerfully and were conveyed to Nooit Gedache instead of Pretoria.

"General Louis Botha, with a rear guard of 2,000, left Pretoria during the night. The British advance guard on entering was upon the very heels of the retiring Boers. Botha has sworn to carry on the war in the mountains."

At Lourenco Marques station a crowd waited all Thursday night to see President Kruger, as it was reported that he would arrive by a special train to gain an asylum on board the Netherlands cruiser Friesland.

Middleburg is said to be full of Boer refugees and wounded. The railway still delivers goods at Bronkhorst Spruit, 40 miles east of Pretoria. A British column is at Bremersdorp, Swaziland. Eleven British prisoners have been taken to Middleburg. The British at Beira are moving into the interior in detachments of 200 daily.

Mr. G. V. Fiddes, imperial secretary to the high commissioner, with a part of Sir Alfred Milner's staff, left Cape Town Tuesday evening for Pretoria, possibly, as the Cape Town correspondent of The Daily News thinks, to arrange the annexation details.

Lieutenant General Miles Now.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—Lieutenant General Miles issued his first order yesterday in his new rank. It is a recital of an order from Secretary Root informing the army of the creation of the rank of lieutenant general, with an announcement of the personal staff of General Miles as follows: Captain Francis Michler, Fifth cavalry, military secretary; Captain Hobart K. Bailey, Fifth infantry, aid-de-camp, and First Lieutenant Henry H. Whitney, Fourth artillery, aid-de-camp. These officers compose General Miles' staff as senior major general commanding, but they now have the rank of lieutenant colonels.

Rumor of Hodgson's Capture.

LONDON, June 9.—According to a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Accra, dated June 6, a native rumor is in circulation there that Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, governor of Gold Coast colony, made a sortie from Kumassi, where he had been besieged by the Ashantis, but was forced to retire and ultimately to surrender. Mail advices from Accra, dated May 17, say: "Fifty thousand Ashantis are in arms, and the insurrection is spreading. It is impossible for white men to go into the interior successfully during the rainy season."

May Nominate Dewey.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 9.—The Indiana Gold Democrats have renewed the talk of nominating Admiral Dewey for the presidency if the party determines to hold a national convention, and it is being whispered among them that the name of the hero of Manila was informally discussed at the meeting of the executive committee in New York from which John A. Frenzel has just returned. It is said that the local Gold Democrats are a unit in favor of Dewey as the party candidate for the presidency.

Funeral of Dr. Storrs.

NEW YORK, June 9.—Funeral services over the remains of the late Rev. Dr. Richard Salter Storrs were held from the Church of the Pilgrims in Brooklyn yesterday afternoon. Interment was in Greenwood cemetery. Preceding the church service there was a ceremony at the late home of Dr. Storrs. On Thursday night a death mask was taken of Dr. Storrs, and from it will be made a bust for Amherst college.

Damage by Storms In Germany.

BERLIN, June 9.—The recent heavy thunderstorms in various parts of Germany have done considerable damage, especially along the upper Rhine, where lightning killed a number of persons. The vineyards in that district have been seriously damaged. Reports of a like character have been received from the districts of Brunswick and Plauen, where a number of lives have been lost.

A Scene In the Reichsrath.

VIENNA, June 9.—The Czechs continued their obstructive tactics in the reichsrath until 1 o'clock this morning. They brought gongs and hammered the desks, smashing furniture and working in relays to keep up the tumult. Finally the premier, Dr. von Koerber, appeared and declared the session closed by order of Emperor Francis Joseph.

Germs Of Disease

Radam's Microbe Killer will stay the ravages of Consumption, stop the pains of Rheumatism, allay the itchings of Eczema, prevent the wasting in Bright's Disease, neutralize the gnawnings of Dyspepsia, sweeten the foulest stomach and bring back a normal appetite to the suffering patient. The above are only a few of the many germ diseases: this remedy surely conquers these, and health is again restored.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

Miss Kimball, of Watchung avenue, has gone to Massachusetts for the summer.

Mrs. Cadmus, of Craig place, has returned from a visit with out of town relatives.

Mrs. George Titsworth, of West Seventh street, has returned from a trip south.

Miss Burgge, of Brooklyn, who has been visiting Plainfield friends, has returned home.

A little boy has arrived to brighten the home of William C. Kinney, of West Ninth street.

Mrs. Henry W. Force, of New street, has been enjoying a visit from her daughter from Brooklyn.

Mrs. George Strayer, of West Fifth street, is enjoying a visit from her mother from Staten Island.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Johnson have returned from their wedding tour and are living on Norwood avenue.

Miss Kittie Gaffney, of Somerville, was the guest of Miss Julia McCann, of West Third street, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Maxson Dunham, of New Market, have been visiting relatives in Plainfield for a few days.

Frank Lateret, formerly of this city, has removed to Elizabeth where he has accepted a good position.

Miss Laura Ayers, of Grant avenue, has taken a position at the local telephone office and began her duties today.

Harry VanLiew, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Hartford, Conn., is spending a few days with friends in town.

Robert Mattox, of Webster place, has taken the position of night watchman at the Aluminum Plate and Press Works.

Edwin W. Overton, of Washington Park, has returned from an attack of scarlet fever, and the quarantine has been raised in his case.

Mr. Skillman, of Watchung avenue, has recovered from the scarlet fever, and has returned to his work as brakeman on the Jersey Central Railroad.

Dr. Endicott is now treating Mayor Smalley, of the borough, and an operation was performed yesterday, which, it is believed, will effect a speedy recovery.

W. W. Wentz, of West Front street, superintendent of the Jersey Central Railroad, and his wife, left Thursday for Denver, Col., where Mr. Wentz will spend his vacation.

Mrs. Charles Harding, of Stone street, who has been quite ill for some time past, has been taken to the Woman's Hospital, New York, where she will undergo an operation.

PUSHING FOR SUNDAY TRAINS.

May Result in Final Divorce of Asbury Park and Ocean Grove.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, June 9.—The Hotel Men's Association of Asbury Park has come out flat-footed for Sunday trains and announces its intention to appeal to the law if all other efforts failed to bring about the reform. The association will employ the best constitutional lawyer in the State, who will be instructed to test the power of the Ocean Grove Camp Meeting Association to interfere with the material progress of Asbury Park. As the camp-meeting authorities are equally determined that no Sunday trains shall be allowed to stop in the Park there is every prospect of a hot fight. The action of the hotel men is regarded as a final move in the absolute divorce of the twin cities.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. S. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility, but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Echo of a Great Swindle.

The big West Portal swindle is recalled by the reported purchase of the Dr. Petrie tract of land near West Portal, along the Lehigh Valley Railroad. The great stone walls, which are marvelous of perfect workmanship, still stand as monuments to the gigantic scheme. The report now is that the New York capitalists who purchased the property will erect a large summer hotel upon the land.

Said He Was From Plainfield.

A young man giving the name of Henry Cline, of Plainfield, was yesterday held by Justice Miller, of Vineland, for selling to a farmer a horse that he had hired from a Vineland liveryman.

STRIKERS MORE QUIET.

But Few Cars Run In St. Louis at Night.

ST. LOUIS, June 9.—It was given out during yesterday that the St. Louis Transit system, feeling encouraged at its success in operating cars at night on the Lindell division, would try the same experiment on four other divisions last night, the Olive street, Laclede avenue Park and Compton avenues. These divisions, as well as other trunk lines of the system, were operated during the day as usual, but when nightfall came cars on all but the Lindell division were withdrawn. Inquiry as to why the contemplated night service had been abandoned on the four additional lines mentioned elicited the response that the chief of police and sheriff were unable to furnish men for the proper protection of crews and passengers. The company would not attempt to operate additional lines at night until absolutely assured that its passengers' lives would not be endangered.

Cars on the Lindell division were operated last night on a seven minute schedule, but carried few passengers. Police officers rode on each car, and the entire route from Taylor avenue to Third street, a distance of four miles, was patrolled by policemen and a regiment of the posse comitatus.

Nothing was done by the strikers or the St. Louis Transit company toward adjusting the differences in dispute.

Joseph Alfred, armed with a sword, led a crowd of 300 men and women in a charge on a car of the Southern Electric line yesterday. He was captured by a squad of police, who dispersed the mob. As far as known nobody was seriously injured.

CLUBWOMEN.

Milwaukee Convention Elects Officers—Closing Sessions Today.

MILWAUKEE, June 9.—The feature of yesterday's session of the clubwomen's convention was the election of officers. The ticket as made out by the nominating committee went through with little contest, the result being as follows: President, Mrs. Rebecca Lowe of Georgia; first vice president, Mrs. Charles Dennison, New York; second vice president, Miss Margaret J. Evans, Minnesota; recording secretary, Miss Emma Fox, Michigan; corresponding secretary, Mrs George Kendrick, Pennsylvania; treasurer, Mrs. Emma Van Vechten, Iowa; auditor, Mrs. George H. Noyes, Wisconsin.

During the day there were four interesting sessions devoted to various phases of club work, which were followed by a big meeting in the Alhambra at night, over which Mrs. Lowe presided. The two speakers were Mrs. Robert J. Burdette of California, whose subject was "The Show Window," and Mme. Zofja Loovna Friedland of Russia, who spoke on "Impressions of a Russian Woman on American Women's Clubs and Clubwomen."

This was followed by the introduction of the new officers. Invitations have been received from Buffalo and Boston for the next biennial, which will be subject to the consideration of the new board of directors. The board of directors and the council will hold meetings today, and the fifth biennial will come to an end.

WEST POINT EXERCISES.

Examinations Over—Graduates Will See Immediate Service.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 9.—The examinations of the various classes are now over with, and it now remains for the academic board to review the work and announce its findings. The furlough class is busy making preparations for their journey home next week for a two months' visit. The graduating class will not be permitted to enjoy the customary three months' leave of absence, as advices have been received that their services are needed to fill vacant places in several of the regiments. Their leave has been restricted to 30 days.

In the afternoon a heavy rainstorm dampened somewhat the ardor of the visitors to West Point and prevented many from adjacent towns being present. The drill was the school of the trooper in the riding hall under the command of Lieutenant J. R. Lindsey. The exhibition was by members of the first class and presented many daring feats. There were hurdle jumping, bareback riding, mounting and dismounting and a series of different acts. This completed the military exercises for this week.

Today the cadets will have a baseball game with the Seventh regiment. Next Monday will occur the field day sports.

The additional number of cadets authorized by congress is 130. It is understood that this new addition can enter the academy next August if so desired.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The New York committee of 100 cabled $30,000 to India for the famine sufferers.

A Cairo dispatch says that 7,000 additional British troops are needed in Egypt.

A slight fire in the London residence of United States Embassador Choate was easily extinguished.

Henry Wellesley, third Duke of Wellington, died at Strathfieldsaye House, Mortimer, Berkshire.

W. J. Bryan has 456 instructed delegates of the 492 already elected to the Kansas City convention.

Lackawanna Employees Discharged.

ELMIRA, N. Y., June 9.—The 52 Lackawanna employees who struck on May 9 for an increase of pay and asked other concessions from the company received their discharges yesterday, and all negotiations for the settlement of the strike were declared off by Superintendent Lloyd, who has been here two days in conference with the strikers. The men insisted that all the strikers be taken back, and the company would agree to let only 12 of them resume their duties with the increase of wages asked.

Rain and Hail.

CORNING, N. Y., June 9.—A terrific rainstorm, accompanied by hail, visited this city last evening. Large hailstones fell for 20 minutes. Windows were broken all over the city, and much damage was done to growing crops. The Pennsylvania division of the New York Central is blocked with a number of washouts.

Killed by Live Wire.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 9.—William Sigler, 25 years old, living at Rhinecliff, was killed while painting the New York Central station here by falling across a live wire. Railroad men tried to extricate him, but as fast as they touched him were knocked down by the shock. Word had to be sent to the light station by telephone to shut off the power.

BILLS PAID TWICE.

The Outlook Darker For Former Director Rathbone.

NEELY'S FRIENDS SAY RICH LIES.

Corruptness of Cuban Courts Shown by a Recent Case—Verdict Offered For $20—Conviction In Custom House Cases Improbable.

HAVANA, June 9.—The troubles of Mr. Estes G. Rathbone, former director of posts, seem to be increasing. The auditor's department has thrown out $15,000 worth of vouchers, including $8,000 worth of bills, which have been paid twice, most of them at Muncie, Ind. The Fidelity company has been notified that it will be held responsible on Mr. Rathbone's bond. Mr. Miller, the manager of the company, and Mr. Rathbone have held prolonged interviews during the last few days, but no decision has been arrived at regarding this new aspect of the situation. The authorities contend that the Fidelity company is responsible. Mr. Rathbone's friends insist that C. F. W. Neely deceived Mr. Rathbone, who signed at Neely's request.

Corrydon Rich has been placed under a $2,000 bond as a witness in the Neely case. A letter has been received here by a friend of Neely's saying that if forced to return he will show that Rich is a liar and that the latter received as much as he (Neely) did.

Senor Baccarrisse, a Cuban agent for a well known grade of flour, recently had a matter in litigation. The clerk of the court called upon him and said that for 4 centenes, about $20, a decision would be rendered in his favor. He refused, and a decision was rendered against him. He laid the matter before General Wood, who advised him to appeal and suggested that if he were approached again he should mark the money and endeavor to have a detective present to overhear the negotiations.

The secretary of the judge of the cathedral court called upon Baccarrisse and told him that for 10 centenes the appeal decision would be given in his favor. An appointment was made for another interview, and when the secretary arrived, accompanied by the undersecretary, a detective was in hiding who heard the entire discussion and arrested the secretary when he was leaving the building with the money, taking him to the Vivac, the Tombs of Havana, where he was able to obtain bail.

A lawyer who was consulted by Baccarrisse advised him not to have the man arrested, as such a step would be considered "unpatriotic," especially as the Americans would be able to say that the Cubans were worse than themselves.

This last suggestion was timely enough, for the Americans ever since the occupation have had good reason to consider the courts of Cuba the most corrupt courts that exist in any civilized country.

The custom house fraud cases have been set down for trial on June 25, but it is generally felt that conviction is impossible, as every judge and lawyer concerned has relatives or friends among the accused.

Pittsburg Has a Defaulter.

PITTSBURG, June 9.—A subcommittee of the city finance committee charged with investigating the payrolls of Samuel T. Paisley, former superintendent of the bureau of highways and sewers, has made its report to the finance committee. The subcommittee finds that Paisley, by means of padded payrolls and pretended expenditures, embezzled $52,000 of city funds in ten years and that his superior, Director of Public Works E. M. Bigelow, carelessly, without investigation, swore to the correctness of Paisley's falsified accounts. Paisley left the city two weeks ago, although it has been known for three months that he was a defaulter.

Study of English Optional.

BERLIN, June 9.—The national school reform conference was continued yesterday. Despite the expressed wish of Emperor William that English should be effectually taught in the gymnasia a majority of the delegates decided to leave the status of English as it is now, which means English instruction beginning, on the average, at the age of 17, and then being only optional, like Hebrew. This decision is surprising, because the congress of German neophilological teachers in Leipsic has just passed resolutions insisting upon the importance of increased study of English and of employing Englishmen as instructors.

World's Temperance Congress.

LONDON, June 9.—The world's temperance congress will open in London next Monday under the presidency of the Most Rev. Frederick Temple, archbishop of Canterbury, who will deliver an address and who on the following Thursday will entertain the members of the congress at a garden party at Lambeth palace. The lord mayor, Mr. A. J. Newton, will give a reception to the delegates next Friday. A leading feature of the programme will be a grand cosmopolitan temperance meeting, over which the Earl of Carlisle will preside. The speakers will include many Americans.

Bonds Exchanged.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The amount of bonds so far exchanged at the treasury for the new 2 per cents is $292,409,150, of which $67,937,200 was received from individuals and institutions other than national banks. The amount of old 2 per cent bonds so far redeemed under the recent call is $1,277,600.

Crazed by Starvation.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., June 9.—A man supposed from papers on his person to be M. Dale of New York city jumped into the Erie canal here and was drowned. He was crazed by starvation, not having had anything to eat for three days. His body was recovered and is in charge of Coroner Sulison.

Ice Hearing Adjourned.

ALBANY, June 9.—By mutual consent of counsel on both sides the hearing set down for this morning before Supreme Court Justice Alden Chester in chambers on the several motions made in the American Ice company case has been adjourned until Wednesday of next week, the 13th inst.

Baseball.

NEW YORK, June 9.—The heavy rains interfered with ball playing yesterday, and only one game was pulled through under National league auspices. At Boston the home team defeated Chicago by a score of 6 to 5.

Re-election of Congressmen.

The time is past in matters of public affairs when men occupying important offices at the hands of voters are expected to give way to some political rival so soon as they have served for a term or two. Years ago, in a great many sections of this country, it was an unwritten, but none the less strictly observed, law that no man should serve more than two terms in Congress. A change has come over the people now, however, and it has come to be recognized as the height of folly for a political party to refuse a renomination to a Representative in Congress on the poor rule "that the good things should be passed around."

Anent this subject, the Newark News editorially says:

"Never within the memory of men now living have the New Jersey Representatives in the Congress of the United States exercised the influence and assumed the prominence which they have enjoyed during the session just ended. And the one particular reason for this is that six of the eight have, through successive re-elections, acquired the experience and formed the connections which are essential if a Congressman is to be of the greatest service to his constituents and to the country at large. Statesmanship is largely a matter of growth and experience. Genius without that close acquaintanceship with public affairs and public men, which can only be acquired by extended service, counts for little. It is the States which re-elect their reprtsentatives term after term that exert an influence in National legislation often far transcending the relative importance of the States themselves either in wealth or population. New Jersey has been slow to learn this lesson, but the renomination of Mr. Loudenslager for a fifth consecutive term, and the fact that Messrs. Gardner, Howell, Fowler and Stewart have practically no opposition to fear in their own party, shows that in most of the districts it has at last been learned thoroughly."

Senator William M. Johnson, Acting Governor of New Jersey during the absence of Governor Voorhees in Europe, said yesterday that, notwithstanding the repeated assertions to the contrary, his decision not to be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor next year was final. As far as he knew, he said, there were only two Republican candidates for Governor in sight, and they are Franklin Murphy, of Essex county, and Senator Mahlon Pitney, of Morris county. From his opportunities for observation, Senator Johnson thought Mr. Murphy was in the lead and that the indications pointed to his nomination.

Up to date nineteen States that have elected delegates to the Democratic National Convention have instructed them for Bryan. This insures Bryan of 434 votes up to the present time. The total number of delegates at the Kansas City Convention will be 930, and 620 votes are necessary to nominate. Bryan lacks 186 instructed delegates to assure his nomination, but conventions to be held, it is expected, will give him more than he needs.

It is evident that Franklin Murphy is going to be an aggressive candidate for the Republican nomination of Governor at the expiration of Governor Voorhees' term. His friends in Jersey City have formed an organization for the purpose of booming him for the office.

In 1890 the census showed the population of New Jersey to be 1,444,933. In '95, 1,673,106, and it is expected that the count of 1900 will bring the figures up to two millions.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

A child in Plainfield recently swallowed a diamond ring said to be worth $150. But the child is not worth $150 more now than she was before she swallowed the jewel. This is proved by the fact that they are trying to get back the jewel, which they would not be likely to do if it reduced the value of the child.—Elizabeth Journal.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The twenty-third annual report of the Children's Home Association for the year ending May 1, 1900, has just made its appearance in a neat pamphlet form. It shows the condition of the home to be first-class from a financial standpoint and otherwise. During the past year many contributions from Plainfield's philanthropic citizens have been received, while many persons have done work gratuitously or for half the actual cost. The management of the home feel very grateful for what has been done in behalf of the institution, and they trust that their friends and many new ones may be led to help the work generously during the coming year.

There is a little dog in the Second ward, the intrinsic value of which has risen just $3.89. This state of affairs came about through the remarkable appetite of the dog. The other day a young woman who lives in that neighborhood dropped her pocket book on the lawn. With it was a package of crackers. In the absence of the young woman, the little canine investigated and found that the crackers were good. After consuming them, he found the pocket book and the latter followed after the crackers. Inside pocket book was $3 89 in change and sundry hair pins and other valuables. Strange to say, Master Doggie seemed to quite enjoy the novel meal and now enjoying the best of health.

The Prudential Insurance Company has issued a policy for $250,000 on the life of Charles T. Schoen, a wealthy Philadelphian. The policy is what is known as "a five per cent. gold bond" class. The annual premium will be $81,276. On the death of the insured the beneficiary will be entitled to received 250 $1,000 gold bonds bearing five per cent. interest of $12,500 a year for twenty years, when the principal is due. The beneficiary has the option of having full settlement made at the time of the insured's death, which would amount to $304,250. Charles T. Schoen is president of the Pressed Steel Car Company. He is said to have carried $500,000 insurance on his life for several years past. It was only a few years ago that a policy for $50,000 was considered a remarkably large amount. In fact there were a few companies who would write risks larger than $50,000.

The story is told of a Plainfield young man who visited a woman's college and while there was invited to attend a ball given by the college girls. The young man devoted all his attentions to a small group of young women and entirely neglected the others. On his return to Plainfield he received a letter signed by several score young women calling him to account for so grievously neglecting them at the ball. He promptly had a pert little note prepared and copies enough for all made. These were mailed to the young women whose names were attached to the note. He afterwards discovered to his horror that the note was merely a little joke arranged by two of the young women with whom he was personally acquainted, and that the others had been greatly astonished and mystified at receiving his decidedly unexpected note. The young Plainfielder had decided that an immediate visit to that woman's college is not necessary at present.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, June 9.—The case of John Ledley against John Gluck was tried before Justice Collins and a jury at Westfield. The case was to recover $46 for work done. The defendant filed a counter claim for $20 for damages done to tiling. The jury viewed the work and gave Ledley judgment for $30. Both litigants were disgusted with the verdict and gave notice of appeal.

Late Thursday A. L. Price, who lives on Elizabeth avenue, Westfield, reported that during the night his house was entered by burglars and money to the amount of $15, together with other small valuables, was taken. An entrance to the house was gained through a window.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 9th—South Plainfield was visited by a heavy thunder and rainstorm last night. The thunder and lightning was very hard. The house on Second street occupied by Harry Weaver was struck by lightning. The roof was injured and one corner of the stoop splintered. The family received no injury.

Men are at work digging a cellar under the Lehigh Valley depot. They intend putting in a boiler to heat the building. Formerly it has been heated from the boiler at the pumping station, but since the pumping is done at the coaling station they have to make different arrangements for heat.

Archie Stengraf's house is completed and he will move in Monday. It is one of the prettiest houses in this part of the country.

T. C. Laing takes the lead on early garden stuff. He has peas full grown and potatoes as big as quail eggs.

By Buying a Turnpike for $50,000 it Will Get Into Hackensack.

The North Jersey Street Railway Company has completed negotiations for the extension of the trolley system from Jersey City to Hackensack. Dennis McLaughlin, acting as agent for the trolley interests, has purchased for $50,000 the old turnpike from West Hoboken through Hoboken, New Durham, Fairview and Little Ferry to Hackensack. In a short time Mr. McLaughlin will transfer the turnpike to the trolley company.

The plan is to start the Hackensack extension line on the Paterson plank road at Secaucus, where the Jersey City, Hoboken and Paterson railway now crosses the Hackensack meadows on its way to Passaic. It is proposed to start a branch at Secaucus and run it north over the Hacksensack meadows to Moonachie and Little Ferry, then strike the Bergen turnpike and run along that road into Hackensack.

SNUFF TRUST BUYS A TOWN.

All the Inhabitants Worked in the Mill is Bought.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 9.—The whole town of Helmetta has been transferred to the Snuff Trust. A deed was filed at the County Clerk's office Thursday by the George W. Helme Company transferring its snuff plant at Helmetta to the American Snuff Company. The consideration named is $1. Attached to the deed, however, is $144 in revenue stamps, which show a consideration of $144,000. Helmetta has been owned by members of the Helme family ever since the town has been in existence. Everybody in the town, numbering 300 inhabitants, worked at the snuff mills. It is expected that the Trust will continue the plant.

John Moran, of Lee place, has accepted a position in the Pond Tool Works.

Mr. Adams, of California, has been visiting at the home of his uncle, E L. Suffern, of Sycamore avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, have gone to Hartford to visit their daughter. Mrs. S P. Williams.

Miss Grace Clark has resigned her position with the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company, to take effect today.

The most notable wedding of this season at Washington, D. C., was celebrated yesterday, when Miss Florence S. Boardman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Boardman, was married to Frederic A. Keefe, of Chicago. Among many distinguished guests present were Colonel and Mrs. Mason W. Tyler, of West Seventh street.

Elizabethtown Battle Remembered.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 9.—Flags were flying throughout the city yesterday in honor of the one hundred and twentieth anniversary of the Battle of Elizabethtown which was fought here June 8th, 1780, when the British were repulsed.

A COSTLY FUNCTION.

Citizens of Philadelphia Getting Ready For National Convention.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.—It will cost the citizens of Philadelphia more than $200,000 to have the honor of having the Republican national convention meet here and to properly entertain the hosts of visitors expected during convention week. All the Republican clubs in this city are making extensive preparations to entertain the members of visiting clubs on a lavish scale. Each local club has a certain number of out of town clubmen to look after from the time they arrive to the moment of departure. The Leeds club of this city has appropriated $5,000 which it will expend in entertaining the Blaine club of Cincinnati. The main feature of its entertainment will be a banquet to which many national leaders of the Republican party have been invited.

Tonight the Young Republican club will give a reception to National Committeeman Richard C. Kerens of Missouri, who will at the same time be presented with a loving cup for having cast the vote which brought the convention to Philadelphia. This reception will be the first event marking the coming of the party leaders, several of whom are expected to attend the affair.

All of the subcommittee of the national committee, of which Joseph H. Manley of Maine is chairman, it is expected will have arrived by Sunday night. On Monday this committee will meet to go over the list of appointments of convention employees prepared by Sergeant-at-Arms Wiswell and to arrange for the meeting of the full national committee at the Hotel Walton on Wednesday. Senator Hanna is expected on Monday, and it is believed that the only member who will be absent from the national committee meeting on Wednesday will be General Wilson of Delaware, who is in Cuba on military duty.

The congressional campaign committee will meet here next week, probably on Monday.

TRANSPORTING TEACHERS.

Arrangement For Bringing 1,483 From Cuba For Summer Training.

WASHINGTON, June 9.—The quartermaster general has completed arrangements for the transportation to the United States of 1,483 Cuban schoolteachers, who have decided to take advantage of the summer course of free tuition offered them by Harvard university. This course will last from July 1 to September, when the teachers will be returned by the war department to their homes. Five of the big transports have been set apart for this purpose, the Burnside, McPherson, McClellan, Crook and Sedgwick. By the schedule announced the Burnside sails from Tunas June 22, Casilva on the 23d and Cienfuegos on the 24th, bound for Boston. She will carry 133 teachers.

The McPherson sails from Manzanillo for Boston June 22, touching at Santiago on the 23d, at Guantanamo on the 24th, at Baracoa on the 25th and at Gibara on the 26th, carrying 275 teachers.

The McClellan sails from Cardenas for Boston June 24, touches at Sagua on the 25th, at Cabarien on the 26th and at Nuevitas on the 27th, carrying 275 teachers.

The Crook sails from Havana and Matanzas on June 25, with 325 teachers, for Boston.

The Sedgwick sails from Havana and Matanzas on June 25 and touches at Cardenas on the 26th and Sagua on the 27th, carrying 475 passengers.

Don't Marry for Money

The Boston man, who lately married a sickly rich young woman, is happy now, for he got Dr. King's New Life Pills, which restored her to perfect health. Infallible for Jaundice, Biliousness, Malaria, Fever and Ague and all Liver and Stomach troubles. Gentle but effective. Only 25c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

Congressman Cummings to Visit Here.

Congressman Amos J. Cummings, of New York, who has many warm personal friends in this city and vicinity, is expected to visit Plainfield early next week. He will be the guest of Clarence Roberts, of Dunellen, for a short time.

—Neuman Brothers handle Mr. Corburn's berries. He reports the flavor and quality better than ever before.

JUST A TASTE

of our Butter is enough. Henceforth we have you as a customer.

We carry three different grades of butter, each of which has its special merits.

Our Rockdale Print Butter at 26 cents per pound, is the best on earth. It has the rich, delicate flavor of the finest cream and for table use cannot be surpassed.

Some of the cheaper grades of butter sold elsewhere are often tasteless. Our lowest priced goods are of excellent flavor.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Provinz Sachsen.

Mühlhausen. Die städtischen Behörden haben zwei hiesigen Handwerkern, einem Kunsttischlermeister und einem Schlosser, je eine Reisebeihilfe von 300 Mark zum Besuch der Pariser Weltausstellung bewilligt.

Naumburg. Zu dem projektirten Bahnbau Naumburg-Mücheln-Querfurt hat die Stadt Naumburg 300,000 Mark verwilligt.

Prettin. Wegen Wilddieberei ist der Lehrer Franke aus Lichtenburg dem hiesigen Gerichte zugeführt worden.

Provinz Schlesien.

Gleiwitz. In dem Werke der Huldschinskyschen Hüttenwerke sind etwa 150 Arbeiter, die Lohnerhöhung fordern, in den Ausstand getreten.

Görlitz. Wegen eines Mordversuches, verübt an einem Schlosserlehrling, wurde der Kaufmann Kuhnert verhaftet. Bei dem Verbrecher fand man Messer und Dietriche.

Lüben. Auf dem hiesigen Kavallerie-Exerzirplatze gerieth beim Debouchiren aus einem Defile die erste Schwadron des Dragoner-Regiments Nr. 4 mit der vierten Schwadron desselben Regiments, welche das Debouchement verhindern sollte und zu einer heftigen Attacke angeritten war, in einen unentwirrbaren Knäuel. Mehrere Offiziere und Dragoner stürzten mit ihren Pferden. Rittmeister von Gersdorf, sowie die Lieutenants von Reinersdorf-Paczensky und Tenczin trugen Kopfverletzungen davon. Ein Dragoner erlitt einen Bruch des Schlüsselbeins.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Kiel. Dem Vater der deutschen Kaiserin, Herzog Friedrich von Schleswig-Holstein, wird in Kiel ein Denkmal erstehen. Es zeigt den Herzog in schlichtem Gehrock. Die Statue wird im Halbkreise von einer steinernen Brüstung umgeben, in die eine Reihe von Doppelporträts, die führenden Männer aus der Zeit der schleswig-holsteinischen Bewegung gegen Dänemark darstellend, eingelassen sind. Die Enthüllung soll im Juli in Gegenwart des Kaiserpaares stattfinden.

Westerland. In unserem circa 900 Einwohner zählenden Dorfe hat eine Feuersbrunst 27 Gehöfte eingeäschert.

Provinz Westfalen.

Münster. Das Paulinische Gymnasium in Münster, das vor zwei Jahren das seltene Fest seines 1100jährigen Bestehens feierte, beging jüngst das Jubiläum seines 400jährigen Bestehens als humanistische Anstalt.

Dortmund. Der zweite Bürgermeister Annecke ist plötzlich gestorben.—Die Bausumme für das hierorts zu errichtende Stadttheater wurde auf 1,250,000 Mark festgesetzt.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Der Stadtrath bewilligte 20,000 Mark zum Ankauf von Gemälden der Internationalen Kunstausstellung in Dresden im Jahre 1901.—Zwölf Zöglinge des Lehrerseminars im benachbarten Plauen, Donath aus Dresden und Focke aus Zschopau, haben hier als Fahrrad- und Paletotdiebe geraume Zeit „gearbeitet." Die Burschen schlichen sich während des Abendgottesdienstes aus dem Seminar fort und führten in Kafes und Restaurants ihre Diebstähle aus. Donath wurde vom Landgericht zu einem Jahr zehn Monaten, Focke zu zwei Jahren drei Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Einsiedel. Kürzlich scheuten die von dem Bierschröter Köhler geleiteten Pferde vor einem Eisenbahnzuge und gingen durch. Köhler wurde vom Wagen geschleudert und so unglücklich überfahren, daß er auf der Stelle seinen Geist aufgab.

Hainichen. Wegen Unterschlagung wurde der Rechtsanwalt Kind zu einem Jahr sechs Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Plauen. Die Zahl der in hiesiger Stadt in diesem Jahre beschäftigten tschechischen Bauarbeiter hat gegen frühere Jahre ganz beträchtlich abgenommen. An den Erd- und Felsarbeiten großen Umfanges für die Erweiterung des oberen Bahnhofes und den Bau der Kaserne sind hauptsächlich Arbeiter aus Polen, Italien, Kroatien, Istrien, Dalmatien u. s. w. angenommen worden.

Reichenbach. Postdirektor Buchheim hier ist vom Reichspostamte beauftragt worden, zu Studienzwecken auf Reichskosten die Pariser Weltausstellung zu besuchen.

Sebnitz. Hier tödtete Willy Kletzsch seine Ehefrau und sich selbst. Ueber die Motive dazu herrscht Unklarheit. Das Ehepaar hinterläßt vier unmündige Kinder.

Thüringische Staaten.

Meiningen. Hier starb Oberkirchenrath Dr. Otto Dreyer im Alter von 63 Jahren.

Sonneberg. Anhier hat sich eine Schaar Altkanzlerfreunde zusammengethan, um die Mittel zur Erbauung eines Bismarck-Denkmals herbeizuschaffen. Auch aus der ländlichen Umgebung laufen Beiträge ein.

Triebes. Die hiesige Jutespinnerei und Weberei hat aus Anlaß ihres 25jährigen Bestehens 100,000 Mark zur Errichtung eines Krankenhauses und eines Arbeiterbades gestiftet.

A New York business man, whose favorite form of exercise is horseback riding, was attacked by severe cramps while taking a canter through a fashionable suburb. He stopped at a hotel in the vicinity celebrated among horsemen for its good cheer, and asked the host if he could recommend something that would give prompt relief. He expected (or rather desired) that the prescription would be Canadian Club Whiskey with a dash of Jamaica ginger. To his surprise the hotel man handed out a Ripans Tabule and said: "These are the things give me relief every time. Three weeks ago my stomach was all knocked out and I couldn't sleep nights, but these Tabules made me feel like a fighting cock in no time. In my business I often have to drink a bottle of wine for sociability when I feel that I have already had all I ought to have but the Ripans make a great antidote. Try them and you'll find they do the business every time."

WANTED—A case of bad health that R·I·P·A·N·S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R·I·P·A·N·S on the package and accept no substitute. R·I·P·A·N·S, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

HINTS ON HOUSECLEANING.

BY BESSIE DOW BATES.

Spasms of housecleaning, which are the redemption of homes and the source of untold misery to the male members of the family, appear periodically. But even to the exacting "lords of creation" home without its housecleaning eruption lacks much of its individual attractiveness. With all his objections against madame's invasion into the privacy of his "den" monsieur is the very first one to appreciate the pervading air of freshness as he sinks into his renovated Sleepy Hollow chair with a consciousness that spring cleaning isn't such a bad institution after all when it's over.

For "old time" housekeepers any hints from me would be superfluous, but for the younger ladies who have only recently assumed control of homes and upon whom the burden of spring renovating rests heavily the following suggestions may prove helpful.

A very common error that housekeepers make when brushing a room is to sweep toward the door. It is better to sweep toward the hearth, in order that the draft from the chimney may draw the dust in that direction and not scatter it about the room.

Hearthstones that should be white, but have become discolored by age, may be greatly improved by the application of a thin coat of whiting mixed with milk, instead of water, to which has been added a small quantity of blue. This preparation has the appearance of paint, but is preferable in that it will not soil quickly, is easily applied and does not crack off.

Unsightly cracks in floors and furniture are effectively stopped up by a cheap and easily made substitute for putty. Soak a newspaper in a paste made by boiling a pound of flour and one teaspoonful of alum in three quarts of water. Have the mixture of about the same consistency as putty, and when slightly cooled force it into the cracks with a blunt knife. This will harden like papier mache and when dry and stained to match the boards will be almost imperceptible.

Window cleaning is an art that can only be acquired, as a general thing, after many failures and much wasted energy. Ground glass that has been stained with grease from putty or other causes will look as fresh as new if washed with water that has been boiled and allowed to cool, with an ounce of washing soda added to each gallon.

The more scientific the means employed for cleaning glass windows the better and brighter will be the effect, for worn glass can never be satisfactory, because scratches hold dirt. For this reason it is obvious that absolutely clean cloths and fresh water are necessary for lasting results.

Windows that are very much soiled should first be washed with tepid water to which has been added ammonia in the proportion of eight tablespoonfuls to a pail of water. Rub the windows well with a cloth rinsed in the water and well squeezed out; dry with a fresh cloth. Occasionally dust, caked by atmospheric moisture, hardens in the corners of the sash. This should be removed by a narrow bladed knife made from a bit of wood.

If paint or putty discolors the margin of the glass, dissolve some crude bicarbonate of potash in hot water and saturate the paint adhering to the glass. Allow it to remain on until it is nearly dry, then remove it with a woolen cloth. Having removed the grime from the glass, a mixture made from the following ingredients will give glistening results: One ounce each of olive oil, ammonia and water and two ounces of lime. This should make a thick paste. Water and ammonia may be added until the required consistency is attained. The paste is to be smeared over the glass and the window cleaned in the usual way with warm water and the customary clean cloths and leathers. When the labor of the paste is considered too great, dry whiting may be used with very satisfactory results.

The unsightly marks caused by the dripping of water in marble basins are quickly removed by rubbing with a cloth or an old toothbrush dipped in pulverized chalk or ammonia.

The stains from medicines, etc., on marble washstands should be washed off with cold water. Mix one ounce each of powdered pumice stone and powdered chalk and two ounces of washing soda and pass through a sieve. Take a small portion of the powder and make it into a paste with cold water. Rub it well over the marble, and when all stains are removed wash thoroughly with soap and water.

Spots in carpet that have become very soiled can be restored to their original beauty by washing with ox gall. Use one gill to a gallon of cold soft water, stirring the ox gall into the water with a stick. With a soft brush rub the carpet, making a white lather. Wash the lather off with clear water, changing it often. Then rub with clean cloths until dry. The most delicate carpets and rugs will not suffer by this treatment. If the whole carpet is to be cleaned, two persons should do the work, one applying the lather and the other following and washing it off. Where a thorough cleaning is unnecessary the use of water to which a little ammonia has been added will brighten the carpet. Wring out clean cloths in the water; wipe the carpet lightly. Open the windows so that the carpet will dry quickly.

Many new mixtures are being placed on the market from day to day for the preservation and polishing of furniture, but some of the simpler means employed to this same end by furniture polishers and repairers are inexpensive and can be applied by any one having the necessary patience, with results that will equal those obtained by professional workers.

To preserve furniture that is becoming worm eaten, pour a little carbolic oil on it and rub in well. This will also improve its appearance.

Very dull old furniture is improved by washing in limewater and then applying a coat of oil, rubbing it down with woolen cloths.

Scratches on black walnut or any furniture finished in oil can be removed by rubbing with a woolen cloth dipped in paraffin oil. To remove furniture polish that was not properly applied, or at least the results from which were unsatisfactory, use kerosene oil on a soft rag.

To renovate ebonized furniture rub the or oilcloth rub with camphor.

To renovate ebonized furniture rub the spots the way of the grain of the wood with finely powdered pumice stone and crude oil and polish with a dry soft flannel cloth.

Furniture covered with rep, serge or similar materials should be well brushed and wiped with a cloth wrung in cold water having a little ammonia in it.

To clean mahogany furniture use soapy water. Wipe dry and polish with a mixture made from one part of turpentine and two parts of crude oil. This inexpensive polish is that used for obtaining the highly prized piano finish.

To renovate willow or rattan chairs that have become soiled with age and use, wash off every bit of dust in all the interstices and with a soft, long haired brush tint the entire surface with oak green stain, sienna or sienna and vandyked brown. This must be done with great care so as to cover every particle of the surface. This treatment is suitable for willow because it will take stain, but rattan, which is less porous, requires to be painted or enameled. Whether stain or paint is used, varnish heightens the luster.

Few people realize that soda used in scrubbing water does not improve the appearance of floors. This is nevertheless a fact, and those who know claim that plenty of cold water and soap are the better agents for removing dirt. The boards should be scrubbed the way of the grain; not round and round, as so many people prefer doing.

Gilt frames that have become dull may be brightened by a simple process. Into 1½ pints of water put sufficient flour of sulphur to give a slight golden tint, and in this boil four or five bruised onions. Strain off the liquid, and when cold wash the gilding which requires restoring, using a soft brush. When dry, the gilding will look as bright as new work.

ARE GREAT EATERS.

Average Chinaman's Stomach Capacity Is Simply Marvelous.

Stows Away Enough Food at One Meal to Do Him for Twenty-Four Hours — Pork Is His Favorite Meat.

[Special Hinghua (China) Letter.]

YES, IT is true, the Chinese, that is some of them, do occasionally eat dog-meat, and even rats. But it is not so general as it has been reported by travelers, who have seen rats on sale in the streets of Canton and hastily concluded that the custom is universal. I have never been in Canton, but in the travels of ten years elsewhere I have yet to see it. As to dogs—well they do not habitually eat the common dog, but they fatten a special breed, that brings a good price in some markets.

Several years ago one of our servants had a young dog that became such a nuisance that my wife ordered it put out of the way. The owner said: "I will have to hire a man to kill it. Nobody but the dog-killer will kill a dog."

"Very well. I will pay for it." The bill was paid; and the dog disappeared. It was not until several months after that we learned that all the servants of the establishment that night had a feast!

But the staple meat of the Chinese is pork.

It is a poor family indeed that cannot afford to keep at least one pig. "No family is complete without one," is literally true. The Chinese character for family is the character for "pig" under the character meaning "roof." There is a whole treatise upon Chinese domestic economy bound in that significant character. The pig has the right of way in the establishment. He has the best of everything. His quarters are inside the house, to prevent his being stolen. The children may be denied another bowl of sweet potatoes, but the pig never. He eats full, and often. He is fattened with the greatest care. He brings a high price, too. A good fat pig will bring a slightly higher price now right in a Hinghua village than it would in Chicago, if my market quotations are correct. Yet his owners are working for from five to ten cents a day. The American laborer who earns 20 times as much pays no more for the pork he eats. It goes without saying that the ordinary Chinese eat pork very sparingly; it is more as a sauce, an oil in the gravy to give flavor, than as an article of diet, as it is on the American table.

So it is with fish, of which they eat every kind and every part. Fish also are eaten but sparingly, because of the expense. Well-to-do people only can afford to eat much meat of any kind.

Chickens are everywhere, as omnipresent as the pig, and much more numerous. But they are eaten only as luxuries. One represents two days' labor and a dozen eggs one day's. No wonder they cook every part, the head, feet and even the entrails. They cannot afford to throw any of it away. Our cook sees to it that no part of our chickens is wasted, just as he prevented extravagance in disposing of the dog. A genius for economy is John Chinaman, the cook. Would that his talent in this line were exercised more in the interests of his employer!

Beef is eaten comparatively little. There is no place to graze cattle in this densely populated country. The people raise cows enough for their own plowing. When the animal gets too old to pull the plow it is killed for beef. The officials prohibit slaughtering as a business, or license it for a good sum, as it suits them. I have noticed of recent years an increase in this line, and it is probable that beef will become a large staple article of food in China when the country opens, and better wages make it possible for the common people to eat meat. Who knows but in time China will become America's best market for dressed beef, as it already bids fair to be for its flour. There are no limits to the capacity of the average Mongolian stomach, except its possessor's ability to buy. The fact that comparatively little meat is eaten explains this in part. Brought up upon a diet of rice and vegetables, he must needs eat a large quantity in order to get sufficient nourishment. His digestive apparatus becomes adjusted to quantities of food.

Upon a canalboat the other day I saw the assistant boatman, a young fellow of 20 odd years of age, eat a dinner of rice and vegetables. He filled his bowl eight times, heaping full, running over—not less than a pint in each. It was not necessary to ask the old boatman how that young man was paid. It goes without saying, "he was eating his employer," to use a very expressive Chinese idiom.

All Chinese inns are upon the "European plan." The Chinese host that is foolish enough to sell food by the meal would soon have to quit. Every guest would eat a meal, in the strength of which he could go for 24 hours without discomfort.

The foreign visitor who is the honored guest at a Chinese feast is liable to get a very erroneous impression of the Chinese diet. Not less than 12 courses, nearly all various kinds of meats, can be served by a Chinese host without insulting his guests. More frequently 18 are served. Each new course is devoured with avidity. I have often watched this display of capacity and marveled at it. The ordinary vegetable diet is the explanation. When opportunity offers to eat a dozen different kinds of meat at a friend's expense he can do it. The cubic space required has been prepared.

Herein lies the folly of the adult foreigner trying to live on a native diet. He can satisfy the cravings of hunger, but he cannot eat enough to furnish proper nourishment. In nearly every case an early breakdown is the result, and the self-tortured martyr goes back to the home land "broken down from overwork," so it is reported.

It would be more accurate to report "broken down from under-feeding." Nevertheless the Chinese are the best fed of the Asiatic peoples. The common people of India are thin shanked, bony and weak, compared with the Chinese. Undoubtedly one important reason for this physical superiority is the fact that to the Chinese "nothing is common nor unclean" that will satisfy hunger, while the Hindoo is a vegetarian, and his religious or caste prejudices prevent him from eating meats of any kind. Leaving out of his bill of fare fish, fowl and cattle, he literally denies himself the very necessaries of life.

There are Chinese vegetarians; but they are not numerous enough to greatly reduce the demand for pork and fish; nor does the custom go from generation to generation, as in India.

Add to this praiseworthy lack of scruple his immense industry and capacity for producing the most from the least, and withal his ceaseless vigilance in considering the supreme question: "What shall we eat," and it is easy to see why the Chinese live comparatively well, in spite of their poverty, and to see, too, that with the opening of the country they will keep the lead in this line among Asiatics for generations to come.

MAGIC OF FIGURES.

A Trick in Simple Subtraction That Will Puzzle Everybody and Afford Much Amusement.

You never can tell what figures will do. Of course they are truthful if properly handled, but some of them are capable of the most bewildering antics. Here is a method by which figures may be made to tell secrets in a way that will astonish those who are not informed about how to do the "figuring."

Ask some person to put down unknown to you a number composed of three figures (say 762.) Tell him to transpose the figures (making 267) and to subtract the lesser from the greater. Then ask him to tell you the first figure of the result, and you can tell him the entire number. For instance, your first number in the present example is 762, which transposed makes 267. Subtract 267 from 762 and you have 495. The only figure that you are told is 4, the first of the result. All you have to do is to subtract 4 from 9, which will give you 5, the last figure, and the central figure is always 9. So your number will be 495. This is true in all cases where only three figures are used in making up a number. The central figure will always be 9 when the transposed number is subtracted from the original number; and the two end figures when added together will make 9. So, knowing either the first or last figure of the result you can give the entire number.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

WAS A STREET ARAB.

The Romantic History of Alaska's Progressive Governor.

By His Own Energy He Acquired Education, Fortune and Honor—Once Was a New York Waif Without a Home.

In the summer of 1859 27 homeless children were shipped from Randall's island, New York, to the west, where they were to find homes. Two of the most ragged of the waifs were John Brady and a lad named Burke.

Now John G. Brady, governor of Alaska, is in the east. While in New York he was registered at the Fifth Avenue hotel. Burke is not a governor now, but he has been. For two years he was chief executive of North Dakota.

Gov. Brady has the title of "reverend," which he earned by hard work for the money it cost to take him through Yale and the Union Theological seminary. He was sent to Alaska as a missionary. He was appointed governor of Alaska by President McKinley after he had been in that country 19 years as preacher, teacher and merchant. He is fairly wealthy and has a wife and five children at his home in Sitka.

Gov. Brady, says the St. Louis Republic, does not attempt to disclaim the lowliness of his early life, and talks freely of it, explaining that his success may prove an incentive to others who are in the unfortunate condition of his own childhood.

His father was a drunken longshoreman. His mother died when he was a child. At eight years of age he had sold newspapers, shined shoes, run errands, carried satchels and haunted the East river water front in the hope of picking up an odd job now and then.

Sometimes he found a lodging in the Newsboys' home. As often as not he slept curled up in a box or in some dark corner in Chatham square. One night a policeman roused him from his bed in a packing case, and Johnny confessed that he was hungry and hadn't any home to speak of. His father had married again, and Johnny found little favor with the stepmother. So they sent him, with a boatload of other waifs, to Randall's island.

On the island Johnny made friends rapidly. Among others with whom he formed a fast boyhood friendship was a homeless lad named Burke. In the summer of 1859 the Children's Aid society arranged to ship a cargo of boys to the west, where homes had been secured for them on farms. Brady and Burke were among those selected to go.

When the carload reached Indiana Brady was consigned to the home of John Green, a lawyer of Tipton, who had asked for the "ugliest, raggedest and most friendless boy in the lot." Johnny then became "Jack." He went to the village school, applied himself to his studies and afterwards took the preparatory course for college in the Waveland academy.

All the time he was in school he was earning what he could to help pay his way. Mr. Green had destined "Jack" for the law, but the boy decided that his mission was the ministry, and went to Yale. He helped make both ends meet by chopping wood, making fires, ringing the chapel bell and doing any other manual labor that offered a recompense. Later he earned something as a tutor.

After graduation he worked his way through the Union Theological seminary. He never missed an opportunity to talk encouragingly to boys whose lot was as forlorn as his had been. It was through the influence of Dr. Sheldon Jackson that Mr. Brady went to Alaska as a missionary. He was a pioneer in the task of civilizing the Indians, and in that section is still frequently referred to as Rev. John Brady.

As business developed Brady opened a store in Sitka. He became manager of the Sitka Trading company and soon acquired a one-third interest. He proved to be a shrewd business man, but never relinquished his active interest in missionary work.

The Voracity of Spiders.

Commenting on the amount which a spider actually consumed during 24 hours, Sir J. Lubbcock says: "At a similar rate of consumption a man weighing 160 pounds will require a whole fat steer for breakfast, a steer and five sheep for dinner, and for supper two bullocks, eight sheep and four hogs, and just before retiring nearly four barrels of fresh fish."

City Controls Advertisements.

The advertisements on the cars, omnibuses and tickets of the London county council tramways brought in nearly $40,000 during 1899. Of that the council netted about $30,000, the balance going in commission. For the future an arrangement has been made to pay the advertising agent only 20 per cent. commission.

OUT OF CHICAGO ON A WAY FREIGHT TRAIN

There is a rich, productive country surrounding Chicago, peopled by a prosperous people who demand much of the good things of life, and for these things they look to Chicago to supply.

From the Cupola of a Way Car.

The western metropolis is a veritable supply depot for a great territory, a territory that in some lines of merchandise extends to practically the civilized world. While its great manufacturing concerns are supplying the world with their products, its wholesale houses are finding profitable trade within the immediate surrounding territory. To these houses the commercial traveler who makes the small cities and villages within 100 miles or so of the city bring in the orders from which the profits are realized. Collectively these orders call for a vast quantity of merchandise.

Some idea of the business of Chicago may be had from the fact that no less than 2,500 cars of merchandise are shipped out of the city every day in the year. This merchandise is scattered to points far and wide, but much of that which is carried on the outbound way freights goes to points that are almost within the boundaries of the city.

There is no better way to study the commercial relations of Chicago with the surrounding territory than a trip aboard one of these way freights. From the cupola of the way car one can see many things of interest, and it was from such a point of vantage on a Northwestern line way freight that I studied the conditions in what might be termed the suburbs of Chicago a few days ago.

It was not a long ride, only 92 miles, from Chicago to Rockford, but in that distance I saw many things that interested me, and that tend to prove the importance and rapid growth of Chicago.

Loyal to Its Local Merchants.

Does the department store of the city kill the business of the suburban merchant? is a question that has agitated students of social economy for just so long a time as the department store has existed. On my way freight trip I found a new argument for the negative side of the controversy.

Speaks Well for Their Loyalty.

Oak Park is one of the best of Chicago's suburbs. It is a pretty little city of some 8,000 people, lying just west of the city limits. From the center of the suburb to the shopping district of Chicago is a ride of about 40 minutes, which may be made for a five-cent fare on the elevated railroad. Goods purchased of the department stores in the city will be delivered free of charge to the residents of the suburb.

It is a residence and not a manufacturing suburb; so far as I know there is not a factory of any kind within its limits, and yet the freight receipts of the Northwestern road at that point run from $10,000 to $12,000 per month. This is for freight on goods consumed within the homes of Oak Park. It is an average of nearly $1.50 in freight charges per month for every man, woman and child in the suburb, and is in addition to the amount of goods transported by the wagon express companies that make daily trips to and from the city for the transporting of such freight as they can get to carry. That these lines of express carry a great quantity of goods is evidenced from the fact that they exist, for their charges are small.

Such a record as this either speaks well for the loyalty of the residents of Oak Park for their local merchants, or else refutes the oft-repeated assertion that all the retail business of the large cities is being concentrated in the department stores, and so cheapening the real estate on the business streets in the suburbs.

Beautiful Suburban Homes.

Another thing that is liable to impress one when studying conditions from the cupola of a way car is the manner in which the suburbanites of Chicago live. To the resident of the city, cooped up as he is in a few rooms in an apartment building, the beautiful places maintained by the suburbanites is a glimpse into Paradise.

A Chicago Suburban Home.

Riding west for some 30 miles one passes these beautiful homes. They are surrounded by trees, with spacious lawns, and charming rustic seats that look unusually inviting in the early springtime.

At a little station just beyond Oak Park my train stopped, as way freights have a way of doing, and there were unloaded from one of the long string of box cars two mowing machines. I had not yet seen what seemed to be the end of Chicago, and it seemed strange to see this agricultural machinery being unloaded within the bounds of the city. To satisfy my curiosity I asked the station agent if he knew what they were intended for, and if they were purchased by farmers.

"These two are for lawn mowers," he replied. "They are for two gentlemen living on the banks of the river over there."

The two homes for which these mowers were intended were typical of many of the suburban homes of that neighborhood. There were ten acres in the grounds surrounding each of them. It was laid out in tennis courts, in croquet grounds, in broad lawns, in golf courses, with an abundance of natural shade trees everywhere. The two men who owned these places are not classed among the rich of Chicago, and yet their homes bespoke pleasures of which the rich of the city are in ignorance.

It would certainly need a mowing machine to keep such places in the perfect order in which I saw them.

Room to Grow.

Along the line of the Northwestern suburban towns, practically a part of Chicago, stretch from the city limits of Elgin, 40 miles away. Everyone of these towns have a railroad and some have half a dozen of them, with a countless number of suburban trains into the city daily.

Crops Between the Rows of Trees.

Between these towns are beautiful farms of rolling land, the fortunate owners of which have fortunes within their grasp, and fully realize their opportunities. Some day these farms will give way to a continuous city that will cover this 40 miles of territory, but until the time is ripe for the sale of town lots the wise farmers prefer to hold their property as farming land.

As farming land they are required to pay taxes on a valuation of from $75 to $100 per acre. If a subdivision had been announced, and the property put on the market in town lots the valuation would be doubled many times. But while the subdivision of these farms has not been announced yet, the work of such a subdivision has been practically completed. Streets have been laid out by the planting of long double rows of young trees, which will add much to the value of the property within a few years. Between these rows of trees roadways are being built, and in the blocks formed by this process there are planted crops of corn, of wheat, of oats and other agricultural products, and the man who plants them is the typical farmer with his blue jeans trousers, his broad-brimmed straw hat, and his cowhide boots. In another decade he will be living a life of ease from the proceeds of the sale of his land.

Fortunes in Farm Lands.

When one stops to think of the wonderful growth of the city of Chicago; of its being the second city in America, and with a history of but threescore years behind it, and then when one looks at the rapidly-growing suburban towns that are fast closing the gaps between themselves and the city, one can easily picture the city of Chicago before the close of another century.

A Farm Yard To-Day; City Lot To-Morrow.

The farms which are to-day being platted into city lots, and which will bring to their fortunate owners the wealth of a millionaire, are in many cases the homesteads filed upon by the owners of to-day but little more than half a century ago, and in some cases less.

An old man of 80 years, living but 18 miles from the business district of Chicago, holds the title to 160 acres of land which he has refused $2,000 per acre for, and which in less than ten years from now will be worth double that price. He secured the land which will make of him a rich man when he sells it from the United States government as a homestead claim when Chicago could hardly be classed as even a village, and when he first settled upon it the Indians begged food and tobacco of him at his cabin door. The old man still farms his land, and says that he will continue to do so as long as he is able to see to it properly. He enjoys his farm, and will not sell until he can no longer till his land.

The day is soon coming when Chicago will stretch as far west as it now does north and south, and will be a city of about 30 miles square, with the greatest population in this country. That it will soon include all of Cook county is a recognized fact, and then will come a demand for the annexation of adjoining counties.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The course of the Park Golf Club has been considerably improved by the addition of a bunker on the fourth hole. The bunker is three feet wide and three feet high and has managed to trap numerous poor stokes during the short time it has been established. There is some talk of adding other bunkers on the first, second and ninth holes.

Since Andrew B. Blair was secured by the green committee of the Park Golf Club to take care of the club course, the links have been put in wonderfully fine shape. Expert Blair is certainly the right man for the place as the excellent work he has done testifies. As an instructor, he has been very successful and a number of former "duffers" are showing up surprisingly well under his direction.

According to Captain Waterbury, the members of the Elizabeth Town and Country Club are showing more enthusiasm this season than ever. Between their participation in the East Jersey League and their own club competitions the golfers are kept busy each week. The women seem to have taken almost as active a part as the men this season, and the nine-hole matches among the fair devotees are going to become regular weekly events. A good many of the women are practicing diligently for the mixed foursome to be held on June 16th. The Town and Country Club is able to boast of numerous out-of-town members.

ON THE DIAMOND

The Arion Baseball Club will not play at Westfield today, as the latter team sent word that their catcher, Brown, had broken his finger and no one could be found to take his place. The Arions will probably play the Clinton avenue nine instead.

A game of ball was played Thursday on the old golf grounds between the Underwoods and the Whittier School seconds, which resulted in the defeat of the latter by a score of 25 to 10. The batteries were: Underwood, N. and G. Douglas; Whittier seconds, Mellick and Miller.

The Plainfield High School team will play no more games this season, but will start in early next spring with an excellent prospect for a good team. The nine this year was composed of entirely new material and while the boys did fair work in practice, they invariably lost their nerve when it came to a match game. Towards the end of the season they showed much improvement and by next spring it is expected that they will put up a fair quality of ball. Squires and Schomp are the only two of the team to graduate. Doane does not expect to return to school next year. There is enough material to make up for their absence. Townsend Mason will probably be the pitcher for the team next season as he has already shown considerable ability in that direction.

ON THE GRIDIRON.

The meeting held at the Plainfield High School Wednesday afternoon showed a goodly number of candidates for the proposed eleven. It has been a number of years since the High School has been able to put an eleven on the field, but from the material available at present, it looks as if the school might support a first-class school team next fall. Nineteen candidates appeared at the meeting. Those who will try for places on the line are G. Herman, A. Brakeley, Stanley Mosher, M. Moyniham, H. Moynihan, Fred VanAuken, Townsend Mason, C. Rocap, Lawrence Tweedy, Harold Titus, S. Randolph, David Pond, and E. H. Hobbie. The candidates for the positions behind the line are G. Herman, A. Brakeley, Fred Van Auken, A. Conant, Fred Mason, Townsend Mason, C. Rocap, A. M. Tweedy, David Pond, P. Ughetta, C. Cubberley, and Harold Davis.

CYCLING COMMENT.

The entry blanks for the Fourth of July race meet at the Driving Park have been received by Harry Lister, who is ready to take entries. The bicycle races, of which there are two are open to amateurs only, and consist of a one-mile open and five-mile handicap. The following prizes are offered. For one-mile open, first prize, diamond pin; second, gold watch; third, gold link cuff buttons; five-mile handicap, first prize, gold watch; second, silver watch; third, gold pin; fourth, gold link cuff buttons. All entries should be addressed to H. K. Lister, 129 North avenue. Entries will close June 28th.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

Those who are in charge of the arrangements for the July 4th race meet at the Gentlemen's Driving Park feel sure that "Robert J." the celebrated trotter from New York will be present and go against time. There will be a host of other attractions.

ROD AND GUN.

Harry Dreier, Charles Maltby and Elvin VanName, took a fishing trip to New Market Thursday and returned with a fine catch. Mr. Dreier secured a fine bass weighing three pounds.

JUNE.

Now the grain dips and sways to the sweep of the breeze.
And the skies bend above with a blessing supreme.
The buttercups lavish their gold on the leas
And lullabys float from each whispering stream:
A promise of harvest doth grandly uproll
As nature's glad heart fills the air with its throe—
And the man who is provident lays in his coal
For the winter, and buys it of Stevens & Co.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and is made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

WILD WORK OF THE ELECTRICAL STORM.

Scott's Press Works, received a severe shock while riding home on his wheel. It occurred at the corner of Watchung and Jackson avenues, and the shock completely paralyzed him for the time. He recovered shortly and was able to get home. Today he is able to be around, but he feels very weak from the shock.

The barn belonging to J. T. Baker, of Stelle avenue, was struck and a part of the roof torn off. A large tree standing in the yard was also split in half.

Among the places struck by lightning was the cupola on the Somerset street school, but fortunately the damage was slight. The bolt passed through the cupola and tore off a few boards and shingles. The main part of the structure was left intact.

Another place struck in the borough was Dr. Cooley's house on Westervelt avenue. Here the lightning struck a lightning rod and scorched a good-sized portion of the upper part of the house near the rod. It is believed that it was this same bolt that stunned Mrs. Cooley. She was not seriously injured and recovered from the affects of the shock in a few hours.

A humorous side of the storm was that occasioned by two trolley car conductors on the West Fourth street line about 7:30. The storm had delayed a car on the Watchung avenue switch and the crew of the car on the Fourth street switch started for town, and had just passed Plainfield avenue when the other car came up. Both motormen kept on and the cars met at Liberty street. A rather heated argument followed as to which car should go back, both crews declaring they were in the right. The trouble was finally settled by the Watchung avenue car motorman being convinced he was wrong, and started back, muttering imprecations against the other one.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. McGee, of Westervelt avenue, left yesterday for the Berkshire Hills where they will spend the summer.

MET HORRIBLE DEATH ON THE RAILROAD.

Charles Cranston's Fatal Attempt to Board a Fast Freight Train.

THROWN UNDER THE CARS.

CELEBRATED TWENTY-NINTH BIRTHDAY A FEW HOURS BEFORE.

Accident Occurred at the North Avenue Station Early Yesterday Morning—Victim in Too Much of a Hurry.

Less than five hours after his twenty-ninth birthday, Charles Cranston, of Jackson avenue, met a horrible death on the Central Railroad tracks directly opposite the North avenue station about 4:45 o'clock yesterday morning. He attempted to catch on a fast freight train and was thrown under the wheels and ground to death before the horrified gaze of three men who were powerless to aid him. The three men, Frank Drake, of Richmond street, and two strangers from Bound Brook, were standing in front of the station when Cranston came up to them, slightly intoxicated, and asked when the next train went to New York. On being told that it was due at 5:05, he replied that that was too long to wait as he had to be in New York inside of an hour. He said he would catch a fast freight which was then coming up the track.

The men paid no more attention to him until the freight started to pass. Cranston rushed out before they could stop him and caught hold of one of the cars. He was thrown against the side with terrific force and then dragged off his feet. The next moment his grasp loosened and with a terrible shriek he fell beneath the wheels. The body seemed to whirl around for a moment, the wheels passing over it, and then fell by the side of the track.

Officer Totten, who came up the depot steps just as he caught the car, was the first to reach his side. He was picked up still alive, but died in a few minutes.

Drs. Fritts and Long were summoned, but they arrived too late. Both ankles were broken and he was badly crushed about the head and body. The body was removed to Cole's morgue and County Physician Westcott was notified. He granted a burial permit after viewing the remains. They were taken home later in the day.

Cranston, who was twenty-nine years old Saturday, was a single man and lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cranston on Jackson avenue. Besides his parents he leaves two brothers, Edward and Frederick, both of whom live at home. He was a painter by trade and was formerly employed by Marsh, Ayers & Company. He was very well known in Plainfield.

Present of a Dog.

John Powers, the Somerset street druggist, received a handsome present last Friday. It is a valuable dog which was sent to him by a friend who is with Buffalo Bill's show. The dog's mother is one of the prize trick canines of the show. Mr. Powers has not yet named the animal, but is waiting to consult with his friends regarding the cognomen.

In Memory of Jennie Cassidy.

Last Saturday was the anniversary of the death of Jennie Cassidy, who was a world-wide known worker in the cause of temperance, her particular field being in furnishing flowers to hospitals, etc. In memory of that day members of the W. C. T. U. visited Plainfield's institutions taking with them flowers for the sick and poor.

Took a Header While Coasting.

James Harding, of South Second street, was coasting down the Netherwood hill on South avenue yesterday, when the chain came off of his bicycle and caught in the rear wheel. James took a rather sudden header over the handle bars and landed on his face, scraping off considerable cuticle, besides sustaining several bad bruises.

Automobile Became Disabled.

An automobile run by gasoline, came to grief at Carrol's road house yesterday morning by the explosion of the gas tank. The carriage, which belonged in Westfield, contained two men. Landlord Carrol came to their rescue and kindly loaned them a horse and the disabled machine was towed home.

Saturday Half Holiday in Newark.

HILLSIDE GOLFERS WON.

THE TOWN AND COUNTRY CLUB WERE BEATEN EASILY.

The Score Was 22 to 10—Everything Favorable for Fine Golfing—Other Contests.

Saturday was a great day for golf at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club course. All day the course was crowded and the bracing air and fine condition of the greens had a tendency to bring out a very large complement of players. The recent rains had a good effect on the course and made it "sporty" and possible for low scores.

The event of the morning was the play for the Schoonmaker cup, ladies' competition, 18 holes medal play, open to all lady members of the club over sixteen years of age. There was a large entry list and great interest was centered in the competition. This cup has been won once by the following: Mrs. Clifton Wharton, Jr., Miss vanHerwerden, Miss May Evans, Miss Maude VanBoskerck. Saturday's winner, Miss Edith Tracy, will contest with the above four October 13th next, in the final play for permanent ownership. Miss Tracy played a strong and brilliant game Saturday and won nicely by a net score of 115. The complete scores are as follows:

	Gross.	Handicap.	Net
Miss Edith Tracy	120	5	115
Miss vanHerwerden	120	2	118
Miss May Holly	139	20	119
Miss Ethel VanBoskerck	143	20	123
Miss Gertrude Andrews	124	0	124
Miss Grace Kaufman	142	10	132
Miss Maude VanBoskerck	142	4	138
Miss T. H. Shepard	145	4	141
Miss Helen Bushnell	152	11	141
Miss Martha L. Tracy	162	8	154
Miss Edith Hyde	179	4	175

The attendance at the course in the afternoon was much larger than in the morning. The chief attraction was the second team match in the East Jersey Golf Association tournament between the Hillside team and the team from the Town and Country Club, of Elizabeth. Last year there was great rivalry between these two teams, and as this was the first meeting of the teams this year, considerable interest was evidenced in the match. With a few exceptions the home team played fine golf and was much too strong for the visiting team. The home members gave evidence of practice and they kept well in the lead throughout the contest. At no time was there any doubt as to their winning and they made a good finish, winning the match by a score of 23 to 10. Below will be found the scores in full:

GOLD IN JERSEY.

Vein of the Precious Metal Said to Have Been Found in Hunterdon County.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, June 11.—A blast at the United Gold and Silver Mining Company's mines, at Woodglen, Saturday, revealed a vein of the precious metal which by far exceeds any vein yet discovered. The vein is more than three feet wide and appears to be of unlimited length. It also widens as the excavation proceeds. Mining experts will visit the mines this week and make the final survey. Much excitement prevails in the vicinity of Woodglen, where the mines are located, and the price of property has advanced in value.

Cheering For Big People.

When Patrolman Flannagan found him Saturday afternoon, Joseph Williams was wandering unsteadily about West Front street cheering wildly for the Queen. Doubting Williams' ability to care for himself the officer took him to jail. Enroute to police headquarters Williams continued to cheer for the Queen, but added a few extra ones for George Washington and "Bill" McKinley. He appeared before the Mayor yesterday morning and was given an hour to get out of town.

Graduated With Honors.

David Arthur, Jr., of this city, was one of the graduates from the Law School of the University of New York last week. Arthur has been in the carpenter business with his father but has attended the night sessions of the Law School and graduated with honors.

Finger Nail Torn Off.

While cleaning his bicycle Saturday, Edward Flynn, of West Fourth street, caught the middle finger of his left hand in the sprocket wheel. The finger was badly crushed and the nail torn off. Dr. VanHorn was called and dressed the injured member.

Edward Martin and wife, of Newark, spent Sunday at the home of Lawyer R. M. Clark, Somerset place.

PRIMARIES JUNE 25TH.

REPUBLICANS PLAN FOR THEIR CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

County Committee Decides That it is Inadvisable to Join Parade in Philadelphia.

A meeting of the Union county Republican executive committee was held Friday evening at their headquarters in the Dix building in Elizabeth, Chairman Charles N. Codding presided.

The death of former Sheriff George Kyte, a member of the committee, was announced, and it was decided to leave the matter of the selection of his successor until a futue meeting.

A committee, consisting of Assemblyman Ellis B. Meeker, former Assemblyman Roger Murray and S. Rusling Ryno, was appointed to prepare resolutions expressing the loss the committee had sustained in the death of Mr. Kyte. The committee will report at the next meeting.

The subject of participating in the torchlight demonstration in Philadelphia on the evening of Monday, the 18th instant, the eve of the meeting of the Republican National convention, was freely discussed, but it was deemed inadvisable to go, although invidual members of the organization will take part, and some of them will attend the convention.

Monday evening, the 25th of June, was selected as the time for holding the primary meetings to select delegates to attend the Congressional convention to be held in the Lyceum Theatre on the afternoon of Thursday, June 28, at 3 o'clock.

GOLF CLUBHOUSE ROBBED.

Burglars Pay Two Profitable Visits to the Property of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club.

Some thief or thieves evidently believe the Hillside Golf Club property to be a good stamping ground for their operations and accordingly paid it two visits last week.

Thursday night someone entered through a window of the clubhouse and stole ten dozen old golf balls and ten dollars worth of clubs.

Saturday night the old Mellick house at the foot of the hill, leading to the clubhouse, where Steward Ivamy lived during the winter, was broken into by breaking the lock off the back door. Nothing of value was left in the house but a lot of old clothes, which the prowlers ransacked, leaving the pockets turned out to show they had been there.

Hereafter someone will stay at the clubhouse nights and a return visit will meet with a warm reception.

NEW DRINKING FOUNTAIN.

It Has Arrived and Will be Located on North Avenue in a Few Days.

The new public drinking fountain that was purchased by the members of the Loyal Temperance Legion and the city, jointly, arrived in Plainfield Saturday and the work of making ready to erect it has been started. It will be placed in front of and on John F. McIntyre's property on North avenue, opposite the North Avenue station.

There has been some little dissatisfaction expressed by one or two business men on the avenue as to having it placed in the selected locality, but as the Loyal Temperance Legion left the matter of location entirely with the street committee from the Common Council they think their judgment should be as good as any possible to obtain.

COMB DRIVEN INTO HER HEAD.

Unusual Result of a Fall Out of a Cherry Tree.

Mrs. Kate August, of East Fourth street, fell out of a cherry tree in front of her home yesterday morning, a distance of about twelve feet, striking on the back of her head. A celluloid comb, which was in her hair, was driven into her head making a very bad scalp wound. She also received several bad bruises about the head and shoulders. Dr. Tomlinson was called and made the injured woman as comfortable as possible.

Death of an Artist.

William Morgan, a well-known artist, died at his home on 104th street, New York, yesterday morning, and his remains will be interred beside his wife in Evergreen cemetery, Plainfield avenue, tomorrow morning. Mr. Morgan wedded Miss Julia, a sister of S. D. and A. M. Frazee, of this city.

To Become an M. D.

Rolland D. Tomlinson, of LaGrande avenue, graduates Wednesday from the Physicians' and Surgeons' School of Columbia University and will then become a full fledged M. D. He has successfully passed his final examinations. He will spend several years in hospital practice after his graduation.

BEAUTIFUL SERVICES FOR THE CHILDREN.

Elaborate Observance of the Day in the Local Churches Yesterday.

FINE FLORAL DISPLAYS.

BAPTISM OF TITTLE TOTS A FEATURE IN SEVERAL SOCIETIES.

Exercises Were Especially Arranged for and Participated in by the Children—Principal Parts of the Various Programmes.

Yesterday was a perfect June day, and that it should come when the churches had set aside the time for the especial recognition and delight of the children was particularly propitious. In nearly all of the local churches elaborate arrangements had been made for the observance of the day, and the programmes were carried out in an excellent manner. The special features in each society are shown in the following:

HOPE CHAPEL.

Hope Chapel was decorated with flags and bunting and the platform was filled with flowers and plants. The exercises consisted of songs and recitations given by Mary Radford, Ethel Terwilliger, Ruth and Harry Kenney, Clara and Walter Weber, Elsie Rimmer, Rosie Droll, Frank Rimmer, and remarks by Rev. G. K. Newell and Rev. W. R. Richards.

MARCONNIER CHAPEL.

An event long to be remembered by the members of Marconnier chapel at Oak Tree was the Children's Day exercises held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The chapel was crowded with members of the Sunday-school, and the attendance was increased by a stage load of members from Trinity Reformed church. The children occupied a platform which was prettily banked with ferns and daisies.

After the opening chorus the invocation was given by Rev. Dr. Schenck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church. Then followed a song "Hark the Sound," by the school, and an address of welcome by a tiny little fellow, Master Willie Robertson. He carried a banner bearing the words "Welcome." "In Bright Ranks," a song by the school, was followed with a recitation, "Children's Sunday," closing with a song, by Amy Lupher. After the school sang "Shout, Shout, the Battle Cry," there was a recitation "Praise God," by May Pyatt, Amy Lupher, Josie Randolph, Ruth Wilson, Mary Morrison, Edith Whelpley, Edna Eckfeld, Clifford Morris and Lottie Eckfeld. The Junior Christian Endeavor Society sang a piece entitled "Loyal Juniors."

An excellent address was then given by Pastor Schenck, which was followed with a very interesting talk by Rev. W. T. Griffen, replete with instructive illustrations which delighted the children. His text was "Little Foxes That Destroy." In the recitation, "Praise God," each child carried a beautiful banner on which was a letter to represent a flower and forming the title of the recitation. A recitation, "The Sunbeams," was given by Lillian Swenck, Jane Robertson, Lottie Eckfeld, Mary Morrison, Amy Lupher and Etta Whelpley, and they told how the sunbeams brighten the lives of the sick, and those in prison and warmed the little rootlet which in time blossomed. Each child carried a garland to represent the sunbeam, and at the close of the recitation little Miss Lillian Swenck sang beautifully "Only a Sunbeam." After a song by the school, "Jesus' Little Children," Fred Stover gave a recitation, "Stand Up for Your Colors." Another recitation, "Children's Day," by Miss Bertha Frazee, and two more songs by the school, together with the benediction by Pastor Schenck, brought the exercises to a close.

The children were trained by Mrs. Swenck, and they participated with credit, joining heartily in the various numbers, and their singing under the direction of F. S. Cutter, with Miss Lillian A. Force at the piano, was a feature. Mr. Spencer assisted in the music on the violin, and while the collection was being taken he rendered beautifully Schubert's "Serenade."

GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

Pleasing exercises were held at Grace M. E. church yesterday morning under the auspices of the Sunday-school. There was a very large attendance and the church was attractively decorated with flowers for the occasion. The following programme was well rendered and thoroughly enjoyed: Song, "In Golden Summer Time," school; address of welcome, Marion Major; song, "God Will Remember," Primary class; recitation, Marion Pearson; song, "Go Forward," school; selection, "Golden Sunbeam," thirteen girls; recitations, Etta Bodenheimer, Emma Ryno, Mable Winans; song, Margaret Darby and Primary class; solo and chorus, Miss Tingley and choir; motion song, Primary class; "The Court of Peace," thirteen girls and two boys; "Onward Christian Soldiers," choir; address by Rev. G. W. Gardner, pastor; "Our Festal Day," school. A feature of the exercises was the presentation to each member of the infant class of a potted plant as a souvenir and reminder of the day. The exercises were in charge of Miss Lunger, of the Primary department.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN.

The exercises at the First Presbyterian church were held in the morning, but were not marked by any especial programme. Songs and recitations were given by the primary classes and by Miss Bertha Hill and Miss Mary Abbott. Dr. Worden's letter was read in a pleasing manner by Miss Mary A. Luckey.

MONROE AVENUE M. E.

The exercises at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church were of the simplest character, consisting only of songs and recitations by the primary class and intermediate classes. Remarks were made by the pastor appropriate to the day. The decorations were very pleasing, especially a large bed of daisies in the centre of the pulpit.

WARREN CHAPEL.

Warren chapel had probably the largest attendance of any school in the city, there being 425 present. Built directly over and in front of the pulpit was a very pretty arch with the reading, "Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me." An orchestra, composed of Whitney Frazee, Miss Margaret Shepperd and C. P. Wheeler, rendered several pleasing selections. Remarks were given by Rev. Dr. Richards, L. N. Lovell, Superintendent Andrews and Pastor McKelvey. A much-enjoyed feature of the programme was the bass solo, "Rock of Ages," given by Mr. Lott, of the Crescent Avenue church.

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

Children's Day at Trinity Reformed church was a bright and interesting one. The special exercises under the direction of Superintendent E. E. Anthony, of the main school, and Mrs. J. M. Tier, of the primary department, were carried out in a perfect manner. The pulpit platform was very prettily decorated. The decorations were in charge of Miss Berkaw and Miss Kissam.

The special service was held in the morning. Preceding the scholars was Herbert VanDoren carrying a handsome banner, and Flossie Yaeger bear a handsome American flag. As the children marched about the church they sang "Onward Christian Soldiers," the congregation joining in the chorus.

During the services a few pleasant remarks were made by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor, and Superintendent E. E. Anthony. The programme included the following: Recitations, "Summer," Anna Boss; "Jesus and the Children," Helen Smith; "At Home and School, Ellsworth Bennett, Arthur Thorn, Ralph Martin, Marson Smith; "Little Things," Edna Oliver; flower song, Bessie Randall and Ida Tier; recitation, "Christ and the Children," Helen Wooley; "The Best of Children's Day," Ethel Vail, Hattie Nischwitz, Gertrude, Schleif, Gertrude Enander; "What Did the Child of Nazareth Do," song, Laura Bodine, responses, Edna Coles, Myra Dunavan, Nettie Robinson, Jeanette Neal, Catherine Grey; recitation, "When Papa Was a Little Boy," Rowland Reighton; Bible boys, stories in prose, Herbert VanDoren, Cornelius Schenck, Perry Holder, Elmer Gayle, Rowland Reighton, Harold Schenck, Russell Vail, John Schofield and Ira Vail; recitation, Bessie Randall; recitations and song, "Roses and Lilies," Mildred Caleen, Rose Hook, Elsie Dunavan and Ella Case; recitation, Flowers and Stars," Elsier Tier; song by the school, "In the Shady Woodland." A part of the programme was the baptism of nine little ones. The parents of these children presented them for baptism by Pastor Schenck, and it was very impressive. The children receiving the rite of baptism were; Carrie May Porter, Ella Augusta Porter, Romeyn VanZandt Voorhees, Raymond Wilson, Howard Kline Willett, Arthur Henry Seader, Edwin Westphal Schomp, Marjorie Alberta Storr, Benjamin Brooks Cooley.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Children's Day exercises were held at the Congregational church yesterday morning. Three infants were baptized by the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich. They were Arthur Collin Millard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Millard, Harold Dobbs Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, and Ruth Fuller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

JUSTICE TOOK A TUMBLE

STAKE STOPPED BICYCLE AND BRINGS ABOUT A CONVERSATION.

Justice Farley, of Somerville, Feels That He Has a Grievance Against J. B. Duke.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 11—There was an animated interview between Justice Edward Farley, of this place, and James B. Duke, the well-known tobacco manufacturer, at the residence of the latter on the Raritan river one mile from here at a late hour Saturday night. Justice Farley was called by important business to the summer place of Mrs. Evelyn Wentworth Murray, two miles up the river, and as it was a bright moonlight night he rode to the place on a bicycle. He returned by way of the river drive and when near the Duke residence his bicycle struck an object in the middle of the road which caused him to turn over in the air and strike the road with great force.

Justice Farley, who is a heavy man, lay stunned for a short time, and when he recovered he found his bicycle had been wrecked against a surveyor's stake which Mr. Duke's workmen had carelessly left driven in the road. Five minutes later Justice Farley, covered with dust and blood and carrying his broken bicycle, was in conversation with Mr. Duke at the door of his house. Owing to Justice Farley's dilapidated condition Mr. Duke failed to recognize his judicial dignity and believed he was resorting to a ruse to extort money from him.

When Mr. Duke refused to believe Justice Farley's statement that his mishap was due to the stake carelessly left in the road, Justice Farley indignantly left his wheel at Mr. Duke's door and walked home. Unless Mr. Duke now apologizes Justice Farley will bring action for damages.

LIVED TO RIPE OLD AGE.

A. C. Mollison, Father of Mayor Rockfellow's Wife, is Dead—Was Ninety Years Old.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, June 11—A. C. Mollison, one of the oldest and best known men in this part of New Jersey, is dead at his home as the result of a paralytic stroke, which came upon him Tuesday.

He was about ninety years of age, and had lived all his life in Bound Brook, as had his parents and grandparents before him, in the old Mollison homestead. The old house was burned in the big fire a few years ago, but otherwise the property is the same as it was a hundred years ago.

Mr. Mollison was the father of Mrs. George Rockfellow, wife of Mayor Rockfellow, of Plainfield.

WORKING IN THIRD WARD.

Bicycle Thief Took Edward Hardingham's Wheel Saturday Evening While Owner Was Calling.

While Edward Hardingham, of Clinton avenue, was calling at the home of Miss Clara Williams, of Madison avenue, Saturday evening, he left his wheel outside leaning against the house. The wheel was there at 10 o'clock. Half an hour later it was gone. It is evident that the bicycle thief is now turning his attention to the Third ward where he has some magnificient opportunities. No trace of Hardingham's wheel has yet been found.

Lightning Killed a Horse.

A horse owned by George Belcher, of Watchung avenue, was killed last Friday evening by a bolt of lightning. The horse was out to pasture in land owned by Augustus Bronson which is located near Washington Rock, and around this pasture field was a wire fence. The animal was standing close to the fence, and his neck touch it. A very sharp bolt of lightning passed along the fence and instantly killed the horse.

New Secretary Chosen.

Yesterday morning at the First Baptist church the Sunday-school teachers held a special meeting to elect a permanent secretary. Charles R. Rittenhouse, a new-comer to the church and Sunday-school, was elected to the position. It was expected that Douglass Drake, the assistant secretary, would be elected, but Mr. Rittenhouse received the most number of votes.

Consumption Was Fatal.

The death of Miss Margaret Goodfellow, sister of Preston B. Goodfellow, of 144 Netherwood avenue, occurred Saturday night after an illness of one year with consumption. She was 52 years of age and had lived in this city for many years. The funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at the late home at 2 o'clock. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

TOWNSEND IN LEAD FOR PRESIDENT'S CUP

Also Defeated Taylor in Match for Green Committee Challenge Trophy.

PLAYING GOOD GOLF NOW.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT PARK GOLF CLUB COURSE SATURDAY.

Miss Howell and Miss Elsberg Are Now Tied for the Hooley Cup—Morgan T. Townsend Defeated Taylor Four Up.

A great crowd of golfers enjoyed the almost perfect weather at the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. The weekly competitions for the green committee challenge trophy, the president's cup and the Hooley cup occupied the attention of many of the members. Honors of the day were divided among Morgan T. Townsend, Meredith Dryden and Miss Daisy Elsberg.

The match for the green committee challenge trophy resulted in another change. Last week Fred P. Taylor took the trophy away from W. J. R. Thiers. This time Taylor lost it to Morgan T. Townsend four up. Townsend is playing good golf this year. In his match with Taylor he played steadily and evenly, taking the first round three up. His second round was not quite as good, but on the eighth his brilliant three helped him. The score of the Townsend-Taylor match was as follows:

Townsend, out.....4 5 6 5 6 5 5 5 7—43
Taylor, out.....4 6 4 5 8 6 6 4 9—51
Townsend, in.....4 6 6 6 6 6 3 7—50—93
Taylor, in.....4 7 5 6 5 9 5 4 8—52—103

Over a score started out in the weekly competition for the president's cup, handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, and fifteen cards were turned in. Meredith Dryden, the club secretary, won easily with the assistance of his handicap of 22. M. T. Townsend and W. de la R. Anderson, both scratch men, tied for second honors with 98 each. Senator Chas. A. Reed followed them closely. W. J. R. Thiers played, but in nothing like his usual form. George T. Rogers, of the green committee, showed great golf in his first round, but fell into hard luck on the second. The scores were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net
Meredith Dryden	115	22	93
Morgan T. Townsend	98	0	98
W. de la R. Anderson	98	0	98
Charles A. Reed	119	20	99
D. A. McGee	126	25	101
Fred P. Taylor	103	0	103
George T. Rogers	122	19	103
H. D. Hibbard	116	12	104
S. St. John McCutchen	130	22	108
Wm. J. R. Thiers	109	0	109
Volney F. Green	131	22	109
W. J. Buttfield	141	30	111
C. W. McCutchen	148	30	118

In the race for the president's cup Morgan T. Townsend leads. The points for that trophy stand as follows:

Morgan T. Townsend	4½
Meredith Dryden	3
W. de la R. Anderson	1½
George T. Rogers	1½
Charles A. Reed	1½

In the play for the Hooley cup, ladies' handicap, nine holes, medal play, first honors went to Miss Daisy Elsberg. Miss Saidee Mae Howell was way off her usual game and was beaten on her gross score by Miss Elsberg. Two new competitors appeared in Mrs. J. H. Howell and Miss Nellie Valiant. Miss Elsberg and Miss Howell are now tied for the trophy, with five points each, and Miss Valiant has one point. The scores for the Hooley cup were as follows:

	Gross.	Hand.	Net.
Miss Daisy Elsberg	80	13	67
Miss Saidee Mae Howell	82	0	82
Miss Nellie Valiant	96	10	86
Mrs. J. H. Howell	101	13	88

Heard From Missing Husband.

Mrs. Wilson Bellis, formerly of Plainfield, but now of Elizabeth, whose husband left her destitute two weeks ago was in Plainfield Saturday evening and said that she had heard from him and that he was in Chicago. Bellis gave no explanation of his conduct or as to when he would return home. His parents live in this city.

Noted Missionary to Speak.

Under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Crescent Avenue church, Rev. Dr. Paton, a missionary of note, will speak Friday evenig of this week in the church. All of the Endeavor societies in the city have been invited to attend the services.

Killed a Cow and Two Dogs.

During the severe thunder storm of Friday evening a bolt struck the barn of Mr. Wright, of Park avenue, killing one of his cows and two dogs belonging to a man named Calloway, who is employed about the place.

House Sold for Cash.

One of the five new houses now being erected at Garwood by J. R. Maxwell was sold Saturday evening to a Plainfield man for $2,900 cash.

A very interesting programme of instrumental and vocal music and recitations has been arranged. The music will be under the direction of Mrs. Honeyman.

Saves Two From Death.

"Our little daughter had an almost fatal attack of whooping cough and bronchitis," writes Mrs. W. K. Haviland, of Armonk, N. Y., "but when all other remedies failed, we saved her life with Dr. King's New Discovery. Our niece, who had consumption in an advanced stage also used this wonderful medicine and today she is perfectly well." Desperate throat and lung diseases yield to Dr. King's New Discovery as to no other medicine on earth. Infallible for Coughs and Colds. 50c and $1.00 bottles guaranteed by L. W. Randolph. Trial bottles free.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

The Misses Waring, of Park avenue, are spending a short time with out of town friends.

Word has been received that Dr. Hallock, who is now ill in a hospital in New York, is slightly improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Auten, of Perth Amboy, spent Sunday with Mrs. Auten's parents on Central avenue.

The Misses Deyo, of New York, have been the guest of Miss Lydia P. Ackerman, of West Seventh street.

John Doull Miller, of East Ninth street, will entertain the men's Bible class of Hope chapel at his home Friday evening, June 15.

The marriage of Mrs. Florence Ross Potter, of West Seventh street, and A. R. Sheppard, of Chicago, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles Potter, of West Seventh street.

FOR A CUBAN NAVY.

A Plan For Sixty Ships—Cuban Justice a Matter of Dollars and Cents.

HAVANA, June 11.—General Lacret has brought before Governor General Wood the plan which originated last year for forming a Cuban navy, to be composed at the outset of 60 vessels, having in view for the present the protection of Cuban fisheries and the prevention of smuggling.

He desires that all the naval property be turned over to the Cubans and that a large staff be employed at the naval arsenal in repairing ships which could be made self supporting. In the scheme many officers are arranged for, together with numerous clerks of departments and subdepartments.

Last year the entire plan was rejected as unnecessary, it being felt that 12 small revenue cutters would be adequate and that these could be maintained much cheaper in connection with the customs department. General Wood takes the same view, and the Cuban navy, therefore, will probably remain in abeyance until Cuba is independent.

Cuban "justice" is recognized as having become merely a matter of dollars and cents, and the Cuban lawyers seem to object to all reforms. For instance, the charge against Secretary Souza of the cathedral court, who was arrested Friday night for bribery, has not been referred to by any Havana paper printed in Spanish. One editor, when the case was called to his attention, said he could not afford to antagonize men holding such positions. Even though marked money was found on Souza's person and the conversation between him and Carlos Bacarrisse, in which he said that justice cost money, was overheard by a detective whom Bacarrisse had employed at the suggestion of Governor General Wood, it is still felt that the official will not be punished.

A similarly gloomy view is taken with reference to the outcome of the custom house fraud cases.

BLOODIEST DAY YET.

Three Dead and Five Injured In St. Louis' Streets.

ST. LOUIS, June 11.—Sunday was one of the most eventful and bloody days since the great strike on the St. Louis Transit lines began more than a month ago. There were numerous encounters between strikers and other individuals and the constituted authorities, resulting in three deaths and the wounding of five or more persons, mostly strikers. One of the latter will die.

The dead are C. Edward Thomas, striking conductor on the Chouteau avenue line, shot in breast by a deputy sheriff and died on the way to the hospital; George Rine, striking motorman on the Delmar avenue line, shot in abdomen by a deputy sheriff and died at hospital, and Fred Boehm, aged citizen, shot and instantly killed while standing in his front yard by a deputy sheriff.

The wounded are Ed Burkhardt, striking conductor on the Delmar avenue line, shot in head and may die; Oscar Marvin, conductor on the Lee avenue line, shot in right hand and arm; August Smith, shot in right arm and breast, and Charles Ludwig, shot in hand.

The day was quiet until afternoon, when the police were taken off a number of street car lines for the purpose of giving them a rest and to test the ability of the Transit company to operate without friction. Cars were in operation during the daytime on all the lines of the Transit company except the Southwestern. Last night cars were run under police protection until midnight on the Park avenue, Olive street, Lindell division and Laclede avenue line.

Governor Getting Troops Ready.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 11.—Governor Stephens said last evening that everything was being put in readiness for calling out the national guard of Missouri to quell disorder in St. Louis consequent on the street railway strike, but he will not issue the call except as a last resort. It will cost, he said, $5,000 to land 2,500 men in St. Louis and as much per day to maintain them, and as there is no appropriation for that purpose he does not know how the legislature would view a deficiency of $100,000 for maintaining troops in St. Louis. It might, he said, require an extra session of the legislature to appropriate the money.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Americans and Englishmen are to erect a $7,000,000 pulp mill at Grand Falls, N. B.

Over 8,000,000 people have already passed the turnstiles of the Paris exposition.

The Pittsburg printers' strike, started in December last, has been officially declared off.

Bernard Morris, a caretaker of the lawns in Prospect park, Brooklyn, celebrated his one hundred and eighth birthday anniversary.

A bill prohibiting the manufacture or sale of intoxicating liquors in Prince Edward Island has just been passed by the legislature of that province.

Two negroes were hanged, shot and burned by a mob in Mississippi, another was hanged in Louisiana for suggesting opposition to the whites, and a fourth was shot.

Moody's Request Granted.

EAST NORTHFIELD, Mass., June 11.—At the semiannual meeting of the board of trustees of the Northfield seminary the old board was re-elected, except that Mrs. J. H. Harris of New London, wife of the late professor of the board, wished her name dropped. The two new members elected to the board were Paul Dwight Moody to fill the vacancy caused by the death of his father, Dwight L. Moody, and Mr. George E. Keith of Brockton, Mass. By the appointment of Mr. Moody's son to this position Mr. Moody's last request from his deathbed is fulfilled. The treasurer's report was very encouraging.

A Negro Business League.

TUSKEGEE, Ala., June 11.—After consulting substantial colored men in all parts of the country Booker T. Washington of Tuskegee has decided to assist in the organization of a national negro business league. The organization of this body is to encourage colored people through the central organization and local organizations to enter all avenues of business. The first meeting will be held in Boston Aug. 23 and 24.

Icehouses Burned.

DRESDEN, Me., June 11.—Fire destroyed the icehouses of the American Ice company here. The buildings had a capacity of 35,000 tons and contained 20,000 tons of ice, which was harvested last winter.

"What will you do there, my pretty maid?"
"I'll get great bargains, sir," she said.
"He sells magazines at the publishers' price,
And his store is just delightfully nice.
He has pretty inkstands and paper weights,
Alphabet blocks and transparent slates.
"He has all the popular novels, too,
And special books he'll get for you.
He has paper napkins and fountain pens,
And the sweetest, loveliest, dearest things.
He has dominoes, checkers and playing cards,
Duplicate whist and tally cards,
Crokinole, archarena and also chess,
And all other kinds of games, I guess.
"He has papeteries in greatest array,
From the daintiest tints to the very gay—
"You've said quite enough, my pretty maid,
I must see that wonderful store," he said.

READY FOR THE CONVENTION.

Some Facts About the Place Where National Republicans Will Meet.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.—The Republican convention city of 1900 has everything in readiness practically for the quadrennial gathering of the Republicans of the United States ten days in advance of the date fixed for the opening session. All the hard work and all the anxious moments attending the preparations for the coming of the Republican hosts are over, and the city is beginning to dress up to receive its guests. The magnificent convention hall on the west bank of the Schuylkill river is complete in every detail and awaits only the hour of noon, June 19.

The convention hall is located in West Philadelphia, close to the University of Pennsylvania's group of buildings, and is a mile and a half from the national committee headquarters and the hotel district. Transportation to and from the hall is ample, the facilities in this respect having been thoroughly tested time and time again last fall during the National Export exposition, on which grounds the great hall is located and to whom it belongs. The auditorium has been pronounced by Republican national leaders and newspaper correspondents who have attended many national conventions to be the most magnificent in appearance and the most complete in every detail of any structure built in this country for a similar purpose.

The seating capacity of the place is close to 16,000. The main floor is provided with 34 entrances. The main entrance is at the north, and the stage is at the southern end, eight feet above the main floor. The press stand for 500 working newspaper men is directly in front of the stage and is four feet above the main floor. In front of the press stand is the space for delegates, which is exactly in the center of the hall. Back of the delegates are the alternates' seats.

Back of the stage and away from the noise of the crowd are located numerous committee rooms. The telegraphic facilities are ample, the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies and the Associated Press having spacious rooms close to the stage, reached by tunnels under the seats. There are nearly 200 wires running into the hall.

The exterior view of the hall is beautiful. For months the city's forester and landscape gardeners have been at work beautifying the grounds surrounding the hall. The main entrance to the building stands back 600 feet from the gate of the fence which surrounds the ground. The approach to the hall, known locally as the Esplanade, is well covered with fine shrubbery and young trees.

The building will be turned over to the national committee this week. The committee of citizens having charge of the arrangements has raised nearly $130,000 for the convention. One hundred thousand of this amount was for the national committee, and the remaining $30,000 is for the expenses of altering the hall.

Dr. Gibier Killed In Runaway.

TUXEDO PARK, N. Y., June 11.—Dr. Paul Gibier, head of the sanitarium at Suffern, N. Y., and of the Pasteur institute of New York city, died yesterday from the effects of injuries received in a runaway the previous evening. Dr. Gibier, who was 45 years old, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Horen, 72 years old, started out for a drive about 8 o'clock on Saturday evening. They had not gone far from the house when the horse took fright at fireworks which some boys were exploding in the road. The animal dashed down the road, and a wheel of the vehicle caught in a tree. Dr. Gibier and Mrs. Horen were thrown to the ground. Dr. Gibier's head struck on a stone, and he was rendered unconscious. Mrs. Horen was so badly stunned by her fall that she was unable to rise and lay in the road helpless.

Pennsylvania Coal.

HARRISBURG, June 11.—The annual report of James E. Roderick, chief of the bureau of mines, for the year 1899 shows that there was produced during that period 54,034,224 tons of coal in the anthracite region of Pennsylvania and 78,066,943 tons in the bituminous region. The average number of days worked in the anthracite region was 120 and 290 in the bituminous region. There were 366 mines in operation in 1899 in the anthracite region, giving employment to 140,563 persons, and 776 mines in the bituminous district, employing 91,442 persons.

To Close Carshops.

NEW YORK, June 11.—R. S. Cox, district manager of the American Car and Foundry company, says that the shops of the company at Depew, near Buffalo, are to be shut down temporarily on account of the recent labor troubles. No car construction will be assigned to either the Buffalo or the Depew shops until the labor agitation ceases. The company cannot afford to take the chances of contracting for work which may be interrupted any moment by a strike. There are 900 men in the works at Depew and 600 employed in Buffalo.

Philippine Exports.

WASHINGTON, June 11—The important information is given out by the division of customs and insular affairs of the war department that the exports at the port of Manila for the first three months of 1900 show an increase of $2,050,443 over the same period of 1899. The exports for January, 1899, were $1,252,803; for January, 1900, $558,376; for February, 1899, $3,459,568; for February, 1900, $1,690,731; for March, 1899, $868,631; for March, 1900, $6,382,338.

The Pope Able to Be Out.

ROME, June 11.—The pope went to St. Peter's cathedral yesterday to participate in the ceremony of veneration in the case of two Italian saints recently canonized. Thirty thousand people were present. He was borne on the sedia gestatoria, surrounded by 20 cardinals and the papal court. He seemed in good health and, when giving the blessing to the pilgrims, rose from his seat briskly as if he wished to reassure the congregation regarding his condition.

Tornado In Illinois.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 11.—A terrific windstorm has passed over this section. In Springfield a number of shade and fruit trees were destroyed, and reports from neighboring cities for a radius of 40 miles show great damage done to fruit trees. At Petersburg and Athens several buildings were injured, and at the latter place the tower of the electric light plant was destroyed. The damage will aggregate thousands of dollars.

A Transport From Manila.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The United States transport Grant has arrived here from Manila and has been sent to the quarantine station.

BOLD RAID BY BOERS

Railroad Torn Up and British Supplies Cut Off.

MOVEMENTS INDICATE MORE FIGHTING

General Buller's Recent Victory Will Enable Him to Aid Lord Roberts In His Operations—Rundle and Brabant at Hammonia.

LONDON, June 11.—The Boers have torn up 21 miles of Lord Roberts' vital line of railway between America Siding and Roodeval. It is a bold raid and vexatious, but it does not disquiet the military authorities as yet, for they expect General Kelly-Kenny to drive off the marauders and to reopen the line.

The rapidity of the advance of Lord Roberts cannot have permitted him to accumulate large reserves of stores, therefore an interruption of the railway even for a week must embarrass the army and may bring the forward operations to a standstill.

Nothing has been heard from Lord Roberts for three days. This raid on the railway, the strenuous opposition to General Rundle and the nimble escape of Commandant General Botha's division forced the war office observers to the reluctant conclusion that the war is not yet over, although even the occasional civilian Boer sympathizer cannot see how the Boers will be able to do anything to change the result.

General Buller is in Boer territory. Dispatches of correspondents with him filed yesterday at Sunset describe the corps as camping at Gansolei, close to the point where the frontiers of the Free State, the Transvaal and Natal meet.

"The British marched eight miles yesterday," says a Reuter correspondent, "before encountering any opposition. The Boers, who had one gun, withdrew under heavy ordnance fire to a ridge just ahead of the camp."

This long range, running skirmish will doubtless be renewed this morning. General Buller is expected to make rapid progress now and to throw the weight of 20,000 men into Lord Roberts' Transvaal combinations.

The fighting on June 6, in which there were fewer than 20 casualties, was kept up all day long by musketry and artillery. The British attacking line, three miles in length, made its way amid the precipitous hills. A Boer gun on Spitz kop fired shrapnel rapidly at a range of 400 yards at the British right flank, but every shell was buried in the ground before bursting. The defensive power of modern weapons seems less effective in rough country than upon levels where wide spaces can be covered with flat trajectories.

General Rundle's and General Brabant's divisions are still at Hammonia, in the Ficksburg distrct. The latest intelligence from their headquarters is that the Boers are determined to fight to the bitter end. They are concentrating 4,000 men around Bethlehem. The country between them and General Rundle is mountainous and resembles northern Natal in being exceedingly difficult for military operations.

The war office has received the following dispatch from Sir Redvers Buller, dated from his headquarters in Natal, June 10:

"With reference to my telegram of June 8: We halted yesterday to get our trains up the pass, which is very steep. I find the enemy were about 2,000 strong in a very carefully prepared position, which they must have been very disheartened not to have held longer than they did. They have all retired about 26 miles to the northwest.

"I find our casualties were more than I first thought. They were one officer wounded and two men killed and 13 wounded."

General Sir Forestier-Walker wires to the war office from Cape Town under Sunday's date as follows:

"Information received from natives early yesterday (Saturday) reports the enemy in three columns near Honing spruit. The railway has been almost completely destroyed between America and Roodeval."

Consul Hay Thanked.

CAPE TOWN, June 11.—The British high commissioner, Sir Alfred Milner, has telegraphed United States Consul Hay at Pretoria thanking him for his services in connection with the British prisoners at Waterval. A widespread feeling of gratitude exists for the good work done by Mr. Hay and also by United States Consul General Stowe here.

Dr. Jameson For Parliament.

KIMBERLEY, June 11.—In reply to a petition to stand for parliament Dr. Jameson said that he would accept, as everything points to the federation of the different states in South Africa within the empire in a few years. He will work for the establishment of a great imperial party under the British flag.

A Murder Case Recalled.

TOPEKA, June 11.—The supreme court has reopened the celebrated murder case of George Dobbs and Mrs. Amelia New, now serving life sentences in the Lansing penitentiary for the murder, near Eureka in 1897, of Joseph New, the woman's husband. The court has granted a writ of coram nobis, which is in effect an order to the district court to hear the application for a new trial, which the lower court had refused. Dobbs and Mrs. New were convicted two years ago. The theory was that they were in love and conspired to get rid of New so they might marry. After they had been in the penitentiary for some time Alvin Ballard, sent up for horse stealing, asserted he could prove that Dobbs and Mrs. New were innocent.

A Head Filled With Water.

TOLEDO, O., June 11.—James McNeely, a 13-year-old boy of Avondale, died after suffering from enlargement of the skull, his head measuring 30½ inches in circumference. When the skull was opened at the autopsy the physicians were surprised to find that it inclosed five and a half quarts of fluid as clear as crystal. The brain, instead of being solid, was hollow, and in the interior was this fluid. The skull was a mere shell of scarcely a sixteenth of an inch. Young McNeely was unusually bright; in fact, he was further advanced in this respect than most boys of his age.

Large Tannery Destroyed.

MELLEN, Wis., June 11.—Fayette Shaw & Co.'s tannery has been destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at $100,000. Nine hundred men are thrown out of employment. The plant will probably be rebuilt.

TROLLEY CARS CRASH

Four Killed, Twenty-six Injured, at Providence.

CROWDED WITH PLEASURE SEEKERS

Accident Caused by Efforts of a Motorman to Make a Switch on a Single Track Road--Curve Hid Approaching Car.

PROVIDENCE, June 11.—A frightful accident resulting in the loss of four lives and the injuring of 26 persons occurred on the Oakland Beach Electric road yesterday. Two cars met in a head on collision on a sharp curve. The car coming toward the city telescoped the down trip car, crashing its way through to the fifth seat.

The killed are: Arthur Liscomb, George W. Baker, 15 months old; Lewis C. Sanborn, Providence; Ed D. Burroughs, motorman.

The injured are: Lieutenant Governor O. O. Kimball, Providence, not expected to live; C. N. Kingsley, Pawtucket; Mrs. Kingsley, Pawtucket; William Malliet, 1 Prince street; H. A. Palmer, 62 Weybosset street; H. T. Palmer, 298 Point street; S. B. Bragg, 61 Carpenter street; Mary Tourtillot, 150 Lockwood street; William J. Bogerdy, Mrs. Bogerdy and son, 1 Redwing street; Owen J. Hurley, Mansfield; D. Balacock, 134 Chapin avenue; George Baker, 108 Livingston street; Mrs. Baker; Florence Baker; Thomas Jackson and Mrs. Jackson, 18 Calla street; E. J. Fleming, Mrs. Fleming and two children, 26 Susan street; unknown woman, 32 years old; J. E. Brown, 418 Friendship street; F. E. Manchester, Oakland Beach; Henry Hanlon, motorman; Claude E. Harris, conductor.

The catastrophe is the worst on record hereabouts, and additions to the death list are hourly expected, as quite a number of the injured are at the hospital in a precarious condition. The accident occurred through the efforts of Motorman Burroughs to make a switch on the line, which is a single track. He had been given his signal to go ahead and followed orders with the above results.

Ordinarily the cars run on 30 minute schedule, but on Sundays the travel is extremely heavy, and yesterday 15 minute time was in vogue. The car which left this city at 11:30 was not one of the regular cars on the road, being smaller and of vestibule build. The car left the city terminus and before it had reached the outskirts of the city was packed, passengers even standing in the aisles. When the car reached Warwick station, it stopped to allow passengers to alight. According to schedule, Conductor F. A. Manchester should have waited a few minutes at the turnout to allow the up bound Oakland Beach car to pass. He rang the signal to go ahead, and Motorman Edward D. Burroughs put on his power, and the car was soon running at a lively rate of speed. Just beyond the station is a curve, then a straight stretch of road, and then comes a sharp curve in a deep cut, where the hill was cut through to make way for the rails. It is impossible for a motorman to see beyond the curve, as on the left is a high bank, hiding the rails from view. The regular car left Oakland Beach on its trip to the city, and Motorman Harry Hanlon was making his regular time to the turnout at the Warwick station. He was unconscious of the fact that the down bound car was speeding on its errand of death and destruction. Suddenly there flashed before his vision a car sweeping toward him. The curve seemed to lend additional speed to the cars. Quick as a flash Hanlon shut off his power and applied his air brakes, which stopped the car instantly. The down bound car came on in spite of the efforts of the motorman to check its speed. There was a crash, and the car telescoped. The Oakland Beach car tore its way through the other car, crushing all before it like an eggshell.

Loaded Cannon Found.

KANSAS CITY, June 11.—It has been discovered that the Spanish cannon loaned Kansas City several months ago by the government to be placed in one of its parks as a trophy of the Cuban war is loaded. The war department has been searching for the cannon for some time and has sent letters to different cities warning recipients of cannon sent them from Washington to be on the lookout for a loaded gun. Mayor Reed yesterday received such a notice. An investigation was started, and it was found that the cannon received by Kansas City has been loaded to the brim with powder and projectiles ever since it left Manila. The cannon had not yet been placed in position.

City Officials Remove Poles.

GENEVA, N. Y., June 11.—The city authorities removed all the poles on the principal business streets here yesterday. The electric companies had refused to take them down, although ordered to do so. The officials chose Sunday so that an injunction could not be served on them. There were several fights during the execution of the order to remove the poles. Several union men attacked a nonunion man employed in one of the shops, and a free fight ensued. It is expected that arrests will follow.

A Requisition For Taylor.

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 11.—Sheriff Suter has returned from Hot Springs. A consultation by the officials of the prosecution will be held, and it is probable that a requisition for extradition of former Governor Taylor will be asked for at once.

Pioneer Shipbuilder Dead.

CLEVELAND, June 11.—Isaac W. Nicholos, a pioneer shipbuilder, is dead, aged 85. He built the first three masted schooner on the lakes, the Escanaba, which is still in commission, and he also built the first steel steamer, the Orono.

Murder at a Picnic.

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 11.—John Beck of this city, while with a picnic party at Clifton, this county, was killed by Robert Mendenhal, a farmer, who became incensed over the upsetting of a crock of cream by the picnickers.

The Paris Grand Prix.

PARIS, June 11.—The Grand Prix de Paris was won by Baron A. de Schickler's Semendria, the betting against which was 7 to 1. M. Th. Carter's Love Grass, 40 to 1, was second and M. J. de Bremond's Lago, 8 to 1, third.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; brisk southwesterly winds.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

Miss Lillian Thorn, of East Third street, is greatly improved from a recent illness.

Miss Lizzie Powelson, of East Millstone, is visiting Plainfield friends for a few weeks.

William Day, of New street, has returned from an extended absence from the city.

Justice E. D. Moffett and wife, of Orchard place, spent Sunday in Brooklyn with friends.

Miss Alberta Irwin, of New York, is the guest of Miss Evelina DuB. Benton, of Central avenue.

Walter Bennett, of the borough, has secured a position at the Plainfield Electric Light station.

Mrs. Winter, of East Fifth street, who has been quite ill, has recovered and is able to be out again.

Mayor Smalley, of the borough, is now improving rapidly from a severe attack of quinsy sore throat.

Dr. Frank Hallock, who is ill at Muhlenberg Hospital with typhoid fever, is steadily improving.

Joseph Darby, of Dog Corners, is confined to his home with a very severe attack of rheumatism.

Miss Mary Anna Shreve, of Philadelphia, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs E. A. Laing, of Grove street.

Miss Edith DuBois, of Park avenue, has been entertaining relatives from Hunterdon county for several days.

Miss Stella Dundon, of Brooklyn, is enjoying a visit with her sister, Mrs. Robert M. Clark, of Somerset place.

Miss Leila M. Cruikshank, of Belvidere avenue, is home from Ogantz School, Ogantz, Pa., for the summer.

Miss Clara Williams, of Madison avenue, is enjoying a visit from her friend, Miss Livezey, of Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Morse, of Franklin place, left this morning for Oriskany Falls, N. Y., to spend a few days.

W. R. Codington, of Sandford avenue, spent Sunday with his family at their summer home, near the Passaic river.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert C. Williams, of Elizabeth, are guests at the home of Joseph E. Morse, of Franklin place.

Mrs. Disborough, of Central avenue, leaves this week for Stroudsburg, Pa., where she will spend the summer months.

Miss Lillian Fritts, of Park avenue, left today for Asbury Park, where she will remain for a time. She was accompanied by Miss Marion Smith, also of Park avenue.

Henry Eggerding, of Arlington avenue, was a visitor Saturday at the D. K. E. fraternity house of Rutgers College, New Brunswick, where he formerly attended.

Walter Dreier, of West Front street, who has been very ill at Mt. Sinai Hospital, New York, was brought home yesterday. His condition is not much improved, if any.

Rev. A. C. Nickerson, pastor of the Unitarian church, returned Saturday from Pennsylvania, where he has been attending a conference of Unitarians, and he occupied his pulpit yesterday.

Mrs. S. R. Krom, of Madison avenue, who has been attending the Women's convention in Milwaukee, is expected to return home today. Mrs. Florence R. Hall is also expected to arrive today.

REDUCED RATES TO PHILADELPHIA.

Seven Years in Bed.

"Will wonders ever cease?" inquire the friends of Mrs. S. Pease, of Lawrence, Kan. They knew she had been unable to leave her bed in seven years on account of kidney and liver trouble, nervous prostration and general debility, but "Three bottles of Electric Bitters enabled me to walk," she writes, "and in three months I felt like a new person." Women suffering from Headache, Backache, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Melancholy, Fainting and Dizzy Spells will find it a priceless blessing. Try it. Satisfaction is guaranteed. Only 50c at L. W. Randolph's drug store.

HOW TO ECONOMIZE.

SOME men economize so closely on the number of words in a telegram that the receiver cannot understand it. This is not sensible economy. Neither is it sensible economy to ruin garments of value with cheap soap or powerful chemicals that eat into the fabric. True economy uses Ivory Soap in the laundry. It is the most of pure soap that can be sold for the money. Chemically it is as innocent as water. Yet it does everything you can ask of a soap. Try it!

TROOPS FOR PEKING.

Fifteen Hundred Foreigners Leave Tien-tsin—Situation Grows Worse.

TIEN-TSIN, June 11.—About 1,500 foreign troops of all arms left for Peking by two troop trains yesterday morning.

The special train that went to examine the line and reconnoiter returned Saturday night. The railway was found clear two miles beyond Yang-tsu. The engineers, with the guards, walked a mile and a half farther. They found the ties and two bridges burned and the railway torn up. They saw a few hundred persons, apparently villagers, gathered ahead of them.

The first repair train, with Admiral Seymour and his staff, 650 British, Captain McCalla's 100, 40 Italians and 25 Austrians, left yesterday morning at half past 9. A Hotchkiss and other guns were mounted on a car in front of the engine. The rest of the guns were mounted in the center of the train. A second train left at 11, with 600 British, Japanese, Russian and French troops. Repairing material and new rails were taken along.

There are 31 foreign war vessels at Taku. A message from Peking to the admirals says that the situation is hourly growing more dangerous to foreigners. All those at Peking have taken refuge in Legation street. The civilian males are under arms to fight with the regulars if necessary. The approaches to Legation street are surrounded by howling mobs of undisciplined soldiery with cannon and bayonets. The international guard was holding off the mob, which screamed insults and threats.

This was the situation Saturday when the couriers got through with the latest dispatches. The empress dowager was amusing herself at the palace with theatricals.

It is reported that government arms are being dealt out to the Boxers. The troops of Tung Fuh Seang are said to be assisting to kill native Christians after malignant tortures.

No News From Minister Conger.

WASHINGTON, June 11.—Not a word has been received by the state or the navy department regarding the situation in China. Minister Conger has been in almost daily communication with the state department for the past week, so that the failure to hear from him is somewhat unusual. The general interpretation put upon his silence is that affairs have remained practically unchanged. At the same time the minister has been fully advised by the officials here as to his course in dealing with the situation so that he would be fully prepared to act without further communication with the state department.

Opening the Railroad to Peking.

LONDON, June 11.—The admirals at Taku, acting in concert, are forcibly reopening the railway from Tien-tsin to Peking. Gangs of laborers are repairing the damaged line, which is guarded by 1,500 men composed of detachments from the foreign fleets. One hundred Americans under Captain McCalla are among them. They have guns and armored trains for use when the line is repaired, which can hardly be effected before Monday night. Ten thousand troops of all nationalities, according to a dispatch to The Daily Express from Shanghai, will be sent to Peking to back up the demands of the ministers upon the government or, if necessary, to suppress the Boxers themselves.

British Troops on Waiting Orders.

HONGKONG, June 11.—Two hundred and fifty men of the Welsh fusileers, also sappers and miners, have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to proceed north on account of the Boxer disturbances. Their places will be filled by troops from India.

The Great Wheat Harvest.

PERRY, O. T., June 11.—The farmers of Oklahoma are in the midst of a tremendous wheat harvest. During the past week the self binders have been running almost day and night, and Sunday hundreds of machines were reaping the golden grain. Wheat men say that no such crop was ever before raised in the west as is being harvested in Oklahoma, southern Kansas, the Indian Territory and southern Texas. The acreage sown was unprecedented, and the quality of the grain was never better. Oklahoma alone will harvest more than 30,000,000 bushels.

AN ENORMOUS TASK.

Philippine Commission Finds a Serious Situation.

GOOD TIMBER FOR OFFICIALS SCARCE

The Natives Cannot Be Trusted to Fill Places of Responsibility—The Army Alone Prevents Anarchy. Results of Recent Scouting.

MANILA, June 11.—Judge William H. Taft and his colleagues of the Philippine civil commission were beset during their first week in Manila by a multitude of callers of all nationalities, professions and interests, who presented a bewildering assortment of recommendations touching military and civil policies. The commissioners maintained the attitude of unprejudiced listeners.

They admit that, while they anticipated an enormous task, the complexity and difficulty of the problems and conditions are well nigh staggering. They are determined, however, with the co-operation of the army in pacifying as well as in fighting, to make the Philippines a peaceful and honestly governed country before departing.

They find General MacArthur administering civil and military affairs in a way that is universally popular. The Filipino party embracing prominent insurrectionists who accepted American rule through force of circumstances is already making overtures for the discussion of a scheme of permanent government, practically reviving the old proposition of autonomy under an American protectorate.

There are, of course, some Filipinos who believed that Judge Taft would bring the millennium in his vest pocket, and these profess to be disappointed because sweeping changes are not enforced immediately. Judge Taft's utterances indicate a conciliatory policy toward the natives. He has conferred with the high army officers, some of whom strongly urge that a larger army is necessary to suppress the insurrection, believing that civil government will be impossible until the rampant rebellion in the southern districts of Luzon, in the extreme northern provinces of the island and in the Visayas, except Negros, is crushed.

One of the foremost questions is how and from what materials to organize a civil force with which gradually to supersede the army as a governing machine. Spain's auxiliary, the church, is necessarily barred from consideration. American experience with the natives discourages the hope of honest government through them until a generation or more of training shall have eradicated the results of Spain's tutelage. A large proportion of the provincial officials already installed have proven treacherous, while the native police and officials here in Manila are living on a scale of luxury suspiciously disproportionate to their salaries. Charges against native judges of failing to account for thousands of dollars received in fines are under investigation.

At present the governmental alternatives are the army on one hand and anarchy on the other. General Otis' plan of municipal governments is being inaugurated in the principal towns of central Luzon and in parts of the Visayas, but the Filipinos persist in thinking that the question whether the United States will retain the Philippines is still open, and some local leaders ask that municipal elections be postponed until after the presidential election. Many people object to taking the oath of allegiance to the United States government, which is the first qualification for voting for municipal candidates.

The commissioners also find that the future state of the church in the Philippines is a leading question in the minds of many, although most of those who have talked with Judge Taft and his colleagues draw the inference that the commissioners are opposed to the reinstatement of the friars. Archbishop Chapelle has taken a strong stand in supporting the request of the friars to be established in their old positions.

As a result of last week's scouting more than 200 Filipinos were killed and 160 captured, while 140 rifles, with ammunition and stores, were secured.

The American loss was nine killed, including a captain and a lieutenant; two captains and 21 privates wounded and one captain taken prisoner by the Filipinos.

COMING EVENTS.

July 6—Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp at Lake Champlain.

In its attitude towards the ice trust in New York, the Journal—and the World, too, for that matter—has put its convictions and information to a most practical use in hailing the Mayor and other officials of the city to court where they have been subjected to an examination that has put them in a most unenviable light. The agitation and attack on the ice trust have passed the point where it can be regarded as simply a newspaper fight; it is now a serious proposition not only for the incriminated officials but as well for the honest citizens who desire to see municipal life freed of the men who have abused their position and power in such a flagrant manner.

It has been pointed out frequently by students of American National politics that New York and Indiana are two States which have oscillated between the two parties for many years. Indiana was Republican in 1872, Democratic in 1876, Republican in 1888, Democratic in 1892, and Republican in 1896, on the electorial ticket, while New York, going back further, was Republican in 1864, Democratic in 1868, Republican in 1872, Democratic in 1876, Republican in 1880, Democratic in 1884, Republican in 1888, Democratic in 1892, and Republican in 1896.

The members of the State Republican committee will meet for organization at Trenton tomorrow at 11 o'clock. There is no prospect that there will be any candidate for the position of chairman of the committee aside from Franklin Murphy, who has already served six terms in that position and has given eminent satisfaction. Among the members there is a belief that Mr. Murphy will be elected chairman by acclamation, and that the headquarters of the State organization will be in Newark, as formerly.

Salem county farmers are talking of forming an association to regulate the hours of work on the farm. They admit that they have a problem on their hands, but help is so scarce that it is thought by having regular hours for work men can be secured more easily. Some farmers want their hands to work from 13 to 17 hours. With regular hours, say from 12 to 14, they believe just as much work will be done.

As a municipality it is only a matter of time when the city will be called upon to collect and dispose of the garbage that gathers day by day. As pointed out in a news article in The Daily Press Saturday, Mayor Rockfellow recognizes that fact, and is preparing to grapple with it in a practical manner as soon as it is possible to do so.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Twenty girls—the newspapers say they were pretty—recenty went to Utah to get husbands. They declared they could not find eligible men to their liking in the east. Just think of it, while Chauncey M. Depew, David B. Hill, John Kean, Foster M. Voorhees and several others are bachelors. —Elizabeth Journal.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The Middlesex County Freeholders have decided to build a bridge over Woodbridge creek. The records of the county state that in 1681 at a town meeting the necessity for such a bridge was discussed, but the bridge was never built. The records do not say that the creek received its name from the prospective bridge.

Joseph Fuller. According to the usual custom, a Bible was presented to Amy Leslie Winant, who was baptized in the church and has now reached the age of seven. A class of nine, five girls and four boys, was graduated from the primary department into the Sunday-school. They took part in some special exercises under the charge of Miss Mary Robinson. Rev. C. L. Goodrich made a short address to the children.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

Bishop John Vincent was expected to be present at the Children's Day service of the Sunday-school of the First M. E. church, held in Vincent chapel yesterday afternoon, but he was unable to do so. A special exercise entitled "Voices from the Woodland" was held. It included responsive readings, songs by the school, recitations by Walter Kennedy, Helen Joy, Eldon Miller and Earl Linn. There was a selection by a quartette composed of Mrs. A. B. Meredith, Miss Edna Harris, E. A. Edgar and Elmer Cutting. Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass spoke on the object of Children's Day. Manila Dewey Symons, the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Symons, was baptized.

CRESCENT AVENUE CHURCH.

A Children's Day service was held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday morning. A chorus from the primary department of the Sunday-school occupied the choir loft and sang several times. Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards preached an appropriate sermon. The Sunday-school held its Children's Day exercises in the afternoon in the chapel. An exercise, entitled, "Forward," was held. The primary department held special exercises at the same time. The primary department has decided to support little Barbara Smith, the six-months old daughter of a Presbyterian missionary at Madras, India.

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Children's Day exercises at the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning was the most elaborate of recent years. Part first was devoted to instrumental music, an exercise by twelve scholars and another exercise entitled "What We Want in Our School," by seven members of the primary department. Part second was an emblematic piece entiled "The Water Life," given by the adult members of the school. The first part consisted of recitations by Miss Cora Brokaw, Miss Elsie Giles, Miss Helen Cuming, Clinton Hall, Miss Lizzie VanWinkle and Harry Cuming. Then followed representatives from heathen lands given by the following: Miss Bessie Giles, Miss Emily Runyon, Miss Mary Giles, Miss Elizabeth Runyon, Miss Adelaide Runyon, Miss May Thompson and Miss Laura Runyon. This was a very interesting part of the programme and was well given. At the conclusion of the exercises an address was given by Rev. Ackland Boyle, of Elizabeth. During the services Mr. D. M. Runyon, superintendent, and Miss Florence G. Hawkins, assistant-superintendent, were each presented with a book as a token of good will from the school.

SEVENTH DAY BAPTIST CHURCH.

The Children's Day services at the Seventh-day Baptist church were held Saturday morning. The church was handsomely decorated with red and white roses. The exercises included singing by the school, recitations and songs by the primary department and an address by William D. Murray. There were several anthems by the regular church choir.

Walter Sherwin, of Washington street, who played with several theatrical companies last year, has taken an important engagement with the "Under the Polar Star" company and will begin the season with them in September.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 11.—W. B Hayes will start the first of next month for Spain, where he will secure titles for his immense cattle ranch in Cuba, which he has formed into a stock company. There are at present about 13,000 head of cattle on the ranch.

Although the storm of Friday evening seemed to be very severe in the borough, as far as could be learned no place was struck by lightning. A bolt dropped in the yard of William Tabb, tearing up the lawn and smashing the fence. The strawberry beds of Firman Gise, of North and Jackson avenues, suffered considerably from the rush of water which occurred at that point.

Rev. H. C. Vanderwart preached to a full house in the Presbyterian church yesterday morning. His text was taken from Paul 2:15. The children's exercises were very interesting and consisted of songs and recitations by May Day, Nettie Baldwin, Lizzie Reusch, Hattie Giles, Sadie Steele, Robert Lowrie, Ray Voorhees, Susie Lowrie, Emma Baldwin and Florence Dickerson.

P. H. Thompson, who accepted a position at Scott's Press Works a short time ago, burned his foot so severely while at work last week that he will be unable to work for some time.

Dr. Brakeley is now making his professional calls in a handsome new road wagon, which he received from Somerville, Saturday.

The Dunellen Juniors played a team from Plainfield, Saturday morning, and defeated them by a score of 13 to 10.

A number of games were rolled at the meet of the Middlesex Bowling Club, held on Schepflin's greens, Saturday.

John Kennedy, who has been laid up with a broken arm, has returned to work inspecting on the Central.

Wm. Vance returned from Miller's Falls, Mass., Saturday, where he attended the funeral of a relative.

John James, of Bound Brook, was the guest of friends in the borough, Saturday.

Quite a number of wheelmen stopped at Taylor's hotel for dinner yesterday.

Clarence Harrison has accepted a position with Benjamin Pizie, of New Market.

Mr. and Mrs. James Vail spent yesterday with relatives at Plainfield.

Mrs. George Blair visited her parents at Piscataway yesterday.

Miss Cora Doty is visiting relatives in New York.

Court Dunellen, I. O. F., will meet this evening.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, June 11.—New Market escaped from the storm Friday with only a small amount of damage, mostly to sidewalks and roads, which resulted from the heavy rain.

Advertised letters remain in the postoffice for the past month for W. A. Fanrite and Oliver P. Sanborn.

Reginald G. Smith recently pulled a head of lettuce from his garden weighing two pounds and one ounce.

Francis Ginder, of Dunellen, captured a bass in the pond Saturday fifteen inches in length.

M. W. Casterline is making a number of improvements about his place.

Rev. Martin Sundall is on the sick list.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 11.—The large audience room of the Methodist church presented a very pretty appearance last evening when the members of the Sunday-school and their friends met to observe their annual Children's Day exercises. The room was filled with the school members and their friends. Rev. O. O. Woodruff, the pastor of the church, and also superintendent of the Sunday-school, deserves a great deal of credit for the high standard of the school which has grown and thrived under his superintendency.

The annual strawberry and ice cream festival of the Methodist church will be held in Excelsior Hall this evening. The proceeds are for the benefit of the church and as the ladies of the Methodist church are noted for their pleasant way of entertaining their guests a large crowd is expected to be present.

There seems to be unsettled rate of fare on the trolley line between Scotch Plains and Elizabeth. Some of the conductors insist on charging a 15 cent rate, while others charge 10 cents. Nearly every day there is an argument between conductors and passengers over the differences in the rate.

Wm. H. Lee, of the West Side Hotel, had a flag pole raising at his place on Saturday afternoon. The event was attended by a number of Mr. Lee's friends from Plainfield and the village.

A fair will be opened in Excelsior Hall tomorrow evening under the auspices of St. Mary's church, Stony Hill, and will be continued Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed at the close of the morning service in the Baptist church yesterday.

Mrs. G. M. Shott led the young people's meeting in the Baptist church last evening. Subject "Lives That Live."

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Terry were the guests of friends in Springfield yesterday.

Miss Sadie Reger entertained her sister from Westfield at her home yesterday.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, June 11—The Children's Day exercises at the church last night made fine entertainment. There was not a number on the programme but that deserves credit. The church was crowded.

Miss Nellie Manning returned home from Trenton Saturday. She will remain for one week and then go back to Trenton and graduate from the Normal School

The commencement exercises of the graduates of the township will be held in New Market Wednesday evening. Ralph Eckert is the only one from the local school.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Laing, of Perth Amboy, visited T. C. Laing, yesterday.

Mr. Jones let the water off the pond at noon Saturday. It will be dry for one week.

Catholic Chapel Dedicated.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 11.—The dedication of the new Catholic chapel at West Point, over which there has been much controversy during the past three years, took place yesterday. Bishop Farley officiated, assisted by Rev. Dr. McCready, rector of the Holy Cross church, New York city. A double quartet choir from the Holy Cross church and two dozen string instruments assisted in the ceremony. Hon. Elihu Root, secretary of war, and Paymaster General Bates, together with Colonel Mills, superintendent of the Military academy, and his staff, were present. The gathering consisted chiefly of army officers and their wives and many of the cadets. The chapel is of granite, of modern construction, and occupies the most prominent position on the post.

Heavy Storms In Wisconsin.

LACROSSE, Wis., June 11.—A most disastrous storm raged here Saturday night, and the damage was heavy. St. James' church was struck by lightning and burned to the ground. William Herman's icehouse also was struck and destroyed. The firemen were powerless to cope with the flames owing to lack of water pressure. Many small fires caused by lightning were extinguished by citizens. There were also fires in Onalaska, West Lacrosse and elsewhere. The losses will run up into the thousands. Heavy rains continue, adding to the damage done in the city and country. Telegraph and telephone wires suffered, and the street railway system is paralyzed.

Relief For Kumassi Hindered.

LONDON, June 11.—The Daily Express has the following dispatch, dated Saturday, from Prahsu: "The British relief force is now half way to Kumassi. The road is partly under water, being waist high at some points. Many of the carriers have deserted, and before advancing farther the relief column must await carriers from Sierra Leone with stores."

Two Negroes Hung.

BILOXI, Miss., June 11.—The negroes Askew and Ruse, who were believed to have murdered Miss Winterstein near here a week ago, were hanged to the same tree by a mob which had been watching for them for several days.

At Moody's Grave.

EAST NORTHFIELD, Mass., June 11.—The first public meeting on Round Top since the burial of Mr. Moody at that place occurred yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when the seminary students, trustees and friends of the school met for an hour. The same plan of service was carried out as had been Mr. Moody's custom in years gone by. At the close of the service the entire company surrounded the grave of Mr. Moody and sang some of his favorite hymns. The service was most impressive and was attended by the immediate family of Mr. Moody.

A Gift From Rockefeller.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., June 11.—Rev. James E. Rogers, one of the trustees, stated at a meeting of the trustees of Shurtle college, upper Alton, that John D. Rockefeller had offered the college a donation of $25,000 if the college would raise $75,000 additional. The offer was accepted. The college has heretofore received $10,000 from Mr. Rockefeller, the college raising $40,000 additional.

Suspected Murderer Hangs Himself.

CHESTER, Pa., June 11.—James Pierce, who, with his brother, "Pinny" Pierce, was charged with the murder of George B. Eyre of this city on Dec. 21 last, committed suicide in his cell at the county jail at Media. The trial of the brothers was to have commenced today.

Shot From Ambush.

MOBILE, June 11.—At Hal's Lake, near Jackson, Ala., John Ovess, a prominent planter, and his young son were riddled with buckshot by some one in ambush on the roadside. The father died instantly. The son lived long enough to tell who he thought the assassin was.

OVERAWED THE STRIKERS.

Thompson Showed Them That He Was a Dead Shot and Violence Ceased.

"Whenever I read of strike riots," said a civil engineer recently, according to the New York Sun, "I recall a small one that I witnessed years ago which was an object lesson. This strike was ordered in a big coal yard on the lower west side of town, which was owned by a friend of mine whom I may call Thompson. Thompson was not a big man, but he was an expert revolver shot. It was his pet fad and he spent a lot of time and burned much powder to perfect himself in it. He could hit coins thrown in the air and do all the well-known tricks with a revolver. In his coal yard were employed 25 or 30 husky coal handlers and when they were ordered on strike they started in to make trouble at once.

"Thompson engaged a new gang of men and sent them round to his yard, but they were beaten off by the strikers. Several very serious assaults occurred there on the first day of the trouble and Thompson was warned to stay away if he valued his life. He sent back word that they might expect him early the next morning and that he wanted to see all of the strikers in his yard to talk to them. The gang assumed that this meant capitulation on his part and they celebrated accordingly. Thompson invited me to go to the yard with him next morning and see the fun. We found the strikers there to a man. They looked confident. Thompson told the men to stand at one side of the yard. They obeyed, wondering what he proposed to do. He stepped over to the side of a big shed and with a piece of chalk drew roughly the outlines of a man. Walking back about 50 feet he said to the strikers:

"'I understand that you have handled some men pretty roughly in this neighborhood and you threatened to do me up if I didn't yield. Now, I am not that sort of a man. You fellows have made a mistake. I came here this morning to settle this matter and I am going to do it without the aid of the police. In an hour's time I expect a new gang of men here and I will see to it that you don't interfere with them.'

"The strikers were ugly at this unexpected statement, but before they could advance Thompson pulled his revolver and fired five shots as fast as he could pull the trigger. Every shot went into the head of the man drawn with chalk. He loaded his revolver and put next five shots into the chest of the chalk man. Then reloading his revolver he turned to the strikers and said:

"'Now, you loafers, get out of here. I don't want to have to shoot you, but I will do it if you make a break at me or at any of my new men. Clear out, now, quickly.'

"They did clear out and when the new men arrived Thompson was on the walk to meet them. Not one of the strikers dared to interfere. Some of the strikers came back later, but none of them ever offered any violence to Thompson. He had made his point."

Handwriting Expert.

"No," declared the defendant, "I couldn't have signed that note, because I can't write."

"Not even your name?" asked the prosecuting attorney.

"No. I just make my mark."

"Well, let's see you do that on this piece of paper." The defendant took the pen and made a crude X. Then above it he wrote "his" and below it "mark."—Philadelphia Press.

Hamburg. Die seit mehreren Jahren vermittelst des Doppelschrauben-Schnellpostdampfers „Auguste Victoria" der Hamburg-Amerika-Linie unternommene Vergnügungsfahrt nach Norwegen, dem Nordkap und Spitzbergen wird auch in diesem Jahre in gewohnter Weise vor sich gehen. Die Abfahrt der „Auguste Victoria" ist auf den 4. Juli 1900 festgesetzt, die Wiederankunft in Hamburg erfolgt am 26. Juli.—Der Hamburger Dampfer „Livorno," Kapitän Wallis, wird als verschollen erklärt. Das Schiff ist zweifelsohne mit 31 Mann Besatzung auf der Reise von New York nach Pernambuco, Brasilien, untergegangen. An Bord des Schiffes befanden sich auch zwei Berliner: der Heizer Otto Zantz und der zweite Assistent K. Fremberg.

Bremen. Der Bürgerschaft ist ein Projekt für den weiteren Ausbau der Außenweser zugegangen, dessen Kosten sich auf 5,000,000 Mark belaufen. Hauptsächlich handelt es sich um eine Regulirung des Fahrwassers im Dwarsgatt, dessen Tiefenverhältnisse sich trotz mehrjähriger angestrengter Arbeit seit dem Jahre 1896 kaum verbessert haben. Seit Beginn der Korrektionsarbeiten im Jahre 1895 hat die Verbesserung des Fahrwassers der Außenweser einen Kostenaufwand von 8,000,000 Mark erfordert.—Hierorts hat sich ein gewisser Louis Berger aus New York in der Weser ertränkt.—Der wiederholt bestrafte Ernst Grube in Bremen ist vom Schwurgericht zum Tode verurtheilt worden. Der Mörder hatte in der ersten Dezemberwoche v. J. fünf Mordanfälle gemacht, von denen der auf eine alte Frau mit dem Tode derselben endete. Grube hatte auch auf den Direktor Bremermann vom „Norddeutschen Lloyd" einen Raubmordversuch Abends auf der Straße gemacht, doch kam Direktor Bremermann mit einer leichten Verletzung davon.

Lübeck. Im nahen Dorfe Hassendeck sind 28 Gehöfte einer Feuersbrunst zum Opfer gefallen.

Wildeshausen. An dem Schaden, welchen die unlängst in unserem Städtchen ausgebrochene Feuersbrunst angerichtet, sind 16 Gesellschaften betheiligt, davon die „Thuringia" mit dem höchsten Betrage von 70,000 bis 80,000 Mark. Die staatliche Brandkasse hat etwa 227,500 Mark Entschädigung zu zahlen. Der Großherzog hat den Abgebrannten 1000 Mark überwiesen. Durch das Feuer waren in unserem 2000 Einwohner zählenden Orte 80 Häuser eingeäschert worden.

Mecklenburg.

Sülze-Marlow. Anläßlich der Besichtigung des hiesigen Amtsgerichts hat der Herzog-Regent Johann Albrecht die Entlassung des sozialistischen Zeitungsherausgebers Starosson aus dem Gefängniß verfügt. Starosson hatte von neun Monaten Gefängniß acht verbüßt.

Braunschweig. Anhalt.

Braunschweig. Der Prinz-Regent hat der hiesigen technischen Hochschule das Recht ertheilt, die Würde eines Doktor-Ingenieur zu verleihen.—Der Geheime Justizrath Haeusler ist im Alter von 77 Jahren gestorben. Haeusler war Vizepräsident des Landtages und Aufsichtsrathsmitglied verschiedener industrieller Gesellschaften.

Tresebürg. Die beiden großen Bodethalsperren sollen zu ihrer Herstellung 22,000,000 Mark kosten. Unterhalb hiesiger Sommerfrische, unmittelbar hinter dem Kesselrücken, gedenkt man die erste Sperre zu errichten, welche 55 Meter hoch wird. Das aufgestaute Wasser des gewaltigen Beckens reicht bis nach hiesigem Orte. Die zweite Sperre soll bei Wendefurth angelegt werden, durch welche ein weit inhaltreicheres Becken geschaffen wird.

Güsten. Das Arbeiter-Ehepaar Lindemann nahm, während es seiner Beschäftigung auf dem Felde nachging, sein fünfjähriges Söhnchen mit an die Arbeitsstätte. Dort bemächtigte sich das Kind der Branntweinflasche des Vaters und trank sie leer. Tags darauf ist der Knabe in Folge von Alkoholvergiftung gestorben.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Prinz Wilhelm von Hessen, ein Onkel des Großherzogs Ernst Ludwig, ist jüngsthin an einem Lungenleiden gestorben. Der Verstorbene, der ein Alter von 55 Jahren erreichte, war Großherzoglich Hessischer General der Infanterie.

Flonheim. Der Handelsmann Schneider dahier hat mit Hinterlassung mehrerer Tausend Mark Schulden das Weite gesucht. Unter den von dem Flüchtling Geschädigten befinden sich eine Anzahl wenig bemittelter Leute.

Gießen. Gegen den 46 Jahre alten Grafen zu Altleiningen-Westerburg, Friedrich Wichprecht Franz, welcher geflüchtet ist, hat die hiesige Staatsanwaltschaft einen Steckbrief erlassen. An dem Grafen sollte eine durch die Strafkammer verhängte Gefängnißstrafe von sechs Monaten vollstreckt werden.

Traveling salesmen must take their meals whenever and wherever they can get them. They bolt their food one minute and hustle to catch a train the next. Hasty meals and continual jolting in railroad trains bring on indigestion and dyspepsia. A druggist at Bridgeport, Conn., says he has long had quite a trade for Ripans Tabules among traveling men and it is becoming a practice with them to carry a supply in the grip. One of these men takes two a day and declares they have helped him a good deal. After an evening session with jack pots, tobacco and whiskey, nothing clears the head in the morning so early or so thoroughly as a Ripans Tabule taken just before going to bed, no matter how late the retiring hour may happen to be.

That are superior in quality are what we handle. It's very easy to keep a stock of meats which will be partly good and partly inferior and to sell a little of both to each customer; this we never do. Our meats are of superior quality, and with only ordinary care on the part of the cook, should give entire satisfaction. Cut from young cattle, sheep, etc., the beef, mutton and lamb is tender, juicy and of delicious flavor.

FASHION NOTES.

Items Regarding the Wardrobe For Warm Weather.

Roses, orchids, irises, anemones and white and yellow narcissuses are favorite flowers for millinery. Large butterflies are also still seen.

Lace, lace and yet again lace! Any chronicler of fashion must forever return to the theme of lace, for it is perpetually and universally used. Sacks and capes of lace have been already mentioned, and now there are redingotes of guipure over taffeta.

Satin foulard composes many summer gowns, the favorite design being a running pattern in white on a colored ground. Thin bengalines and voiles, however, rival foulard for costumes of the more pretentious variety and are ornamented with lace in all sorts of ways, chiefly, however, in bands of application.

VOILE COSTUME.

A novel and attractive gown of pale violet voile is shown in today's cut. The skirt is tight and smooth about the hips, forming a sort of yoke, which is bordered by a wide band of guipure edged with little puffings of violet mousseline de soie. From this yoke the rest of the skirt falls in accordion plaits and has a slight trail. The plain, smooth bodice has a yoke of guipure which covers the top of the sleeves, the yoke being outlined by a drapery of the voile fastened in front by two choux. The sleeves terminate a little below the elbow in a plaited frill headed by a draped band. The belt is a soft, fringed scarf of the voile fastened by a chou. The toque of spangled pale violet tulle is trimmed with mauve poppies. JUDIC CHOLLET.

THE WARDROBE.

Bodices, Skirts and Jackets For the Summer.

Bodices differing from the skirt are still in high favor, but are used only for ordinary wear and for demitoilet, elaborate costumes having the skirt and waist alike. The universal adoption of the tailor made gown, with its bolero or open front jacket, has given the differing waist an opportunity to root itself firmly in favor.

Skirts are plaited or gathered all around the waist or only over the hips and at the back or are quite plain, mounted in a watteau plait behind.

Boleros and adjustable tailor made jackets have no whalebones. The collar, revers and cuffs are alone stiffened with canvas interlinings. An open front jacket should always have beneath it a complete bodice, such as a shirt waist or a vest with a back. The separate front and collar cannot be used unless it is fastened firmly to a bodice beneath, which will keep it in its proper place.

GIRL'S DRESS.

The cut illustrates a dress for a little girl of 8 years. It is of gray woolen goods, and the skirt is laid in box plaits all around and bordered with an embroidered design. The bodice is laid in three box plaits, back and front, and has a yoke of tucked silk framed in a bertha composed of square tabs of guipure. The sleeves are tight and plain, and the belt is of silk, fastening with a chou. The straw hat is trimmed with a bow of changeable taffeta. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WASTE THEIR LIVES.

Retired Statesmen Who Make Their Home at Washington.

No Other City in the World Contains So Many Pitiable Pictures of Departed Greatness—Some Notable Instances.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THE author of the play "King Henry VIII.," who enriched the literary world with most sage philosophy and unrivaled delineations of the characteristics of human nature, penned no more pathetic lines than those of Lord Wolsey:

"Had I but served my God with half the zeal
I served my king, He would not in mine age
Have left me naked to mine enemies."

Times change, but human nature changes not. Lord Wolsey ruled England's king for many years, and sometimes seems to have actually swayed the scepter itself, so complete was his domination of the regal court. The lament uttered after his fall has often been echoed in the hearts of those who have served potentates or people, but who, while serving others, were most busy in serving themselves and their interests.

The capital cities of kingdoms and empires do not place before the eyes of the people many living pictures of departed greatness, but the capital city of the republic is replete with such pictures. Here we see in capitol corridors, in the executive departments, on the thoroughfares by day, and in the hotel lobbies by night, and also in the barrooms and lower resorts, men who have played mighty pranks while holding a little brief authority, but who are now so shorn of standing that there is none so poor to do them reverence.

When the sovereign people inform a senator that his services are no longer required, or when the people decline to give a representative another nomination, or another election, the man who ceases to be a statesman would be wise if he were to seek opportunities for earning a living almost anywhere else than in this city. Those who remain here are sometimes pitiable creatures, and all of them become more or less objects of commiseration. How they eke out an existence is a subject of query quietly made by all who view them as they mingle with the throngs in public places.

One of the few ex-statesmen who have been wise enough to absent themselves from the scenes of their triumphs and pomp is John J. Ingalls, of Kansas. For 18 years he was a member of the senate, and during the last ten years of his service in that magnificent legislative body he was a commanding figure, a living potentiality. But, when he was finally defeated, he left Washington for good and all, and returned to his prairie home. On one occasion he came here to deliver a lecture, in the course of which, speaking of human limitations, he said: "God gave Jay Gould the ability to be a millionaire, but to me he gave the ability only to acquire learning. Therefore it is that I am to-day a poor statesman, out of a job."

It is a pity that all of them have not been gifted with so much common sense as to realize that, when retired to private life, they are statesmen out of jobs, and, as such, they cannot command the respect and adulation which formerly seemed to be their natural rights. People here bow and scrape and toady to a senator or a representative, but the ex-statesmen are sneeringly termed "has beens." Caesar wisely said that he would rather be the foremost man in Capua than stand second in Rome. These ex-statesmen might better stand foremost in the communities whence they came than be run down at the heel in the national capital.

These statements of fact are called forth by the presence here of an ex-senator who has been trying to lobby through a bill in which he is said to have a contingent fee of $100,000. One of the older senators this afternoon said to the writer: "Whenever ex-Senator Blank appears on the floor of the senate every member of the committee on appropriations goes into hiding. He is a nuisance and a bore. The bill is a meritorious one, in principle, but the employment of Senator Blank has practically killed the measure; and for a very good, substantial reason. Senators do not feel like encouraging the employment of ex-senators as lobbyists. It lowers the dignity of the senate to have an ex-senator coming upon the floor of the senate, as he has a right to do, and acting as an accredited lobbyist. For this reason alone I know of many senators who will vote against the bill, if it ever comes up for consideration. But in all probability, for this same reason, the committee will never report the bill at all, but let it die in the committee room, unreported."

Ex-representatives also have the privilege of the floor of the house when that body is in session. Some of them secure employment as lobbyists on pending bills, and abuse the privilege of the floor in that behalf. As soon as it becomes known that any ex-representative is so demeaning himself his influence sinks and the measure which he advocated is tabooed, just as in the senate. Consequently these "ex's" are the least influential men that can be thus employed. Individuals and corporations having legislation pending before congress realize this fact, and hence the ex-congressmen find few to employ them.

Senator Money, of Mississippi, was for a number of years a member of the house of representatives. He voluntarily retired from the house, but remained in Washington practicing law and acting as a claim agent. He prospered. But during the six years that he resided here as an attorney he never availed himself of the privilege of going upon the floor of the house. On the contrary, whenever he wanted to see a congressman, he remained outside the door and sent in his card, as any plain citizen must do. By this course he always maintained the respect of the statesmen and his self-respect, and also possessed considerable influence. After he was elected to the senate he rigidly declined to accept retainers from any of his old clients. But men of such broad gauge and high principle are not numerous.

Not less than 200 ex-members of congress and ex-members of the cabinet or assistant secretaries and other ex-officials are striving to live here on such meager fees as they can pick up. One of them was reared in Iowa, was a good politician, popular with all Iowa men; went to Nebraska, was elected to congress, served two terms, and then located here as a claim agent. He presumed that he would have the backing of the congressional delegations of two states, but he has the backing and aid of neither one. If he had gone back to Iowa or Nebraska he might have succeeded as a lawyer, for he is a good one, and he would have been highly respected.

One of the worst cases is that of an assistant secretary of a great department, who fell in love with his typewriter, obtained a divorce from his wife covertly and sneakingly, and married the handsome viper. He was a great lawyer, but he is now a briefless barrister and claim agent, creeping through this segment of the world with the look of a sneak upon his face.

Another one died here not long ago; died in a station house; died drunk. He had not been wholly sober for almost two years. He had three daughters, and for them he secured positions in the government departments. The senators and representatives from his state had no respect for him, but they pitied the girls. Their father had been a strong man, an excellent lawyer, and a great campaign orator. They supported him until he died. After the conclusion of his last term in the house of representatives he could have returned to his home and been successful and honorable. He remained here, failed in his business aspirations, went from bad to worse, and his death was a relief to himself and to those who loved him.

One great trouble with these ex-statesmen is that they lack reserve power. Congressional life is comparatively easy. The salary is ample and is regularly paid. When a man has long been accustomed to receiving $400 per month, and that income is completely cut off, he begins to realize what a cold, cruel and heartless world he is living in. The pay of a congressman goes right on, whether he works or not. But as a private citizen he must have employment, and must work hard to earn that much money. Few men possess the reserved power to grapple with the world under such changed conditions. The majority of them realize this when it is too late.

Men who have lived in comparative ease do not realize that life is warfare, and that victory or defeat depends upon the reserved power and courage of each combatant. At the bar, in the pulpit, in business, in the senate, in all fields of human activity, he only organizes and compels victory who has back of him the steady tramp of the army of the reserve. Many a time and oft his enemies fell before Napoleon when the terrible reserved power of the "Old Guard" appeared to roll back exultant legions.

The ex-statesmen could find no worse place than Washington for their abiding places, no meaner field in which to fight the battle of life. Those who do possess superior abilities and reserved forces do not settle here. They go back to their homes and complete their careers in the midst of those who have respected and honored them. POWER FROM WAVES.

New Jersey Inventor's Plan to Utilize the Ocean's Forces.

Lame Ostrich Cured by Application of Electricity—The Pessimist's Place in the Field of Human Endeavor.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

ALTHOUGH pessimists are the most uncomfortable of companions, the world owes to them most of its real progress. Everyone loves the comfortable man who never worries, who considers this world a "good place to live in," and, as everything seems to have been "all right so far," perceives no necessity for worrying concerning the future. He is the man of many friends, and, if his shrewdness equals his good nature (which is too infrequently the case), it is he who accumulates a sufficiency of the world's good things to enable him to continue in the same beatific state of mind until his earthly life has reached its limit. But, with his opposite in nature, the number of so-called friends is fewer, although they may be more sincerely attached.

WAVE MOTOR AT WORK.

They are devoted to him in spite of his tendency to look on the dark side of events and no malevolent tricks of fortune can turn their friendship aside. It is to such men as this that we are most indebted. If not always the discoverers or inventors of the improvements constantly being made in the world's working mechanism, it may safely be affirmed that in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred they plow up the ground for a new crop of inventions.

It may be the comfortable man who has the "sudden inspiration" for some beneficent innovation, but, consciously or not to himself, the soil of his complacent brain has first been broken by some thought of a pessimistic fellow-being; else why so many great scientific discoveries during the last wonderful half century, the age, probably, of the greatest unrest ever known? But for those who have calculated just how long the world's supply of fuel will last and are worrying concerning the fate of those mortals who a few hundred years hence will occupy their places, would men be boring toward the center of the earth or experimenting over a new system of storing the sun's rays to furnish heat, or endeavoring to utilize the different forces of nature to obtain power to supply the ever-increasing needs of the world's progressive inhabitants?

Perhaps upon no other subject has more time and thought been expended recently than upon the manufacture of motors by means of which the tremendous force of ocean waves may be secured and utilized. The nearest and latest in that line is a device just patented by J. F. Place, of Glen Ridge, N. J. If, upon thorough trial, it fulfills the expectations of its inventor, it will not only prove him a very useful citizen, but probably net for him a very tidy sum of money. No one who has spent any length of time on the Atlantic coast needs to be informed of the tremendous power of the waves as they dash upon the shore, often detaching and carrying immense bowlders from their position. Mr. Place hopes to capture and harness this power for compressing air to be used on shore for various purposes.

ELECTRICITY FOR AN OSTRICH.

The size of his motor depends upon the height to which the tide rises at any point where he may choose to locate it. Its construction is very simple. A light, flat, tight bag, sufficiently large to allow of its reaching from the hollow to the crest of the wave it rides, rises and falls with the wave's motion. A section of piping reaches above the surface through which air passes for compression to a cylinder below, the amount being regulated by a series of valves. A long piston rod inclosed in a metal tube allows the play of the motor up and down for a great length.

The cylinder, piston and chambers for the storage of compressed air are inclosed in a large, water-tight, submerged buoy. From this, a strong rubber pipe conducts the air compressed in the buoy to the shore. Great precautions are, of course, taken to anchor the machine securely.

Who knows but in time the Atlantic ocean may furnish power to run the electric cars and lights of Ohio and other inland states?

Speaking of electricity, the renowned philosopher would doubtless have been somewhat astonished could he have foreseen some of the results of his action, on one memorable day when he went out to fly his kite. Increased development of nature's resources has brought a larger supply of the wherewithal to gratify human desires. The advice of "Poor Richard" is passing into oblivion, but the effects of his most noted experiment are seen every day. Many ladies would be very unhappy if, on occasion, they were unable to adorn their heads with the plumage originally intended for the graceful and amiable ostrich. Hence, numbers of these birds are now residing far from the land of their birth, shivering at every breath of cold that is wafted past their long, unprotected legs and, since they are credited with great intelligence, the look on their expressive countenances probably indicates that they are longing for the hot sands of Africa. The zoological garden of Cincinnati is the home of Paul, a distinguished member of this species, weighing 250 pounds. Some time since he caught cold, resulting in paralysis. Whenever he tried to lift himself to his feet, being unable to stand, he fell heavily. As he is of considerable value, every effort was made to save him. He was placed in a padded sling and electricity applied. No effect was produced at first, but on the third day one of the reasons for the creation of Dr. Franklin became apparent. Paul's legs were seen to twitch. Continued application of the treatment brought renewed sensation and vigor, of which the patient showed a keen appreciation. He is able to stand a little every day and to relish his food, consisting of anything edible to which he can obtain access. It is expected that he will be able to run in his range very soon.

A recent surgical operation has, for several reasons, lately attracted considerable attention. The subject is a widely-known scientist whose case had been pronounced hopeless by many medical specialists, and the physicians who made the diagnosis and operated are two young men not yet out of hospital service who have thus far had no "pay patients." Prof. Newcomb has been lame for 12 years. For seven years, ending 1893, he was head of the mathematical and astronomical departments at Johns Hopkins university, then took charge of the nautical observatory at Washington, at which time his disease had apparently become chronic. He was treated for rheumatism and neuralgia and continually became worse. Then surgeons, both in this country and in Europe, treated him for spinal disease and finally brought in a verdict of "incurable." He was induced to allow the two young surgeons, Drs. Llewellyn Barker and Dr. Cushing, at Johns Hopkins, to examine him, and they concluded that the only trouble was an atrophied nerve in the thigh which must be removed. (Anyone who knows how much pain is inflicted by a diseased nerve in a tooth can realize the intensity of Prof. Newcomb's suffering during years.) The patient was so much interested in the operation that he refused an opiate and watched the work all the way through. Cocaine was applied, an incision made, the nerve laid bare, examined and removed, and on the second day the pain which had caused so much trouble for years had ceased to exist. In two weeks the patient was walking around without crutches and is, apparently, as sound as ever. He is 65 years old. The fact that students perceived a simple trouble which experienced physicians failed to detect demonstrates the fact of advance in medical science. And this is much less wonderful than many recent operations in medical surgery. For all these new and helpful discoveries are we indebted to the fact that certain progressive members of society are not satisfied to go on in the good old way, do not possess the "contented mind" which is said to be "better than riches." While we delight in the society of the optimist it is well to remember that we owe something to his less genial brother.

PROF. NEWCOMB UNDERGOING OPERATION.

ALASKA'S BOUNDARIES.

They Will Be Traced Very Soon by Officers of the Coast and Geodetic Survey Office.

Otto H. Tittman, assistant superintendent of the coast and goedetic survey, has left Washington for Alaska, where he will trace the boundary line established by the modus vivendi of October, 1899, between the British government and the United States. He will be gone about two months.

Mr. Tittmann has been selected to succeed Superintendent Henry S. Pritchett as the head of the coast and goedetic survey when Mr. Pritchett assumes the presidency of the Massachusetts school of technology, which he will do next fall. The appointment of Mr. Tittmann as superintendent of the survey will be an exemplification of civil service principles probably to a greater extent than in the case of any other head of that important branch of the government.

OTTO H. TITTMAN.
(Superintendent United States Coast and Geodetic Survey.)

Mr. Tittmann entered the service of the coast and goedetic survey when between 17 and 18 years of age. He began his career in the survey of 1867 beginning in the lowest grade. His promotion has been gradual ever since, and the result of a close application to the work of the survey and to a recognized ability. Mr. Tittmann will be the first superintendent of the survey who has literally "worked his way from the bottom to the top," though there have been other appointments to that place of men who gained that recognition by long service.

Superintendent Patterson had served in the field as hydrographer, and Prof. Hilgard had been connected with the survey a long number of years before he was placed in charge.

Mr. Tittmann was born in Illinois and was appointed from Missouri, at once entering the field. He accompanied the transit of Venus expedition to Japan as assistant astronomer in 1874 and served in the field for about 20 years in charge of surveying expeditions. He was called to the office of the survey in this city in 1887 and placed in charge of the office of weights and measures. In connection with this work he was sent to Europe in 1890 and represented the United States government at the international geodetic conference at Berlin in 1895. In the same year he was promoted and placed in charge of the coast and geodetic survey office. He was appointed assistant superintendent in 1899, and recently was appointed to represent the United States in the demarcation of the Alaska boundary under the modus vivendi.

IS A CHARMING WOMAN.

Mrs. Charles A. Towne Devotes Most of Her Spare Time to the Study of Music and Art.

Mrs. Charles A. Towne, of Duluth, the wife of the populist nominee for vice president, was before her marriage Maude Irene Wiley, and she was the daughter of one of the prominent families of Lansing, Mich., where she met Mr. Towne, then a budding lawyer of that city.

They were married 13 years ago and came to Duluth, Minn., in 1892, where they have since remained. Mrs. Towne is a graduate of Indiana college, and her time is taken up with music, art and French. She is a member of several literary and art clubs in Duluth, including the Twentieth Century club, and of a literary society that is actively engaged in the study of French art and literature.

MRS. CHARLES A. TOWNE.
(Wife of the Populist Candidate for Vice President.)

She has a wide and very valuable art collection, to which she added in a great measure during her recent European trip, so that now she has one of the finest collections in Duluth and one that is of great benefit to herself and other art students in the prosecution of their researches.

She also takes a very active interest in politics, and often accompanies Mr. Towne on his stumping tours. Formerly she took a considerable interest in amateur theatricals. Mrs. Towne is a strikingly beautiful woman. She is between a blonde and a brunette, with blue-gray eyes and features of a large but striking and handsome type.

GERMANY IN PALESTINE

A Great Triumph of EMPEROR WILLIAM'S Diplomacy

WHEN Emperor William ascended the German throne in 1888 he gained for himself the reputation of a hothead and mischief-maker. His utterances seemed to lack judgment, and his acts appeared ill-considered and eccentric. The world expected that he would be the harlequin among princes, the clown in the international Punch and Judy show. His dismissal of the headstrong Bismarck and his passion for the capital "I" were set down as the vagaries of a disordered mind.

Subsequent events have demonstrated that there was method in the young ruler's madness. The Bismarck episode was used by him to impress upon his people and the world at large that during his reign there should be none greater in Germany than the emperor. His bellicose speeches, in which he referred to himself as the "war lord," were intended to convey to jealous rivals and supercilious diplomatists unmistakable information that the empire must be left alone. What seemed "deranged mentality" to many was in reality exquisite statesmanship, whose truly marvelous success was marred occasionally by intemperate sentences, such as any youthful person suddenly placed in power might use.

The years have softened the emperor's tongue, but the great mind behind that unruly member is as active as ever. His most commendable ambition—to make Germany a great manufacturing and trading nation—has already been realized. From a purely agricultural country the German empire has within the insignificant period of 30 years developed into a commercial power, second only to Great Britain among the nations of Europe. A merchant marine has been built up which, as far as quality of ships is concerned, is without a rival. The German flag, unknown a few decades since, is seen waving from stately vessels in almost every harbor of the world, and the legend "Made in Germany" can be read upon packages of merchandise quite as often in England itself as in the warehouses of the antipodes.

For this development the empire is indebted to the "clown" who verily has become a sage.

Instead of allowing himself to become entangled in the settlement of the Turkish question, Emperor William has declined steadfastly to interfere with the sultan's government, wisely contenting himself with extending German commercial influence in Asia Minor, Palestine and Arabia. Without blowing of trumpets he pursued his course. Statesmen wondered when he visited the sultan a year or so ago and spent money like water, to "make a show," as his critics put it. They know now that in the course of that brilliant visit he secured for German capital a concession to build a railroad from Damascus to Mecca; that he obtained valuable rights for German merchants in Asiatic Turkey, and that by the seemingly disinterested project of building a Catholic church on Mount Zion in Jerusalem he became the recognized protector of the Christians residing in Palestine, an honor which, from time immemorial, had been claimed by France. And in order to make these diplomatic victories more complete he resumed friendly relations with Great Britain, embodying his statesmanship in a treaty whose existence has been admitted by Lord Salisbury, but whose terms have never been made public. Certain it is, however, that the emperor's espousal of the British cause at the beginning of the Boer war was rewarded by the English government's sanction of the extension of German influence in Asia Minor and other Turkish provinces.

GERMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH FOR JERUSALEM.

Thus far Emperor William's reign has indeed been a succession of triumphs. His only mistake was when he attempted to antagonize the United States in the Pacific. Happily he has already seen the absurdity of that action, and by acts and words is trying to convince our government of his sincere friendship and admiration for America.

FILIPINO EVENING MEAL

An AMERICAN SOLDIER Tells How It Is Prepared

MR. A. A. LORBER, company M, Fourth United States infantry, stationed at Cavite Viejo, island of Luzon, in the Philippines, sends to this paper the following bill of fare of a Filipino table d'hote, such as the natives sell on the street corners and in the markets:

Every evening about six o'clock the natives that live out of town bring in their produce, such as rice, melons, bananas, fish, cocoanuts, mangoes, and all gather on a street corner and wait for customers. The "chow chow" woman comes also and seems to do more business than all the rest combined. Her stock in trade consists of a bamboo table loaded with pots and bowls and bottles full of different kinds of native food.

A FILIPINO MARKET STALL AT MANILA.

When she gets a customer she takes a handful of macaroni, puts it in a small saucer, over which she puts a big spoonful of brown batter. On this goes about a thimbleful of yellow sprouts, a pinch of sliced limes, a bit of something that looks like sawdust, a half dozen of very small shrimp, a bit of greens, bits of fried pork rind, a small piece of a crab, sprinking of horseradish, a few kernels of corn, two spoons of soup, one of vinegar and a pinch of black pepper. The customer mixes the mess with his fingers and, as it is the custom of his people, eats with the same also. The price of this grand repast is uno centavos, equal to a half cent in our money. Although it looks very palatable, our soldiers, who often watch the natives eating, never care to indulge.

Another luxury the natives like is prepared as follows:

They put a handful of rice in a piece of banana leaf; wrap it up tight and tie it, then boil it. When done they unwrap it, put some grated cocoanut on the rice and a bit of brown sugar over that.

They also sell rice pancakes and weak tea, but the latter is bought only by the aristocracy on account of its high price, quatro centavos. A native can buy four bananas for one cent, but a soldier is getting a bargain when he gets eight for a nickel; in fact, he generally has to pay three or four times as much for an article as a native does.

True Prediction.

In her trouble she sought a fortune-teller, and the fortune-teller told her of misfortune.

"You will," said the dealer in futures, "be robbed by a tall, dark man."

The troubled one went forth from the fortune-teller's den straight to the gas office, where she paid a bill amounting to $17.89 to a lanky clerk with black hair and eyes.—Judge.

Applying the Old Saw.

"You talk too much," said the father. You should cultivate the habit of listening."

"But you told me the other day that listeners hear no good of themselves," replied the son.—Philadelphia North American.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

Two ball nines from Scott's and Pond's factories crossed bats on the Washington avenue grounds Saturday afternoon. Pond's came off victorious by a score of 27 to 4. The batteries were Scott and Owens for Pond's, and Montross and Taylor for Scott's.

What was probably their best game this season was played Saturday by the Arions, when they met and were tied by the Clinton avenue nine, on the former's grounds. Charles Smith, the Arion's pitcher, played an excellent game, striking out nine men. At the end of the sixth inning the score stood 3 to 3.

The Alis A. A. defeated the Dunellen baseball team Saturday afternoon on the Dunellen grounds by a score of 11 to 5. The game was close, but the Plainfielders managed to remain a little ahead until the windup when they forced their way to the front leaving their Dunellen opponents vainly striving to keep the score down. "Eddie" Kline did some wonderful work in the box for the Alis boys, striking out nine men. The Alis team played as follows: Pitcher, Kline; catcher, Moore; first base, G. P. Smith; second base, Phillips; third base, Oupee; short stop, Woolston; left field, Beard; centre field, Egan; right field, Mumford. Rogers and Dalley were the Dunellen battery.

GOLF

Women will hold full sway at the Morris County Golf Club links this week, as the first championship tournament of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association began this morning with an eighteen-hole qualifying round at medal play. The sixteen who qualify will continue at match play through the week until Friday, when, in addition to the final round, there will be an inter club four-some competition.

Got Back the Diamond Ring.

Mrs. Edward Flindell, of Newark, who has been visiting her brother, W. H. Spurge, of Carlton avenue, has recovered her $150 diamond ring, which her three-year-old daughter, Elsie, swallowed accidentally, last week Wednesday. The child was not injured in the slightest degree and no ill effects have followed. The parents are greatly relieved over finding the ring and they are rejoicing to know that their child is all right. Mrs. Flindell and the child returned to their home in Newark this morning.

Death of an Old Doctor.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

East Millstone, June 11.—Dr. W. B. Ribble, one of the oldest and most prominent physicians in Somerset county, who lived in this place for a great many years, died very suddenly last Saturday morning of heart trouble. He had been feeling ill for a short time previous to death, but was not alarmed over his condition. His funeral will be held this afternoon from the house. Dr. Ribble leaves a wife and a daughter, Mrs. VanDorn, wife of Former Assemblyman VanDorn.

Congressman Fowler at Home.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 15.—Congressman Fowler arrived home from Washington Saturday, and will remain in this city until after the Congressional Convention is held. Mr. Fowler's family are in Washington, and will remain in that city until his house, now in course of erection, is completed. At present he will make the Mattano Club his headquarters. So far as his renomination is concerned, it now seems to be certain.

BICYCLES and MOTORS

THE BICYCLE STOOP.

It Has at Last Found a Defender in the Person of a Well-Known English Physician.

The pedaling fraternity has long awaited a defender for the hump-backed position of the scorcher, and one has at last been discovered in Dr. H. Campbell, an English physician, who comes to the rescue in a paper on "Respiratory Exercises in the Treatment of Diseases." In formidable scientific language Dr. Campbell explains that the double-up position of the scorcher is desirable and good for the health. He finds that there is "something incongruous in an animal built on the longitudinal plan standing and progressing on the end of its long axis." A worm does not go skipping about on the end of its tail, nor does a horse habitually stand on its hind legs. Man alone among the lengthy animals assumes this illogical posture, and Dr. Campbell has risen to combat the perpetuation of the error. He says one of the reasons why cycling is more healthful than walking is that the wheelman can lean over, arch his back, and prevent the abnormal strain on the "splanchnic area."

Without going further into the doctor's scientific reasons, enough has been said to show that he believes the animals that go on all fours are more in accord with the laws of health than those that insist on perambulating on the end of their "long axis." The habit of walking erect has taken such a firm hold on the human animal that even Dr. Campbell despairs of any reform in that quarter. But the wisdom of the monkey can be imitated on the wheel, and if the scorcher does not exactly go on all fours he can at least assume a position equally graceful and hygienic. All reforms must begin gradually, and who knows but that the more correct and natural position may in time be adopted in walking as well as in wheeling?

"There is a tendency for the blood to gravitate to the splanchnic area when the erect position is assumed," says Dr. Campbell, "and I cannot but think that the fatigue of standing and walking is largely due to this tendency." Anyone with due respect for his splanchnic area should need no further warning. For the proud person who cannot bring himself to assume the quadrupedal posture at once there is the choice of beginning by riding a wheel and getting his head as near to his feet as his pride and his ram's horn handles will permit. After he has humped his back sufficiently and acquired a fine specimen of the kyphosis bicyclistorum it will be comparatively easy to go on his hands and feet and keep his splanchnic area comfortably free from surplus blood ever after. Before this refarm can be universally adopted by men and women, however, some great artist should arise and convince everybody that the attitude recommended by Dr. Campbell is not only picturesque but beautiful. —Chicago Tribune.

ATTACHING GRIPS.

Description of a New Method Which Is as Simple as It Is Safe and Effective.

Here is a simple and effective method of attaching grips to handle bars: Near the end of the handle bar a piece of wire, preferably about one-eighth of an inch in diameter, is passed through holes. The wire is somewhat longer than the exterior diameter of the handle bar, so that its ends project somewhat. The inner ferrule, preferably of metal, has small recesses formed in its flange, in which fit the projecting ends of the wire, whereby the ferrule is firmly held against longitudinal or rotary motion, and at the same time the flange of the ferrule hides and protects the ends of the wire. At the end of the bar is a block or washer, preferably of steel, with a central threaded hole. It may be secured in the end of the handle bar by a few blows from a riveting hammer or some other suitable tool to produce overlapping parts. This block or washer is prevented against movement in the other direction by any suitable means, such as the shoulders shown, formed on or in the end of the handle bar. The outer ferrule, preferably made of metal, is centrally perforated to receive a screw, which screw threads into the washer or block. The ferrule has an inclined surface, as shown which is adapted to lap upon the grip. —Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 11.—The military authorities have decided to send the National guard to Sea Girt by regiments, and orders were issued Saturday providing for the encampment of the Second Regiment and Battery B, July 7th. The Third Regiment and Second Troop, of Red Bank, will go into camp July 14th.

Thought to Be Stolen Property.

Chief Wright, of the Rahway police force, arrested a man yesterday morning who had a large quantity of gas-fitters' tools in his possession. It is supposed that they are stolen property and Chief Wright is looking for the owner. Chief Grant was notified of the fact this morning. The man, when arrested, said that he came by the way of South Plainfield.

Big Business on the Trolley.

In order to relieve the pressure on the regular Elizabeth cars yesterday, special cars from Elizabeth were run between the regular schedule. The cars could not get up to the Watchung avenue switch, as they were too large to pass under the railroad bridge. Every car was crowded all day yesterday, nearly everyone keeping on to Elizabeth.

BERGEN IS RETURNING; WHAT WILL HE DO?

Present Situation Points at the Renomination of Congressman Charles N. Fowler.

SITUATION IN PLAINFIELD.

UNLESS THERE'S A BIG FIGHT ON, PLAINFELD IS FOR FOWLER.

Rumors are Thick Concerning Frank Bergen's Stand, But There is No Definite Information—What Some of Fowler's Opponents Say.

Who is going to be the Republican nominee for Congressman in the Eighth Congressional district this year? That is a question the answer to which a good many men in Union county and other parts of the State would be glad to know. If the prognostications of the "knowing ones" are to be relied on, however, there is very little doubt, indeed, but that Charles Newton Fowler, of Elizabeth, will be renominated to run again for Congress.

Ever since the Elizabeth Journal came out with the startling announcement that Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, was looking for the nomination, all sorts of stories have been afloat. The concensus of opinion was that if Bergen was really in the race and put up a strong fight, he might ruin Fowler's chances of a renomination, but he could hardly win the coveted honor for himself.

The fact that Bergen did not deny his candidacy and that he is well known to be on very intimate terms with Senator Kean gave the gossips lots to talk about. Of late, the stories have died a natural death and the general feeling seems to prevail that Fowler will be nominated.

Frank Bergen is an astute politician and he has not shown his hand yet. Just at present he is crossing the briny deep and is expected to land in New York next Saturday. Until then nobody can say just exactly what his plans are regarding the Congressional nomination.

A story has been given circulation to the effect that just before Bergen sailed for Europe someone asked him regarding the Congressional nomination and that Mr. Bergen gently but firmly consigned Congress and the nomination to other regions. The story has been repeated by avowed Fowler advocates, so it is impossible to say how much truth there is behind the rumor.

When Bergen comes sailing up the bay one of the first questions he will be asked, after his opinion of the Paris Exposition is solicited, will be concerning his plans in the fight with Congressman Fowler. As the Bergenites have not been very active of late, it may be taken as a sign that the factional fight in Elizabeth will not result in any strong opposition to the present incumbent at the Capital.

As far as Plainfield is concerned the feeling in the First and Fourth wards, at least, can be stated with certainty. Both those wards will elect delegates to the Congressional convention who will support Fowler. Regarding the Second and Third wards, it is not such a sure thing. The Fowler advocates can, however, count on a straight delegation from here unless some widespread opposition puts in an appearance in the county before the primaries on June 25th.

No man in a public position like that which Mr. Fowler holds can expect to please everybody. There are some of the leaders in Plainfield who are not wildly enthusiastic over him. They recognize his ability, however, and several have stated that while they do not consider him an ideal Congressman they believe that his experience at Washington will make him a better man to put on the ticket than some other Republican who might be actually better fitted for the place. It is this feeling that is likely to smooth over the opposition to Mr. Fowler in town unless, as has already been stated, some other candidate comes to the front with a rush and carries plenty of support.

The Fowler men are very confident of his renomination and declare that the nomination will be made by acclamation. Any troubles in the Eighth district are likely to be smoothed out before the Congressional convention when the leaders gather in Philadelphia the week previous for the National convention.

Acres of Tomatoes.

The farmers in the vicinity of Ringoes are now setting out their tomato plants. A larger number of acres are being planted this year, and a busy season is anticipated.

TWO NEW ATTORNEYS.

SEVERAL PLAINFIELDERS BEFORE LEGAL EXAMINERS AT TRENTON.

Francis J. Blatz and Isaac P. Runyon Successfully Passed Counselor's Examinations Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, June 12—The number of attorneys in the State was increased yesterday by the admission of 49 new applicants to the bench. Besides, 26 attorneys were made counselors. A mild sensation was caused by the collapse of Edwin F. Smith, of Jersey City, under the strain of the oral examination. The test was too much for his nerves, and he fainted. He soon recovered and rejoined the class.

Francis J. Blatz, of the law firm of Murphy & Blatz, took his examination for counsellor and passed successfully. He graduated from the North Plainfield High School in 1893, afterwards studied law in the office of Former Mayor John H. VanWinkle and at the Law School of the University of New York. He was admitted to the New Jersey Bar three years ago and has since been quite successful as a member of the firm of Murphy & Blatz.

Isaac P. Runyon, the junior member of the law firm of Bruce & Runyon, was also successful in his examinations and was made a counsellor. He was admitted to the Bar three years ago after studying for four years part of which time was spent in the law office of Harry C. Runyon. He was first a member of the partnership of Pope & Runyon, then practiced by himself and afterwards joined with Mr. Bruce.

The two new attorneys for Plainfield are Edward O. Clark and Louis A. Clement. Clark is the son of Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., of Jackson avenue, and has been a student in the law offices of his brother, Robert M. Clark. He graduated this year from the New York University Law School after completing a two years' course there. Clark expects to practice in Newark. Clement has been studying at the law offices of Irving L. Brady. He will probably open an office for himself in this city.

WANT TO BOND THE TOWN.

Somerville People Desire Money With Which to Build a New Engine House.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 12—At the meeting of the Board of Commissioners last night, J. King Parker presented a petition, signed by numerous voters, requesting the Board to call a special election to vote on the question of bonding the town for the purpose of building a new fire house. At present the quarters of the Engine Company, Central Hook and Ladder Company and Lincoln Hose Company are too small for their comfort, and the members of these companies desire a large house, in a central location, which they can all use.

The West End Hose Company has the only decent quarters in the town. The matter was referred to the committee on fire apparatus, to report at the meeting. The Board, of course, will order the election, and it is thought that the firemen can carry it through.

STATEN ISLAND SOUND.

Chairman Burton, of River and Harbor Committee, to Visit It.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington June 12—Congressman Howell has had several interviews with Chairman Burton, of the river and harbor committee, and Mr. Burton has agreed that he and some other members of the river and harbor committee will meet Mr. Howell Saturday, June 23d, and make a thorough inspection of the Raritan Bay and Staten Island Sound, including a stop at Elizabeth, at the request of the Joint Waterways Commission, which is interested in the improvement of this waterway.

After Mr. Burton shall have made this trip in addition to the inspection he will make of the Passaic river, he will be familiar with the waterways of northern New Jersey, and can give the project intelligent consideration.

His Medicine Made Him Worse.

John Flynn, an employe of the Pond Machine Tool Works, was feeling ill yesterday. He took two glasses of whiskey and he felt much worse. Patrolman Mattox found his wandering about unable to go home and took care of him. Sentence was suspended this morning by City Judge Runyon.

Mrs. Whitney Frazee, of South avenue, who was taken to Munlenberg Hospital yesterday, was operated on by Dr. Long. She is now getting along as well as can be expected.

OUTING AWHEEL.

Miss Ida Randolph Entertained Young People of Seventh-Day Baptist Church.

Miss Ida Randolph, of Central avenue, gave a bicycle party Sunday evening to twenty of the young people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. After a spin out to Pumptown the young people returned to Miss Randolph's home. This is the first of a series of informal outings that the young peopeople of the church will hold this summer. Last year they held a number, which were much enjoyed by all who attended.

WM. D. DALY TO LEAD.

Probable Chairman of the New Jersey Delegates—Hudson Will be Heard From at Kansas City.

The Journal, City Journal says it was practically agreed yesterday that the New Jersey delegations to the Kansas City convention shall have Congressman Daly, of Hoboken, for chairman.

Collector Robert Davis has been urged to lead, but he believes an orator like Daly would be more serviceable. It is understood that Daly will be Davis' representative on the floor of the convention, which will meet July 4th.

There is also talk of making Congressman Daly the New Jersey member of the committee on resolutions. The Congressman attended the National Convention four years ago and is familiar with the powers that will control the Kansas City convention.

District Delegate George Pfeiffer, of Camden, is to arrange for the transportation of the New Jersey delegates. The New Jersey delegates will start about July 1st.

WHO IS ADA JOHNSON?

Woman Caught in a New York Pool Room Gives Plainfield as Her Address.

A crowd of women bettors were trapped and arrested yesterday afternoon in a women's poolroom at 243 West Seventeenth street, New York, and among them was one who gave the name of Ada Johnson, aged 35 years, of Plainfield. Thus far inquiry has failed to reveal the identity of this woman. The women prisoners, nearly all of whom said they were servants, were locked up in the care of the matron at the Mercer street police station.

SEVEN SCALP WOUNDS.

Charles Farrington Hurt While Trying to Board a Street Car in New York.

Charles Farrington, of this city, who is employed as a nurse at the Brookside Sanatarium, attempted to board a moving street car in New York last evening. He was thrown on his face, receiving sundry injuries, consisting of a severe scalp wound, a sprained arm and several bad cuts.

He was assisted to a drug store and an ambulance summoned, but upon its arrival, Mr. Farrington refused to go to the hospital. His injuries were dressed at the drug store and he was able to proceed homeward alone.

Anual Festival This Evening.

The festival of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church is now in progress in the basement of the church. The festival is an annual affair and is uniformly a great success. A large attendance is expected and a pleasant evening is promised. The festival began this afternoon and will continue this evening. Admission is free and all are invited to attend.

Death of a Young Woman.

The many friends of Miss Fanny Moore, who formerly lived on West Third street, will be pained to hear of her death which occurred at her late home in Flemington Sunday. Miss Moore, who was twenty-two years of age, lived in Plainfield for a long time, where she has a number of relatives. The interment will be made in the family plot at Flemington.

Hook and Ladder Drill.

The members of Hook and Ladder Company No. 1 held their first drill this season on South avenue, near the Scott Press Works, early last evening. The extension ladder was tried and several firemen climbed to the top and were lowered with a life belt. The smaller ladders were placed against the factory. Acting Foreman William Addis was in command.

To Establish a Branch Here.

Alpheus Mundy, formerly of this city, where he was engaged in the dry goods business, but who has been engaged in New Brunswick for several years in the manufacture of carriages, has leased the store in the Miller building corner of Park avenue and Fourth street, and will establish a branch of his New Brunswick repository.

Matt Sweeney, of this city, spent Sunday in Newark with friends.

BOROUGH RECEIVES A GIFT OF $2,000.

Charles McCutchen Will Establish Manual Training in the Public School.

NO NEW HEATING SYSTEM.

VOTERS REFUSE TO APPROVE OF THE PROPOSITION.

The Belief That the Contract to do the Work Would go Out of Town is Said to Have Caused Adverse Vote.

A lack of knowledge of details and an apparent evidence that the contract would go out of the borough or city, may be said to be the reason why the majority of those present at the special school meeting held in the borough last evening did not vote to introduce a new system of heating and ventilation for the twelve rear rooms in the Somerset street school at an expense of $5,500, as asked for by the Borough Board of Education. To many the result of the meeting was a great surprise, but to the majority who came prepared to kill the proposition, it was not. There is no doubt but what plans for knocking out the proposition were well laid and they were carried out. There were seventy five ballots cast, and of this number 46 were against the proposed improvement, while 29 were for it.

The meeting could well be called one of surprises, for the proposition to heat and ventilate was killed, and the proposition to introduce manual training in the schools was withdrawn just before the vote was taken by President S. St. John McCutchen, who stated that a public-spirited citizen, who has the interest of the boreugh schools at heart, desired to have the privilege of giving the $2,000 that was to have been asked from the taxpayers. This sum, together with the like amount from the State, would organize and equip a place for these studies. He stated further that he had accepted the offer of $2,000 on behalf of the Board of Education and the people. These remarks produced hearty applause.

A little later Henry McGee moved that a committee of two, to consist of President McCutchen and Former Mayor B. A. Hegeman, Jr., be appointed to draft suitable resolutions to be presented to the citizen who gave the $2,000, and that the Board confer with him and act in accordance with his wish in the expenditure of this money. This motion was adopted unanimously.

By this time the curiosity of those present was thoroughly aroused, and Andrew E. Kenney asked if there was any objection to those present being informed as to who the citizen was that gave the $2,000. President McCutchen stated in reply that he had not been forbidden to tell and he took pleasure in announcing that it was Charles W. McCutchen. Again there was hearty applause and many complimentary remarks.

There was not a great many citizens present when President McCutchen, of the Board of Education, called the meeting to order, and at first it looked doubtful whether a meeting would be held. Stephen B. Joseph was chosen chairman of the meeting, and Lambert Bodine, secretary.

After the call was read, President McCutchen make a few remarks in which he set forth the objects of the new heating and ventilation system. He spoke strongly of the advantages and urgent needs of such a system. He stated that it was proposed to issue bonds of $500 denomination, and have them mature so that it would not work a hardship in any particular year. It was proposed to have the first bond come due in 1902 and have them run from B 1 to B 11. By way of explanation he said that $4,500 old school bonds would be paid off before the first of the new ones would be due, which would make the total school bonded indebtedness $48,500.

He then briefly reviewed the advantages of manual training and told how it is a beautiful and wise development of school work, teaching the scholar early in life manual arts, and giving scholars a manual dexterity to help choose a trade. He then said that for every dollar a municipality puts up for manual training the State out of the general treasury puts up another dollar. This would give the borough about $4,400 in all, as the State also pays $200 toward each instructor employed in this department. Mr. McCutchen then stated the offer of Charles W. McCutchen, as stated above.

At the conclusion of his remarks Mr. McCutchen offered a resolution

GRADUATES FROM VASSAR

Miss Elsie DeR. Suffren, of Sycamore Avenue, Completes a Four Years Course This Week.

Miss Elsie DeR Suffren, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Suffren, of Sycamore avenue, graduates from Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, this week, after successfully completing a four years' course there. Miss Suffren prepared for college at the Seminary. Mr. and Mrs. Suffren have gone up to Poughkeepsie to attend the commencement exercises, the first of which, Class Day, will be held this evening.

PLAYED WITH MATCHES.

Little Jack Rogers Had a Narrow Escape From Being Cremated in Bed.

Little Jack Rogers nearly fell a victim to a plaything last evening. The plaything was a match and it very unkindly set fire to the bed clothes as the youthful experimenter was just beginning to have a fine time. Jack is the three-year old son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Rogers, of Westervelt avenue

Last evening Jack was put to bed at the usual hour. A short time later one of the neighbors saw a glare in the window of Jack's room. The servant of the household was told and hurried to the upper floor to find a badly frightened boy in the middle of the bed hemmed in by the flames. The servant snatched the lad from danger. Collector James Martin and A. V. Searing, two neighbors, extinguished the flames with difficulty and not until the bed clothes had been destroyed. Jack escaped with some slight burns. He was badly frightened, however.

NETHERWOOD OPENING.

The Big Hotel Will be Ready for Business Next Saturday Evening.

The Hotel Netherwood will be formally opened to the public Saturday evening. It will be under the management this year of Major F. W. Coleman who made the hostelry such a pleasant place last season. The hospitalities of the hotel are extended to the Plainfield people. No special invitations will be sent out this year, but Major Coleman has cordially invited all who care to visit the hotel this summer and enjoy the dancing that will form a pleasant feature of the social life of The Netherwood every evening.

Death of Old Railroad Man.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 12.—Edward Gilmore, formerly supervisor of the central division of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, but of late years a contractor, died at his home here yesterday at the age of sixty-four years. Death was due to appendicitis. The remains will be interred in St. Mary's R. C. cemetery in Plainfield. He leaves three daughters and two sons.

Trustee Now in Charge.

Edward White, who was appointed to take charge of the affairs of Rushmore & Co., who petitioned to go through bankruptcy proceedings, took charge yesterday morning. It is believed that it will take fully two months to settle the affairs of the concern. The trouble that existed among the employes on account of not receiving their wages, has been satisfactorily adjusted.

Bought in for $8,050.

The Lissignolia property, East Front street, was sold yesterday by Hand & Pangborn, auctioneers, at Master's sale, and the price received was $8,050. It was bought in by Harriett G. Comey, the plaintiff. Senator Reed, of the firm of Reed & Codington, was the Master in Chancery.

Fixing Up the Rockaway Valley.

More than 100 men are now engaged in grading and straightening the Rockaway Valley Railroad, which runs through one of the richest peach belts in New Jersey. It is said that more hands will be put on in order that the road may be completed by the opening of the peach season.

A Beautiful Sight.

Persons passing the residence of L. A. Hummer on Somerset street, corner Linden avenue, are regaled with the beautiful sight of a large cactus in full bloom on the lawn. The plant is over 35 years old and by actual count has nearly 400 buds and blossoms

A baby daughter has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Wise, of the borough. Congratulations are now in order.

Unless the census enumerators return to the West End their returns will be incorrect. The population was increased yesterday by the arrival of a bright little baby girl at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Spencer, of West Fourth street.

HOME FROM FEDERATION

MRS. HALL TALKS OF HER VISIT TO MILWAUKEE.

Says That the Convention Will Do Much Good — She Abhors Race Distinction.

Mrs. Florence Howe Hall, one of the delegates of the New Jersey State Federation, and Mrs. S. R. Krom, represented the Rainy Day Club, of New York City, returned yesterday from Milwaukee, where they have been attending the biennial meeting of the General Federation of Women's Clubs. They went out on "The Federation Special Train," and returned in the same way, in company with 50 or 60 delegates from New Jersey and New York.

Both ladies expressed themselves as much pleased with the convention. Mrs. Hall said: "The most important report of these national meetings of Women's Clubs is that they bring into pleasant communication with one another women from all over our broad land. We meet and compare methods, and better still, make friends. The spirit of attention shown by the reports is most encouraging. Every where club women are laboring to improve the condition of humanity. Therefore we must not exaggerate the political differences in conventions.

"It is a minor issue who gets the offices. Many of us feel disappointed at the action on the color question. But like our Methodist sisters, we must have patience, and this, too, will be settled in the right way ere many years. I believe personally, as our aim is largely humanitarian, that we should admit clubs to membership without regard to the color of the skins of the members. Surely no race more needs the helping hand than our dark-skinned sisters. Besides, we have had in membership from the beginning clubs in Bombay and Ceylon, and British India which doubtless have members with dusky skins. But let all who believe as I do be patient and moderate, and the right will prevail. I do not believe in intermarriage of the two races. But in great national bodies we do not want to make race distinctions."

WANTED HIM TO TREAT.

The Thrilling Experience of Pat Fitzgibbon With a Band of Boulevarders.

Patrick Fitzgibbon made some interesting discoveries regarding the frailty of human friendships yesterday afternoon. In making these discoveries he became involved in troubles that finally landed him in the city jail.

Fitzgobbon went into a saloon on West Third street yesterday afternoon and made some new acquaintances. They suggested that Fitzgibbon should stand treat. He did so. After treating the crowd to drinks twice, Fitzgibbon moved away. His new found friends wanted more to drink at his expense but he did not take that view of the case.

The crowd followed Patrick down West Third street to Plainfield avenue and there fell upon him and knocked him down. Patrick jumped up and swung his right into the crowd. It caught old John Keefe, a peaceful citizen, in the neck. Keefe was watching the fun. Roundsman Frederickson arrived on the scene at that time and placed Fitzgibbon under arrest. This morning City Judge Runyon suspended sentence on him.

To Dedicate Fountain.

Appropriate exercises attendant on the dedication of the new public drinking fountain now being erected on North avenue will be held next Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the fountain. The presentation speech will be made by Leo Moore on behalf of the Loyal Temperance Legion, and Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass will make an address. The public is cordially invited to be present.

Truant Taken Into Custody.

Chief Campbell, of the borough, who is truant officer for the borough, went to Chapot & Sons chamois factory yesterday and found Jos. Posson, a boy under 15 years of age, who should have been in school. He took the boy away from his work and took him home, and the firm was warned against employing boys or girls under 15 years of age.

Nude Bathing.

A lady and gentleman were out walking along Brook avenue last evening, and when in the vicinity of Hyde's pond they were confronted with several young men and a number of boys bathing in a nude state. They were compelled to retrace their steps rather than witness the disgraceful scene.

GREEN MOTORMAN DID NOT SEE THE CURVE.

Trolley Car Jumped the Track and Plowed Into a Field 100 Feet Away.

JUSTICE NASH BADLY HURT.

ACCIDENT OCCURRED NEAR ROSELLE LATE LAST NIGHT.

Justice Nash was the Only Passenger on the Car, Which was Running at Full Speed When it Jumped the Track.

As the result of a green motorman's inexperience with the curves of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway, Justice V. W. Nash is confined to his bed suffering from innumerable bruises and contusions, which he received late last night while returning from Newark in a trolley car. The Judge had been making an official visit to Memorial Lodge, A. O. U. W., of that city and left Elizabeth at 11:48.

The car in which the Judge was the only passenger, was sent along at a high rate of speed. As it neared Roselle, Mr. Nash decided to get up and lower the front curtain directly behind the motorman.

He was just in the act of lowering it when the car reached a curve, which it leaped and ploughed into a field 100 feet from the track. The motorman not knowing the road did not see the curve until it was too late to slacken the car, the speed of which was so high as to send it far from the tracks.

Mr. Nash was forcibly thrown over the seats from one side to the other until the car came to a standstill. The conductor was also thrown, but the motorman managed to retain his feet. The Justice was badly hurt and was assisted back to Elizabeth on the next car, where he took the 12:48 train for Plainfield. When he reached this city he was hardly able to walk and was taken home in a cab. Dr. Fritts, who was called, made an examination and although he found no bones broken the injured man will be confined to his bed for some time.

The conductor's injuries were painful and consisted of bad bruises.

CYCLISTS COLLIDE.

Joseph Clarke Suffered Severe Injuries While Going to Work This Morning

Joseph Clarke, of Central avenue, in company with his brother Benjamin, were riding to work at the Pond Tool Works this morning when the former was run into by another cyclist who attempted to turn into the Potter Press Works directly in front of him.

Clarke was hurled from his wheel and landed on the hard macadam, cutting his face and hands badly. The unknown cyclist went on into the factory. Clarke was picked up and assisted to his home by his brother and placed in bed. Dr. Buchanan was called and made the injured man as comfortable as possible but it will be some time before he is able to leave his bed. The wheel was badly smashed.

An Historical Anniversary.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 12—The Revolutionary Memorial Society of New Jersey will celebrate their anniversary and commemorate the battles of Bunker Hill and Millstone, N. J., Saturday, June 16th, at the old Wallace House in Somerville, once the headquarters of Gen. Washington. Addresses will be delivered by Col. Asa Bird Gardiner, of New York; Rev. Lewis S. Osborne, of Newark, and George E. Howe, of East Orange.

Good Time in Prospect.

If you want to have a good time go to Marconnier chapel next Thursday evening and take in the strawberry festival arranged for that night. Tickets, including ice cream, can be had for 15 cents. The proceeds will go towards erecting sheds in the rear of the chapel which have long been needed. Stage will leave Trinity Reformed church at 7 o'clock and the round trip fare will be 15 cents.

Entertainment Tonight.

All persons interested in the cause of temperance and prohibition are cordially invited to attend a free entertainment to be held in Washington Hall this evening. Interesting programme of instrumental and vocal music and recitations has been arranged.

Oil Kills Trees.

A number of peach growers in the vicinity of Whitehouse have killed their groves by applying too much crude kerosene oil to rid the trees of the dead San Jose scale.

GOING TOO FAST.

Many Cubans Think Independence Might Well Be Delayed.

HAVANA, June 12.—Of late Governor General Wood has had many callers, among them lawyers, bankers, merchants and even two members of the former cabinet, who have taken the position that the United States government is going ahead too fast in the direction of granting independence to Cuba. Those who take this ground assign it as the reason for their decision not to join in the coming elections. They point out that there is not a single candidate in the island who is not a professional politician, and they argue that to turn Cuba over to men of this class would mean her absolute ruin. As one expressed himself, it would be abandonment. "Would you leave us," he asked, "naked to our enemies?"

These visits and statements were the result of an interview with General Wood published by the Discusion in which he was represented as saying that in all probability a constitutional convention would be called in September next consisting of all the mayors elected. Business circles were thoroughly alarmed by this announcement, although there is no doubt that a great majority of the people received it with favor.

Colonel Carlos Cespedes, discussing the matter, said:

"The interview which Senor Coronado, editor of the Discusion, secured with General Wood has made an admirable impression. General Wood promised us that the elections should take place in June, and he is about to keep his promise. Now, according to the interview, he says that a national convention will probably be called in September to draw up a constitution. Our people are disposed to trust him, especially after the way in which he is keeping his promise regarding the elections.

"Many Americans do not understand the Cubans. We are quiet people, and the Americans are apt to mistake our quietness for submissiveness. Personally I have no doubt that independence will be granted, but if the United States government should declare that it will not fulfill its promise or should refuse a formal demand by the Cubans for independence then the Cubans will take to the woods, burning everything capable of destruction by fire, sugar estates, towns and wharfs."

WORD FROM LOGAN.

He Reports Defeat of the National Panama Forces.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The following dispatch has been received at the navy department from Colon:

"It is reported that an engagement has taken place, resulting in the defeat of the national forces yesterday. Panama national forces retreated; ammunition nearly exhausted. They have been reenforced and ordered to renew the attack. Loss in killed and wounded five officers. Reports are very conflicting. I shall remain here."

The cablegram was from Commander Logan of the cruiser Machias, which has been lying on the gulf side of the Isthmus of Panama for the past month watching American interests in that vicinity. Perhaps the very presence of the man-of-war has served to deflect the revolutionary movement to the other side of the isthmus, but it is said at the navy department that Commander Logan under his instructions would be prepared at a moment's notice to put a force of marines and sailors on a special train and rush them across the Panama railroad to Panama if their presence there should become necessary to safeguard the lives of Americans and American property.

Not Taxable.

DENVER, June 12.—The state court of appeals yesterday decided that a membership in or a contract with the Associated Press is not a "property" which can be taxed. The suit was brought by The Rocky Mountain News on behalf of the papers in the city using the service to prevent the assessment of the Associated Press franchise of $25,000. The decision of the lower court that it was not a taxable property is affirmed.

To Manufacture Gasoline Engines.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., June 12.—H. A. Lozier, a prominent capitalist of Cleveland, arrived in Plattsburg a few days ago and offered to organize a company for manufacturing gasoline engines here if the citizens would take $100,000 worth of stock. The money was raised at a big mass meeting, and the enterprise is assured. The company will have a capital of $500,000 and will employ 500 hands, mostly skilled workmen.

HOW ARE YOUR KIDNEYS?
It wouldn't be a half bad idea to ask yourself this question every morning—how are your kidneys? If the sole of your shoe gets thin and a hole appears, you straight way have a patch put on. But how about your kidneys? Do you ever watch them? They are the most important organs of the body, because the blood constantly is passing through them all day and all night. They are the filters of the system and remove the poison from the blood. If they are neglected the poison spreads, then comes Bright's Disease and perhaps death. Watch Nature's signs—backache, pain in the loins, scalding dark urine, headache and sleeplessness If you have any of these beware, your condition may be serious.

SITUATION SERIOUS.

Admiral Kempff Asks For More Men.

LONG ORDERS MARINES TO CHINA.

Washington Officials Think Trouble In China Will Be Confined to Mob Outbreaks—International Entanglements Not Feared.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The navy department has received the following cablegram from Admiral Kempff, dated Tong Ku, June 11:

"In case all communication Peking cut not able go alone; if other nations go will join to relieve Americans pending instructions. Situation serious. Battalion of marines from Manila has been urgently requested. Answer."

Upon receipt of the above Secretary Long sent the following cablegram to Admiral Remey at Manila:

"Send by Solace immediately all dispatch to Kempff 100 marines, arranging if practicable that after landing Solace shall continue homeward voyage as previously ordered."

The Chinese crisis continues to be an absorbing topic at the foreign embassies and legations in Washington, but the prevailing sentiment is that it will be confined to mob outbreaks and will not eventuate in a territorial dismemberment involving the various powers. It is pointed out that up to this time the foreign powers have stated most positively that their sole purpose was to restore order and protect their citizens and property, and while there has been some suspicion of an ulterior motive on the part of some of them this has not taken form. On the contrary, all the official declarations have disavowed anything more than a restoration of order. The Spanish minister at Peking is dean of the diplomatic corps there, but as Spain has practically no interests in China Sir Claude MacDonald, who is second in point of service to the Spanish minister, will act as dean during this upheaval, the other ministers having interests to protect co-operating with him. That serious international entanglements are not expected soon is indicated to some extent by the departure from this city of the foreign representatives.

Secretary Long states that he has sent no direct answer to Admiral Kempff, nor is such an answer necessary in view of the subsequent cablegram to Admiral Remey at Manila. The re-enforcements in the shape of 100 additional marines which will come to him from Manila in the course of a week would indicate the department's position sufficiently.

KWANG HSU PROPOSES.

Chinese Emperor Asks Powers to Free Him.

LONDON, June 12.—The Shanghai correspondent of The Daily Express, telegraphing yesterday, says:

"Weng Tung Ho, Emperor Kwang Hsu's tutor and confidant, who was dismissed by the dowager empress after the coup d'etat in 1898, sends, with the special sanction of the emperor and his party, including three viceroys, a message to the peoples of the west. In part it is as follows:

"'His majesty is convinced through trustworthy sources that the loyal support of many scores of millions of the Chinese will be accorded to his proposals for putting an end to the state of anarchy brought about by the action of Empress Hsi Tsi.

"'The government of China being virtually nonexistent, the emperor proposes that the foreign powers whose troops dominate the capital shall remove his imperial person from the palace in which his majesty is confined as a prisoner, shall declare Empress Hsi Tsi and her present ministers to be usurpers and shall bring Emperor Kwang Hsu to Nanking, Wuchang or Shanghai, whichever the said foreign powers deem to be the most suitable situation for the new capital of the Chinese empire under the new conditions.

"'It is proposed by his majesty and his advisers that the foreign powers should declare a joint protectorate and undertake the task of governing the country through his majesty.'

"The message suggests that the protectorate should abolish certain boards in Peking, appoint new ministers, abolish the existing so called armies, establish gendarmery under foreign officers, take control of the customs, posts and telegraphs and work them through Chinese officials, establish a uniform currency, readjust taxation and insure the freedom of religion.

"Weng Tung Ho, who predicts a peaceful acceptance of such a regime, goes on to say:

"'China is ripe for the change of tide which the reactionaries vainly seek to stem. If it should so be, on the other hand, that the foreign powers seriously contemplate the dismemberment of the Chinese empire, they have before them the huge task of facing dense millions, who, although lacking training and who make but contemptible soldiers, possess boundless powers of passive resistance and would be able to wear out the patience of any European rulers seeking to govern them without regard to the prejudices of the oldest civilization.

"'The conquest and division of China would be possible with 100,000 troops, but to retain the government would require 1,000,000 soldiers and centuries of work. The task would end with the most unhappy results for both conquered and conquerors.

"'His majesty and his advisers beg America and Japan to pause before resorting to dismemberment, which can be deferred at least until the emperor's efforts to govern his people and to restore the happiness of this great division of the human race have proved abortive. If the people are assured that the powers are guiding and protecting his majesty and do not intend to swallow the country piecemeal, they and the soldiers will return unquestionably to the allegiance from which the empress diverted them.'"

The Daily Express publishes the following from St. Petersburg:

"Prince Oochtomsky, editor of the Viedomosti, who is a great Chinese authority, says that the Boxers are one of the old secret societies with which the modern society of China is honeycombed. They have been working against foreigners for several generations. The Boxers will probably be put down, but it is feared that a great number of men, women and children will be murdered before that can be effected.

"The prince says the present difficulty is of a temporary nature and cannot be compared with the great upheaval that is still to come. European attempts to divide and to coerce China will only result, he predicts, in the Chinese becoming more united in their hatred against foreigners. Already they are exceedingly embittered against them. He considers that the Europeans are to blame for exploiting and taking advantage of the Chinese. Formerly they were an extremely peaceful and inoffensive people, but Europans, with their militarism, are changing all this."

Germany's Attitude.

BERLIN, June 12.—From a high official of the foreign office the following statement is received respecting Germany's attitude in the far east: "Germany adheres to her idea of joint action by the powers in China. Thus far the powers have been acting together harmoniously, and there is no indication that any power means to take a separate advantage. The German foreign office has received no official proof nor any evidence tending to show that the empress dowager is making common cause with the Boxers. Indeed Baron von Ketteler, German minister in Peking, not long ago forwarded a copy of an imperial decree against the Boxers. It is another question, of course, whether the empress uses adequate means for suppressing the revolt and also whether within her immediate entourage anti-European influences are at work. The instructions that have been sent to the chief of the German squadron, Admiral von Bendemann, are comprehensive enough to meet the requirements of the case. If necessary a third marine battalion will be dispatched from Kiaochou to Peking, but no more ships."

NEWSPAPER OFFICES ON FIRE.

Flames In the Tribune Building, New York, Does Much Damage.

NEW YORK, June 12.—A fire in the fifth floor of the Tribune building on the Frankfort street side shortly after midnight last night gutted the advertisement file rooms of the New York Journal and seriously interfered with the work of the staffs of the New York Tribune and of the New York Journal. The flames were first discovered in room 76 and made their way to rooms 77 and 78. The summer resort bureau of The Journal also has offices in these rooms. Work in The Tribune editorial rooms was suspended for over an hour.

Deputy Chief Duane, who was in charge of the fire, said that the damage, as nearly as he could estimate it, was about $10,000, but it might be somewhat greater, as there was a great deal of damage done by water, and he did not know just what this would amount to. There were ten linotype machines in The Journal composing room which were flooded, as was the advertising room of The Journal. These losses were not included in Deputy Chief Duane's estimate.

The Ashanti Relief.

LONDON, June 12.—Colonel Willcocks, in command of the Ashanti relief expedition, cables from Phrahsu, under date of June 9, as follows: "Have just received a message from Colonel Carter from Kwisa reporting that he advanced June 6, affecting a junction with Captain Hall at Bekwai. He found the rebel forces strongly fortified at Dompoassi. The fight continued for a long time, and the enemy was dislodged, but on account of the loss of seven European officers wounded and 90 other casualties he was unable to advance and returned to Kwisa. There is no news from Kumassi. Kokofu and Adansi are in a state of rebellion. The Donglassi are probably joining the rebel forces."

Civil Service Commissioner Named.

ALBANY, June 12.—Governor Roosevelt has announced the appointment of Professor Cuthbert M. Pound of Cornell university to be state civil service commissioner to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Commissioner Willard F. Cobb of Lockport. Professor Pound is a member of the Civil Service Reform association connected with the university and is also professor of law there. Commissioner Pound sat in the senate during the Morton administration and was instrumental in securing confirmation by that body of Colonel Silas W. Burt's appointment as a civil service commissioner, who is at present a member of the commission.

Five Killed In One Family.

MOOSOMIN, Assiniboia, June 12.—A sheriff's posse which returned here late last night from Welwyn, a village 12 miles to the north, brings details of the killing on Saturday of Postmaster Alexander McArthur, his wife and three children—Dempsey, aged 12; Charles, 8, and Russell, 4. Mamie, aged 6; Henry, 2, and the baby, 3 weeks old, were wounded. The baby will die. The crimes were committed by John Morrison, a hired man, who used an ax. He spared one girl, who ran to a neighbor's house and told the story.

Brave Struggle For Life.

YONKERS, N. Y., June 12.—Hundreds of persons saw a struggle for life in the Hudson off this place yesterday afternoon. They watched one man save two women and after repeatedly saving another lose her finally. The one he lost was his wife. Those whom he rescued and those who witnessed his gallant fight for the lives of his companions, especially for his wife, say it would be hard to describe his heroism. The man was Arthur W. Birdsall, a stereotyper employed on a New York morning paper.

Rain Has Fallen In India.

LONDON, June 12.—The viceroy of India, Lord Curzon of Kedleston, has cabled to the secretary of state for India, Lord George Hamilton, announcing that a good rain has fallen in southern India, that there have been scattered showers elsewhere and that the meteorological reporter forecasts a good but late monsoon. The hot weather, however, still prevails, and the famine relief situation has not altered. There are now about 5,802,000 persons receiving relief.

Banker Buys a Gold Brick.

DENVER, June 12.—A brick of copper about three feet long, three inches thick and nearly four inches wide is at the United States mint here. It weighs 600 ounces and is worth $6.80. For its possession William Kerr, president of the Adams County bank at Hastings, Neb., paid $13,000 to some man whose name and present address are unknown to him. Mr. Kerr is now seeking him with the aid of many detectives.

Boy Dragged to Death.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 12.—Charles Sutton of State Hill, 9 years old, while leading a horse to water tied the rope halter about his waist. The horse became frightened and dragged the boy to death.

A GAP IN WAR NEWS

General Roberts' Communication Still Cut Off.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED BOERS SURRENDER

The Loss of the Derbyshires Is Estimated at Seven Hundred—British Said to Have Met a Reverse In the Southern Free State.

LONDON, June 12.—Fifty thousand British troops are within half a hundred miles of the marauding Boers north of Kroonstadt, and they are expected, of course, to make short work of them. Nevertheless, outside of the slender war office telegrams, no one knows what is going on.

A Reuter dispatch from Maseru, dated June 11, 8:33 p. m., says:

"Fifteen hundred Boers surrendered to General Brabant today in the Ficksburg district."

South of Kroonstadt there is a wide gap. The railway is only partially defended, and as General Kelly-Kenny has hurried all the available troops northward the assumption is that there is danger of a second raid. The loss of the Derbyshires is estimated at from 600 to 700 men.

Machadodorp has been officially proclaimed the capital of the Transvaal. A Lourenco Marques dispatch says that the village has swollen into a small city, the majority of the inhabitants living in tents.

An official Boer telegram asserts that the British have been defeated with considerable loss at Donkerspoort, in the southern extremity of the Free State, or Orange River Colony, ten miles from Norval's Pont. It was thought that this district had been cleared of Boers and rebels long ago.

The Boers still cling to Laingsnek, but General Buller's forces are working around in that direction.

Lord Roberts wired Cape Town that, prior to Wednesday, he liberated 151 officers and 3,500 of the rank and file. The Boers consequently only took off 900.

Mr. Schreiner, the Cape premier, had 8 supporters out of 40 at a caucus called to consider the ministerial programme. Mr. J. X. Merriman, treasurer, and Mr J. W. Sauer, commissioner of public works, have resigned from the cabinet, and Mr. Schreiner's own resignation is believed to be imminent, although he may reconstruct the ministry with the aid of the opposition, the British members. The cabinet situation is so interesting that Sir Alfred Milner will postpone his trip north.

Food is still scarce at Mafeking, but the railway is nearly repaired. Seventy-two rebels have been arrested in the Vryburg and Mafeking districts. Sixty-five were marched into Mafeking by two of their late prisoners at Mostia.

All of General Harrington's force had landed at Beira a week ago. The organization to invade the Transvaal from the north is already far advanced.

A Boer deserter who arrived at Maseru asserts that 7,000 Boers participated in the Rooekrantz engagement, that General Olivier was killed and General de Villiers mortally wounded.

For Bryan and Dewey.

COLUMBUS, O., June 12.—The Democratic state convention which began here today follows the reception to Admiral Dewey of last week. It was at one time proposed to have Admiral Dewey here during the convention, or, rather, to hold the convention last week while he was here, but some of the subscribers to the Dewey celebration fund objected, and the plan was abandoned. The Dewey decorations, exterior and interior, however, still remain all over the city. The hotels have large portraits of Dewey displayed and none of the Democratic heroes except Bryan. The Democratic hustlers point to the portraits of the hero of Manila as the man for the second place on the national ticket, and there is much talk about Bryan and Dewey being nominated. All who are agitating Bryan and Dewey as the ticket think there is no doubt about the admiral accepting.

Czar Reid Holds Up Newfoundland.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., June 12.—Mr. Reid, the railway contractor, is coming here from Montreal to confer with the cabinet regarding its refusal to sanction the transfer of his manifold interests in the colony to a limited liability company. The situation is decidedly serious. The government persists in refusing to grant to Mr. Reid the concession he desires, and he continues to shut down all progressive enterprises not absolutely essential to the operation of the railway. Unless the difference is speedily adjusted the colony is likely to suffer.

The Princess at Niagara.

NIAGARA FALLS, June 12.—The Princess Aribert of Anhalt, granddaughter of Queen Victoria, has arrived in this city and at the International hotel registered as Countess Muensterberg of Berlin. She is accompanied by Mlle. von Chapines and W. W. Max Mueller of the British embassy at Washington. The princess visited the points of interest and will leave for Ottawa tonight to be the guest for a few days of Lord and Lady Minto. After this visit she will go to New York.

Schooner Sunk; Crew Saved.

PHILADELPHIA, June 12.—The British steamer Bermuda, from Port Antonio for Philadelphia with a cargo of fruit, collided with and sunk the three masted schooner Frank Hall, in ballast, from New York for Moorehead, N. C., early yesterday morning near the Winter quarter light, 56 miles below the Delaware capes. Captain Moore of the schooner and his crew of five men were rescued by the crew of the Bermuda and brought to this city.

Birds Presented to Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 12.—W. E. D. Scott, curator of the ornithological department in the university, announces that the British museum in London has presented to Princeton university 2,006 mounted birds, specimens of India, Australia and the Malay islands. The birds have already been shipped from England. Some time ago the university presented the British museum with 250 sets of North American birds' eggs.

To Care For Insane Soldiers.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Dr. Charles H. Latimer, assistant to the superintendent of the government hospital for the insane here, has been appointed by Surgeon General Sternberg an acting assistant surgeon in the army for the purpose of proceeding to Manila and taking charge of the insane soldiers there.

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's For One Thing Only and Plainfield Is Learning This.

Nothing can be good for everything.
Doing one thing well brings success.
Doan's Kidney Pills do one thing only.
They're for sick kidneys
They cure backache, every kidney ill.
Here is Plainfield evidence to prove it.

Mrs. W. W. Mills, of No. 86 Summit avenue, says:—"I suffered at times with a severe pain across the small of my back and in my hips. If I did any lifting or stooping my back became lame and sore and, though I used plasters they only helped me for the time being. I was feeling very badly when I had my attention called to Doan's Kidney Pills. They were so highly recommended for troubles like mine that I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store. I felt their good effects in a few days, when I had finished the treatment my back was better and stronger and I had much more energy to attend household duties."

For sale by all dealers, price 50c. a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY.

There Will Be No Roosevelt Boom at Philadelphia.

NEW YORK, June 12.—An intimate political friend of Governor Roosevelt who is thoroughly conversant with the inner councils of the party leaders both at Washington and in New York volunteers the following statement as to the meaning of Senator Platt's reference to the governor as a possible vice presidential candidate despite his repeated and emphatic refusal to accept the nomination:

"It is true that Senator Platt is urging the vice presidential nomination upon Roosevelt, but he has not shaken and will not be able to shake the governor's announced determination. The real influences behind this movement are the big corporations, which are convinced that they cannot defeat the governor either at the Republican state convention or at the polls next autumn. They are incensed at the enactment of the franchise tax law a year ago and are anxious to secure its nullification or repeal by getting its chief instigator, Governor Roosevelt, out of power in New York state. It is curious that Senator Platt cannot see that were the corporations to succeed in shelving Roosevelt and should he aid them in so doing the result would be to imperil New York this fall for the national as well as for the state ticket. But President McKinley and his advisers understand this perfectly, and there will be no Roosevelt movement at Philadelphia and no stampede."

PRISONERS MUTINOUS.

Five Hundred at San Juan Refuse to Work or Eat.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 12.—Five hundred inmates of the penitentiary here mutinied, refusing to take breakfast or to work. They asserted that the food was not fit to eat, and the leader struck the warden in the face.

The penitentiary is guarded by a detachment of 20 members of the Porto Rico regiment, and the jail authorities, fearing that the convicts had planned a concerted movement to break jail, called in the guard. Thereupon the prisoners attempted to rush the troops, who fired three volleys at the wall or in the air. Three of the inmates were injured by splinters, though not seriously.

The military authorities then called out a company of regulars. This assistance, however, was not asked for by the civil authorities, and the native company had quelled the disturbance before the regulars arrived.

Sunday Governor Allen and General Davis, with their aids, started on the United States transport Wright for a pleasure trip around the island. They will be gone three days and will visit the important ports.

LUDLOW DEFENDS DAVIS.

Says Cuban Atmosphere Is Full of Lies and Deception.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—General Ludlow, formerly governor of Havana, has made a report to the war department denying the recently published statement indirectly charging Brigade Surgeon Major Davis with having accepted bribes to influence his official action while acting as sanitary officer of the city of Havana. The general's opinion is shown by the following extract from his report:

"The Cuban atmosphere as to the public service is one of lies and deceptions. Accusations are many, and proofs are few, but seldom can the actual facts be obtained and verified. People will say almost anything, but will refuse to sign a statement or be sworn to it. In particular are some of the newspapers void of verity or virtue. Most of them serve personal interests and depend for their income not on their legitimate sales of issues and advertising, but upon receipts from purchased space to avoid public slander or exposure.

"The evil of falsity and false accusations is widespread and profound, and it will require a long time to eradicate it from the community in general. The American officers in Cuba have had all this to contend with, and nothing but absolute openness of conduct and sincerity of purpose of speech and action can protect them from it. It would be a waste of time to try to hunt down the swarm of irresponsible statements perpetually in circulation and eagerly picked up from the streets and cafes by the employees of a sensational press."

Otis at West Point.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 12.—The failure of General Miles to arrive at the appointed time, 1 o'clock, yesterday afternoon, caused a revocation of the military exercises scheduled for 4 o'clock. Great preparations had been made for a demonstration upon the general's arrival. General Otis is here today. The graduation hop took place last night and was the most brilliant event that has occurred at West Point in years. Cadets Courly, Beck, Bull and Schley were the hop managers, and Colonel and Mrs. Mills received the guests.

THE MAYOR TO BLAME

Missouri's Governor Lays St. Louis Riots at His Door.

REFUSED TO CURB LAWLESS ELEMENT

Governor Stephens Believes the City Authorities Capable of Restoring Peace Without the Aid of State Troops.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 11.—Governor Stephens has given out the following statement regarding the St. Louis strike:

"Vigorous action has been taken by the state government and St. Louis police department to enforce respect for law in St. Louis and protect life and property. The Republican mayor, however, who is a candidate for renomination, not desiring to offend, positively refuses to co-operate with us, which lends encouragement to the lawless element and impedes our progress toward restoration of normal conditions. The president of the board of police commissioners writes me under date of the 7th inst. as follows:

"'Henry Siegenheim, mayor of St. Louis, has persistently refused to attend the meetings of the police board, of which he is a member, or to give us assistance of any kind at this critical period. His honor, in spite of sundry requests, has persistently refused to assist the board in any way, and it is my belief that his refusal to do so has worked great harm to us in this crisis. Especially do I deplore the fact as president of the police board that he refused to issue a proper sort of proclamation to keep the peace and for the dispersing of mobs.'

"As governor I have conscientiously and fearlessly done my duty as my judgment directed. I have requested that 2,500 emergency policemen be sworn in and that the sheriff summon a posse of 2,500 additional ablebodied and lawabiding citizens to serve under the direction of the police commissioners. Up to this hour it has not been deemed necessary by the police commissioners of St. Louis to order out the militia, the commissioners yet believing that they are equal to the emergency. There have been only spasmodic outbreaks, which the police and deputy sheriffs have been able to manage. The stripping of the women was done by three girls between the ages of 14 and 16. A saloon keeper was also arrested on suspicion of being implicated. It was not thought best to order out the militia to shoot them. The girls have been tried and sentenced to terms in the Industrial Home For Girls. Most of the newspapers in St. Louis endeavor to stand in with the lawless element as well as with the better element and think it popular to withhold support from state officers and constantly criticise every act of the police authorities.

"Conditions are indeed bad enough, but exaggerated reports have reached the east. I feel the worst is over. It was demonstrated in St. Louis yesterday, when four or five strikers were shot and killed, that our authorities mean business. I believe that law and order will soon be restored and the good name and dignity of St. Louis and the state of Missouri will be preserved."

Quiet In St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 12.—Sunday's scenes of disorder and bloodshed were followed yesterday by comparative quiet throughout the city. Sunday night's riot was the all absorbing topic, the general opinion being that the deputies had done their full duty, although there was much regret that human lives had been sacrificed in the affair. The strikers and their sympathizers, however, claimed that the men were shot down in cold blood.

Salvador and the Canal.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—Ex-President Saldivar of Salvador, who recently came here as minister of that country, in the course of an interview spoke of the policy of Salvador toward the Isthmian canal. "Our interests in an interoceanic canal are much the same as those of the United States," said he. "We want the canal because it would be of vast benefit to all Central America, giving work to thousands and ending internal troubles by keeping everybody busy. But we want it mainly because Salvador has no ports on the Atlantic. With a canal opened our goods would be loaded at our Pacific ports and then, going through the canal, would have the Atlantic markets before them. We use American machinery, tools and agricultural implements, preferring them to all other makes, and are getting them even now at better rates than those offered by European manufacturing centers. With the canal open, this class of American goods could be delivered in Salvador and all along the Pacific coast of South and Central America with far greater ease and at better rates than at present. As between different routes we naturally prefer the one nearest to us, which is the Nicaragua route."

The Fern to Share Prize Money.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—The court of claims has decided that the crew of the United States steamship Fern is entitled to a share in the distribution of the bounty money which is to be paid by the government for the destruction of Cervera's fleet. The court held that the Fern was within signaling distance and was capable of rendering assistance at any moment during the battle. The case was contested by the attorneys for Admiral Sampson and others.

Platt Will Serve His Term Out.

NEW YORK, June 12.—Senator Platt's friends having announced that he would not be a candidate for re-election in 1903, a rumor gained wide circulation that he would resign his seat before that time. Senator Platt said to a newspaper representative: "If I live I will serve out my term as senator. But after 1903 I shall retire from public life and from active participation in politics."

New York's Aid For India.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The India famine fund committee held a meeting in Plymouth church, Brooklyn, which was largely attended by the public. After the work of the committee was explained a collection was taken for the famine fund. Robert C. Ogden said that in four weeks the committee had raised $60,000 and that last Friday it sent $25,000 to India.

Death After Tooth Pulling.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., June 12.—Charles S. Moore of this city, 66 years old, is dead here as the result of a ruptured artery in the mouth caused by the extraction of a tooth.

COMING EVENTS.

June 30—Y. M. C. A. Camp for young men at Northfield, Mass.

July 6—Y. M. C. A. Boys' Camp at Lake Champlain.

Getting Good Terms.

Following the construction of underground conduits for its wires in Plainfield, the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company is now an applicant in the city of Elizabeth for the privilege of using the public streets of that municipality for the same purpose. As originally proposed, the company agreed to do about the same as it did in Plainfield when the improvement was made, but it found conditions considerably different in Elizabeth.

In that city there is a rival telephone company, operated by local capitalists, and the backers of the latter corporation are making a vigorous fight against the granting of an exclusive franchise for underground conduits to the New York and New Jersey Company. The Elizabeth City Council also has had considerable experience with corporations during the past two years, and, profiting by previous experience, the members have conducted the negotiations in reference to the application of the Telephone Company so that it looks as though the city would secure advantageous terms for itself and at the same time grant liberal and valuable privileges to the applicants.

According to the Elizabeth Journal the concessions in the way of amendments to the original ordinance provide that the telephone company burying its wires in conduits as provided in the original ordinance (1) shall supply the city with 25 telephones for police service, fire alarms, public schools, etc., free of expense; (2) that the police telegraph and fire alarm wires shall be maintained in the company's conduits free of expense to the city; (3) that the official service furnished the city shall also be free for a circuit of 20 miles from the central station; (4) that the terms to local subscribers shall not be larger here than the terms in other cities of equal or greater population; (5) that the work of laying the proposed conduits shall begin within three months, that not less than seven miles shall be laid in the first year, and that the company shall pay $75 a mile per annum for each mile of street occupied, beginning July 1st, 1901, no payment to be less than $750 per annum, and (6)—a most important concession—that this franchise shall not be perpetual, but "for a period of 50 years."

It is undoubtedly of material advantage to both the city and the company to have the telephone wires placed underground in the business section of the city, but the muncipality should insist on and the company ought to be willing to accept—as it probably will—terms that will not put either at a disadvantage. In the past the greatest trouble in dealing with corporations has been that the latter have got decidedly the best of all bargains with the public, but Elizabeth citizens and officials now appreciate that a different and more equitable state of affairs ought to be maintained.

Times When We Pay War Taxes.

Secretary Gage says the war taxes are piling up a surplus that will reach $70,000,000 at the close of the present fiscal year, and in all probability will be greatly in excess of that amount. And still the Government taxes the citizen:

When he sends a telegram.
When he draws a check.
When he becomes a member of a corporation.
When he transfers his stock.
When he insures his life or his house.
When he assigns his insurance.
When he makes a note to raise money for the payment of his other taxes.
When he buys a money order.
When he executes a lease.
When he sends a paid telephone message.
When an indemnity bond is given.
When a bill of exchange is drawn.
When the citizen executes an instrument necessary in the sale of merchandise on 'Change.
When he ships goods by freight or express.
When he clears a vessel and files a manifest.
When he buys a ticket to go abroad.
When he executes a power of attorney.
When he buys proprietary medicines.
When he chews gum.
When he uses any perfumes or his wife indulges in cosmetics.
When a note is protested.
When a warehouse receipt is given.
When merchandise is entered at a Custom House.

It is not often that a municipality is a subject of philanthropy, and in this respect the announcement made to the voters of North Plainfield last night stands out as unique and unusual in local history. The gift of $2,000 to the borough by Charles McCutchen for the purpose of establishing a manual training department in the public school system is a benevolence that is at once practical and worthy, and the highest appreciation of Mr. McCutchen's act will be accorded him by his fellow-townsmen. As has already been pointed out, manual training will be an adjunct of the public school course that will aid materially to benefit the rising generation to fit themselves for the period in life when they will be forced to grapple with the world in an effort to make a livelihood, and in providing a way for the system to be attached to the present educational facilities Mr. McCutchen will meet with the admiration and appreciation that is his due.

The Philadelphia Record notes that immigration to the United States has largely increased in volume during the current year, and the summer months, when the influx is at its flood, may disclose some record-breaking figures in this regard. For the month of May the total immigration was 56,182, and this is likely to be far outdone by the figures of the current month. By far the larger proportion of the newcomers are from Italy and Southeastern Europe, where immigration agents gather in the ignorant population in droves for transport to this country. From the United Kingdom during four months of this year the immigration to the United States has been scarcely 10,000 and from Germany less than 4,000.

Out of 17,000,000 pieces of registered mail matter handled annually in the United States the loss has averaged but one-thousandth of one per cent., and in the transmission of ordinary letters the loss is but seven-thousandths of one per cent.

Senator Thomas C. Platt announces that "he will retire for good and all" in 1903, when his term as Senator expires. State Chairman Odell is talked of as the probable successor to Mr. Platt as far as State leadership is concerned.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

It may be all right, no doubt is right, that the new battleship New Jersey should receive a handsome silver service for its name, but the wisdom and propriety of asking the school children to pay for it is, to say the least, questionable. If the State cannot afford to appropriate the money let the newspapers take up the matter and raise it by popular subscription, but don't let the school children be burdened with it.—Trenton Times.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A magnificent display of roses is now to be seen at "Rose Lawn," the handsome residence of Councilman Charles B. Clifton on West Seventh street. A great collection of the different varieties of the favorite flower is scattered about the lawn making a very pretty showing. Mr. and Mrs. Clifton have been very generous with their roses.

—Some of the old-style trolley cars such as were formerly used on the Brunswick Traction Company lines, were used on the Plainfield lines Saturday night and Sunday to accomodate the riding public.

TRY GRAIN-O! TRY GRAIN-O!

Ask your Grocer today to show you a package of GRAIN-O, the new food drink that takes the place of coffee. The children may drink it without injury as well as the adult. All who try it, like it. GRAIN-O has that rich seal brown of Mocha or Java, but it is made from pure grains, and the most delicate stomach receives it without distress. ¼ the price of coffee. 15c. and 25c. per package. Sold by all grocers

Domestic Finish Only.

With our new machinery we are making a specialty of the Collar and Cuff trade. No stretching of collars so common with laundries using the old-style gloss-finish machine. Have you heard about our new turn-down collar shaper? No? Well, try it; no break. Call and see us use it. Always welcome.

"FLOWERY -:- -:- KINGDOM."

That's the brand of the best China Matting imported. Of extraordinary weight, heavy straw warp, small neat patterns, bright clear colors, it is not only attractive in appearance but possesses wonderful durability. Price is 29c yd. or 10.50 per roll of 40 yds. The sale for it in this city is confined to us. We have a special lot cotton warp Japanese Matting at 21c per yd., the real value of which is 25c. A real bargain, but the quantity is limited and will last but a few days.

PIAZZA GOODS are now in demand. We sell the new Grass Twine Matting for piazzas and it answers the purpose beautifully. We have the Matting Rugs in patterns for the same purpose as well. We also make to order Piazza Rugs of Cocoa Matting and finish with rubber ends. Any size made at short notice. They are strong and save the wear on piazzas greatly.

A whole carload of Trunks. We buy them by the carload in order to secure the lowest possible price. Few concerns in the State sell so many trunks. Everything desirable in the way of Trunks may be found here. All are splendidly made and attractive in appearance. They are canvas covered, leather bound, brass trimmed, good locks and have strong strap hinges. Prices range from 2.98 to 25.00. A full assortment of strong, trim little steamer trunks, too. Goods are shown in Basement of our Carpet Store at 246 West Front Street.

White Goods Department. You mothers who have daughters about to graduate will find this department of interest to you One of the best stocked, best kept and best managed white goods departments we know of. DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, June 12—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Archer have left for Lake Hopatcong, where they will remain for the next two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Weidenhaupt, the Misses Pauline and Kate Kratzel, Harry Zimmerman and Harry Page, the latter two of Elizabeth, founded a party and drove to Westfield Sunday and called on Emanuel Eckel in honor of his fifty-sixth birthday.

Although the Banjo Club has practically disbanded as an organization, they will meet tonight for practice, previous to their appearance at the commencement exercises of the Piscataway township schools.

A fishing party composed of Aleck Harris, Goldson Smalley, Fred Shaffer and several others paid a visit to Five-Mile Lock Saturday night. A fine lot of fish was the result of the night's trip.

Rev. H. C. Vanderwart, of Hackensack, who preached at the Presbyterian church Sunday, was entertained during his stay in town by William Hamilton, of Church street.

Miss Mathena Bodine, who teaches in a school at Atlantic Highlands, is home for the summer vacation.

Miss Virgie Tunison has returned home after a pleasant visit with her parents at Glen Gardner.

The last missionary meeting of the season will be held this afternoon in the Presbyterian chapel.

Mrs. A. N. Randolph was the guest of Mrs. Manning Randolph, of Piscataway, yesterday.

John Heil has returned to his home in Raritan after a pleasant visit with Bernard Sirisky.

John Whitlock has accepted a position with D. H. Pound & Bro., of Plainfield.

George Butscher, of Plainfield, spent Sunday with his nephew, Joseph Maier.

H. F. Terry and daughter, of Westfield, spent Sunday with his parents.

NEW MARKET.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

New Market, June 12—A pleasant family gathering was held at the residence of Adam Waglow, Sunday evening, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Caspar Waglow, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Randall and DeWitt Fulton, of Plainfield, and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Taylor, of New Market. The evening was spent in a social way. A return gathering will be held at the home of Caspar Waglow tonight.

The boating on the pond was delightful Sunday evening and a number of parties enjoyed themselves in rowing up and down.

Hereafter the Baptist church will be closed evenings except for the Christian Endeavor meeting Sunday night.

Miss Elma Blackford and Bert Woodland, of New York, visited friends in town Sunday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, June 12.—Judge Clark, who has charge of the A. D. Shepard property, opposite Lee's Hotel, is having a great deal of trouble with the boys who persist in helping themselves to the cherries which are just beginning to ripen. The boys are not satisfied with getting the fruit but break the limbs of the trees and the fence around the property. The Judge says patience has ceased to be a virture and that he will have the first offenders caught hailed before a justice of the peace.

The ladies of the Methodist church and their friends enjoyed their annual strawberry and ice cream festival in Excelsior Hall last evening. The hall was prettily trimmed for the occasion and the large audience present had a very pleasant time with their Methodist friends. The ladies will be able to turn a neat little sum into the treasury of the church by their efforts.

A number of the bicycle riders in town have been a little unfortunate of late by being caught out riding at night without a light. The result is the treasury of both Fanwood and Westfield have been enriched several dollars within a short time.

A scrub team from town played a match game of ball near Westfield Sunday afternoon with a team from Netherwood. Scotch Plains won. Score, 9 to 7.

Miss Daisy Conklin, of Patchogue, L. I., who has been spending a week with Miss Amy Cook, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Ann Dobbins, of Front street, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. Isaac Oliver in Harrison, this State.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bacon, of North Plainfield, have been visiting at the home of relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. Cass Acheson, of Hazlet, has been visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark.

The Exempt Firemen's Association held their quarterly meeing in their rooms last evening.

South Plainfield, June 12.—Albert Manning is building an eighteen by twenty-four feet addition to Wm. Hamilton's blacksmith shop which will be used as a wheelwright and paint shop.

Wm. Manning is having his house on Second street repaired where it was struck by lightning on Friday.

Mr. Jones, the miller, was compelled to flood the pond yesterday to clear off the dead fish.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, June 12—The Westfield Township Committee has made a contract with the Consumers' Electric Light, Heat and Power Company, of Elizabeth, to light the streets of the town. Twenty-five candle power lamps are to cost $15 per year and arc lights $110 per year. The police were instructed to take the names of all boys under sixteen years of age who frequent the pool and billiard rooms and give them to the town clerk. A resolution was passed forbidding the police to take fees in cases of arrests, but to turn the fees over to the township treasurer.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

Look After the Consumer.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—I have been very much interested in the article published in regard to the milk supply. The authorities have said considerable about what is to be required of the producer and retailer, but not one word of advice to the consumer. Now, I believe there is a great deal of good wholesome milk that is spoiled after it leaves the retailer's hands. In the first place the retailer starts out, say between 3 and 4 o'clock a. m., so that he may reach his customers in time for breakfast. There has been a tin pail or a pitcher put out on the back porch with a dirty ticket in it; perhaps the cat has licked it too. The consumer uses what is wanted for breakfast and probably sets the remainder on the shelf behind the stove or places it beside the vegetables that were cooked the day before, or where there is a basket of onions. When they go to use it you couldn't tell whether it was vegetable soup or onion juice. This is a matter that the Board of Health should look into. I belong to the producing class.

I am willing to comply with all the requirements of the ordinance provided it don't cost too much. You know our contracts are made for a time for so much money; if it is going to cost us more we can't fill the contracts. I wonder if the consumers are willing to pay enough more for the milk to cover the extra expenses?

I have read about the Fairfield dairy, near Paterson, where they have their herd inspected every so often and a certificate from the Board of Health attached to every bottle of milk. They get 12 cents per quart. How do you think that would strike the Plainfield public? It does seem to me there might be a standard for milk as well as for any other article of food, and if people want something better they should be willing to pay for it. But what I particularly want is that the Board of Health sees to it that the milk is not spoiled after it leaves the retailer's hands by careless usage.

A Monster Planer.

Several inspectors from the Pennsylvania Railroad shops at Altoona, Pa., called at the Pond Tool Works Saturday and inspected the five head forge planer, which is being built for the former shop. The planer is the only one of its kind that has ever been built at the local shop. It is fifty-four feet long and eighty-four inches wide. It will be used for planing up frames of engines and cars.

that such a system of heating and ventilation as proposed be introduced in the school at an expense not to exceed $5,000, and that the Board be authorized to issue bonds in $500 denomination, the same to expire in in eleven years from 1902, when the first bond would be due, and that the tax for the same be levied according to law.

Collector George F. Brown and Paul Loizeaux were then appointed tellers, but before the voting commenced there were remarks made by many present.

John Goodwin, the first speaker, wanted to know the difference between the amount of money raised for borough purposes and that for school purposes. As Assessor E. M. French was present he informed Mr. Goodwin that $18,500 was raised last year for borough purposes and $23,000 for school purposes.

Councilman John Valiant spoke in favor of the proposition, and cited the fact that last winter children had to be sent home on account of the inability to heat and ventilate the school properly. He believed that unless the improvement was made it would be worse next winter. Dr. J. H. Cooley, of the Board, rehearsed the present disadvantages and told how his children suffered last winter from colds. He urged the improvement from a health-point of view entirely. In reply to a question put by Councilman S. S. Swackhamer, Dr. Cooley said that the new heater would cost about $3,300 and the fans, flues and closets for the new process would cost the balance.

Patrick Eganey, of Mountain avenue, took exception to some remarks made by some of the speakers, but he did not object directly to the improvements proposed. Wm. Pangborn, the mason, stated that he came to the meeting intending to vote against the improvements, but he thought that the citizens could well afford to pay for this improvement if one publicspirited citizen was generous enough to give $2,000 for manual training.

In reply to a question by W. J. Conroy, President McCutchen stated that the $2,000 from his brother was for the purpose of establishing a manual training school, and that after it is established the borough will have to take care of it and employ instructors.

This closed the discussion and the vote was taken and resulted as already stated.

REDUCED RATES TO CHICAGO.

Via Pennsylvania Railroad for the National Prohibition Convention, June 27-28.

For the benefit of all persons wishing to be in Chicago during the National Prohibition Convention, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell round-trip tickets to Chicago at rate of one fare for the round trip. Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Bayern.

München. An die hiesigen Schutzleute erging die Aufforderung, sich als Schutzleute nach Kiautschau zu melden. Bedingung ist, daß der Bewerber vollkommen gesund, gut geeignet und ledig ist; die Besoldung beträgt 3200 Mark für das Jahr, sowie freie Hin- und Rückfahrt. Der in den Reichsschutzmannsdienst Uebertretende muß sich auf mindestens drei Jahre verpflichten und kann sodann wieder in den Dienst eintreten, den er in der Heimath verlassen hat, ohne im Avancement den geringsten Nachtheil zu erleiden.—An 2469 Feuerwehrmänner des bayerischen Landes-Feuerwehr-Verbandes, die im zweiten Halbjahre 1899 eine 25jährige ununterbrochene treue und pflichteifrige Dienstzeit vollendet hatten, wurde neulich das vom Prinz-Regenten gestiftete Ehrenzeichen für 25jährige Feuerwehrdienstleistung verliehen.

Bamberg. Der Fabrikarbeiter Fink, dessen Frau aus dem Dachfenster sprang und todt blieb, wurde verhaftet, da man annimmt, er habe seine Gattin so geängstigt, daß sie den verhängnißvollen Sprung that.

Freilassing. Der ledige Bauernsohn Franz Hafner wurde Nachts auf dem Heimwege von dem Lebacher Kantinenwirth, der betrunken daherkam, durch fünf Messerstiche derart verletzt, daß er nach Verlauf von etwa fünf Minuten starb. Der Mörder wurde verhaftet.

Garmisch. Zwischen Garmisch, Partenkirchen und Scharnitz ist seit Kurzem ein regelmäßiger Automobilwagenverkehr eingerichtet mit drei 14-sitzigen Automobil-Omnibussen. Es finden täglich drei Hin- und Herfahrten statt. Der Fahrpreis für die ganze Fahrt beträgt 3 Mark.

Kelheim. Im Bezirke Kelheim und theilweise auch in den angrenzenden Bezirken Rottenburg und Mainburg herrscht unter den Pferden eine Gehirnkrankheit. Die Erkrankung greift massenhaft um sich und verursacht viele Todesfälle unter den Pferden. Die Regierung hat eine Kommission zur Untersuchung der Krankheit hierher entsandt.

Nürnberg. Zum Nachfolger des verstorbenen sozialdemokratischen Abgeordneten Oertel ist in Nürnberg mit großer Majorität der Sozialist Suedekum gewählt worden.

Oberbessenbach. Die 13jährige Tochter des Gastwirthes Grimm war am Herde eingeschlafen. Ihre Kleider fingen Feuer; das Mädchen erhielt schwere Brandwunden, denen sie nach wenigen Stunden erlag.

Oberkotzau. Beim Rangiren auf dem Bahnhofe wurden dem Bremser Popp der linke Arm und das linke Bein von einem Güterzuge abgefahren. Der Unglückliche starb bald darauf im Krankenhause.

Osterhofen. Aus Eifersucht gerieth der 70jährige Hausbesitzer Johann Schinnerl mit seiner Frau in Streit. Er versetzte ihr einige Schläge in's Gesicht und begab sich dann in den oberen Stock seines Hauses, wo er sich zwei Mal in den Mund schoß. Da die erwünschte Wirkung ausblieb, so schnitt er sich mit einem Rasirmesser tief in den Hals hinein. Er starb an Verblutung.

Würzburg. Auf dem sogenannten Spitzelberge im Wallfahrtsorte Maria-Leinbach wurde die Entdeckung gemacht, daß der Boden Eisenerz enthält. Nähere Untersuchungen haben ergeben, daß der Gehalt an Erz 70 Prozent beträgt. Es sollen in nächster Zeit größere maschinelle Bohrungen unternommen werden.

Aus der Rheinpfalz.

Speyer. Der Senior der bayerischen Gymnasiallehrer, Professor Koch, starb hier im Alter von 94 Jahren.

Frankenthal. Zur Ehrung der Mitkämpfer im Kriege von 1870 auf 1871, welche von hier ausmarschirten, hat der Stadtrath die Errichtung eines Monumentalbrunnens beschlossen, dessen Einweihung am Sedanstage stattfinden soll.

Ludwigshafen. Seit Anfang Januar d. J. wurde die zeitweise geistesgestörte Frau des Ingenieurs Hildebrandt vermißt. Neulich wurde nun die bis zur Unkenntlichkeit entstellte Leiche der Unglücklichen, welche Selbstmord verübt hatte, aus dem Rhein geländet.

Württemberg.

Stuttgart. Der Tagelöhner Böhringer wurde wegen Gotteslästerung zu drei Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt. Der Mann hatte seine Ersparnisse einem Geschäfte anvertraut und verloren und machte seinem Zorn darüber durch grobe Gotteslästerungen Luft.

Hall. Von der hiesigen Strafkammer wurden die Gymnasiasten Eugen Teufel und Werner Cuntz, beide 18 Jahre alt, wegen Zweikampfes zu vier und dreieinhalb Monaten Festung verurtheilt. Die beiden jungen Leute hatten einen Streit beim Mittagessen, der in Thätlichkeiten ausartete, und es erfolgte alsdann nach vorausgegangener Forderung ein regelrechtes Duell unter Zuziehung eines Unparteiischen, der Sekundanten und eines Arztes. Cuntz wurde in die Brust geschossen; die Kugel konnte nicht entfernt werden.

Heilbronn. Wegen Wechselfälschung wurde hier der Direktor des Apollotheaters, E. Moreno, und wegen Unterschlagung in Kleversulzbach der Gemeindepfleger Lehmann verhaftet.

I very well remember the evening I arrived at Madison. My cousin Bertha was to meet me there, coming up from Milwaukee. She was not used to traveling and had, when she arrived, what she called a sick headache. I induced her to swallow a RIPANS TABULE, and in half an hour she was well enough to join me at supper at the hotel. I heard no more of the headache, but next day Bertha bought some RIPANS TABULES for herself and I know that she has not had one of those attacks for nearly a year now.

ECLECTIC FASHIONS.

Individual Taste Is the Present Ruling Influence.

Fashion has never been so eclectic as at present. Anything which is becoming and chic is permissible. Many women design their own costumes and hats, using the prevailing mode only as an inspiration, not as a model. Hats both large and small are worn—turbans, toques and tiny headdresses which are hardly more than a bow of ribbon and a chou of tulle. Whatever best suits the individual is correct.

Narrow, high crowns are the newest. There are also large, bulging crowns, but these were first seen a year ago and so lack novelty, although they are picturesque for country shade hats.

BRIDAL GOWN.

Among new trimmings for millinery are ostrich plumes which are double, the midribs being fastened together so that one plume forms a sort of lining for the other.

The cut shows a bridal gown of ivory satin. It is made on a princess foundation of ivory taffeta and is laid in lengthwise plaits, which follow the lines of the figure in the bodice and on the hips, but below that are allowed to fall free. In front there is a yoke of guipure de venise, which is continued down the front to form a plastron and tablier. The plain sleeves have a plaited cap, and the top of the bodice is trimmed with little ruches of white mousseline de soie, which are carried around the base of the sleeve cap. The collar is covered with the same kind of little ruches. A bouquet of orange blossoms is placed at the left side of the bodice.

SUMMER WRAPS.

Pretty Capes and Scarfs For Warm Weather.

One of the prettiest of light wraps is a mantle of changeable plaited taffeta trimmed with pinked ruffles and old fashioned blond lace. It has long ends in front. Many little capuchon pelerines are seen, the ornamentation of which varies greatly. Deep applications of guipure, open embroidery and long fringes, ruffles of lace and mousseline de soie, floating scarfs and fluttering ribbons are all employed, and every device of daintiness is used. These little wraps are extremely pleasing, as they do not conceal the waist, simply covering the shoulders and top of the arms.

Another summer accessory is the short triple cape. The Josephine scarf is a novelty, and there are all sorts of boas and neck ruches of mousseline de soie mixed with loops of narrow satin or velvet ribbon. These boas are often of light or bright colors.

NEW CAPE.

An illustration is given which shows one of the newest models of thin wraps. It is a cape of black spangled tulle with applications of foliage in pearly spangles. The lower edge of the cape is cut in large points, which fall over a deep flounce of accordion plaited mousseline de soie, bise tinted and bordered with a ruche of the same material. The yoke and high collar are of finely puffed bise mousseline de soie. Around the shoulders is a scarf of mousseline de soie, secured at the back by a pearl buckle and falling, with long ends in front.

BULLY THE PUBLIC.

Small Men Whose Heads Are Swelled by Temporary Honors.

Clothed in a Little Brief Authority They Conduct Themselves so as to Bring Disgrace on American Institutions.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THE love of position and power is growing, and its results are unworthy of a republic. Rotation in office might improve the health of our body politic.

Senators too often reelected fit themselves into their offices, and expect to live there, like eggs in their shells, or like trees in their bark. They kick down the ladders upon which they have climbed, and yet remain in elevation with complacency.

Our quadrennial elections give us new presidents, new cabinets and a few new officials in the executive departments, but the subordinate clerks and chiefs of division go on forever until they feel that their offices are incorporeal hereditaments, and real parts of themselves. For the common people who visit the executive departments they entertain feelings either of pity or of contempt.

Five ladies and one gentleman visiting Washington were escorted to the National museum, after visiting the Smithsonian institution. Upon entering the east door they were confronted by a policeman who stated that "the public cannot enter this door." No good reason was apparent, and the policeman vouchsafed no reason. He simply said that the visitors must walk around the big building, and "keep off the grass." This necessitated a long walk and although one of the ladies was feeble, and manifestly so, the order was inexorable; so the party walked the required distance and entered by the one door prescribed, although there are eight doors which ought to be open to the plain people whose taxes pay the expenses of the National museum and all other public places.

The gentleman who was escorting the party found one who was acting as superintendent, and asked him by what authority that door was closed, and the reply was: "By authority of the government of the United States."

"Is there any statute to this effect?" was inquired.

"I don't know," was the nonchalant reply. "Statute or not, that door is closed and people must go to the main door."

"But when you say 'the government' you comprehend a great deal. What individual issued this order?"

"Well, ask the president, if you are anxious to know," and he turned his back upon the sovereign citizen, as he would upon an alien or an enemy of the country.

The inquiring citizen happened to be an acquaintance of the president, and he told the story at the white house on the following morning. Indignation as well as surprise was manifested by the president, an order was penciled which will be officially issued, and plain people may hereafter visit the National museum without meeting with that sort of a rude reception.

A MIDSUMMER FROST.

That is a sample of how officials conduct themselves when they are retained in office so long as to become habituated to believing that the office is their natural-born prerogative. There is scarcely an office or bureau in which some such upstart cannot be found. Like leeches fattening upon the body politic they come to speak of themselves as "the government" whereof they are but an infinitesimal part.

One might expect better treatment in the offices of the civil service commission, the fountain of our civil service system. But one morning recently the writer called to see one of the civil service commissioners, and had a similar experience. Two young men were conversing in the hallway, who paid no attention whatever to the citizen who stood there awaiting their attention. Passing down the hall the visitor found a clerk reading a newspaper, and of him inquired where to find the commissioner whom he desired to see. The clerk paid no attention to several inquiries, and finally a colored gentleman, a messenegr, came forward and directed the visiting citizen to the room of the commissioner by whom he was cordially received.

Under a former administration the writer called upon the chief clerk of the department of state for information. There was a railing between the chief clerk and the outside world. Standing by that railing the citizen asked several times for a hearing, but the chief clerk never raised his head, and never batted an eyelash. Exasperation was natural, and the visitor finally said: "You insolent fellow, inquiry is being here made for a member of the senate and you will answer at once or suffer for your superciliousness." The name of the senator was used; and it was the name of a far western hustler. The chief clerk awakened, and was all obsequiousness at once.

But civility had to be hammered into his swelled head before he would pay any attention to his business.

Maj. George Armes, retired, this evening said: "I have called daily during the past week to make inquiry concerning a case in the war department in which I am particularly interested. The clerk in charge will not let me see the assistant secretary, nor will he give me any information whatever concerning this business. I am a retired army officer. I served in the war of the rebellion and in Indian wars. If this kind of treatment is meted out to me what can the general public expect? I am well known in the war department. What can strangers hope for when they go there?"

When Thurber, Halford and Lamont were private secretaries to presidents they were accessible to all callers. But Secretary Porter inaugurated a system whereby nobody could see him without sending in his card to him. He is no longer secretary to the president, and that incident may be considered closed.

CHIEF CLERK CALLED DOWN.

Not many months ago a prominent newspaper man of Chicago, who had long been personally acquainted with an assistant secretary of the treasury department, when he was a prominent member of a popular club of Chicago, called upon that individual, was obliged to send in his card, and then received a chilly reception. The Chicago newspaper man, who was visiting Washington, entered the rooms of other assistant secretaries of the treasury without sending in a card, and without being chilled by august assumption of dignity and austerity.

Before getting into office, the politicians all learn to "crook the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrift may follow fawning," but after getting their legs under rich mahogany desks in the national capital, where they draw salaries too big for their real worth, they become arrogant. Of course there are some men who are never affected by prosperity or preferment, but too many of them have this pronounced weakness.

Soon after Hon. Frank Hatton became postmaster general he was asked by an old newspaper friend how he managed to receive so many people pleasantly every day. The inquiry was made: "Don't these office seekers worry you almost to death?" The happy Hatton replied at once: "I have just been an office seeker myself, and am so glad of my good luck that I simply feel sorry for these fellows who haven't got in yet. No, they don't worry me. They have a right to be office seekers, just as I had a right to be an office seeker."

But men of that broad-gauged character who are inducted into high places are the exception.

There is an official in one of the executive departments to-day, occupying a conspicuous position, who is not only painfully but pitifully puffed up. He was once a genial member of the national house of representatives; an unpretentious, jovial good fellow, and because of his good fellowship at that time he still has many good friends who would not like to have him specified in print. They are all surprised at his conduct, and sorry for him. As soon as he was placed in this executive office he swelled out like a turkey cock. He used to put his arm around the neck of the writer every day, in an affectionate, friendly manner, in the corridors of the house of representatives. But when he assumed his present office he became formal and distant to each and every one of his old friends. Poor fellow! It will not be many moons before he is back upon the prairies, trying to practice law, and obsequiously fawning upon clients or prospective clients. Clothed with a little brief authority he seems to have almost gone daft.

One notable exception in this official world is President McKinley, who seems to be unchanged by the great honor which has been conferred upon him. As Senator Chandler, of New Hampshire, says of him: "He likes the job and enjoys the position." The cares of state never seem to worry him, and he receives his old friends, no matter how humble, just as he always did before he achieved the pinnacle of his ambition. As a matter of fact, the people have never chosen any small man for the presidency, small in that sense that their self-consciousness should become manifest in their conduct. And they never will.

William of Wykeham, many years ago, wrote: "Manners makyth the man." It is a pity that the servants of the public do not all of them realize the truth of that axiom. If they did, they would understand how absurd it is for public servants to ape the airs of masters of the public.

SMITH D. FRY.

NOTES OF THE FASHIONS.

Styles in Feminine Apparel for Late Spring and Early Summer Wear.

The lace and accordion-plaited frills used on the new "dress" toilets vary in depth from five to fifteen inches. The six and seven-inch varieties are mostly used for the close elbow sleeves of thin muslin or light silk gowns for summer wear. The deeper laces fall from the lower edges of little puffed sleeves that reach just below the curve of the shoulder, and the ruffles that finish them fall to the wrist, and are somewhat shorter on the inside of the arm.

Short, smart dress capes for spring are made of panne velvet and peau de soie. The velvet is in lovely pastel colorings, and the peau de soie scarf-ends are finished with deep silk fringe. On plaited capes of black peau de soie are yokes, revers, and collars of open embroidered creamy white batiste over white satin. On the front of the flaring collar are two large choux that just meet, and are made partly of green, partly of a beautiful shade of old rose velvet. A short bolero jacket of black panne satin has large revers and collar wrought all over with gold thread, chenille, and creamy-white silk.

Elbow sleeves, says a fashion paper, appear again on many of the French models designed either for full dress or demidress wear, and these call for either the new lace mitts with leaf points reaching well over the back of the hand or for suede or glace kid gloves of much greater length than has been necessary with the long-cut sleeves for some time past. Later on we shall see these elbow sleeves on day dresses of flowered India muslin, organdie, foulard silk, peau de soie, and the pretty summer silks in black and white, green and violet, gray and old rose. The gowns are made with flounced skirts and bodices with Marie Antoinette fichus frilled at the edge like the elbow sleeves. They are finished with long scarf ends, which cross at the waist line on the front, and are carried to the back and knotted or tied as best suits the figure of each wearer.

The great diversity in the ways and means of manipulating lace, insertion, edging, and appliques, is certainly an expressive tribute to the versatile and artistic dress designers this season. Everything which has ever been used for this purpose seems to have been revived and added to the novelties for next season, which are already being shown.

The empire and watteau styles are being pushed into special prominence for use during the coming summer. A few models in watteau fashion have already appeared, the panniers being not much more than pretty suggestions of the style, produced merely by outlining gimps, fringes, or by means of a deft manipulation of the skirt drapery from the hips towards the back of the gown. Neither of these forms of dress appeal to women of our time, as appropriate for any but special occasions. For day uses, there is now a certain brisk, business-like air about the gown that suits the women of to-day who do not live the secluded lives their busy grandmothers did. Somehow the rowing, golfing, cycling, fencing woman looks out of place in an empire gown.

Soldiers Are to Become Settlers in the Philippines

Associations Among the Rank and File Being Formed for That Purpose

AMERICAN soldiers who were sent to the far east to fight the battles of the Philippine rebellion are to remain to civilize the conquered foeman. Such is the purpose of associations which are being organized by the men of the volunteer and regular forces in the Philippines at the present time.

With these men it is not a labor of love that they seek to perform, but a desire for personal benefit. They see in the rich country many opportunities for the ambitious and thrifty young man, and being on the field a large number of them are preparing to ask of the government permission to stay when their services as soldiers are no longer needed.

Nearly two-thirds of the land in the islands is public property that they expect will in a short time be thrown open to settlement, and being on the ground they expect to secure the best that can be selected. With a clear title to the land to begin upon, and in a country where a living may be had almost for the gathering, and with almost unlimited possibilities ahead of them, they are painting brilliant pictures of the future.

Conditions are certainly ripe for the introduction of American methods in the far east. The soldiers who remain in the islands where they have been fighting the nation's battles will have the markets of Japan and China at their doors, and both of these great nations are each year demanding a greater food supply from outside sources.

When it is considered that there are three persons in Japan for every acre susceptible of cultivation it is plain that the home market is sufficient for all the home products of the empire. The population of Japan (exclusive of Formosa) in 1896 was officially given as 42,708,264 and the area cultivated in food products as 13,064,568 acres. All fear of competition from Japan along agricultural lines may be dismissed. On the contrary, it must become a large consumer of farm products drawn from other countries. Each year has seen a greater amount of foodstuffs exported from the United States to the mikado's empire, but with American enterprise and American methods at work in the Philippines these American soldiers believe that they could catch a great amount of this demand. They realize probably better than do the people at home the fact that the eastern countries have about reached the limit of production for food products while the demand for such products is steadily increasing. The diffusion of knowledge and the introduction of new industries in Japan have had the effect of more than doubling the cost of labor in the last ten years and, in proportion, of stimulating consumption by the common people. Future progress must be mainly made in the direction of manufactures. In such event the food for the operatives, the cotton and other fiber materials for the fabrics, the lumber and iron for the construction of the factories and much of the machinery will be drawn from outside sources, and these American soldiers ask: "Why not from us to such an extent as we can supply the demand?"

The same thing is true of China. That great empire is annually importing more and more food products, and she would undoubtedly take them from the Philippines and so save the freight charges of a longer ocean voyage if they were to be had.

Agricultural methods of all kinds in vogue in the Philippines are of the crudest sort. These things these would-be settlers upon the land which they have conquered have seen, and believe they can improve with profit to themselves. The soldier from the southern states has watched with interest—and contempt—the methods adopted in the cultivation of sugar. He has found them quite different from those employed in the United States.

The cane is not allowed to ratoon, but is planted annually. At the time of cutting the cane for the mill the immature portion of the stock is planted in a field previously prepared. Very little cultivation is done. The cane matures in 12 months from planting and is harvested before the rainy season commences in May. The sugar factories in Luzon are the crudest conceivable. The mills are not better than farm sorghum mills. The kettles are simply wooden tubs with cast-iron bottoms. The sugar is drained upon the open kettle plan. The proprietor furnishes land and factory and the tenant furnishes seed, does all the work in the field, delivers the cane to the mill and supplies most of the hands for making the sugar. The proprietor receives one-half the sugar and all the molasses. The tenant, in theory, is allowed the remainder, but in practice he usually receives about two-fifths of the sugar.

The methods employed in rice cultivation are quite as crude as those employed in the cultivation of sugar cane. The rice lands are seldom irrigated; the fields are small; the system of planting and harvesting of the poorest. Planting cannot be done until the commencement of the rainy season because of the lack of irrigation, and much of the crop remains unharvested until long after it is ripe. What are considered the best rice lands in the island of Luzon do not produce more than 1,000 pounds of hulled rice per acre, while with improved methods and ambitious, energetic young men to operate them this production could be increased to a very large extent.

Sugar, rice and hemp are not the only profitable products of the Philippines which American soldiers are investigating. Millet, maize, sago and indigo do well and are ordinarily profitable crops. Philippine coffee, of which there were formerly many plantations, has a peculiarly rich and pleasant flavor. Cocoanuts, pineapples, oranges, bananas, grapes, figs, and many other fruits grow almost spontaneously; with reasonable care they would become articles of export.

There is an abundance of ground suitable for the growing of wheat and rye and of our northern vegetables, for which there is a steadily growing demand. The common impression that the people of the eastern countries live mainly upon rice is disproved by the number of acres devoted to wheat, rye and beans in Japan; to wit, 3,879,277 acres against 6,977,482 acres to rice. Large quantities of beans are imported from Corea and of wheat flour from the United States annually. Generally, at least one highly nitrogenous ration is provided daily for all classes.

Paymasters in the army in the Philippines report that considerable sums of money are being intrusted to the government, in the form of savings accounts which is provided for by law, by both officers and men in the volunteer service particularly. These amounts will be drawn upon when the day of discharge comes and will form a capital to begin business upon in the colony which they have helped to win. Even though the public lands are not open to settlement by that time many of the officers and men are expecting to buy improved land suitable for their purpose. A number of Spanish planters are leaving the islands and are selling their holdings at a sacrifice rather than remain under the new government. The price of improved land ranges from four to twenty dollars per acre (gold), depending upon the location and value of the improvements. A sugar plantation of 2,500 acres in the extreme southern portion of Luzon was recently offered at $20 per acre. It was well situated; all arable land; good buildings; sugar house, modern, with vacuum pan; 800 buffaloes and 1,200 people on the place. The proprietor claimed to have received an annual net income of $16,000 (gold) from the property. He was a Spaniard and wanted to leave the country.

It does not take a great amount of capital to engage in agriculture in the Philippines. Water buffaloes, the native beasts of burden, are comparatively cheap when the price is computed in American gold; labor is cheap, and for many of the crops but little attention is needed to secure a fair yield.

The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association started off its tournament yesterday at the Morris County Golf Club course, Morristown, and the competitors were the pick of the women players of the country, including the champion and ex-champion. Among those who contested in the qualifying round yesterday was Mrs. N. Pendleton Rogers, of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. Although not very near the low score she played an excellent game. She made the outward journey in 58 and returned in 62, making a total of 118. She was the fourteenth from the lowest score, 102, made by Miss Maud K. Wetmore, of Morris county, who beat Miss Hoyt by one stroke.

MORTGAGE FOR $500,000

BIG TRANSACTION OF PLAINFIELD GAS COMPANY.

Mortgage Given to Cover Issue of 500 Bonds of $1,000 Each, Payable in Gold Coin.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 12.—A mortgage for 500,000, to run forty years, given to the Morton Trust Company, of New York, by the Plainfield Gas and Electric Light Company, was recorded here yesterday.

The mortgage is given to cover the issue of five hundred bonds of the denomination of $1,000 each, payable in gold coin and bearing 5 per cent. interest payable semi-annually.

The instrument, which has $249.50 worth of stamps affixed to it, is signed br Levi P. Morton, president, and H. M. Francis, secretary, of the trust company; Harry G. Runkle, president, and J. C. Pope, secretary of the gas and electric light company.

GRAY WOLVES AS PETS.

A Wyoming Man Finds That They Soon Become Affectionate and Tractable.

Gray wolves are the most favored domestic pets on the ranch of A. J. Bothwell, on the Sweetwater river, Wyoming. The children romp with them, and have taught them many of the amusing tricks that earn applause in denser centers of civilization when performed by French poodles. There is never a thought of fear in the relationship.

These wolves, says the Chicago Chronicle, were captured as pups a year ago. They were nearly two weeks old and their blue eyes had not long been open. From the snug den in which their wise old mamma was beginning their education they were dug out by human hands and carried off to the ranch.

From the very first these wild foundlings exhibited lovable qualities. They repaid caresses and kind words with every demonstration of gratitude, and gamboled with their captors in a way that was irresistible.

Like more civilized puppies, they had a tendency to chew shoes and slippers, drag tablecloths from their appointed places and dig holes in treasured flower beds, but they never attempted to bite their friends.

As they grew bigger a playground was fenced in for them with stout wire netting. There to this day they disport themselves, quite contented in captivity so long as the children of the ranch frequently go in to play with them and teach them new tricks. They are grown-up wolves now, with all the strength of their species. They have the gleaming eyes, the great fangs, the blood-red tongues, the speed and activity that have aroused the horror of mankind from Little Red Riding Hood's time to this, but the eyes gleam with fun, the fangs are shown only in mirth, the speed and activity are used in frolic. In a word, these great hounds of the forest have exerted all their doggish gifts to prove that the wolf has from time immemorial suffered under the most unjust aspersions.

Two Stories of Boys.

A lawyer took in a new boy the other day and, as he had suffered to some extent from the depredations of the former one, he determined to try the new boy's honesty at once. He therefore placed a five-dollar note under a weight on his desk and walked out without a word. Upon his return half an hour later the note was gone and half a dollar in silver had taken its place. "Boy, when I went out I left five dollars under this weight." "Yes, sir; but you hadn't been gone five minutes when a man came in with a bill against you for $4.50. I guess the change is correct?" "You paid the bill?" "Yes, sir: there it is all receipted. The man said it had slipped your mind for the past four years and so—" He did not get any farther before he made a rush for the door. That boy is not in the law business any more.—Chicago News.

Mr. Cat.....Lucie Budlong
Mrs. Cat.....Bessie Flanders
Tommy Cat.....Marion Brown
Fluffy Cat.....Sylvia Curtis
Song.....The First Rose of Summer

An interesting exhibit of penmanship was made and also drawings from life and composition with models in clay executed under the careful instruction of Miss Eidlitz. The prize for study in balms, light and shade was given to Miss Florence Curtis and honorable mention was made of Miss Nanon West.

The graduates, Miss Mary Wadsworth and Miss Elsie Harmon received their diplomas yesterday afternoon.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Grace Weston, of Grove street, has taken a position as operator at the local telephone office.

Miss Mary Bushnell, of Hartford, Conn., formerly of Madison avenue, is visiting friends in town.

Dr. Frank Hallock, who is detained at Muhlenberg Hospital with typhoid fever, is very much improved.

W. F. Dreyer, of West Front street, has secured a position with The Hilson Cigar Company, of New York.

Miss Rodman, of New York, is visiting at the home of her uncle, Rev. E. M. Rodman, of East Seventh street.

Irving Clark, son of E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, is home from Princeton University for his summer vacation.

John Hart, Sr., and wife, of Newark, a member of the firm of Hillier & Company, enjoyed a pleasant drive to Plainfield yesterday.

J. W. Dreyer and son, J. F. Dreyer, of Brooklyn, will come to Plainfield tomorrow to visit J. W. Dreyer's son, W. F. Dreyer, of West Front street. J. F. Dreyer is vice-president of the Germania Real Estate and Improvement Company, that is now developing Vanderveer Park, Brooklyn.

Corporation Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the following Ordinance has been introduced before the Common Council, read the second time and ordered engrossed preparatory to its third reading, and that it is the intention of the Council to adopt the same.

J. T. MACMURRAY, City Clerk.
Plainfield, N. J., June 4, 1900.

AN ORDINANCE

TO LICENSE AND REGULATE JUNK SHOP KEEPERS.

The inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows:

Section 1. That licenses may be granted by the Common Council to such and so many persons of good moral character, and otherwise qualified according to the provisions of this ordinance, as the Common Council shall from time to time think proper, as keepers of junk shops.

Sec. 2. That every application for such license shall be in writing, signed by the applicant, and shall state his place of residence.

Sec. 3. Every person to whom a license shall be granted as the keeper of a junk shop shall enter into bond to the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Plainfield, with good and sufficient surety to be approved by the Mayor, in the penal sum of Two Hundred Dollars, conditioned for the due observance of all such ordinances of the City of Plainfield as may be passed or in force, respecting junk shops and the keepers of junk shops, at any time during the continuance of such license. Every license which shall be granted any keeper of any junk shop shall designate the house and place in which the person receiving such license shall be authorized to carry on said business.

Sec. 4. Every keeper of a junk shop so licensed as aforesaid, shall be authorized to keep at such house or place, what is commonly called a junk shop, for the purchase and sale of junk, rags, old ropes, old iron, brass, copper, tin, lead and other old materials, old bottles, old glass, old tinware, or other second-hand articles, and it shall be lawful for any keeper of a junk shop so licensed as aforesaid, to keep, use and drive a cart or carts, wagon or wagons in the City of Plainfield for the purchase and sale of junk, rags, rope, old iron, brass, copper, tin, lead and other old metals, old bottles, old glass or old tin ware; provided that such cart or wagon so kept, used and driven by or for him shall be duly and separately licensed and that every such cart or wagon shall be marked with the name at length, the street and number of his place of business and the number of his license in plain letters and figures.

Sec. 5. No person shall keep what is commonly called a junk shop for the purchase and sale of the articles enumerated in the preceding section of this ordinance, and no person shall drive or draw or cause or procure to be used, or driven or drawn, any cart, wagon or other vehicle for the purchase or sale of either of such articles without first being licensed by the Common Council as hereinbefore provided under the penalty of not less than Ten nor more than Twenty Dollars for each and every offense, but the full penalty of Twenty Dollars to be imposed upon conviction for a second offense.

Sec. 6. No keeper of a junk shop shall receive in the line of his business any article or thing by way of pledge or pawn nor shall he loan or advance any sum of money on the security of any such article or thing under the penalty of Twenty Dollars for each and every offense.

Sec. 7. No keeper of a junk shop shall receive or purchase any goods, articles or thing whatsoever from any minor, apprentice or servant, knowing or having reason to believe him or her to be such, under penalty of Twenty Dollors for each and every offense.

Sec. 8. No keeper of a junk shop shall receive or purchase in the way of his business any goods, articles or thing whatsoever from any person or persons whatsoever between the setting of the sun and the hour of seven o'clock of the following morning under the penalty of Twenty Dollars for each and every offense.

Sec. 9. Every keeper of a junk shop shall provide and keep a book in which shall be fairly written at the time of each purchase a description of the article so purchased, the name and residence of the person or persons from whom such purchase was made and the day and hour of such purchase.

Sec. 10. The said book shall be at all reasonable times open to the inspection of the Mayor, Chief of Police, and City Judge, or any of them, or of any person who shall be duly authorized in writing for that purpose by any one of them who shall exhibit such written authority to such keeper of a junk shop.

Sec. 11. Every keeper of a junk shop who shall violate or neglect or refuse to comply with any of the provisions of the last two preceding sections of this ordinance shall for every offense forfeit and pay the sum of Twenty Dollars.

Sec. 12. No person shall keep a junk shop without being licensed for that purpose as aforesaid, or shall carry on such business or keep such junk shop at any other house or place than the one designated in such license, or shall continue to carry on such business after such license may have expired or been revoked under the penalty of Twenty Dollars for each and every offense.

Sec. 13. Every keeper of a junk shop shall have and keep a sign on the outside and in front of his shop or other place used by him for carrying on such business on which shall be plainly set forth in conspicuous letters his name and his licensed business under the penalty of Twenty Dollars for each and every week he shall make use of such shop or other place as aforesaid without having such sign so put up and maintained.

Sec. 14. If any goods, articles or things shall be advertised in any newspapers published in the City of Plainfield as having been lost or stolen and if said goods, articles or things, or any such, answering to the description of the goods, articles or things so advertised, or any part or portion thereof, shall then be in, or thereafter come into, the possession of any keeper of a junk shop, he or she shall forthwith give information thereof in writing to the Chief of Police, and shall also state from whom the same were received, under the penalty of Twenty Dollars for each neglect or offense.

Sec. 15. Every keeper of a junk shop who shall receive or be in possession of any goods, articles or things which may have been stolen or lost, or alleged or supposed to have been lost or stolen, shall forthwith, on a demand to view the same, present the same to the Mayor, Chief of Police, City Judge, or to any policeman or other person who may be authorized by any of the above named officers or magistrates to make such demand upon penalty of Twenty Dollars for every neglect or refusal so to do.

Sec. 16. That there shall be charged to each person or persons licensed as aforesaid and paid to the City Clerk for the use of the City on the issuing of such license with the privilege of using one junk wagon or cart the sum of Twenty-five Dollars, and for each additional junk wagon or cart the sum of Ten Dollars.

Sec. 17. All licenses granted for the purpose aforesaid shall expire on the first day of March next after the same shall have been granted and shall state the number of such license and the location thereof, and the name of the person licensed. All such licenses may be renewed annually, subject in all things to the same conditions, provisions and changes as in and for the original license.

Sec. 18. It shall be the duty of the City Clerk to notify the Chief of Police of and every license issued by him, to whom and for what time and purpose, and to furnish the Treasurer at least once in each and every month with a report of the number of licenses issued, together with the moneys due the City Treasurer for the same.

Sec. 19. It shall be the duty of the Chief of Police to cause the provisions of this ordinance relating to fines and for failure to comply with the provisions thereof, to be carried strictly into effect.

Sec. 20. It shall also be the duty of the City Clerk to keep a register of all licenses granted under the provisions of this ordinance, wherein shall be stated the number of the license, the locality and such other data as may be necessary.

Sec. 21. Any person or persons who shall purchase or sell any of the goods, wares or merchandise mentioned in this ordinance without first taking out a license therefor, or after their license has expired, or when revoked, shall for each such offense be subject to the penalty mentioned above in section five.

Sec. 22. Any person or persons violating any of the provisions of this ordinance to which no penalty is attached in any preceding section, shall forfeit and pay a fine not exceeding the sum of Twenty Dollars.

FIRST JUNE WEDDING IN LOCAL SOCIETY.

Patterson - Rushmore Nuptials Celebrated in Pretty Fashion Yesterday Afternoon.

AT THE HOME OF THE BRIDE

HOUSE BEAUTIFULLY ARRANGED FOR THE OCCASION.

Rev. W. R. Richards Performed the Ceremony—Bridal Party Contained College Friends of the Happy Couple.

A wedding of brilliancy and much interest to Plainfield society was that of yesterday afternoon when Miss Gertrude Rushmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Willis Rushmore, of West Seventh street, and Edward James Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Patterson, of 307 Franklin place, were married at the home of the bride's parents in the presence of relatives and friends, including many guests from out of town. The event took place at 5 o'clock under circumstances that were most delightful. The beautiful home, the scene of the wedding, was resplendent with many flowers of many colors, presenting a pretty picture.

Rev. Dr. William R. Richards, pastor of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, using the Episcopal form, which is so impressive in every detail.

The bride was gowned in white meteor crepe, with a yoke and collar of Venetian point lace. She also wore a tulle veil, fastened with white rose buds, and carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and orchids.

Attending the bride was Miss Caroline Fitz Randolph, of this city, who was the maid of-honor. She was gowned in white silk point d'esprit over white liberty satin, trimmed with cream lace. She also wore a short white tulle veil and a head-dress of sweet peas, and carried a bouquet of white sweet pea.

Other members of the bridal party were the bridemaids, who were Miss Emma Christy Brooks and Miss Ada M. Belfield, of Chicago; Miss Isabelle Patterson, sister of the groom, and Miss Edith L. Gilbert, both of this city. They wore gowns of white point d'esprit over white taffeta silk, trimmed with flounces of lace and a touch of pink chiffon. Their head-dress was of tulle and pink sweet peas, and they carried shower bouquets of pink sweet peas.

The groom was attended by Wyllis King Grier, of New York, as best man.

As the bridal party entered the parlors, where the ceremony was performed, an orchestra rendered a beautiful selection. The bride was given away in marriage by her father, who accompanied her as the party proceeded to the parlors. Following the ceremony congratulations were offered the bride and groom, and a reception was held from 5 until 7 o'clock, during which time a wedding supper was served. About 7 o'clock Mr. and Mrs. Patterson left their relatives and friends to enjoy a bridal trip of three weeks duration. Upon their return they will reside in this city for the present.

Those who served as ushers at the wedding included Karl George, of Watertown, N. Y.; Theodore Friend Humphy, of New York; McCready Sykes and William B. Gilbert, of this city. In connection with this a fact of additional interest is that with the exception of Mr. Gilbert, the best man and ushers were classmates of the groom at Princeton College, from which Mr. Patterson is a graduate. The bride is a former student at Wellsley College, and the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were members of the Shakespeare Society at Wellsley College.

The groom is a graduate of the Plainfield High School, Princeton College and the New York Law School, and is now practicing law in New York city. For two years he was instructor in code, pleading and practice at the New York Law School. He is a young man of great promise with an exceedingly bright future before him. Both he and his wife are numbered among Plainfield's best people and are highly esteemed.

A pleasing affair previous to the wedding was the dinner given by the bride Monday evening to the bridal party. At this time she presented the maid of honor and the bridesmaids with topaz pins set with gold, and the groom presented his best man and ushers with scarf pins consisting of knots of gold containing a small pearl. Of course, Mr. and Mrs. Patterson received a very large collection of costly and elegant gifts from their relatives and friends as evidence of the high esteem in which they are held by all.

EYLER INVESTIGATION.

A Report Soon After the Governor's Return—The Charges Said to be Proven.

The Eyler investigating committee appointed by the Legislature will probably meet at Trenton Monday, June 18th, just after the return of Governor Voorhees to consider its report. The committee was expected to meet last week, but did not, owing to the absence from the State of Assemblyman Meeker, of Union county, who champions Mrs. Eyler's cause on the committee.

It is understood that two forms of a report have been prepared and copies of these are in the hands of the members of the committee. There reports are undergoing revision and from them the final report will be evolved. It is generally believed that the report will show that all the charges against Mrs. Eyler have been proven and will condemn the manner in which the State Industrial School, now the State Home for Girls, has been run during the last three years.

ANNUAL FESTIVAL HELD.

SUCCESSFUL AFFAIR HELD IN VINCENT CHAPEL LAST EVENING.

Ice Cream and Strawberry Festival Given by Ladies' Aid Society of First M. E. Church.

The promise of rain, which was kept, had its effect on the annual festival of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church, held in Vincent chapel last evening. The chapel was gayly decorated with bunting and Chinese lanterns.

A lemonade well was under the direction of Miss Lucy Palmer Davis and Miss Ethel Derby, The candy table had for its guardians, Mrs. A. B. Meredith, chairman, Miss Edna French, Mrs. S. H. Tugwell and Mrs. E. A. Edgar.

In the parlors were a number of small tables where a corps of waitresses, including a score of the young women of the church, served berries, ice cream and cake. The ice cream committee consisted of Mrs. L. M. French, chairman, Mrs. J. P. Homan, Mrs. Leland, Miss Sharp, Miss Jackson. Miss Gertrude Sharp acted as cashier. The strawberry committee was Mrs. N. W. Pike, chairman, Mrs. C. H. Rugg and Mrs. Templin. The cake committee was composed of Mrs. O. L. Jenkins, chairman, Mrs. C. E. Horne, Mrs. J. R. Joy and Mrs. D. E. Davis.

The decoration of the chapel was done by a committee of which Miss Luella B. Crowther was the chairman. In general charge of the affair were the officers of the society who are: President, Mrs. Henry A. McGee; first vice-president, Mrs. W. C. Snodgrass; second vice-president, Mrs. G H. Whitney; secretary, Mrs. L. M. French; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Peck.

REFORM AT NEW BRUNSWICK.

City to Exercise More Care in the Matter of Liquor Licenses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, June 13.—New Brunswick is entering upon an era of reform in the matter of saloon licenses. A beginning was made Monday night, when five applications for licenses were refused. The fee for a transfer of license was increased from $10 to $50, and a resolution was adopted requiring that in the future all applications for transfers be approved by all of the signers,to the original applications for the license. This is designed to break up the custom of having breweries the real owners of licenses, the brewers transferring them from one nominal owner to another. Steps are to be taken to compel the removal of booths, "private rooms" and "ladies' parlors" from liquor saloons.

The Anti-Saloon League organized some weeks ago, at a recent meeting, adopted a resolution approving of the sentiment displayed by the Board of Aldermen in favor of a reduction in the number of saloons in the city and the wiping out of low saloons where women are served with liquor.

Says President is $84,444 Short.

The Circuit Court in Newark yesterday afternoon issued an attachment for $15,000 against Henry Joerschke, president of the Standard Building and Loan Association, of that city. The attachment was issued on complaint of Harry Schlesinger, treasurer of the Association, who charges in his affidavit that Joerschke is $81,444 short in his accounts.

Private View of Artist's Work.

Mrs. K. Arthur Behenna, a well-known artist of much ability, who is stopping with Mrs. Josephine Miner, of 633 Belvidere avenue, will give a private view of miniatures and water colors at Mrs. Miner's home Saturday afternoon.

TO DISCUSS MISSIONS

NEW ENGLAND COLORED BAPTISTS TO MEET IN THIS CITY.

First Session of the Convention will be Held Tonight—Will Continue Till Monday

The twenty-sixth annual session of the New England Baptist Missionary convention opens this evening at the Mt. Olive Baptist church and will continue until Monday evening.

Today the annual Sunday-school convention is being held at the church, and this evening Rev. C. T. Walker, pastor of the Mt. Olive Baptist church, New York, will deliver a sermon before this body of workers. Already seventy-five delegates have arrived in the city and every train brings new delegates to the convention

All arrangements for the convention have been completed by Pastor Jackson and his corps of assistants. The REV. E. E. JACKSON.

Mt. Olive Baptist church has been remodelled within and without. The yard has been graded and decorated with flowers, vine, cut stones, walks and tents at an expense of $236, and of this amount all but $24 has been paid. Last Sunday Pastor Jackson raised $148 toward the expenses incurred, and last Monday evening the King's Daughters of the church gave $110 05. The sewing circle gave a similar amount and the missionary society gave $50.

The cost of entertaining the convention is estimated to be about $700. During Pastor Jackson's time at this church $3,600 has been raised and 151 members added to the church. The church is now in the best of condition financially and spiritually.

NOT SATISFACTORY.

The Dry Closet System in Watchung School Building is Found Fault With.

For some time past there has been complaints made against the dry air closet system in use in the Watchung public school in the borough. The matter has been brought to the attention of the Borough Board of Health and it is expected that some action will be taken very soon. It is claimed that the system does not work satisfactorily and is a detriment to the health of the children and teachers in the school.

The system provides for burning and it is claimed that a fire is necessary continually to keep it in working order. Whether the failure of the system to work is due to carelessness or whether it is fault of the system, is something that will be thoroughly examined and measures will be taken at once to remedy the trouble. Andrew Love, of the Board of Health, expected to be present at the special school meeting held last evening and make a report on the matter, but he was detained.

His Injuries Quite Serious.

The injuries to Joseph Clark, which he sustained in a bicycle accident early yesterday morning now appear to be worse than was at first thought. The young man suffers a great deal of pain and appears to be injured internally. The flesh of two of his fingers was badly torn and his mouth badly hurt. A more complete examination of his injuries will be made today.

New Stone Culverts.

The work of laying two stone culverts and wide crosswalks at the corner of Duer street and Lincoln place under the direction of Superintendent of Highways, Thomas Doud, will be started at once. These culverts will take the place of the present small wood top trunks that constantly needed repairing.

Lost Tip of His Finger.

George Edwards, the young son of Captain George F. Edwards, of the borough, now carries his right hand in a sling. A few days ago he was cleaning his wheel and in cleaning the chain and sprocket his finger was caught and the tip end of it was taken off.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN GIVE A LAWN FETE.

Summer Festival Arranged in Excellent Taste and Proves Very Attractive.

LOOKED LIKE FAIRY LAND.

PRETTY EFFECT MADE BY USE OF LIGHTS AND FLAGS.

The Scene Given Life and Pleasure by the Bevy of Young Women Who Worked to Make the Affair a Complete Success.

The June lawn fete given last evening by the ladies of the First Presbyterian church was a success in every way. The beautiful lawn of Le-Roy Gates, of First place, on which it was held, looked as if some wonderful magician had been at work and transformed the usually quiet spot into a fairy garden. Strung over the lawn from tree to tree, and also among the trees in the rear, were a large number of electric lights and fancy colored Chinese lanterns, which made the scene almost as bright as day. All around the sides were hung large American flags, while in the centre were placed tables and chairs, each one of the former containing a beautiful bouquet of flowers. Add to these the gay costumes of the ever-changing crowd and you have a picture that will be long remembered by those who were fortunate enough to be present.

Seated on the spacious piazza was an orchestra which discoursed music the entire evening. It was composed of the Messrs. Carpenter, Wallander, Korff, Dunham and Manchester.

Although Dame Nature was not in the best of moods she kindly consented to hold off raining, and the fete was nearly over before the first of the shower began falling. The festival began at 7 o'clock and was attended by a throng all the evening. Of course, the ice cream table secured a large part of the patronage and this delicacy was sold by Mrs. Haynes, and it was delivered at the tables by the following waitresses: Misses Grace Petrie, Jessie McKillop, Clara VanFleet, Julia Williams, Mildred Ulrich, Violet Beerbower, Fanny Mills, Bertha Wilcox, Ella and Katie Lounsbury, Clara Dunham, Leah Hammond, Helen and Florence DeForest.

Cake always goes hand in hand with cream, and there was plenty of the former for sale at the cake table, in charge of Mrs. Pope, Mrs. Hummer and Mrs. Kelley. The fete would not be complete without the strawberries and they were sold by Mrs. Dunn, assisted by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Hoagland. Then there was a lemonade booth in charge of Mrs. Charles Hummer, Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Bond; a candy booth presided over by Miss Remsen, assisted by Miss Boice, Miss Wood and Mrs. Case, and a flower and iced tea stand which proved very popular under the direction of Miss Edith Horton.

The tickets were taken at the entrance by Harry Williams. The electric lights were put up by A. V. Searing and the other decorations by Mr. Gates. The chairman of the committee to whom credit is due for the success of the affair, was Mrs. Leroy Gates, who donated the use of her lawn for the purpose.

European Traffic.

It has been remarked that the passenger traffic to Europe has fallen off this month as compared to many previous Junes. This has been ascribed to many causes, no explanation, however, being as plausible as the one which suggests a desire of the people to remain at home to attend the ice cream and strawberry festival of the Church of the Holy Cross. Go thou and do likewise! You will find it much less expensive and proportionately pleasurable.

Valuable Addition to Library.

The Babcock scientific department of the Public Library has just imported from London the first 44 volumes of the magazine "Nature" and the first 16 volumes of the "Journal of the Society of Chemical Industry," making complete sets of both of the above. These are in the circulating department.

J. D. Spicer Improving.

There seems to be a steady improvement in the condition of Joseph D. Spicer, of West Fifth street, and his many friends are pleased to learn that he may be about the house in the course of a short time.

District Meeting of Odd Fellows.

The Odd Fellows of this city will attend the district meeting to be held at Westfield tonight. A number of the State officers will be present.

LIFE AMONG CANNIBALS.

REV. DR. PATON TO TELL PLAINFIELDERS OF HIS EXPERIENCES.

He Will Speak in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian Church Friday Evening.

Rev. Dr. John G. Paton, the venerable missionary to the New Hebrides, who will deliver an address Friday evening at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will relate some of the thrilling experiences of his life among the South Sea Cannibals.

Dr. Paton's life reads like a romance. He first went to the New Hebrides in 1858, as a missionary of the Reformed Presbyterian church of Scotland. After many trials, including the death of his wife, and after having been threatened with death in its most terrible form, Dr. Paton was finally forced to flee from the island of Tanna in 1862. The Cannibals of Tanna were the fiercest of any in the group of islands, and they had been stirred up to take Dr. Paton's life by the fiendish deeds of a party of traders. Dr. Paton's description of his race for life in a boat, pursued by the blood-thirsty savages, is thrilling in the extreme.

Dr. Paton finally reached Australia in safety, but lost all of his mission and personal property. He was then taken into the care of the Presbyterian Church, of Australia, and under its auspices was again sent to the New Hebrides, in 1866, but instead of going to Tanna he settled on the island of Aniwa, where the cannibals were not so fierce. There he labored until 1885, having, after discouragements and frequent attacks on his life, established a church. Now the island is known as a Christian community, and even on Tanna a church has been formed, with many native members.

Dr. Paton has been devoting the later years of his life to telling the story of the progress of missions in the New Hebrides and raising funds for the carrying on of the work. At the recent ecumenical missionary conference in New York he was, perhaps, the most heroic figure. He attracted crowds of people whenever it was known that he was to appear. He is over seventy-six years of age, but still strong and active.

OPENING OF THE CAMP.

Place for Sick Children on the Mountain Will be Ready on Friday.

The camp on the mountain for sick children will be opened for the summer Friday. An invitation is extended to all to visit the camp on that afternoon from 2 until 6 o'clock. Carriages will be in waiting at the terminus of the trolley to meet the 2, 3 and 4 o'clock car. It is earnestly hoped the people of Plainfield will take as great an interest in it this year as last, as it has been the means of saving many little ones who would have no other opportunity of leaving the heated city. 2 d

REPUBLICAN HEADQUARTERS.

During the Presidential Campaign the State Leaders to Be in Newark.

State headquarters for the New Jersey Republicans during the presidential campaign will again be in Newark. Instead of the suite of offices in a large public office building, which has heretofore been used for that purpose, Chairman Franklin Murphy and Treasurer William Riker, of the State committee, have selected a commodious, three story brick building, containing eleven rooms, at 42 Walnut street.

If their decision is approved by the whole committee, the building will be at once fitted up as a political quarters, with the general meeting rooms and business offices on the first floor.

Jersey Central Cutting Expenses.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, June 12.—The Jersey Central Railroad still continues to cut down its force of men at this place. Yesterday two crews, which have been making this their headquarters and starting out from here for their run between Hampton Junction and Bayonne, were transferred to Bayonne, which will be their headquarters from now on. The shops now run fifty hours a week, instead of sixty, and the taking away of the two crews will do away with another man in the roundhouse.

Collision of Bicycle and Wagon.

A bicycle ridden by John McNally, of Arlington avenue, and a carriage collided at the corner of Third and Liberty streets last evening, and the former came out second best. McNally escaped without injury, but the wheel had to be taken to a repair shop.

Miss Dae Weaver, who is an attendant at the Day Nursery, Brooklyn, has returned to duty after spending her vacation with her sister, Mrs. Frank Rowley, of North Plainfield.

HORSE THIEF CAUGHT.

Crime Committed in Somerville and Offender Apprehended in Newark.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, June 13—Last Thursday night the barn of Max and Morris Lutz, on Warren street, was broken into and a horse, wagon, harness and $500 worth of store goods were stolen. The stolen property was traced to Plainfield, where all track of it was lost. The police of various places were notified and Monday the Newark police arrested the man who stole the rig. He gave his name as Jacob Renner. The rig and a portion of the goods were found in his possession. The Somerville authorities were notified and Constable Totten and the owners went to Newark yesterday, identified the property and brought Renner back with them. The horse was too used up to drive back yesterday, but will be brought back today. Renner is known as an old offender and will undoubtedly be sent to the pen.

MARRIED AT HER HOME.

WEDDING OF MRS. FLORENCE P. ROSS AND ALBERT R. SHEPPARD.

Bride is Daughter of Late Chas. Potter—Ceremony Was a Quiet One on Account of His Recent Death.

The marriage of Mrs. Florence Potter Ross, of this city, and Albert Reeves Sheppard, of Chicago, took place yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the home of the bride, 434 West Seventh street. Owing to the death of the bride's father last winter, the wedding was a very quiet one, attended only by the immediate relatives of the couple, numbering forty in all.

The ceremony was performed in the music room by Rev. A. E. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The couple were preceded by little Dorothy Hubbard, a niece of the bride, and Alexander M. Ross, a son of the bride. The wedding march was played by Mrs. William C. Hubbard, sister of the bride.

The bride wore a gown of grey brocaded satin, trimmed with chiffon and Valenciennes point lace. The music room where the ceremony was performed was elaborately decorated with flowers, principally roses. The library was similarly decorated; in the parlor and dining room pink was the prevailing color. The table in the dining-room was handsomely decorated in pink.

After the ceremony, the guests sat down to a repast after which Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard left for the south. They will return to Plainfield after their bridal trip, but expect to go to Chicago shortly and make their home there. Mr. Sheppard is a prominent dealer in flour in Chicago.

GOING TO COLLEGE.

How and Where Some of the City High School Graduates Will Complete Their Education.

Quite a number of the graduating class of the Plainfield High School will enter college in the fall and several others are preparing to take their preliminary examinations for entering college in 1901. The certificates furnished by the faculty of the local High School will admit to a number of the colleges without entrance examinations. Miss Ruth Potter Maxson will enter Smith College in that way. Miss Flora Campbell goes to the Women's College, Baltimore, in the fall by certificates. Miss Alice L. Morgan will likewise enter Mt. Holyoke College, and Miss Mary Alice Ross goes to Alfred University. Walter Squires starts at Williams College in certificate. Charles H. Fountain takes his entrance examinations next week for Columbia College. Miss Mary Lock will take both preliminary and entrance examinations for Bryn Mayr this summer.

Lawrence L. Tweedy, David Pond and Ames Brook go to New York tomorrow and Friday to take their preliminary examinations for Princeton University. They will take their entrance examinations for that institution next year.

New Auctioneer.

P. H. Latourette has purchased the property at 425 East Fifth street, and will do a general auctioneering business in Plainfield and vicinity. He has taken out a license to carry on his business. Mr. Latourette has brought his family from Whitehouse to this city and taken up his residence at the above address.

At Last!

Arlington avenue from West Fourth street to a point near Eighth street has been put in good condition, making travel a pleasure between those points.

THIRTY THOUSAND MEN; THREE HUNDRED TO GO

How Will Jersey's Share of Tickets for Republican Convention Be Distributed?

PROBLEM FOR LEADERS.

PLAINFIELD WILL HAVE A FEW PROMINENT MEN THERE.

Jersey Headquarters at the Lafayette—Special Rates on the Jersey Central Railroad—Great Demand For Tickets.

Senators Sewell and Kean and the other Republican leaders of New Jersey are face to face with a little problem that will be rather difficult to answer. There are some thirty thousand enthusiastic Republicans in Jersey who are anxious to attend the Republican National convention, which begins in Philadelphia, June 19th, and there are but three hundred tickets to admit them all. Naturally somebody is going to get left and somebodies will be quite numerous.

Union county, with all its string of National and State dignitaries, although seventy-five miles from the centre of activity, has nearly five hundred workers of the G. O. P. who would like to attend this National gathering of the clans if tickets were only forthcoming.

From the facts just noted it is easy to see that there will be a great scarcity of tickets and lots of people are going to be disappointed. With but 300 tickets for the whole State and twenty-one counties amongst whom they are to be divided, Union county's share will not be exactly immense. Plainfield, in turn, is only a part of the county in question, and it looks as if there would be a small proportion of Plainfielders who will be privileged to see the convention. There are a number of the local leaders, however, who are planning to go to Philadelphia next week, and some of them are pretty certain to get inside the convention hall.

Of course, Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, as a delegate, will be there. Mr. Fisk engaged rooms some time ago at the Stratford, on South Broad street, but he may decide at the last moment to stop as the guest of an intimate friend, whose handsome residence is located in West Philadelphia.

The Jerseyman will make their headquarters in the Lafayette, on South Broad street, and there Mr. Fisk and the other prominent Republicans of the State will be found most of the time when the convention is not in session. There, too, the other Plainfield leaders will go.

With the host of strangers who will swoop down in the City of Brotherly Love, rooms at the hotels will be at a premium and those who have not prepared in advance for accommodations are likely to have some trouble in finding a place in which to lay their heads. Plainfielders will be much better off than many of the visitors, however, as it is possible to reach this city by train in less than two hours and they will thus be able to commute during the time of the convention if lodging cannot be found. The Jersey Central Railroad has made a special rate, $1 91, which was the regular price for the single trip.

COULDN'T STAND HOT LEAD.

Usually Docile Horse Resented by Lively Antics the Accident Which Befell Him.

Two linemen employed by the Street Railway Company had a bad fright yesterday, caused by the horse starting to run away while they were in the top of the high repair wagon, putting up the Arlington avenue wires, at the corner of Fourth street.

The men were soldering a joint when several drops of the hot lead fell on the horses back, causing it to whirl around with the wagon with a jerk that threw the occupants off their feet. The horse had turned around two or three times before the thoroughly frightened men could clamber down from their perch and catch him.

May Plead Guilty to Manslaughter.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, June 13—Prosecutor English will now, it is said, accept a plea of manslaughter from Thomas Pyott, the Rahway negro accused of killing, on February 25 last, John E. Mossman, a carpenter of Rahway, and it is likely, the State thinks, that the prisoner will enter this plea tomorrow. Since Wesley Smith, the only witness of the crime, died last Friday night, as told in the Press, there is no chance, it is admitted, for the State to convict Pyott of murder.

PANAMA REVOLUTION

Conflicting Reports Regarding the Trouble In Colombia.

REBELS WELL ARMED AND ORGANIZED

Colombian Charge at Washington Confident That Rebellion Will Be Put Down—Neighbors Said to Be Aiding the Rebels.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—Although there is much conflict as to the status of the revolution in Colombia, all advices agree that armies aggregating 25,000 men have been facing each other with sanguinary results. The Colombian charge here, Dr. Luis Curvo-Marquez, said that the official information coming from the Colombian capital showed that the revolutionists had been forced back to the Venezuelan frontier and that contrary advices received by the navy department here referred to local conditions around Panama unconnected with the main theater of war.

He says the government has an army of 70,000 men at various points and that the main body of about 15,000 men has borne the brunt of recent engagements. They are armed with Mauser rifles, with Remington smokeless powder and have Maxim rapid fire guns and heavier field guns of the Creusote make. The revolutionists also have Mausers and Maxims. The revolutionists also have a gunboat and another vessel used for transport and fighting purposes. The government has four gunboats, three on the Atlantic and one on the Pacific.

The revolutionists are well organized, not only in the field, but abroad, with influential friends here. According to their side of the case, as stated by one of their adherents, the conflicting claims to success are due largely to negotiations recently carried on as to the Panama canal. Desirous of securing additional war funds, the government proposed an extension of the canal concession, whereupon the revolutionist agents abroad gave notice that if the war funds were advanced the extension would not be recognized in case of the success of the revolution.

Dr. Curvo-Marquez says as to this, however, that his government would not resort to a falsification of war news in order to advance its financial condition, and as an evidence of the reliability of the government claims he points out that the dispatches come from his brother, who is minister of foreign affairs at Bogota, and are to a certain extent personal and nonpolitical. He expresses every confidence that the government will maintain its control of affairs.

In official quarters it is stated that some of the countries adjacent to Colombia, notably Venezuela, Ecuador and Nicaragua, are lending assistance to the revolution and that its effect may be more farreaching on this account.

AT WEST POINT.

Commencement Exercises Closed. General Miles Reviews Graduates.

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 13.—General Nelson A. Miles arrived at 5 o'clock last evening. He came up from New York on a private yacht and was met at the landing by a detachment of cavalry in dress uniform and escorted to the quarters of Colonel Mills. At half past 5 o'clock the corps of cadets was reviewed by General Miles, General Otis, General Chaffee, General Brooke and General Gates. The members of the graduation class participated in their last dress parade at 6:30. At the conclusion of these maneuvers Colonel Hein, the commandant, called the members of the first class from the ranks and in a few words congratulated them upon their successful course and bade them a hearty welcome to the commissioned force of the army. There was a large crowd of visitors, and the graduating exercises this morning closed the two weeks' ceremonies. The class numbered 54.

Memorial hall, which was erected here at a cost of $250,000 by a bequest of the late General Cullom in honor of West Point graduates, was dedicated by the Association of Graduates at an alumni banquet last night. General Viele, as president of the association, formally presented the building to the president of the United States through the secretary of war, and the latter in turn presented it to the army of the United States through General Miles. Speeches were made before and after the presentation and acceptance. It was the largest reunion of graduates ever held at West Point.

Army Movements.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—In the general order for the dispatch of the First and Third squadrons of the Sixth cavalry to Manila it is provided that all enlisted men who are unfit for duty with the active squadrons and enlisted men who have less than a year to serve shall be transferred to the Second or Depot squadron of that regiment. A sufficient number of enlisted men are to be transferred to the active squadrons in order to bring them up to the maximum strength prior to departure. Troop commanders are instructed to make every proper effort to have married men going abroad arrange for the support of their families during their absence by regulation allotments of pay. It also is provided that on the departure of Troop D from Fort Reno, O. T., and Troops I and L from Fort Sill, O. T., they will be replaced by two troops of the Eighth cavalry from Fort Riley, Kan.

Athletes in Training.

PHILADELPHIA, June 13.—The time trials at French distances of the men who will compose the track team of the University of Pennsylvania which is to compete in the English sports in London and in the Olympian games at Paris, were held yesterday afternoon on Franklin field. The work of all the athletes was satisfactory to Coach Murphy. Alexander Grant, in the 1,500 meter race, broke the French record of 4 minutes 10 seconds and the world's record held by John Brays of Williams college of 4 minutes 9 seconds. Grant's time was 4 minutes 8¾ seconds.

Mr. Bryan Going Fishing.

LINCOLN, Neb., June 13.—W. J. Bryan, with Mrs. Bryan and their children, left last evening for Chicago. At that place Mr. Bryan will be joined by Senator Jones, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Colonel Wetmore of St. Louis, and the three will go to Wisconsin on a fishing trip. Charles A. Towne is expected to join them in Wisconsin, but Mr. Bryan disclaims any knowledge of a prospective conference on the vice presidency.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH.

Fierce Fire In Brooklyn Causes Loss of Life.

NEW YORK, June 13.—Four lives were lost, seven men and boys were seriously injured and twoscore or more were slightly hurt in a fire last evening which wiped out the immense cooperage plant of the Weidman company, on North Eleventh street, Williamsburg. At midnight the ruins were still blazing, making it impossible for the firemen to begin the search which, it is feared, will add to the list of fatalities.

Many plunged through the flames and escaped with painful but not fatal burns. Others made their way to the street with hair and every stitch of clothing burned off.

Practically all of the big factory and a big stock of barrels were destroyed.

The cooperage was closed for several months and reopened only when the Mollenhauer Sugar Refining company resumed operations.

During the day a force of 400 men was employed. These were relieved at 6 o'clock by a smaller force, and it was this latter that was at work when the fire started. The cooperage had a capacity of nearly 5,000 barrels daily and manufactured all of the barrels used by the Mollenhauers.

A VICTORY FOR GRANT.

Insurgents Being Pursued—MacArthur Reports Important Captures.

MANILA, June 13.—General Grant, who led re-enforcements, with artillery, against the insurgents in the mountains east of Samiguet, reports the capture of the rebel stronghold after four hours' fighting. The rebels were scattered, and the Americans are pursuing them.

General Grant's column had no casualties.

Guerrilla Leaders Captured.

WASHINGTON, June 13.—General MacArthur, at Manila, has cabled the war department as follows:

"Report capture Generals Hizon near Mexico and Cavestany at Alcala, both important; latter very important leader of guerrillas in Pangasinan province, Luzon."

General Corbin attaches considerable importance to these captures. In his opinion they are more nearly in the nature of surrenders than captures and indicate that the principal leaders of the insurgents are abandoning that cause and are coming into Manila to accept American supremacy.

Gifts For Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., June 13.—At the close of the alumni dinner President Patton announced that $25,000 had been presented to the university by Morris K. Jesup of New York for an object not specified. He also announced that Mrs. James McLaughlin of Pittsburg had given United States bonds bearing an annual interest of $300 to be added to the fund for classical fellowship founded by George Armour of Princeton. The announcement was also made that the class of '82 had added $1,800 to the fund for the seminary in logic and physics recently founded by it.

The Hartford Arrives.

NEW YORK, June 13.—After a long and eventful voyage from San Francisco around Cape Horn, Admiral Farragut's old flagship, the Hartford, now a United States training ship, has arrived in the lower bay. This is the first visit of the Hartford since she went to the Pacific coast many years ago. She arrived at Hampton Roads on May 30 from San Francisco, the longest voyage ever made by an American training ship, with 350 apprentices aboard who had shipped at San Francisco.

A Fatal Plunge.

TALLAHASSEE, Ala., June 13.—While nine men in a basket cable line suspended 85 feet above the Tallapoosa river at this point were crossing the river one of the cables broke, and the men fell into the river below. One was killed, and two are reported unable to live. All the others received injuries. The basket cable line was utilized for carrying rock and other material for the construction of a railroad near here upon which the men had been working.

ENCOURAGING NEWS.

General Buller the Master of Laingsnek.

RESTORING LINE TO BLOEMFONTEIN.

The Boer Reports Are Also of a Cheering Nature—British Government Said to Be Trying to Buy Up Kruger and His Leaders.

LONDON, June 13.—Two pieces of news encouraging to the British in the official dispatches are that the broken communications of Lord Roberts are in a fair way to be mended by the forces moving northward and southward and driving off the roving commandoes, and that Sir Redvers Buller is at last master of Laingsnek.

Telegraphic communication with Lord Roberts is expected to be restored today, as a dispatch from Bloemfontein, dated yesterday, says that the railway is in British possession again and that the work of repairing the line is going on rapidly with the abundant material warehoused at Bloemfontein.

From the subjoined telegram it would appear that General Hunter was in command of the troops referred to by General Kelly-Kenny in his disppatch from Bloemfontein, dated June 12:

"General Hunter is coming up rapidly from the northwest, having severely defeated a large commando of Boers who had destroyed two miles of railway north of Kroonstadt."

The Boer government is also issuing news cheering to its sympathizers. The following bulletin, the Boer version of the disaster to the Derbyshires, was posted by President Kruger Sunday at Machadodorp:

"On June 7 four divisions of burghers, commanded by Steenkamp, Froneman, Duploy, Fourie and Nel, attacked the British at Roodeval, killed 200, took 700 prisoners and captured immense stores of food and ammunition, a Maxim gun and 1,000 lyddite shells. Some food was taken by the Boer farmers, and the rest was burned. The English mail was taken. The burghers attacked from the open veldt and gave evidence of unprecedented bravery."

General De Wet was also fighting on June 2, whether at Roodeval or elsewhere is not clear, but the Boer war office gives it out that he captured 3,000 suits of clothing, blankets, gloves, boots, etc. Being unable to carry them with him in his rapid sweep through the country, according to the Transvaal war office, he burned the whole mass. General De Wet has also reported that he put 1,000 British out of action and destroyed property valued at £100,000. As Lord Methuen is officially described as fighting on June 7, it is possible that he was engaging General De Wet.

According to a dispatch to The Daily Express from Machadodorp, dated June 10, via Lourenco Marques, those around President Kruger say that Louis Botha and Delarey have been offered indirectly £10,000 a year to lay down their arms, and President Kruger expects the same offer to be made to himself, President Steyn and De Wet. President Kruger believes that the British make these offers to close the war on the principle that it would cost less than to fight it out.

A dispatch from Lourenco Marques says that 15,000 Boers are reported to be retiring on Middleburg from various quarters and that, after weeding out the faint hearted, 20,000 steadfast men are still left.

General Buller was unable on Monday to follow up the Boers from lack of cavalry as well as water. The dispatches describe him as fighting a spirited advance over a rugged field under prolonged rifle fire. The Boers had two guns, which they got away. Few dead or wounded Boers were found. It seems probable that the major portion of the Boers had withdrawn before the advance was begun.

Lord Methuen, General Rundle and General Brabant are reported to have 35,000 men and 50 guns engaged in inclosing the Boers in the eastern part of Orange River Colony.

The war office casualty returns up to June 9 aggregate 23,664, besides 792 officers and 12,355 men sent home as invalids, but not including the sick in South African hospitals.

Dewey's Last Reception.

GRAND RAPIDS, June 13.—Admiral Dewey's last public reception as the hero of Manila bay closed here yesterday afternoon when he left the stand from which he reviewed a parade in his honor and with Mrs. Dewey was driven to the depot. His train left for Washington at 7 o'clock. The day's programme was marred by the illness of Mrs. Dewey. She took cold at Columbus, and her ride on the Detroit river and the exhaustion incident to her attendance upon the reception at the city hall Monday night added to her ailment to such an extent that she was compelled to absent herself from the functions entirely. The admiral, however, carried out his part of the programme to the letter.

Roosevelt and the Ice Trust.

ALBANY, June 13.—Governor Roosevelt is proceeding very deliberately and carefully in the ice trust matter. He had a long conference yesterday with Attorney General Davies and Judge Coyne and went over very thoroughly the evidence brought out before Justice Gaynor Saturday. He would make no statement of his intention in the matter, so far as the removal of Mayor Van Wyck is concerned. Prior to his departure for Rochester the governor stated that there was nothing new in the matter and that he did not expect a report from the attorney general for a week or ten days—in fact, not until after the Republican national convention.

Paper Making Machinery For China.

BELOIT, Wis., June 13.—Fourteen carloads of tissue paper making machinery were shipped by a Beloit manufactory yesterday to Shanghai. This shipment is the first American and probably the only paper making machinery ever sent into the Celestial Empire. There have been paper making machine shipments made from this city to Japan.

Circus Seats Fall.

CHICAGO, June 13.—The reserved seat section in a circus at Fifty-fifth street and Kimbark avenue collapsed last night just at the beginning of the performance, carrying to the ground hundreds of men, women and children. Fourteen people were injured, while many others sustained slight bruises. No one was fatally injured.

BRITISH HIT BOXERS

Sixteen Put to Flight Two Thousand Near Lang-fang.

ON THE ADVANCE TO PEKING.

Two Villages Cleared Out—Advance of International Column Slow. The Railroad Badly Damaged.

LONDON, June 13.—Sixteen British marines reconnoitering in advance of the international column marching to Peking fought and chased 2,000 Boxers Monday, killing 20 or 30. A correspondent accompanying the column, in a dispatch dated Tien-tsin, June 12, via Shanghai, June 13, 6:15 a. m., says:

"While the working parties, accompanied by a patrol of 16 British marines commanded by Major Johnson, were repairing the line Monday afternoon eight miles beyond Lofa they encountered small parties of Boxers who were destroying the line. The Boxers moved away from the advanced marines and apparently dispersed into the country, leaving the rails moved and the sleepers burning.

"The marines when two miles in advance of the first train near Lang-fang suddenly perceived Boxers streaming from a village on their left. It was estimated that they numbered 2,000, some of them being mounted, and they were trying to get between the marines and the train. Most of them were armed with spears and swords. A few had firearms, which they handled awkwardly. The marines retreated, keeping up a running fight for over a mile and killing between 20 and 30.
